FRESHMAN CLASS HAS LARGE ENROLLMENT

Nineteen Twenty-Four, with 128 Members, is Largest Class Since 1916.

A revival of pre-war strength is shown by the fact that from the Registrar's Office comes the announcement that the entering class of Freshmen is the largest since 1916. In that year the class of 1920 had a total enrollment of 170, while the entering class of 1924 has an enrollment of 128.

All the various sections of the State are well represented, and Boston and vicinity has its usual large quota. Five outside states are represented; Rhode Island, New Jersey, and New York having three men each, and Maryland and Pennsylvania, one each.

Ten young ladies have cast their lot with the class of 1924 and all are fast learning the walks that contain the fewest number of 9's.

SOPHOMORES WIN ROPE PULL AFTER HARD TUSSLE

Nineteen Twenty-Four Goes Through Pond in a Contest Which Lasts Full Time.

Once again the annual Sophomore-Freshman rope-pull was held and once again the Freshmen were hauled through the ooze by the victorious Sophs. It was no walk-away for the Sophs this year, however. At first the Sophs made a substantial gain, but after two or three minutes the Freshmen began to hold their own, and even rescued several yards from the Sophs. Several men, however, on the Freshman side were removed for lying on the rope, and this gave the Sophs the advantage again. From then on, the Sophs had it all their own way. One by one the new men splashed into the cold, muddy water. There were all but about a dozen of the Freshmen through when the pistol shot, announcing the fact that the time was almost up, was sounded. When the final pistol shot announced the end of the struggle, there were yet four men who had not reached the further shore. It was a closely fought contest, which told on the men of both sides. Coming immediately after the football game, as it did, there was an unusually large number of spectators. Guide ropes were established on both sides of the pond to keep the field free for the contestants. On the whole it was one of the most closely contested rope-pulls that Aggie has seen for several years.

PRESIDENT IS SPEAKER AT FIRST SUNDAY CHAPEL

Takes For His Theme, "Americanizing Americans."

President Kenyon L. Butterfield spoke in Bowker Auditorium, Stockbridge Hall, at the first Sunday Chapel, Oct. 3, at 10-30 o'clock, and had for his subject, "Americanizing Americans." There was a record attendance at this meeting, not only the floor, but the balcony seats being well filled.

President Butterfield began his talk by defining Americanism. What did it mean to the immigrant, and to all the different peoples throughout the country? His purpose in attempting to define it was to start the students thinking about it, and asking themselves what it meant.

Before making a definite statement as to what Americanism was, the speaker said that it was not "America Perfect" or "America First." "America Perfect" is a type of false Americanism. We are not perfect, and should not attempt to make the other nations believe that we are. We should not be too contented with our own ways, but the ideas and customs of other nations should be acceptable to us. "America First," is

WOMEN'S AGRICULTURAL CONFERENCE OCT. 7 AND 8

New Dormitory will be Dedicated Friday Morning. Interesting Program Planned.

A very interesting and worth while program is planned for the Conference for Women in Agriculture and Country life to be held in Bowker Auditorium, October 7th and 8th. The program opens Thursday, October 7th, at 2 P. M. with a foreword by President Butterfield. Mrs. Francis King, Alma, Michigan, President of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association, will speak on "Vocation for Women in Agriculture." Personal experiences in agriculture will then be given by Miss Nettie C. Barleigh of Wonhelm Farm, Waterville, Maine, and Miss Margaretta V. Landmann, Forsgate Farms, Prospect Plains, N. J. This will be followed by a musical selection. Then Mr. C. J. Galpin, Washington, D. C., Economist in charge of Rural Life Studies, United States Department of Agriculture. The program for the day will be concluded by a round table discussion with the theme in mind "Women in Agriculture." The leader will be Miss Edna Cutter, Dracut, Mass.

On Thursday evening at 8-10 the reception will be given at the new Women's Dormitory. The program will be continued Friday at 10 A. M., with the dedication of the new dormitory. Music will constitute the first thing on the program. Next a few words of greeting will be spoken by representatives of New England colleges at which women are in attendance. An address will then be given by Miss Sarah Arnold, Dean Emeritus of Simmons College, Boston. This will be followed by the presentation of keys by Mr. C. A. Gleason, vice-president of the Board of Trustees. The acceptance of the keys will be given by President Butterfield.

This conference on Women in Agriculture and Country Life marks the dedication of the new dormitory for women at the Massachusetts Agricultural College. Men and women interested in making country life even more worth the living and giving women a part in this work through the field of agriculture, are invited to share in this unusual opportunity to hear national leaders in country life discuss problems of vital interest to both town and country. A special feature will be the arrangement of private conferences for consultation with women experienced in agriculture. The prospective attendance of students is so large that with conference guests the usual available accommodations may be crowded. Therefore it is suggested that those who motor to Amherst may wish to secure overnight accommodations in nearby towns, leaving available rooms in Amherst for visitors who come by train. Guests are advised to make reservations directly with hotels.

FOOTBALL SEASON OPENS WITH VICTORY

C. A. C. Defeated 28-0. Fast Game on Alumni Field Saturday Afternoon.

The 1920 football season started off on Saturday afternoon in a most favorable manner to Aggie supporters. Connecticut Aggie went down before the strong Maroon-and-White team by a 28-0 count.

At 2-30 the bleachers started to fill, and at the start of the game at 3-00 o'clock a crowd of several thousand was on hand to see the opening game of the season. The cheering under the direction of assistant cheer-leader Hooper was snappy and frequent, and made everyone feel that the team has a large student body in back of it this year, pulling hard for a victory over Tufts and Springfield.

King of M. A. C. kicked off at the whistle and the Connecticut man was stopped before getting many feet. After two unsuccessful attempts to penetrate the home team defense Connecticut kicked to Sargent who ran back 45 yards before he was tackled. M. A. C. fumbled on the 15 yard line but Capt. Poole recovered on the 12 yard line and took the ball over in a couple of plays for the first touchdown of the season. He also kicked the goal. The remainder of the first quarter was uneventful except for good tackle by King, the Aggie right tackle, who played a fine game throughout.

Soon after the opening of the second quarter Sargent made his second long gain of the game by skirting right end for a gain of 35 yards. Grayson then showed the usual Grayson ability and, as his two brothers were in the habit of doing before him, he caught Poole's forward and went over the line for the second score of the game. Poole kicked the goal. King kicked off to Connecticut's 12 yard line and the half ended soon after.

Commencing the second half Grayson ran back the kickoff 12 yards. Sargent made seven more and then Tumey dropped back for a punt. A beautiful spiral that went for nearly 60 yards gave Grayson a chance to get down and tackle his opponent almost in his tracks. Connecticut kicked and Sargent ran back 35 yards. Poole carried the ball for seven yards on a line plunge and then sent Sargent over for the third touchdown. Poole kicked the goal. Connecticut received the ball on the kickoff and immediately started a rush down the field which was only stopped when Brigham broke through and stopped a weak side play by his opponents. The third quarter ended soon after.

Poole made 10 yards at the opening of the last quarter but the ball was soon lost to Connecticut. After a good tackle by McCarthy had broken up the Connecticut plays Acheson brought the ball to the shadow of the goal posts by catching a long forward. Poole then scored the last touchdown and kicked the goal. Clark was sent in to play quarter and Poole played back. Two rushes of six and ten yards by Poole gave M. A. C. first down. Collins made six more yards but a penalty for offside lost all the gain. Near the end of the game Collins stopped an opponent after he had gone 20 yards around end. The game ended with the ball in Clark's hands received from a kick. Score 28-0.

Cotton was out of the play for a while in the middle of the game but got back in again later on. The play of MacKintosh, King, Poole and Saugent was excellent and Grayson showed by his first game he is going to do his part to uphold the reputation already gained by his brothers. Capt. Mitchell at right tackle put up a stong game for Connecticut.

CORRECTION

Rule 1 of the rushing rules as printed in the freshman handbook should read as follows—The rushing season shall be open for Freshmen until 6 P. M. on the third Sunday of the first term. Men shall be pledged in Chapel on the following day.

AMERICA is fast becoming a pipe smoking country. Every year more and more men are realizing the comfort, the satisfaction, and the economy of the pipe. And by natural selection, more and more men are smoking W D C Pipes. This is not chance. It is because W D C Pipes offer the utmost in pipe value. Honest French briar, seasoned by our own special process make W D C Pipes break in sweet and mellow. Coupled with that is a self-governed body of pipe makers whose sole object is to fashion pipes which are without peers in all the world. And it has been accomplished. Ask any good dealer.

FIFTY-FOURTH COLLEGE YEAR FORMALLY BEGUN

President Gives Address of Welcome at Opening Assembly.

The formal opening of the 54th college year took place last Wednesday at 1-30, when the first Wednesday assembly of the year was held. The Auditorium was packed and a large number of the faculty were present on the stage.

President Butterfield opened the meeting with an address of welcome to all those who were returning to school and also to those who were entering for the first time. In speaking to the Freshmen, the president said: There are three sets of teachers with whom you will come in contact: primarily, the teachers under whom you study; secondly, the upper classmen; and lastly, the beautiful scenes of this Valley which will remain in your memories as long as you live. In continuing, the president recited the obstacles which the college has had to face during the past year.

Since June the work of the college has continued all summer, with a very large enrollment in the summer course. The building program was not accepted by the Legislature, and only the appropriation for the Cavalry barns was granted to the college. A new Chemistry building and Library must wait for the action of a new Legislature. Our need of additional facilities is clearly seen when we realize that in all courses over 1000 students have been here to school during the past year.

The most serious set-back to the college has been the loss of a large number of instructors and members of the clerical staff. The pay here at M. A. C. is lower than in any other agricultural college, and many resignations were caused by the inability of instructors and clerks to make both ends meet with their present salaries.

The watchword of the coming year is "All-together," or better, all together for a bigger and busier M. A. C. The president hopes that this may be a year of celebration, and that students and alumni will work together as heartily as possible.

Then, too, new rushing rules satisfactory to everyone must be formulated and a system of credits for athletics and non-athletes must be worked out.

During the past year a much greater interest has been taken in the college by the alumni, asshown by their hearty respone to the Memorial Building Fund. The year of celebration will terminate in the dedication of the new Memorial Building, which is to take place in June. The slogan for that dedication will be "Every alumnus back in June."

SPECIAL GRANGE MEETING AT M. A. C. OCT. 18

Hampshire Pomona Grange will hold a special meeting at Aggie October 18 for the purpose of conferring the fifth degree. The meeting is held here for the special benefit of students and members of the faculty, and everyone who has not taken the fifth degree should be on hand now. The officers of the State Grange will come to Aggie on October 19 to confer the sixth degree, and the National Grange will confer the seventh degree in Boston in November. All of this constitutes an extraordinary opportunity for all Grangers. Those desiring further information may call c...

SECOND FOOTBALL GAME WITH BATES SATURDAY

Maine Team Looks Like Real Opponent. Season's Prospects.

In the second game of the season, next Saturday, M. A. C. lines up against Bates College, which was runner-up last year for the Maine championship. Bates is a newcomer on the Aggie schedule, and was added when the Dartmouth game was dropped.

The Maine team is coached by Sullivan, an old Colgate star, and is composed practically of veterans. Fourteen letter men reported to Sullivan this fall. Stonier, a 200 pound guard, captains the team. He was selected by sport writers as an All-Maine guard last year. Wiggin, at quarter, is also the best offensive man, and is equally clever in generalship and in throwing forwards.

Bates has thus far played two games. On Sept. 25 they defeated Ft. McKinley at Lewiston, Me., 34-0. Last Saturday they were beaten by New Hampshire at Durham, N. H., 14-0. Both of New Hampshire's scores were on flukes. Although outweighed, Bates gained more ground than their opponents. The Maine team is light, fast, and aggressive, and is celebrated for forwards and for wideopen spread plays. In Maine circles, it is doped out that Bates should capture the state championship this year. It is expected that they will use a spectacular, overhead game next Saturday.

After the opening game against Connecticut the opinion felt on the campus is that the splendid football record of last year will be equalled and probably excelled this fall. Against a veteran lineup, and outweighed, Captain Poole, with his excellent headwork and almost perfect generalship, led the team to such a decisive victory that the largest score in several years was run up and many substitutes were used. MacKintosh, center, and King, right tackle, lived up to their reputations gained last year, the line made the proverbial stonewall look like a feather bed, and the aggressiveness of the team could not be fathomed by the Nutmeggers.

The following is the list of all candidates for varsity football at M. A. C., to date:

Acheson, Andrews, Alger '21, Alger '23, Bates, Bent, Bunker, Brigham, Casclo, Clark, Collins, Cotton, Davenport, Field, Freeman, Gould, Gowdy, Grayson, Gray, Hurd, King, Latour, Lacroix, Leland, Lent, Long, McCarthy, Mansell, Mackintosh, Mohor, Mudgett, Nowers, Packer, Poole, Roser, Sargent, Talmage, Tarplin, Tumey, White, and Wentsch.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL GETS UNDER WAY

Coach B. F. Jakeman Has Promising Squad.

Freshman football was inaugurated last Friday afternoon, when about 25 yearlings reported for practice. B. F. Jakeman '20, who played two years for the Varsity in both baseball and football, has been appointed coach for 1924. The material, though rather inexperienced, looks willing and determined, and it appears as though Coach Jakeman will develop a fine team from it. Starting Monday, October 4, practice will be held every afternoon on Freshman Field. No definite lineup has been made, but Salmon, Clark, Wilhelm, Barker, and Myrick appear to be the making of a dandy line, while Tewhill, Ferranti, Bilski, White, and Hairston promise well for the Frosh backfield. The football schedule for 1924 is as follows:

Oct. 16—Dalton High School at M. A. C.
Oct. 23—Arms Academy at Shelburne Falls
Oct. 30—North Adams High School at M. A. C.
Nov. 6—Williston Academy at Williston.
Nov. 13—Deerfield Academy at Deerfield.

The date of the annual Sophomore-Freshman game has not yet been announced.

Welcome, Freshmen.

For the past week individuals, and groups, both of major and minor importance, have been whispering and shouting these words in your ears. The spirit of hospitality has sometimes taken on a peculiar form but, never-the-less, it existed. It is now our turn, we of the COLLEGIAN staff. Allow us to congratulate you on your choice of college and welcome you within its walls.

The acquiring of knowledge, the building of character, the establishment of friendship; all these go to make up your college career. What you may do with the first two is distinctly up to you. The third will come of itself with your help. Aggie is here to help you but expects in turn a reasonable amount of effort and cooperation from you.

You are the "New Blood" of the College. We look to you for new ideas, new strength, and an effort towards the advancement of your alma mater. To be sure, a certain amount of training will be necessary before you will be ready to carry on this work. But when this has been completed you will find opportunities on all sides for you to grasp. What you, as individuals, may grasp, is a purely personal affair. Whatever you do, remember that M. A. C. is now your college, you are now a part of it. You advance or retard the progress of its interests in the same measure as you may succeed or fail at your chosen task.

The Women's Dormitory.

The dedication of the Women's Dormitory will mark another step forward in the development of the women's department at M. A. C. Although the fact has not been generally known until within recent years, Aggie has been co-educational for some time past. This may have, in a large measure, accounted for the previous small numbers of women students. But as time went on, because of the yearly increase in the female enrollment, and the consequent lack of room in Draper Hall, there has become apparent a need for definitely separate quarters. In granting the College the necessary funds to build a women's dormitory, the legislature indirectly placed its stamp of approval upon M. A. C. as a co-educational institution. The dedication and subsequent occupation of these new quarters will mark the completion of the first real attempt to provide adequate facilities for the women students here.

The large enrollment of women in this year's entering classes shows that the women of Massachusetts are serious in their efforts to do their share in agriculture. There exists an opportunity and a place for the women on the farm as well as in the office. Her efforts to fill this place has resulted in the introduction of courses designed to help her along these lines. The courses are well planned and ably conducted at M. A. C.

M. A. C. has provided the courses and will open the dormitory for use within a short time. When this has been done its immediate program will have been accomplished. May the future of this problem be as successfully solved.

CAMPUS NOTES

The president will give his annual reception to faculty on Friday, Oct. 8.

The Junior class in Forestry is to make weekly trips by motor to the college forestry reserve on Mt. Toby.

The services of Miss Harriet Sawyer of Dorchester have been secured to act as assistant manager to Miss Diether. Miss Sawyer is a graduate of the home economics course of Simmons College.

The Dairy Stock Judging team, consisting of Baker, Smith, and Hurd, '21, leave town Wednesday, Oct. 6, for Chicago, Illinois, where they will judge dairy cattle at the National Dairy show to be held there.

Roger F. Readio '21 has left college to accept a position as assistant athletic coach at the Horace Mann Preparatory School, New York City. While assuming his duties there he will also attend Columbia University.

The Department of Floriculture is to hold a small fair some time in the near future in conjunction with the other horticultural departments. At the meeting of the Floriculture Club last night the plans for the fair were talked over by Professor Thayer and the members of the club.

Junior Class Meeting.

At the Junior class meeting held in the Entomology Building Monday night the following men were elected to come before student body vote for informal committee today: R. N. Holman, G. H. Thompson, F. V. Waugh, J. G. Lowery, F. A. Gilbert, K. W. Moody. Mr. Moody was also elected to serve on the Honor Council this year. The election of the officers was postponed until after assembly today

The Dining Hall.

The M. A. C. dining hall opened last Wednesday with a record attendance. More than 1200 meals per day are now being served in the main dining hall and 650 in the cafeteria. The total of 1850 meals per day has required the employment of an unusually large number of student help as well as the augmentation of the regular staff. A new dish washing machine has been installed to take care of the increase in business. A new feature of the main dining room is the establishment of four tables for the women students, all of whom are required to eat at the dining hall this year.

Senior Elections.

The Senior class, at a meeting held Sunday in the Social Union Room elected officers for the first term as follows: President, Starr M. King of Pittsfield; vice-president, Joseph D. Evers of Malden; secretary, Emerson F. Haslam of Westwood; treasurer, Davis A. Hurd of Wellesley; sergeant at arms, Harland E. Gaskill of Hopedale; and class captain, Donald A. Lent of Maynard. Two men were nominated for election to the Senate, to fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawal of Roger F. Readio of the Senior class. Eight were nominated for election to the informal committee. Of these latter nominations, one will be elected to the Senate and four to the informal committee at assembly on Wednesday.

Two-Year Caps.

The outcome of the sentiment expressed on the campus last year concerning the wearing of distinctive headgear by the two year students, has been the donning of the so called two year Freshman caps by the first year men of that conre. These are black skull caps, similar to those worn by the Freshmen of the regular four year course, with a white "2 YR" over the visor. The two year coeds are wearing bandeaus of black ribbon, inscribed with the Roman numeral II. The wearing of these caps and ribbons was decided upon by the two year student council last year. Inasmuch as it tends to give the two year men a definite status among the undergraduates, it is a decided advantage, and will undoubtedly become a permanent custom.

FIRST SUNDAY CHAPEL

also false in the same sense as "America Perfect."

President Butterfield continued his talk by saying, "We must not forget that Americanism means ideals. Those who try to tell us that America is merely practical, hard headed, and looking out for herself, are false interpreters of America. America has grown out of the ideals of its founders. It must not lose these ideals, or the nation will go the way of Imperial Rome and Prussianized Germany."

Democracy is the great American ideal which has guided this country over three hundred years. The idea of democracy is becoming applicable to industry as well as government and political power. Even though this fact is denied in parts of the country, it is fast becoming a truth.

"Democracy," said the President, "implies at least three great principles.—First, a recognition of personality the dignity of the individual, the worth of a man as a man, the insistence that each must have opportunity to grow and enjoy to his full capacity. This applies to groups, races and nationalities. Second, democracy spells brotherhood, co-operation, each individual group working for the common good. Third, all the old ideas of international rights have changed. Ideals prevail, ideals of real democracy of national rights of all countries, small or large; of co-operation between nations as well as within nations, of service to world welfare, rather than the endeaver to advance national interests at the expense of other countries. We cannot, and will not avoid the ideal of American participation in world cooperation."

President Butterfield closed his talk by saying that through it all a genuine religious spirit had prevailed in our best thoughts and actions, and that nothing could take its place.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION HELD SATURDAY NIGHT

Aggie Activities are Reviewed for the Freshmen.

Last Saturday evening at 8:00 o'clock, the Annual Freshman Reception was held in the Social Union Rooms. It was attended by the entire Freshman class, as well as by almost all of the student body and members of the faculty. To facilitate self-introduction between the entering and the upper classes, each person pinned on his coat a little slip of paper on which he had written his name and that of his home town. Captains Poole, Gowdy, McCarthy, and Newell of the varsity football, basketball, hockey, and baseball teams respectively, spoke of their teams, last year's records, and the coming season's prospects. They urged all men that could do so to go out for the various teams. Lockwood '20 spoke about the various debating contests that are held during the school year, and said that he would like to see more men out for the debating team this year. Goff, leader of the Musical Clubs, gave a resume of resume of last season's club trips, and strongly advised all students that could sing or play any musical instruments to try out for the clubs. Martin, editor-in-chief of the COLLEGIAN, and also a member of the Squib and Index boards for the past two years, outlined the work of the aforementioned mentioned publications. Curry Hicks, Professor of Physical Education, spoke a few words on athletics, and urged each man to go out for some activity during his stay at Aggie. Dean Lewis summed up all the speeches, and also said that every man ought to go out for some activity, because as alumni, we look back to our collegiate days through the various activities in which we took place. Punch and cookies were then served by the co-eds, and more than an hour was spent in making acquaintances. Then, after singing "Sons of Old Massachusetts," the gathering broke up.

SQTIB BOARD TO START A COMPETITION

The annual competition for membership on the Squib Board is open to all members of the four year student body. There are excellent opportunities for Freshmen in all the departments of the Squib. The Literary and Art Departments, especially, should attract the women students.

The most vivid picture of Aggie life that reaches our alumni and friends is carried between the covers of the Squib. It has always been a wide-awake publication and indications show that the coming year will surpass anything that has gone before, both in quality and in circulation.

Now is the chance to divert some of the surplus wit and humor of the campus into channels that will give enjoyment to the whole student body. Those intending to enter the competition should notify M. F. Webster '21, Editor-in-chief, Kappa Gamma Phi House; or C. R. Vinten '22, Managing Editor, Theta Chi House; not later than Oct. 11.

Modern Motive Might

MOUNTAINS, miles and minutes give way before electricity, the magic motive power. Properly applied, it drives giant locomotives across the continental divide, tows ocean liners through the Panama Canal, or propels huge ships.

Through good light, safe signals, and illuminated highways, it is making travel better and safer and also is increasing the usefulness of transportation methods on land, sea or in the air.

In short, electricity is revolutionizing transportation, making it quicker, safer, more economical and reliable in all sorts of weather.

And back of this development in electric transportation, in generating and transmitting apparatus as well as motive mechanisms, are the co-ordinated scientific, engineering and manufacturing resources of the General Electric Company, working to the end that electricity may better serve mankind.

NIGHT SHIRT PARADE IS A WIN FOR SOPHOMORES

Results Show Narrow Margin of Seven Points at Close of Nocturnal Fight.

The Night Shirt Parade, an annual contest between the Sophomores and Freshmen, drew large crowds around Freshman Field last Friday night shortly after 7:00 o'clock. The event was won by the Sophomores by a small margin.

At 7:00 o'clock the Frosh were serenely seated, in their white night shirts or pajamas, in the Drill Hall, awaiting the coming ordeal. Sophomores, armed with the paddles, danced and hooted around their seemingly scared victims. However, some of them refused to be scared and this attitude made several of the Sophs quite indignant, and at times Senate members had to intervene.

The parade started outside the Drill Hall, where the would-be warriors lined up in the form of a gauntlet. One at a time the white forms darted through the line, receiving now and then a smart whack from the Sophomores' weapons. A small part of the class had run the gauntlet when a stampede began, which caused the Sophs to lose control and be overcome by the on-coming, white clad Frosh.

The parade continued in good order until the battle ground was reached. Here the uniformed men formed a circle, drop-the-handkerchief fashion, and were encircled by the plain-clothes men. At the firing of a pistol each started in opposite directions and continued going around until a second shot. Then the circles broke, and one could see on all sides lively wrestling matches, where the Sophomores endeavored to rip off the uniforms of their opponents. Each class had pens at opposite ends of the field, and it was part of the contest for Sophomores to drag Freshmen into their pen, and vice versa. When the seven minutes of fighting was over, a count was taken, including the men in the pens and the number of missing night shirts. The results showed seven points in the Sophomores' favor.

The event was a huge success, in that it brought out a revival of that old and well-known Aggie spirit, which seems sure to prevail throughout the year.

Dairy Science.

When the Agricultural Colleges entered the field of Dairy Husbandry they turned the light of science upon this industrial field with the result that better methods of manufacture and high-grade products are made possible.

Among these better methods none appear to be more important or more necessary than sanitary cleanliness, if good results are to be obtained, and the use of

is recommended by the Agricultural Colleges of the United States and Canada, because the fresh, wholesome, sanitary cleanliness this cleaner provides is not only an adequate protection to the dairy from insanitation, but is also proving most efficient and economonical.

BATES DEFEATED IN SECOND GAME 21-7

Poole, Cotton, Grayson, and Lent Feature in Aggie Victory.

The second game of the season, with Bates, proved to be a little closer battle than the first game; but Coach Gore's men came out victorious again, this time by a 21-7 score. The only score made by Bates was made by Finnegan who received the ball from the kickoff at the beginning of the second half and ran eighty-five yards through the Aggie team for a touchdown. Moulton kicked the goal.

The game in detail follows:

Bates ran the ball back fifteen yards from the kickoff and then kicked to Sargent. After an exchange of punts Cotton got in behind the Bates line and tackled the Bates man for a loss of eight yards. A forward pass gave Bates fifteen yards which they increased to twenty-five when Rounds went around end for ten more yards. An attempt at the same play was then stopped by King who got in and caused a loss of ten yards. After Bates had been penalized five yards for offside they tried a forward pass which was intercepted by MacKintosh. Lent gained five yards through tackle and the quarter ended when Collins punted to Bates.

A forward pass netted Bates twenty-five yards at the opening of the second quarter. MacKintosh again intercepted a pass and Poole and Lent went through the line for four yard gains before Collins kicked. The Bates man who received the kick was tackled in his tracks. Poole then intercepted a forward pass and ran 20 yards before he was tackled. Lent gained ten more yards and placed the ball on the five yard line from where Capt. Poole scored the first touchdown. He kicked the goal. Collins kicked to the fifteen yard line and Bates returned the kick, recovering the ball when Sargent fumbled. Mansell intercepted a forward pass and Collins kicked to the ten yard line. Mansell's left shoulder was found to be fractured and he was forced to leave the game. Acheson replaced him.

Finnegan started the second half in an auspicious manner for Bates by re-

NEWELL IS ELECTED TO COLLEGE SENATE

Informal Elections Also Held at the Mass Meeting.

At the mass meeting following last Wednesday's assembly, Philip S. Newell '21, of West Newton, was elected to the Senate from the Senior class, to fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawel of R. F. Readio '21, from college. Newell has been prominent in varsity athletics, having been a member of the varsity relay and baseball teams. He is captain-elect of the latter for the 1921 season. In class affairs he has been active also. Just prior to his leaving college at the conclusion of his Sophomore year to enter the service, he had been elected to the Senate as a Junior member, but automatically lost his seat in that body by failing to return the next fall. He is a member of Adelphia and of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

Elections to the Informal Committe were held at the Mass Meeting also. The Seglor members elected were: James W. Alger of Reading; Donald C. Douglass of Cambridge, Harland E. Gaskill of Hopedale, and John D. Snow of Arlington. From the Junior class the following men were elected: Kenneth W. Moody of Brookline; George H. Thompson, Jr., of Lenox; and Frederick V. Waugh of Amherst.

ADELPHIA CONDUCTS WEDNESDAY ASSEMBLY

Mackintosh, King, and Fuller Speak on Aggie Football Situation.

Last Wednesday afternoon, October 6th, the assembly, scheduled to be a Student Forum, transformed itself into a varied meeting. Professor Waugh, head of the Department of Landscape Gardening, announced that a fair would be held shortly on the campus, and asked the cooperation of the students as performers and guides.

Adelphia then took charge of the assembly. Martin, editor-in-chief of the COLLEGIAN asked that the student body think over the idea of limiting the activites of any student to a certain number of credits, as the question would be put to a vote in the near future. Mackintosh, President of Adelphia, then spoke on the football situation. At present, there are only three squads out on the Varsity gridiron. He asked for recruits from the three upper classes, especially from the Sophomores. King, veteran Varsity lineman, spoke about the traditions of the college. The slogan at Aggie used to be, "College first, classes next, fraternity third." Now the slogan seems to be, "Fraternity first." The old "pep" is disappearing, and the Sophomores are neglecting their duty of moulding the class of 1924 into an aggregation worthy of being

ABIGAIL ADAMS HALL TO BE NAME OF NEW DORMITORY

Dedication Held in Connection With Agricultural Conference.

The first of a series of conferences to be held on the campus during the fall took place in Stockbridge Hall. It being a "Conference of Women in Agriculture and Country Life." About 100 women were in attendance at the two sessions, representing practically all of the state organizations of women. Representatives from the local Granges were also present, and large groups of women interested in rural life and agricultural pursuits. This conference was held in connection with the dedication of the new women's dormitory, which formally marked the introduction of M. A. C. into the life of women's colleges. The first session met at 2:00 P. M. Thursday, in the Bowker Auditorium, and was devoted mainly to addresses by women prominent in agriculture, and to a general discussion of the rural problems of the day. The program follows:

Foreword—President Kenyon L. Butterfield.

"Vocations for Women in Agriculture."—Mrs. Francis King, Alma, Mich., President Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

"Personal Experiences in Agriculture."—Miss Nettie B. Burleigh, Wonheim Farm, Waterville, Me.

Music.

"The Transition in Rural Life from the Family Regime to the Community Regime."—Mr. C. J. Galpin, Washington, D. C., Economist in Charge of Rural Life Studies, United States Department of Agriculture.

Round Table—Discussion: "Women in Agriculture." Miss Edna Cutter, Dracut, Mass.

At 8:30 P. M. Thursday evening, the reception at the new dormitory, was held. It was highly attended by women students and visitors. Although the new building was not wholly finished, the new furniture, the gift of the New England Branch of Farm and Garden Association, was moved into the parlors and living room, where the reception was held.

The second session of the Conference, at 10:00 A. M. Friday, was the formal dedication of the new dormitory. Three hundred people, including many students and townspeople, filled the auditorium, and were well repaid by the fine ceremony. President Butterfield presided and introduced the various speakers, among whom were the deans of the principal women's institutions of New England. Mr. Gleason, Vice-President of the Board of Trustees of the College, upon presenting President Butterfield with the keys of the building, congratulated him on his excellent work, and wished him success in the further ventures which he may anticipate for the college. The program follows:

This year brings many changes in the rules. For eligibility to election to the business staff, a minimum of 25 credits will be required. These may be obtained by office work, routine work, or by obtaining advertising. One credit will be given for each two hours' work. It is stipulated in the rules that at least one credit shall be earned for the obtainance of advertising. One point will be given for each column inch of new advertising or each two column inches of renewed advertising.

The editorial department requires a minimum of 25 credits. One credit will be given for reading one of several books used by the Rural Journalism department. A quizz based upon this reading will be given to the competitors at the end of ten weeks. If the candidate shows a sufficient knowledge of the subject, he will be credited with one point. A maximum of five credits will be given for office work or proof reading at the rate of one point for each two hours. The majority of the credits must be earned by news articles turned in and actually used. The material for these must be obtained independent of the assignments made to the regular staff. Credit at the rate of one point for each six column inches of new material and for each seven inches of "rewrite" material. One general assignment will be made to the competitors each week. The best article of those turned in will be printed and the author thereof will receive the credit for it.

When a candidate obtains the minimum requirement in credits, it merely renders him eligible for election. The board reserves the right to withhold election.

Elections will be held immediately following the last issue of the second term. A bi-weekly statement of individual standings will be printed in the COLLEGIAN columns.

President's Reception to the Faculty.

President and Mrs. K. L. Butterfield held their annual reception to the faculty of M. A. C., at the President's house, last Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The gathering was an informal one, and a pleasant evening was enjoyed.

AMERICAN CIVIC ASSOCIATION TO MEET HERE

Annual Convention Coming to Campus Oct. 14, 15, and 16.

A notable event is promised in the coming of the 16th annual convention of the American Civic Association to this campus. Being held Oct. 14, 15, and 16, it is the second and perhaps the most important event in the series of agricultural and country life conferences to be held on the campus this fall, in celebration of what President Butterfield has termed the "Jubilee" of the college. The Massachusetts State Grange and the Massachusetts Federation of Town Planning Boards will hold joint sessions during the convention, and the American Country Life Association will also join in the convention on Saturday, Oct. 16.

Professor Waugh, chairman of the semi-centennial committee, reports that country planning is to be the main theme for discussion at the convention. The American Civic Association have hitherto spent most of their time in city planning, but are now applying these ideas for city beautification to the country as well. It is hoped that the convention will greatly promote this work of country planning.

Some of the notable speakers on the program for the convention are: Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews; Col. William B. Greeley, chief of the U. S. Forest Service; Stephen T. Mather, director National Parks; Thomas Adams, Town Planner of Canada; J. Horace McFarland of Harrisburg, Pa., president of the Association; Mrs. Thomas G. Winter of Minneapolis, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; George C. Diehl, Highway Commissioner for the American Automobile Association.

Among the various subjects to be discussed are:

Does a Nation Need National Parks?
Preserving the Scenic Integrity of our National Possessions.
The National Forests.
Planning the Industrial Village.
The Grange in Neighborhood Improvement.
The Farmer's Interest in Good Roads.

A part of the convention which should prove very interesting locally is the typical county fair which is being planned. Prof. F. C. Sears is general chairman of this, with the assistance of Professors Clark Thayer and W. W. Chenoweth. The exhibits to the model fair will be contributed by the Horticultural Division of the college and will include fruits, vegetables, flowers, preserves and jellies, and forest products. The student clubs in Pomology, Landscape Gardening, Floriculture and Vegetable Gardening will manage the exposition, and the undergraduate organizations are planning a midway of their own to add to the realism of the fair. In past years, separate shows have been held at various times during the college year, prepared by student clubs and open to the public. The fair will combine all the club shows, with consequent added interest by the whole student body and visitors.

VARSITY ELEVEN MEETS W. P. I. ON SATURDAY

Maroon and White Seems Due for a Win at Worcester.

In spite of the fact that Worcester Polytechnical Institute has a better aggregation than last year, a summary of the games so far this year point to Aggie's favor For the first time in several years the W. P. I. squad is being coached by Harvard coaches, and is using Harvard plays. Blake and Lancaster, who played on the Harvard Varsity last year are coaching the team. The line-up is about the same as last year with a few new men. Fielder playing fullback, and Manning, left tackle, have both been playing good games this year. W. P. I. has played two games this year. On Oct. 2, they lost to B. U. 7-0. As Boston University is credited as having one of the best teams around Boston, the fact that W.P. I. held them 7-0 speaks well for the Worcester team. Last Saturday, Oct. 9, W. P. I. defeated Connecticut Aggie 9-6. The fact that M. A. C. defeated Connecticut on the week preceeding 28-0 promises well for another Aggie win next week. The Worcester team is using Harvard plays and has a particularly strong line with a fairly decent backfield.

The loss of Mansell, who suffered a broken elbow during the Bates game, which will probably result in his not being able to play for the rest of the season has been a severe blow to the Aggie team. However, the fact that M. A. C. defeated W. P. I. last year 25-0, and the result of the W. P. I.—Connecticut game of last week seems to show that the prospects for a good score by Aggie at Worcester, Oct. 16, are by no means unfavorable.

PROMINENT ALUMNI SPEAK AT SEMI-CENTANNIAL

Grads of Different Decades Talk On "The College Of My Day."

"The College of My Day," was the topic for the Alumni representatives of five decades, at the Semi-Centennial gathering in Bowker Auditorium, October 2, at 6:30 P. M.

Representatives of each decade in the history of M. A. C. spoke, and gave the undergraduates an interesting resumé of the growth of "Old Aggie." Among the half-forgotten events that were mentioned, the building of South Dormitory and the victory once the Harvard crew in the Connecticut River were prominent.

Dr. E. B. Smead, of Greenfield, a member of the Pioneer Class of 1871, represented the first decade. Dr. Smead has been, until recently, President of the Watkinson Farm School, of Hartford, Conn.

The other decade were represented by Dr. J. B. Lindsey '85, head of the Chemistry Department of M. A. C.; Dr. C. S. Bacon '94, a Springfield, Mass., physician; Mr. Sumner R. Parker '04, secretary of the Alumni Association, and a county agricultural teacher; and Mr. E. C. Edwards '14, manager of the Logan-Johnson Company, of Boston.

The meeting was presided over by President Butterfield, assisted by Dr. Gunkerman, Dr. Peters and Mr. McDougal, members of the Alumni Executive Committee. Howard M. Goff '21, led the singing, and Lorenzo Fuller '21, led the cheering.

15.—Frank Buell is engaged as a worker at 20 Broad St., New York.

HILL AND DALE MEN START TRAINING FOR 1920 SEASON

Thirty Candidates Out for Varsity Cross-country Team.

Cross-country season started last week, and practice for the team is now well underway. Thirty men, including nine Freshmen, showed up during the first four days. Rollins, Slate, and West of last year's team will form a nucleus for the squad, while other men showing promise are: Hooper '22, and Woodworth, MacCready, Irish, and Tanner '23. For the Freshmen, Woodworth and Hill are showing good form. No cross-country captain has as yet been elected for this season.

Oct. 23, one week before the first meet, there is to be an interclass contest, which will serve a time trial for the candidates. The scheduled, as planned now, is as follows:

Oct. 30.—W. P. I. vs. M. A. C., at Worcester.
Nov. 6.—N. H. State vs. M. A. C., at Amherst. (Pending.)
Nov. 13.—New England Intercollegiates, at Franklin Park, Boston.
Nov. 20.—Springfield vs. M. A. C., at Springfield.

Coach Dickinson started coaching the men last Friday, Oct. 8, and they went into training on Monday. Thirty candidates is a very good number with which to begin the season, and with the material which there is to work with, a very creditable team is expected to represent M. A. C. by the time of the first meet on Oct. 30.

BUT THREE HUNDRED SUBSCRIPTIONS FOR SQUIB

Following the recent call for competitors, the Squib announces that the following members of 1924 had signified their intentions of coming out for the various departments: Editorial—E. Bliss, F. Brunner, N. H. Macafee, S. H. White, W. W. Wood, and F. Barteaux; Art—R. Noyes, D. [L. Macaulay, R. Ball, C. S. Tobey, and R. Darling; Business—E. Bike, H. E. Wetherwax, E. Carpenter, and R. A. Barrows.

The call for subscriptions netted less than three hundred favorable replies. A personal canvass of every member of the student body will be made during this week by members and competitors of the Squib board. Contributions for both the art and editorial departments will be made at the same time. The alumni will be canvassed by mail at the same time.

The exchange list of the Squib now includes thirty-five publications of a humorous nature from other colleges.

BAND ORGANIZES

Twenty-two men reported for the first band practice which was held Thursday night in the Social Union. Instruments were furnished by the Military department to those who did not bring their own. Frequent practices will be held and Ray Swift, leader, is expecting to have a first class organization in shape for the New Hampshire game. Those reporting for rehearsal are as follows: cornets, Maiter, Noyes, Linquist, Woodworth, Mosely; clarinets, Morse, Fuller, Haslam, Salmon; trombones, Nelson, Kennedy, Smith; saxophones, Bowes, Adams; alto horns, M. M. Smith, King, Cahill; drums, Dunbar, Doane, Murray; baritone, A. L. Smith; bass horn, Ray Swift.

Educational Material.

In choosing M. A. C. as the meeting place for their sixteenth annual convention, the American Civic Association has paid this college a distinct compliment. Acting upon the urgent invitation of Professor Frank A. Waugh and his associates, the society is to spend the next three days in a discussion of country planning in its national, state, and community aspects. This group of men and women have been associated together in the past for the purpose of promoting such projects as our national park systems, state park systems, and general civic improvments. Their success is a matter of history.

They are coming to M. A. C. to discuss the improvement of the country along with the city. In connection with their convention, the combined horticultural clubs are to stage their annual show. The American Country Life Association will hold a joint session with the Civic Association, as will the Massachusetts Federation of Town Planning Boards. Other cooperating organizations are the Massachusetts State Grange and the Massachusetts Department of Agriculture.

The sum total of these various conferences will present a stupendous amount of educational material which the student body cannot afford to neglect.

The Squib.

The personal canvass now being made for the benefit of the Squib should receive the material support of the entire student body. The Squib is an attempt on the part of an inspired few to create and permanently establish a humorous monthly of collegiate grade on the campus. These men have no thought of personal gain, but are turning their few profits into a common fund which will be used as a reserve against future troubles. They have foregone the customary banquet at the end of the season, to further provide funds. Individuals have personally subscribed money to further keep the Squib on its feet.

The matter is now in the hands of the student body to give it their support. The sum asked is small and the return is large. In agreeing to pay that sum the individual will place his vote either for or against the future existence of the Squib. A sufficient number of votes will give it the necessary life blood to live. What is your vote?

Supply and Demand.

In a diminutive article on one of the inside pages may be found the information that the student labor of this college is no longer to be paid at rates which were prevalant during the prehistoric ages in labor circles. The slight increase which has been granted those privileged few who are allowed the delectable pleasure of working their way through college is indeed gratifying. The good old law of supply and demand is registering its usual wallop in a manner which comes close to home.

Major R. T. Walker of the Military Department has received the information that Major Frederic S. Snyder, U. S. Cavalry, has been ordered here to assist him in his duties as instructor and head of the department. There are now 17 men on duty here who were sent from a cavalry detachment at Camp Devens. These men will assume various duties as soon as the quota of horses arrives, and are now assisting in the clerical work. They will also act as assistant instructor of tactics.

Honor Council Elects.

At a recent meeting of the honor council P. J. Cascio of Willimantic, Conn. was elected president and F. B. Cook of Niantic, Conn., secretary. During the meeting committees reported on the distribution of copies of the Honor System constitution and by-laws and the explanation of same to the Freshman class. It was suggested that a few minor changes in the constitution and by-laws be brought before the student body for action at some near future date.

Reception to the Class of 1924.

The annual reception to the Freshman class took place at the home of President and Mrs. K. L. Butterfield last Saturday, at 8 P. M. In addition to the formal reception a social hour was passed, during which several college songs were sung and refreshments were enjoyed. Members of the Senior class acted as aids.

Junior Class Elections.

The Junior class held its class elections after assembly, Wednesday, Oct. 6. Albert W. Smith of Easthampton, was elected to the office of president. Smith is a member of the college Senate, played varsity basketball last year, and has been on 1922 basketball, baseball and tennis teams. George H. Thompson of Lenox was elected vice-president. He wes a member of the varsity basketball team last winter, and has been manager of the 1922 track team. Miss Ruth Hurder of Mattapan was re-elected secretary of the class. The other elections were Matthew J. Murdock, of Medford, treasurer; John N. Lewandowski, of Easthampton, captain; and James F. Leland of Sherborn, sergeant-at-arms.

Try-outs for this years Glee Club were held last night in the Social Union room. A very successful season is expected. Harlan Worthley, leader of last year's Glee Club, and Howard Goff, the present leader, will coach the promising material which has already appeared. Results of the Club try-outs and also the Musical Clubs schedule for the coming year will be announced later.

The Chapel Choir, an institution of pre-war days, will be revived with the next Sunday morning chapel of November 7.

ASSEMBLY

Aggie men. They should see that the Frosh obey all the rules of the Senate. Fuller, manager of the Varsity eleven, was the next and last speaker. He said that the squad out for football this year is the smallest in several years. He gave a resume of last year's eleven, and told various anecdotes concering the way in which the student body used to send off its football men. The "gip" seems to be lacking this year. At the game with Connecticut last Saturday afternoon, the cheering was weak at times. The cheers ought to be known by every Aggie man, so that they can be gived in unison.

Then Kendall, President of the Senate, presided at a short mass meeting, Campbell, Secretary of the Memorial Building Fund, urged all students that had not paid their pledges up to date to do so at once, if the construction of the building is not to be retarded. Webster, editor-in-chief of the Squib, asked the students to subscribe to the humorous monthly. Goff, leader of the Musical Clubs, led the assembly in singing some of the College songs. Fuller then had some of the cheers given which showed that the Aggie "pep", though dormant at times, has not yet gone out of existence.

'13.—H. T. Roehrs has taken a position with the Columia Graphophone Co., having charge of their lumber department. He expects shortly to locate in Baltimore, Md.

There may be a half-dozen plows, wagons, tractors, autos or other farm equipment to choose between, but no would-be imitator or utilizer of expired De Laval patents has yet produced a cream separator comparable with the De Laval.

First in the beginning, De Laval machines have led in every step of cream separator improvement and development. Every year has presented some new feature or betterment, and the 1920 machines are still better than they have ever been before.

If you haven't seen or tried a new 1920 De Laval machine, any local agent will be glad to afford you the opportunity to do so.

MANSELL, VARSITY END, SUSTAINS BROKEN ARM

The injury to Elton J. ("Sunny") Mansell '21 in the Bates game last Saturday, deprives Aggie of the services of her star end of last season, for the next few weeks and maybe for the remainder of the season.

Mansell, who was injured in the second quarter, sustained a fracture of the elbow, dislocating the elbow in the break. He was removed to the Infirmary, where he is at present resting comfortably. He will probably be forced to remain there for several days. Dr. Daniels is in attendance.

1922 INDEX

Work on the 1922 Index, under the direction of Editor-in-chief Jackson and Business Manager Spring, is being carried on in a fashion which insures the appearance of the publication by the first of April. The engraving is to be done by the Jahn & Olier Co. of Chicago. The first shipment for engraving is to be sent in to the engraver today. A representative of the White Studio will be on the campus in about ten days to take the remaining pictures for the book. Hervey Law '22 will be ready to receive subscriptions for the book after Oct. 25th.

RAISE IN MINIMUM WAGE

The minimum wage rate at M. A. C. for student labor has been raised from 25 to 30 cents an hour. All student labor on the campus is affected by this change. Students working in the Dining hall will be materially affected by this change, because the number of hours labor will be decreased from 28 to a little over 23 hours. An improvement of this kind has been expected for some time at Aggie, and all student laborers are eagerly waiting further increases.

Ex-'20.—Kenneth Y. Wright of Arlington Heights was seriously injured last week-end when the car in which he was riding collided with a motorcycle on the Boston-Lynn road. He was severely cut about the head and arms and his skull is believed to be fractured. He is on the danger list at the Lynn hospital.

DEDICATION OF DORMITORY

Music.

Greetings.—From Representatives of the New England Colleges at which Women are in Attendance.

Music.

Address.—Miss Sarah Louise Arnold, Dean Emeritus, Simmons College, Boston.

Presentation of Keys.—Mr. C. A. Gleason, Vice-President of the Board of Trustees.

Acceptance of Keys.—President Kenyon L. Butterfield.

The dormitory is to be known as Abigail Adams Hall. The dedication marked the close of the contest for the name of the building, which was open to all Massachusetts girls. The prize of $25 was awarded to Miss Margaret Ehnes of Medfield High School, whose clever letter to the trustees, explaining her choice, influenced them in their decision. Abigail Adams was the well-known wife of one United States president, and the mother of another. She was one of the foremost women of her time, and was especially interested in country life, so that the name is very appropriate for this college.

INTERCOLLEGIATES

H. H. Brown '20, Williams College, became the 3000 meter champion of the world at the Olympic Games in Antwerp, Belgium.

One college on the American Continent at least has been so affected by the meager recompense given instructors that it has been forced to close up. At the Prince of Wales College in Charlottetown, P. E. I., a college run by the Canadian Government, the halls were closed indefinitely and the students sent home. Several applications for increases in salary by faculty members were made without result. As there was no prospect of an early consideration of their demands, the entire faculty handed in their resignations and left.

The initial number of students in the class entering the University of Vermont this year was the largest in the history of the university.

M. I. T. commenced its 75th year with an enrollment of 3528 students, 225 of whom come from foreign countries.

Co-eds at Connecticut Aggie are by no means excluded from initiation activities. C. A. C. Campus says: Frosh co-eds were initiated into college by a bathing in Swan Lake last Friday at mid-night.

Dairy Science.
When the Agricultural Colleges entered the field of Dairy Husbandry they turned the light of science upon this industrial field with the result that better methods of manufacture and high-grade products are made possible.
Among these better methods none appear to be more important or more necessary than sanitary cleanliness, if good results are to be obtained, and the use of
is recommended by the Agricultural Colleges of the United States and Canada, because the fresh, wholesome, sanitary cleanliness this cleaner provides is not only an adequate protection to the dairy from insanitation, but is also proving most efficient and economical.

SHORT-COURSE FOOTBALLERS FACE STIFF SCHEDULE

The two-year men have started on their football season with a record number out and a schedule that will tax them to the utmost to put across for a series of straight wins. Forty men have turned out for practice, which is the maximum number of uniforms allowed. Any man not appearing for practice or handing in his suit has someone on the waiting list to take his place. There is a good nucleus from the team last season. This list is composed of ten, all of whom were in the game last year: Richard, Stelle, and Wiggin of the backfield, and Snelling, Burke, Wood, Raymond, Burnette, Gerard, and Lawrence of the line.

Coach Grayson is devoting his entire time to the team. A snappy practice is held every afternoon; although classes prevent some men from getting out at that time, everyone gets in at least one hour. The men are showing lots of pep, and the new men, quite a number of whom have never played before, are trying hard and are eager to learn. There is both a 2nd and 3rd team this year, which is a great advantage over last. The following new men are doing exceptionally well: Maggie, Hartwell, Keating, Clark, Hancock, Quirck, Judge, Richardson, Mowers, and Oakes. All of these men have had some previous football experience.

A fast schedule has been arranged, the first game which was to have been played with Rosary High School having been canceled. The 16th will be an open date. The following games are scheduled:

Oct. 23. Springfield Y. M. C. A. College 2nd team, at Springfield.

Oct. 30. Suffield School, at Suffield.

Nov. 6. Cushing Academy, at Ashburnham.

Nov. 13. Connecticut Agricultural 2d team, Alumni Field.

At the judging contest this week in Chicago the team from M. A. C. placed 9th among the 21 teams which represented all parts of the country. In judging the Guernsey type Richard W. Smith '21 of Rutland, Vt., obtained the first prize. This was the word obtained by telegram Monday night by the Department Head. The team consisting of R. W. Smith, Baker and G. K. Hurd '21, will arrive back in Amherst early this week.

ceiving the kickoff and running through the entire Aggie team for Bates' only touchdown. Moulton kicked the goal. King kicked off again and on the first play Bates gained fifteen yards on an end run. Two more runs of fifteen yards each brought the ball within scoring distance but a good tackle by Cotton spoiled Bates' chance and the ball went to M. A. C. Several good tackles in succession featured the next few minutes play then Lent brought the Aggie supporters to their feet by going through tackle for ten yards. Collins gained three yards and Lent carried the ball twenty yards, in the next two plays, for the second score. Poole kicked the goal. A twenty-yard run by the Bates quarter-back and a twelve yard gain by Grayson on a forward pass were the only other plays of especial interest in this quarter.

Several good tackles by Lent and King held Bates out of danger during the first of the fourth quarter. Short gains by Sargent and Poole brought the ball to Bates' forty-yard line. After an attempt to buck the line Poole threw a forward to Grayson who caught the ball and ran the remainded of the field for a touchdown. Poole kicked the goal. Bates received the kick and were held on their twenty-yard line. On the fourth down Davis broke through the Aggie defense and ran forty yards before he was tackled. They were held for downs but recovered the ball on a fumble. The game ended with the ball in the visitors' possession.

WORLD AGGIE NIGHT SET FOR OCTOBER 29

Alumni to Gather in Forty Localities. Cuba, Hawaii, and Porto Rico to Have Meetings.

The opening event of the alumni group to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of M. A. C., is to take place Oct. 29, Word Aggie Night. At that time there are to be forty different dinners throughout the country, wherever there are any Aggie alumni. These dinners are in charge of chairmen, located in the various localities, and any necessary arrangements should be made with them directly, as soon as possible.

The purpose of World Aggie Night, primarily, is to bring together all Aggie men, wherever located, that they may most fittingly commemorate the founding of their Alma Mater. An evening of good fellowship and enjoyment, with plenty of old-time Aggie pep, is in store for every alumnus, if each one will do his share toward making the celebration a grand success. For any whose locality is not included in the list below, the Alumni Association will be glad to back them in making individual plans for meetings. It has always been the policy of the Association to hold meetings in all localities where there are at least six alumni, and this policy is being followed for World Aggie Night. Hereafter it is planned to hold alumni dinners annually in these localities.

Prof. J. W. Gregg, '04, of Berkely, Cal., was the first to report that plans were under way. Since then, other chairman have gotten busy, and the movement is well under way now generally. Attention is called to the new Pacific Coast section at Seattle, Wash; also to the meetings in Cuba, Porto Rico and Hawaii. In order to assure large gatherings at Boston, Springfield, and New York, the three centers of the largest groups of alumni, it has been decided best to hold no dinners within a 25-mile radius of these cities.

The speakers for the various localities, so far as is known now, are the following:—

Chicago, R. J. Watts
Cleveland, Sumner R. Parker
Washington, Prof. F. A. Waugh
Baltimore, John D. Willard
Philadelphia, Prof. C. A. Peters
Boston, President K. L. Butterfield
Governor Coolidge
New Haven, S. B. Haskell
Arthur E. Brides
Pittsfield, R. D. Hawley
Hartford, C. R. Greene
Worcester, A. F. McDougall
Springfield, Dean E. M. Lewis
Amherst, Prof. P. B. Hasbrouck
New York, Prof. C. S. Hicks
Providence, Prof. W. P. B. Lockwood
Pittsburg, C. H. Gould

WORCESTER DEFEATED BY STRONG OFFENSIVE

Two Touchdowns in the Last Quarter Give Aggie a 21-6 Win.

Showing a strong offensive power in the fourth quarter that netted them two touchdowns, the varsity football team won it's third successive game by defeating Worcester Tech., 21-6. The game was played at Worcester before one of the largest crowds that have witnessed a college game in that city. The home team was supported by the entire student body while nearly a hundred men from Aggie went down by auto to see the game.

Capt. Harold W. Poole

The first few minutes of play were devoted to a kicking game. Collins outkicked his opponent and finally the M. A. C. team found itself inside of Worcester's territory. Two or three line rushes by Worcester netted that team a gain of 14 yards. The next play was a forward pass which never worked for Worcester, for MacKintosh, the Aggie center, intercepted the pass on the 35-yard line and ran 25 yards before he was brought down on Worcester's 10-yard line. Three line plays and a five

CIVIC ASSOCIATION CONVENES ON CAMPUS

Students Attend Meetings. National Parks, Billboard Nuisance and Town Planning Discussed.

The 10th annual convention of the American Civic Association was held here on the campus last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. To the members of the Association who were the special guests of the college, an opportunity was given to become acquainted with the aspects of country planning, in Amherst and the neighboring country; while to the students an opportunity was given for attending the meetings of the Association. At ten o'clock Thursday morning all classes for four year students were suspended until noon and at the same time on the following day classes for the two-year students were suspended in the same way.

President Butterfield gave an address of welcome at the opening of the program Thursday morning in which he made note of the fact that the college was heartily in sympathy with the efforts of the Association, at the same time extending a welcome in behalf of the state, as Governor Coolidge was not able to be present.

Following this, an address telling of the founding and growth of the Association was given by Mr. J. H. MacFarland, president of the Association. He spoke of the fact that since the founding of the Association, sixteen years ago, its object had always been to make America a better place in which to live, and it had been a powerful influence in all the great movements for civic betterment, and had taken the lead in the cleaning up of various towns, in the making of Ningara Falls a national possession, the back to the country movement, and the conservation of national forests.

The next speaker, Col. W. B. Greely, chief of the U. S. Forest Service, gave an interesting account of the extent of the national forests and their value in the protection of water sheds, conservation of wild life, and also their aesthetic value in affording places of recreation for the American public. He urged the utilization of these forests with a minimum of waste, with a definite plan for obtaining the combination of these values, and legislation to bring about this result.

An address was then given by Hon. Stephen T. Mather, director of the national park service, including a fine description of a tour recently made through the canyon country in the south of Utah, a little known and unappreciated region, now a National Park. He also told of a National Park tour which he had instituted which takes in most of the important parks of the West, and that his dream for the near future was that a party traveling through the West in their car would be able to spend each night on land that was a part of a national park. Mr. McFarland then read a letter from the Secretary of the Interior which declared the hearty cooperation of that office in regard to the attitude taken by the association on the question of the damming of the Yellowstone River within the limits of the park.

At 10-00 o'clock on Friday morning all classes for the two-year men were suspended and all attended the association meetings. At this meeting an introductory speech was given by Dean Lewis. Following this, Mr. E. T. Hartman spoke on the eradication of the billboard nuisance in the open country. He brought out the fact that it could be eradicated if public sentiment could be aroused to the point where that sort of advertising would not be a paying proposition to the advertisers. An address was then given by Mr. W. R Greely on the Civic Centers for Massachusetts Towns of Less Than 10,000 Population. He gave a brief history of the development of the community center in New England since Colonial days. In regard to the placing of public buildings he showed that to have the best effect buildings should not only possess beauty themselves but should be in a suitable neighborhood.

Friday afternoon there was an excursion by automobile to Northampton, Old Deerfield, Hadley, Sunderland, and Greenfield, where an opportunity was given to see the Greenfield Housing development. On Friday evening at 8-00 o'clock the subject "Planning for the Small Village and Rural District" was discussed. There were three addresses given, dealing with the organization of country life, which was followed by a general discussion. The speakers were Dr. Albert Sharp, editor of the Review of Reviews, George B. Ford, and Thomas Adams, town planner for Canada.

On Saturday morning Professor John Phelan, L. R. Smith, Master of the State Grange, Hugh MacCrea, and Dr. C. J. Galpin of the U. S. Department of Agriculture spoke on "Country Planning and the Farm." In the afternoon the discussion was continued and addresses given by Professor Arthur W. Cowell, State College, Penn.; Mrs. N. C. Martin. Professor R. B. Cruickshank, and John N. Cole, Commissioner of Public Works.

The program for the Association meeting closed at Amherst Saturday afternoon, although it was continued in conjunction with the program of the National Country Life Association in Springfield in the evening.

WOMEN'S STUDENT COUNCIL ORGANIZES

Officers For The Year Recently Elected.

One of the most important student organizations on the campus is the Woman's Student Government Association. This council stands on a par with the Senate, being the governing board of the women students.

Seeking to cultivate a feeing of responsibility among women students and to increase the spirit of loyalty to the college the women students of M. A. C. organized this association for self-government more than two years ago. It is the object of this association to control all appropriate matters pertaining to the conduct of the women students. All women students are subject to the operation of this council and are ipso facto members. The council is subject to the Faculty but it legislates on all non-academic questions, other than those of a social nature, affecting women students. The President and Faculty reserve the right to revoke this power or any part of it at any time.

There is an Executive Council consisting of three Seniors, two Juniors, and one Sophomore. The officers of the Council are a President, a Vice-President, and a Secretary; preferably two of these are Seniors and one a Junior. A regular meeting of the council is held the first week of October and last week of May.

The council elected this year consists of the following: President, Jane L. Pollard of North Adams; Vice-President, Emily B. Van Leunep, of Great Barrington; Secretary Inza A. Boles of Dorchester; Viola Cameron of Pelham; Marion B. Russet of Boston and Ruth W. Hurder of Mattapan.

FRESHMAN ELEVEN OPENS SEASON WITH VICTORY

Dalton High Defeated 6-0 in First Test for 1924 Team.

The Aggie Freshman football team started its season auspiciously with a victory over Dalton High School last Saturday afternoon. The score was only 6 to 0, however, the Dalton team, which is being coached by Frellick '20, proved a worthy opponent outholding the first year men to a single touchdown.

Salmon kicked off to Dalton to start the game and then the Freshmen forced them to punt. Another exchange of kicks followed and then a long punt by Barker put the ball on Dalton's five-yard line. Here 1924 received it after an attempted forward pass and Bilski carried the ball over for the only score of the game, just before the quarter ended.

In the second quarter Dalton opened an aerial attack which was one of the features of the game. Five forward passes were completed in as many plays, and the ball carried well into the Freshman territory before it was lost on downs.

The Freshmen threatened to score again in the third quarter when two forward passes, Ferranti to Porges, and some substantial gains throug the line by Williams brought the ball to Dalton's one-yard line. Here Dalton stiffened, recovered the ball on downs, and punted to safety. The ball remained near the middle of the field for the remainder of the game.

The Freshmen had the advantage in weight but they were outpunted and this, with Dalton's forward passing game, held the score down. Williams was the most consistent ground gainer for the Freshmen, and Porges also played a good game. Connors and Hoxie did the best work for Dalton.

AGGIE'S COUNTRY FAIR PROVES TO BE BIG SUCCESS

Live Interest Shown in First Agricultural Show.

Probably the biggest "show" ever held on the Aggie campus took place over the week-end, commencing Friday, Oct. 15, and ending Sunday, Oct. 17. A fair was held under the auspices of the Department of Horticulture of M. A. C., and included pomological, floricultural, and vegetable gardening displays, beside possessing a fortune-teller, a side-show, and confectionery booths.

The largest tent by far was the machinery tent, in which were displayed orchard sprayers, fertilizer distributors, seed sowers, and all other implements used in horticulture. Directly opposite this tent was the pomology tent. On the left side were exhibited the faculty collections of products. Dr. William P. Brooks, and Charles F. Green, librarian, were the big winners in this class, the former obtaining first prize in five varieties of grapes, ten varieties of apples, and four varieties of pears; while the latter won first prize on two varieties of apples and three varieties of pears. On the right were the student displays. The big winners here were Watson, Huntley, and Peck. The Bay Road Fruit Farm of Amherst also exhibited some excellent varieties of apples in boxes ready for shipment. The student packing courses also had exhibits of apples ready for the market. The next tent contained displays of ornamental trees, vines, and shrubs, which are used for landscape purposes. The large red fruits of the magnolia, the branches of English Hawthorne and Japanese Larch were especially beautiful. All these ornamentations were collected on the Aggie campus. There was also a tent devoted to table decorations, which were designed by students in Commercial Floriculture, and to vase displays, designed by the students in Greenhouse Management. Watkins, O'Hara, West, and Cascio were the table exhibitors. The tent of Horticultural Manufactures was the second largest in the fair, and contained various preserved and evaporated products. Various types of evaporators apple-corers-and-peelers were also demonstrated. Especially of interest was the collection of preserved products sent to the fair by Mrs. Edith Hawley of Agawam, whose exhibits at Springfield, recently, were prize-winners; also the Vegetable Gardening Department devoted a tent to the exhibits of students and commercial growers. One collection of a commercial grower contained more than 30 kinds of vegetables. In the center of the tent were two pyramids constructed of vegetables, one arranged in the English style, by two students. The Hutchinson carrot, which has recently been put on the market, was also displayed. It is fine for box marketing. There was also an exhibit of vegetables packed in the new standard bushel boxes used in the Boston and Providence markets. It is a few inches lower than the former type. Types of Chinese cabbage, which make excellent salad and coldslaw, was also shown. The other pyramid was in mass style and was composed of vegetables grown on the campus. A fine exhibit of celery raised from home seed was furnished by J. M. and A. H. Smith. This has been declared by authorities to be the finest celery in New England. On the left side was a variety display of beans, radishes, corn and squash.

The side show performance by Anderson, Sampson, Heavitt, and Smith was excellent, as proved by the "full house" at each performance, and the Gypsy fortune-teller was kept constantly busy. The election booth was quite busy. Here any one for the small sum of five cents could cast a vote for the presidential candidates, Harding, Cox and Debs.

The fair was held in the open space to the left of French Hall, and was laid out in real circus form, containing a wide street with tents on either side, to form the usual "cattle show midway."

The list of faculty prizes are as follows:

The Rushing Season

With a sigh of relief which finds a ready echo from the faculty, the student body has laid down its implements of interfraternity warfare and is rapidly returning to its normal state of healthy activity. There exists a divided opinion as to the real value of the season as it now exists. The extreme competition among the fraternities for the new men has led to the development of a series of unavoidable evils, and therefore, a desire on the part of a great many for some definite change. During the past two weeks studies have suffered, activities have been neglected, and morale, from the standpoint of the college as a whole, has been extremely low.

At various times in the past various changes have been suggested; a short three-day season at the opening of college, a ten-day period at the same time, a season at the beginning of the second semester, or at the beginning of the sophomore year. All of these have their good and bad points.

In the case of the three or ten-day season, pre-rushing will have to be resorted to with accompanying summer rushing and heavy expenditures. The result will be that the freshman, in many cases, will not become acquainted with many of the fraternity brothers-to-be until he has already committed himself. Yet, on the other hand, the amount of time occupied by the short season will not be sufficient to greatly interfere with studies, activities, or morale.

The suggestion that the rushing season be postponed until the beginning of the second semester or even the sophomore year, has advantages easily seen. The freshmen have a chance to observe each and every fraternity in its normal life. He has a chance to become really acquainted with the upper classmen. His time ordinarily devoted to studies during one of the most important periods of his college career is not monopolized by hectic social activities. On the other hand, the fraternity has similar opportunities of observing the freshman as he really is. College morale will not suffer and activities will be in a better all-round condition.

The main objection to the plan is that it might result in a semester-long rushing season. This matter has been cared for in other colleges by obliging each fraternity to give a bond of a specified amount which is forfeitable if the particular fraternity is found guilty of rushing during the first semester. The definition of the word "rushing" and the possible trials should be placed in the hands of the interfraternity conference.

This system works elsewhere under conditions similar to those to be found at M. A. C. In it lies a possible and very probable remedy for the ills of the present rushing season.

"The Country Fair"

Visitors at the recent "country fair" were agreeably surprised at the variety of displays and amusements which they found there. Rather hurriedly planned, quickly assembled, and excellently maintained, the event was a real success. Due credit should be given the students and faculty who are responsible for the accomplishment.

They worked with the hope of creating an agreeable innovation, at least, on this campus. Their efforts are praiseworthy and the successful results easy to be seen.

Do not let this event pass into M.A.C. history as the only one of its kind. Lets have a bigger, better affair next year.

COMMUNICATION

At a recent meeting of the Honor Council, it was decided to bring before the Student Body for action, the following changes in the Constitution:

Section 3 of Article 3 at present reads, "The Officers of the Honor Council shall consist of a President and a Secretary, and shall be chosen by the Council". To this, the Honor Council thinks it wise to add, "at the last regular meeting prior to the close of the school year, to take effect at the beginning of the following school year".

This addition is thought necessary because there must be someone to start the work of the Honor Council at the beginning of each school year in order that the Freshmen may receive Constitutions and have the Honor System explained to them within two weeks after the opening of College.

Section 5 of Article 3 reads, "A quorum shall consist of six members of the council. A vote of one less than a quorum is necessary for conviction."

The prospective change would make it read, "A quorum shall consist of one less than the total membership of the Council. A vote of one less than a quorum is necessary for conviction."

For the first four months of every school year the Honor Council consists of only six members. The freshman member is not elected until after the Christmas vacation. As this section stands now, every member of the council must be present for the transaction of business at any meeting during these first four months of every year. Almost invariably one member is absent and the council can do no official business. The proposed change would remedy this difficulty.

The By-Laws do not have to come before the Student Body for changes or additions. The following has been done to the By-Laws: To Section 1 of Article 1 which reads, "Each class, except the Senior Class, shall elect one new member to the Honor Council at least one month prior to the close of the college year, and those elected shall serve for the remainder of their normal college course" has been added "beginning with the following school year".

B of this section has been stricken out.

To Article 1 of the By-Laws, last Spring was added Section 3. "The judicial proceedings of the Honor Council shall be held confidential and the books shall be open for inspection only to the President of the College and to the members of the Honor Council and their representatives".

It might be well to think over the two changes in the Constitution before the next Student Forum, in order to facilitate voting.

(Signed) PETER J. CASCIO,
President of Honor Council.

POMONA AND STATE GRANGES MEET ON CAMPUS

The Pomona Grange worked the fifth degree on a number of people Monday evening in French Hall. The initiation was under the supervision of Prof. Frank A. Waugh, deputy of the Pomona Grange of Hampshire County. The following evening another large delegation was initiated at Stockbridge Hall, into the sixth degree, by the State Grange.

Many people have decided to take the fifth and sixth degrees at this time in order that they may attend the coming National Grange Convention which is to be held at Boston. It is expected that this convention will work the seventh degree on 10,000 people, the largest group ever initiated.

AGGIE PIGSKIN CHASERS VS. U. OF VT. SATURDAY

Green Mountaineers Promise a Warm Engagement.

With three consecutive victories behind it the Aggie football team will journey to Burlington next Saturday to meet the strong University of Vermont team in what will probably be one of the hardest games of the season. Vermont has one of the strongest teams she has had in many years and has only one defeat against her record this season, that at the hands of Syracuse University. She defeated Tufts by a 7 to 0 score on Oct. 9 and repeated last Saturday, handing New Hampshire her first defeat by the margin of one touchdown.

The Vermont team is a fast aggregation and also one of the heaviest ever turned out at that institution, with a backfield averaging 180 pounds. Bellerose at left half and Johnson at fullback are two veterans who have been starring all season while Skelton has proved avaluable man at quarter. The team is coached by Burke a former Vermont man.

Coach Gore's team has scored many more points than the Vermont group, and while Aggie has not played, perhaps, teams of as high caliber still her prospects for a fourth victory look bright. King will be back at right tackle and will strengthen the M. A. C. line. Coach Gore has not made his final decision on the position of center and right guard but aside from these two places the teams will line up as follows:

CHEMICAL SOCIETY BRANCH MEETS At M. A. C.

Amherst was the scene of another important conference, when on Saturday, October 16, the Connecticut Valley Section of the American Chemical Society met here for their monthly meeting. Fifty men were present, twenty-four of whom came from outside Amherst.

The visit of the Society occupied the entire Saturday afternoon and evening, and the visitors were given a fine opportunity to look over Amherst. In the afternoon, the Amherst College Chemical Laboratory was inspected and then the chemists visited the Experiment Station, College Laboratory, Microbiology Building, Dairy Laboratory, Laboratory of Horticulture Manufactures, and the Country Fair, at M. A. C.

At six o'clock, dinner was served at Draper Hall, followed at 8 o'clock by the business meeting and program held in Stockbridge Hall. Mr. Gerald E. Perry '15, spoke on "Scientific Control on a Rubber Plantation." Mr. Perry after graduating, served here for two years as a graduate assistant in the Chemistry department, but for the past three years he has been working in the Malay States as Mycologist of the Society Internationale des Plantations, with headquarters at Selanger. He described the methods of collecting and preparing crude rubber. Dr. R. E. Rindfuez, Director Chemical Research, American Writing Paper Company, Holyoke, concluded the program with an illustrated talk on the whole process of paper making, and chemical control involved.

The American Chemical Society is an organization divided into numerous local organizations all over the United States, the headquarters of the Connecticut Valley Section being at Hartford. During the year six meetings, similar to the one on Saturday, are held at Hartford, Springfield, New Britain and other Connecticut Valley Cities.

WORK OF TOWN PLANNING BOARDS OUTLINED

Important Questions to be Considered by Federation.

Town Planning Boards were formed as a result of efforts on the part of the American Civic Association. The work of these boards, which aim for community betterment, constitutes a large part of the program of the association. It is the work of these boards which should be of vital interest to every citizen; it is the results of their work which the citizen comes across every day. Town planning boards have been formed with no special authority to act, and it is one of their hardest tasks to get authority to ensure the adoption of their plans or suggestions.

The local planning boards were created out of a law based upon a recognition of the necessity for definite plans to control the growth and development of our towns. This law is supported by a section which reads: "The city council or other governing body in cities is authorized to make suitable ordinances; and towns are authorized to make by-laws for carrying out the purpose of this act, and they may appropriate money therefor."

This, as may be seen, is a general statement which is not compelling, and which is not effective. It gives the local boards an opportunity to act, but official recognition is not provided for. It is suggested by the Massachusetts Federation of Planning Boards that each board investigate the laws and statutes which determine the rights of municipality in relation to the construction of streets, sewers, waterways, parks, playgrounds, and other such matters, the authority or control of which is vested in the local authorities. The local board should be accurately informed. In its circulars, the Federation suggests laws which would be of assistance to the boards in carrying out their work, which includes the acquiring of land for playgrounds and parks, the regulation of building construction, sanitation, public nuisances, etc. For instance, some cities do not allow lunch carts to be drawn out on the streets at night. Many towns have rubbish barrels placed at convenient points about the town. The lunch cart tends to cheapen the appearance of the city, and forces the respectable lunch room to close early in the evening. Also, steps are being taken by the local boards, and by the Federation, toward the regulation of the billboard as a means of outside advertising. The Federation is behind all principles which stand for community betterment and improvement in any manner.

Another important question is that "zoning". Satisfactory progress is being made in securing legislation to enable cities and towns to put into effect "zoning". It means the creation of districts within each of which only buildings of particular character can be built; such as residence districts, and commercial districts. "Zoning", according to the Federation, is the most valuable power for municipalities to exercise in securing orderly and business like development.

A third issue which the Federation of Town Planning Boards hopes to establish is the formation of a State Housing and Town Planning Bureau, which will be the nucleus of the local boards. The Federation is at present the only agency through which the local boards can act.

CAMPUS NOTE

The Association of New England Chapters of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity meets at M. A. C. next Saturday. A number of important questions, which are to be presented at the convention in Chicago next November, will be discussed. Campbell '20 is the president of the association, and MacKintosh '21 is in charge of local arrangements.

SHORT COURSE ELEVEN TO OPEN SEASON SATURDAY

The Short Course football team of M. A. C. starts its season next Saturday, when it meets Springfield Y. M. C. A. Seconds on Pratt Field, Springfield, at 2-30 P. M.

Under the coaching of "Em" Grayson '17, an old Aggie star, the two-year men have been making rapid progress. Thirty-five are out for the team, 8 of whom played here last year. They average 170 pounds, and are strong on the defensive. For the remainder of the week before the game, scrimmage will be held with the varsity. Pickard, quarterback, has shown up especially well in practise. Steele, the big fullback has been laid up for some time, but will be in the line-up Saturday. The rest of the men are in good shape.

The Springfield team lost 7-6 to Williston last Saturday. Merriman, Sherin, Bryan, and Anderson, all in the backfield, have been doing well for the Red and White's second string eleven.

Two truck loads of loyal supporters will accompany the team, and a hard fought game seems certain. Coach Grayson will probably use the following line-up.

Girard or Quirk, le; Burke, lt; Merwin or Clark, lg; Burnett, c; Raymond, rg; Snelling, rt; Hartwell, re; Pickard, qb; Wiggin, lhb; Richardson, rhb; Steele, fb.

SOPHOMORE NOMINATING COMMITTEE CHOSEN

1923 held a class meeting Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 13, after Assembly with 63 of the members present. Dowden was unanimously elected class football manager to prepare for the coming Freshman-Sophomore game. It was voted to hold class elections semi-annually, on the fourth Fridays of October and February. After discussion as to how the nominating committe should be chosen, the following five men were elected by ballot: Friend, Sargent, Beal, Hale and Slade.

JUDGING TEAM PLACES WELL UP AT CHICAGO

Ranks Ninth Among Twenty-One Teams. R. W. Smith '21, Scores First in Ayrshire Class.

The M. A. C. dairy judging team stood ninth among 21 colleges from all over the country, in the Intercollegiate Dairy Cattle Judging contest, which was held at the National Dairy Show in Chicago, Oct. 9.

Aggie was represented by R. D. Baker, R. W. Smith, and G. K. Hurd, who were accompanied by Prof. V. A. Rice, of the Animal Husbandry Department. The team was fifth in judging Jerseys, seventh in Ayshires, thirteenth in Guernseys, and seventeenth in Holsteins. Kansas State took first place in the contest. The only Eastern college team which ranked above M. A. C. was Penn. State, while Connecticut, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Cornell, and Ohio were among the twelve ranking below.

The judging took place in the Coliseum, and was very well planned and executed, although there were chances for argument in many classes. Bulls, cows, and heifers from each of the four dairy breeds were judged, and the contest lasted the entire day.

R. W. Smith who had been high man in judging Ayrshires in Springfield, repeated this feat in Chicago. R. D. Baker was third in the Jersey judging. G. K. Hurd, who suffered injuries on his last trip in the Spring term, proved that he had fully recovered by pushing his team mates hard in both contests.

After resting and seeing Chicago by auto on Sunday, the team spent Monday profitably by visiting the Chicago Board of Trade (grain pit), the Union Stock Yards, Armour's Plant, the Horse Market, and the store of America's greatest merchant, Marshall Field.

PROF. WAUGH ADDRESSES CONFERENCE AT SPRINGFELD

Speaks Before American Country Life Association.

At the last session of the third annual conference of the American Country Life Association, at Springfield, Oct. 18, Prof. F. A. Waugh of M. A. C. presented a brief review and criticism of the various agencies at work in the field of country planning, with special reference to public roads, submitting at the same time the report of the country planning committee, of which he is chairman.

"The criticism seems fair," he stated, "that more effort and money have been spent on road construction and administration than upon planning. Very rarely shall we find a road system in any community fully adapted to its present needs.

"On the whole, it does not seem desirable to devise new agencies for road planning, but it may be entirely proper to urge upon all town, county and state authorities dealing with roads the desirability of more general and thoughtful planning. It may be hoped and expected, furthermore, that the national agencies promoting the cause of good roads will give more attention to this fundamental matter."

Prof. Waugh advised the employment of technically trained men and women, engineers and architects, whenever any farm or road construction work is to be undertaken. While well aware of the limited amount of money avilable for ordinary farm building construction, he urged the employment of the architects to the utmost extent possible.

"Beyond this point," he added, "we may hope that various public agencies, and especially the extension services of the agricultural colleges, will give earnest attention to all problems of planning farm building."

SHORT COURSE SENIORS WELCOME FRESHMEN

Reception, Speakers, and Dancing Enjoyed by Two-Year Students.

A very pleasant entertainment was held for the Short Course students Friday evening, Oct. 15, when the two-year Seniors gave a reception to the two-year Freshmen in the Drill Hall. Practically all of the students were on hand to add to the gayety of the event, and went away with the satisfaction of having spent a very enjoyable evening together.

During the first part of the evening the new students were received by Prof. and Mrs. Phelan, Mr. and Mrs. Vlets, Mr. and Mrs. Strahn, Misses Skinner and Hamlin, Mrs. Baehrach, and Mr. French. A short talk was then given by Roger Estey of the 2-yr. Senior Class, who explained the Short Course and told of its various activities. Prof. Phelan supplemented this talk with a word of welcome to the new students, followed by E. E. Grayson, director of Short Course athletics. To complete the first part of the evening appropriately, all joined in singing the college song, "Sons of Old Massachusetts".

Dancing was then in order until 10-45 o'clock. Good music was furnished by an orchestra composed entirely of Short Course men. Not the least feature of the party was the refreshments, consisting of the old standbys, sweet cider and doughnuts. This was in keeping with the decorations of the Hall, with the suggestion of autumn in the air. Palms and maple leaves, with yellow and blue crepe paper made a pretty scene, while the "M" blankets of the football squad, which were hung on the wall, added greatly to the other decorations.

TWO YEAR STUDENT COUNCIL UNDER WAY

Plans Developed For Social Activities.

The Short Course Student Council which was organized last year to give an impetus to the college life among two year students resumed its work again this fall, holding weekly meetings and regulating the relationship between the Freshmen and the second year men. The representatives now in charge of the council consist of six men from the Senior class and four from the Freshman class. These are: from the Senior class, Steele, Trafton, Burnett, Whitmore, Snelling, Estey; from the Freshman class, Williams, Betterley, Delano, and Sanford. The officers are Estey, president; Steele, vice-president; Sanford, secretary and tresurer.

So far this fall, the council has held four meetings and will continue to hold them every Wednesday night in Dean French's office in South College. At the beginning of the term the time was given to drawing up rules and regulations for the entering class. Among the decisions was that the Freshmen be required to wear distinguishing caps. This has been carried out and for the first time the short course Freshmen have worn special hats so that they may be recognized from the others. The council has charge of the enforcement of these rules and thus corresponds in a measure to the four year senate. All Freshmen infringing the rules are brought up before this body.

The council is now employed in working up plans for the stimulation of social life among the two year men. Arrangements are now being made for the development of musical clubs and dramatics and a favorable season is expected during the ensuing terms.

"CAMOUFLAGE," IS SUBJECT OF DEAN'S CHAPEL TALK

At Friday morning chapel, Oct. 15, Dean Lewis gave a short talk on the subject of Camouflage." He emphasized the crookedness that was going on in politics now, and as an example told some of his own personal experiences with politicians, when he was dabbling in politics himself. This deceitfulness so prevalent among many of our public officers is camouflage of the worst kind. They are working only to get the better of somebody in an underhanded way. During the war, camouflage had a noble purpose, namely, the protection of humanity. "We must not degrade the term to convey such an ignoble meaning as it seems to be doing at present," said Dean Lewis in conclusion.

Herbert Emery '20 is on the campus as assistant to Dr. Torry in the Botany Department.

WORCESTER DEFEATED

yard penalty put Lent over the goal line for the first score. Poole kicked the goal. The quarter ended with the ball in Aggie's possession on their 35-yard line.

An exchange of kicks took up five minutes of the second quarter and then following a fumble the Worcester offensive got busy and on eight line plays and three forward passes they marched down the field for a touchdown. Morse scored. Worcester kicked to M. A. C. and Lent and Sargent carried the ball for nine yards. On the fourth down Capt. Poole shot a forward to Grayson who ran 35-yards before he was tackled. Two short rushes gave Aggie five more yards before the half ended.

For the third successive time the quarter opened with an exchange of kicks between the two teams. Two rushes by Sargent and Lent brought Aggie within scoring distance but an intercepted forward pass spoiled all chances of a score here. In eleven short gains Worcester brought the ball to midfield but was forced to kick. The ball was in M. A. C.'s hands at the end of the quarter.

Lent and Sargent gained five yards and Poole made first down on a line buck. Another five yard gain by Poole put the ball near enough to the line so that Sargent carried it over on the next play. Poole kicked the goal. An intercepted forward pass and a series of gains by Lent and Poole brought the ball within the Worcester five yard line. Here Worcester put up the most stubborn resistance of the game. Lent went through tackle for three yards and with the ball on the two yard line it took three plays before Capt. Poole finally carried the ball over for the last touchdown. He kicked the goal. A kick followed by a touchback gave Aggie the ball on the 20-yard line. About five more rushes netted Aggie 20 yards and the game ended with the ball in her possession on the 40-yard line.

The game was a little dissapointing to Aggie supporters in that Worcester scored at all; hut considering the absence of King and Mansell, who were in the infirmary, the team played a good game and showed that in the next two weeks it is going to take a remarkably strong offensive to break their line.

CAVALRY UNIT RECEIVES SHIPMENT OF HORSES

The M. A. C. cavalry has recently received a shipment of 36 horses and two mules from the government stock farm at Front Royal, Virginia. Pending the completion of the new cavalry barn the animals are pastured on a lot adjoining East Pleasant Street. Work on the barn, however, is now being pushed rapidly and it will be completed in the near future.

Apparently drill at M. A. C. is to take on a new aspect and assume a more important position in the college curriculum. Lieut. F. S. Snyder U. S. A. has been detailed to assist Commandant R. W. Walker, and a detachment of 17 men has been sent to care for horses and equipment and perform other duties incidental to the administration on the unit.

The first mounted drill was held for the Juniors on Monday. On Friday all the horses will be on parade at 10-40 A. M. before the presidents of all the land grant colleges who will be here on that day.

The field south of the college campus on Lincoln Avenue is be used as the cavalry parade ground.

ASSEMBLY SPEAKER TAKES NEW THEME FOR TALK

J. H. MacFarland Raises Question Concerning Women in Politics.

"Can we keep up with the woman voter?" was the subject of Wednesday's Assembly speaker, Mr. J. Horace MacFarland of Harrisburg, Pa. Mr. MacFarland is president of the American Civic Association, which has been holding its convention in Amherst during the past week end.

"The question is," said the speaker, "why can't we keep up with the woman voter?" We are under the impression that women will not be able to vote because they have not been trained for voting, yet, on the other hand, the men themselves have not been trained for that duty. Men say they belong to some one political party, but half of them do not know what that party stands for, and therefore act in their political decisions much like trained monkeys. There are two reasons why some people vote for a particular party; either because they heed the call of a politician who claims to need help, or else to vote for a party, irrespective of the qualifications of the candidate representing that party.

Mr. MacFarland pointed out, from personal experience, that it is the women of a community who always start improvements, and the men finally come across with the money. It was Harriet Beecher Stowe who worked against slavery and it was Frances Willard who commenced the dry campaign.

In closing, Mr. MacFarland said that it was the duty of every voter to cast his or her vote for the representative who would make Amherst, Massachusetts, and the United States, better places in which to live.

LAND GRANT COLLEGES MEETING IN SPRINGFIELD

Convention Program Ends with Visit to Aggie Campus.

Over 200 delegates attended the 34th annual convention of the Association of Land Grant Colleges, which was the last of a series of confereuces held this month in Springfield and vicinity. This association is divided into three sections, one on agriculture, one on engineering and one on home economics. The section on agriculture is again divided into resident teaching, experiment station, and extension service divisions. The program was planned so that divisional meetings usually occupied the mornings and afternoons, while general sessions took place in the evenings.

President Samuel Avery of Nebraska made the opening speech. His keynote was, "The agricultural and industrial classes must have education, cost the public what it may."

The discussion in the experiment station division centered largely on means for enlarging the scope of experimental work. Some of the experiment station experts who led these talks were Dr. E. W. Allen of the States Relations Service, Directors E. H. Burnett of Nebraska, Thomas Cooper of Kentucky, R. W. Thatcher of Minnesota, H. L. Russell of Wisconsin, F. D. Farrell of Kansas, F. S. Harris of Utah W. H. Chandler of New York, J. H. Lipman of New Jersey, E. B. Linfield of Montana, D. F. Trowbridge of North Dakota, F. B. Mumford of Missouri, and R. L. Watts of Pennsylvania.

Among the important business accomplished by the extension service was the recommendation made that the agricultural colleges have marketing courses, paying special attention to the crop of the particular state in which the college is located.

Secretary Meridith of the United States Department of Agriculture, spoke at the convention. He laid emphasis on the importance of co-operation and research. Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor of the University of Pennsylvania, a member of H. L. Hoover's staff during the war, gave an address on "The World's Wheat Supply and Prices." Europe's inability to buy wheat, for lack of goods for which to pay for it, explains why wheat is not at a far higher price than it is, the speaker said.

A barbecue for the Society was held on the evening of October 21, at the grounds of the Eastern States Exposition. The chief speaker of the evening, Dr. A. W. Gilbert, Massachusetts Commissioner of Agriculture, sketched the standing of Massachusetts and New England agriculture in comparison with that of other localities. "New England can raise much more food than she is

SOPHOMORES SUPERVISE FROSH DIVING CONTEST

Twelve Members of Freshman Class Take to Drink.

After dinner Friday afternoon, Oct. 22, the upper-classmen were given the thrills of an old-time pond party, when eight unruly Freshmen were given a chance to explore the soft, comfortable depths of the campus pond.

Owing to the lack of material to build a suitable platform the deed had to be performed from the west bank of the pond. Each man, after proclaiming his sins to the public, was given a one-two-three-and-away-we-go by four husky sophomores, and then left to take care of himself as best he could. Lamb and Rhodes, who seemed to enjoy the experience a bit too well, were given an additional ducking to appease their appetites. The audience was greatly stirred by the rendition of Yankee Doodle by one of the Frosh, while Belden showed his college spirit by giving a long yell for the team. Bowers led in the splash contest by dint of extra avoirdupois. The complete list of those who scared the fishes is: Belden, Bowers, Holtein, Holway, Lamb, Rhodes, Weatherwax and Wilhelm.

The 2-year Seniors held a pond party at the same time for four of their Freshmen: Clough, Hurd, Labrovitz and Russell. They used an old-fashioned ducking-stool, which, fastened on the end of a long plank, served the purpose admirably. After lying down on the plank, the convicts were gently lowered into the water. As they came up they were required to give the reasons of their conviction, after which they were given another bath and dismissed. This method proved a pleasant variation from the real pond party, at least from the point of view of the spectators crowded about the banks.

A stadium, seating 60,000, on the same style as those of Yale and Harvard is being constructed this year at the University of Washington. Western colleges are not so far behind the eastern ones after all.

UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT IS HUMBLED BY FIGHTING AGGIE TEAM. SCORE 21-7

STRONGEST TEAM IN YEARS WINS FOURTH STRAIGHT GAME

Enthusiastic Students Follow the Team. Vermont Inside the M. A. C. 12 Yard Line Only Once During the Game.

A hundred and twenty-five Aggie men and women motored and rode freights 200 miles to Burlington, Vt. to see the varsity play Vermont. U. V. M. had previously defeated both New Hampshire and Tufts. What did those 125 see? They saw their varsity go through the Vermont line repeatedly in the first quarter for two marches straight down the field, and at the end of each of these marches they saw an Aggie man cross the Vermont goal line. Captain Poole with his usual skill contributed another point after each touchdown. Not satisfied with this Poole carried the ball over the U. V. M. line again in the third quarter. Three well deserved touchdowns were gained before the Green team scored.

It has been years since such enthusiasm has been shown on the part of the student body as was shown on Saturday night when the score was wired down from Burlington. The Freshmen kept the chapel bell going for nearly two hours. The first two men to get the score found a drum and a fife and inside of 10 minutes a parade had been formed which marched uptown and for nearly an hour proclaimed to Amherst that Aggie had won her fourth straight game, and best of all the Vermont game.

STARR M. KING

Veteran tackle who has been playing a brilliant game all season. His work against U. V. M. was conspicuously good.

At 10-30 Friday night 15 co-eds left Amherst in a truck and rode all night and all the morning, 200 miles, to get to the game. That is the present spirit of the whole student body.

The game itself is one that will long stick in the memory of those who saw it. Only once during the entire contest did a Vermont man cross the Aggie 12 yard line, and this was on the long forward pass that gave them their only score. It is hardly fair to give any one man credit but let it be enough to say that "Gid" MacIntosh played the game of his career at center. Capt Poole twice scored from within the five yard line and as usual kicked the goal when called on. Collins, Grayson, and King played their usual good game, and "Bob" Mohor displayed the qualities that made him all-scholastic lineman two years ago at Newton High School.

U. V. M. started off well by running the kickoff back 11 yards and then gaining nine yards on a line play; but with one yard to go they encountered a stone wall defense and were forced to kick on the third play. Bellrose made a beautiful kick of 60 yards. Collins punted back on the second play. At this stage Acheson was injured and forced to leave the game. He has put up a fine exhibition of play since Mansell was forced to leave the game and his absence will give Cascio a chance to show the reserve power that Coach Gore possesses. Vermont was forced to punt again and it was here that M. A. C. started her first big offensive. Lent gained 6 yards through tackle and Sargent made first down. A forward pass to Grayson accounted for 15 yards more. After a series of short gains Sargent again demonstrated his fine open field running and slid off tackle for ten yards. Capt. Poole brought the Aggie supporters to their feet when he went through center for the first score He kicked the goal.

Right here it may be interesting to note that a number of Tufts and Middlebury men and a group of townspeople were on the bleachers cheering solidly for an Aggie victory.

A few minutes later Grayson gained 38 yards on another fine forward and shortly after Collins went over for the second touchdown. Poole kicked the goal.

Commencing the second quarter, Vermont gained 34 yards on their first two plays but as before were held for downs and forced to kick. A penalty and several short gains through the line put Aggie in position so that Poole could try a drop kick. He missed by a small margin and the ball went to Vermont on the 20 yard line. An exchange of kicks netted Aggie a slight gain before the half ended.

More kicks opened the second half, and after Collins and Poole had made long gains the ball was lost to U. V. M. They were soon forced to kick, however, and it seemed almost machine like to see the M. A. C. team go down the field for their third touchdown. A forward pass and runs by Sargent, Lent, and Collins brought the ball to the five yard line and Poole went over for the score. He again kicked the goal. A few short kicks and Vermont held the ball on Aggie's thirty yard line. Skelton threw a long forward to Semansky who caught the ball far over the left side line. He showed a wonderful burst of speed and raced across the two remaining white lines for the only score made by his team. Johnson kicked the goal.

The fourth quarter proved to be a constant battle in centre field with Aggie gaining a slight advantage. Tumey went in for this quarter and made two long gains of ten and fifteen yards. Sargent also made some nice gains through tackle. The game ended with the ball still in midfield.

It was a great game to win. Coach Gore put all his efforts toward winning it and the way the men fought for him and for the college was enough to put the whole college at keynote to see a big victory over New Hampshire, Saturday. This will be our big home game and should prove a great battle. A large gathering of Alumni is expected back and it only needs a lot of student backing to bring a fifth victory.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE GAME

Entering into the spirit of the moment, the fair guests of the various house parties, which were staged about the campus Saturday, lent their voices in an effort to make a cheer which could be heard clear to Burlington, when the results of the game were announced.

Over 50 dusty denizens of the road were on hand in the Burlington station Saturday morning to give the team a good old Massachusetts cheer on their arrival there. Dirt begrimed sweatshirts were liberally mixed in with leather sportcoats, presenting a unique sight to the gawking townsfolk.

Various estimates of the number of "Aggets" who attended the Vermont game vary from 125 to 200. No matter what the number was, they made sufficient noise to qualify as first class royal rooters. Their appearance was an unheard-of stunt in the annals of football at Vermont.

Incidently the Pullman company furnished transportation to a large number of Aggie men who were willing to take chances on forceable ejection in order to ride home in the style befitting the victors. The—(fill this space in to suit yourself) goes to one "Sharkey" who tricked the dusky custodian of the car into removing the Vermont dust from his "kicks".

Our own "Cap" is among the minority of team leaders who hold down backfield positions on their teams. Of 62 leading college teams but seven have their captains at quarter; nevertheless there's no doubt in our minds but that "Poolie" is the real man for quarter on our victorious Aggie eleven, especially after the way he directed the Maroon and White offensive against U. V. M.

All commuters have agreed that the Burlington trip was the best ever, and undergraduates are eagerly looking forward to the next Vermont game.

Several Aggie men arrived at Amherst in style Sunday morning on the sleeper which carried the football men. Some bright student hit upon the idea of accompanying the team en route without the porter knowing it. The scheme worked, and each bunk was loaded to double capacity. A few bunks carried only the normal number, much to the disgust of their occupants. Now that the way is lighted, we shall see that such a thing does not happen in future years.

Thirteen Aggie co-eds bumped their way to Burlington to see the Vermont-M. A. C. football game last Saturday in a two-ton Standard truck. After spending hours at the telephone trying to get some one to drive them up, the girls finally located Mr. Hunt of North Amherst who dared make the long, arduous trip. The party started from Draper Hall Friday night at 11, sent off by the rousing cheers of the less fortunate ones whom they left behind. After continuous travel, they arrived at Burlington at 4-45, Massachusetts time, and after yelling themselves hoarse they finally located some one who could direct them to the Vermont college football field. Here they literally tumbled out of the truck and raced onto the field in fear lest the game would be nearly over, but to their relief it was just between halves. As the excited girls cut across the field, under the goal posts, the M. A. C. cheering section at the other end of the field caught sight of, recognized, and greeted them with rousing cheers and wild waving of banners and hats. When the long Massachusetts yell ceased, the Vermont section broke out with cheers for the M. A. C. Co-eds. Both teams were so elated over the arrival of the co-eds that each immediately made a touchdown, Poole making a neat kick for the goal. After a much appreciated supper in town, the tired but happy girls journeyed another 20 miles to South Hero, an island in Lake Champlain, where they spent the night in a hay loft. After six hours sleep, they left at 7-15 Sunday morning, and started on the homeward journey. Just out of Burlington they picked up the last two homeward bound M. A. C. boys and carried them as far as Brandon, where the boys left them to beg faster transportation and easier riding. At Brandon they picked up a much needed lunch and continued with their journey, which was uneventful (?) except for a four-foot pile of gravel and sand across the road, which their daunt-less driver climbed over; a derick which they scrimmed around; a slated hill down which the truck went on first; and a steam roller taking up three-fourths of the road, making it necessary to push over a fence to get by. The girls arrived in a starving condition at 3-30 A. M. Monday, having steadily traveled for 20 hours. The girls who made the trip are: Viola Cameron, Marion Russert, Emily Van Lennep, Margery Richardson, Eleanor Chase, Margaret Perry, Molly Lewis, Eleanor Bateman, Dorothy Turner, Inza Boles, Mildred Lyons, Ruth Flint, Vera Smith, and the chaperon, who was Mrs. Cameron.

A few of the "voyageurs" to Burlington, were pleasantly surprised when they awoke to find themselves in Canada. After making appropriate visits and obtaining the necessary supplies they returned to the United States! ! !

Ask "Red" C '24 why the sheriff stopped him on his walk to Burlington. "Red" had to produce his credentials.

Captain Poole was high man in scoring, with 15 points to his credit. He also leads the team in season's scores, having scored 49 points.

"Kid" Tarplin, the husky Sophomore back will be a strong contender for a halfback position next year.

The Sophomore class bids fair to break a record. Already Alger, Grayson, Tarplin, Sargent, Tumey, Mohor, and LaTour have made the varsity.

George Palmer's presence as assistant coach is being shown by the improvement in kicking.

MANY MEN TRY OUT FOR GLEE CLUB

The first call for Glee Club men brought out 47 hopeful aspirants, and the piano in the old chapel was put to a severe test to include a wide and varied range of voices.

There is some excellent material among the men who came out, and prospects for a successful season are exceedingly bright. A number of trips are already chalked up on the calendar, and conscientious work on the part of the men will result in their reaping all the more benefit from the good times to come during the winter season.

VARSITY TO MEET N. H. ON ALUMNI FIELD SATURDAY

Maroon and White Rule Favorites Over Tough Opponents.

After two victories away from home the Aggie eleven returns to Alumni Field on Saturday to face the strong New Hampshire State team.

Last year New Hampshire had one of the strongest elevens in New England and set a record of seven straight victories. This fall 14 letter men returned to college making a complete veteran team. In four games played this season New Hampshire has only been scored on once and that in a bitterly fought contest won by the University of Vermont 7-0. She has defeated Bates 13-0, Boston College 7-0, and last Saturday overwhelmed Connecticut Aggie by a 40-0 score.

Butler, last year's quarterback, has recently returned from West Point where he matriculated this fall and completes an all star backfield with Bell, the big fullback, Farmer, left halfback, and "Dutch" Connors a particularly dangerous man. Connors is fast, heavy and a fine kicker. He is regarded by some as an All-American prospect. Captain Leavitt at end, and Dewey Graham, captain of last year's team at right guard are conspicuous men in the New Hampshire line. Harvell at center, has also proved himself a star and his battle with McIntosh should be an interesting sidelight to the game.

The record of New Hampshire, however, does not in any degree eclipse that of M. A. C. Up to date Coach Gore's men have not only won four consecutive games but have rolled up a total of 91 points against 19 of their opponents. These figures will compare favorably with those of any other New England college.

Captain Poole has made a record of 12 successive goals from touchdowns. Besides this, his splendid field generalship and playing ability both on offense and defense making him a quarterback on a par with the best. MacIntosh at center, and King at right tackle are two players who have done great work in the line. Their playing has been such that, were they on a larger college eleven, it might cause considerable comment in football circles.

It is not, however, the work of individuals as much as the power of the team as a unit which has marked the Aggie games, and it is this team power which Aggie supporters are counting on to triumph over New Hampshire.

SPRINGFIELD SECONDS DOWN TWO YEAR TEAM 13-2

Coach Grayson's Team Displays a Stellar Defensive.

In a game on Pratt field, last Saturday afternoon the Springfield College second team succeded in downing the 2-year team by a score of 13-2. The two year men were handicapped by the fact that they were outweighed quite a little and met with little success in their forward passing game because of Steele being injured. The team depended a good deal on line bucks but were able to make five first downs while Springfield netted twelve.

The game started with Springfield kicking off. The two-year men ran the ball to their 40-yard line where they were held for downs. Springfield was penalized 5 yards but were able to get the ball down to the opposing 5 yard line but did not get it across. From here the ball was kicked to midfield were Springfield made an end run of 45 yards. After a series of line plunges, Kenton of Springfield went through for a touchdown, scoring the first point for the opponents. Merriman of Springfield kicked the goal.

The second quarter brought no result for either side. The second half opened with Springfield kicking off, the ball coming into the hands of the two-year men on the 35 yard line. Here the Aggie men made two downs before the ball was taken by Springfield. Aggie was penalized 5 yards twice. A pass by Kenton of Springfield was intercepted and Aggie made 18 yards in line plunges. Springfield fumbled for a loss of 10 yards, and Aggie blocked Kenton's kick which he recovered behind the goal for a safety which made a score of two for the two-year men.

In the last quarter, Aggie started on the 38 yard line. Springfield lost on downs and several passes. Kenton passed to Finley for a 10 yard gain but his next pass was intercepted by Steele, A pass by Steele was intercepted by Kenton who went down to the Aggie 1 yard line on an end run. Four plunges carried the ball across but the kick went wide. Lineup:

Y. M. C. A. ORGANIZING FOR YEAR'S WORK

Moody '22 to Head Deputation Work.

The Y. M. C. A. is gradually getting things worked out so that it can undertake this year some of the work that it has done in previous years. Owing to the fact that there is no paid secretary to help this year, the Cabinet is working under difficulties. However, in the near future it expects that it can begin actual work. An employment bureau for Saturday jobs is one of the first matters that will be taken up; Bible and Mission Study classes will also be organized soon.

On Sunday, Oct. 31, the first of a series of trips will be made by a deputation team under the leadership of Kenneth Moody, '22. The men will visit West Cummington, a small village in the Hampshire Hills, where they will either take over the church service or hold some sort of Sunday entertainment. Mr. J. E. Reynolds, Y. M. C. A. Secretary for Hampshire County, has done good work in coaching the team, and more trips are to be made later in the year. As time goes on it is hoped that other work can be undertaken and that the Cabinet can make this a successful year despite its handicaps.

Athletes.

It is one of the peculiarties of this college's system that undergraduates that are helping to push M. A. C.'s name and fame up into the skies are having difficulty in securing financial aid through student labor. There are on the football squad men whose finances are in dire need of replenishment. These men cannot secure jobs because others, who are not participating in student activities, already have them. In other cases athletes have been forced to retire and devote their time to a job because minor adjustments would not be made by those in charge.

When the older men of the senior class were Freshmen, their waiters were men who were leaders in college. They were looked up to and respected by the men on their tables. Is this true at present in the dining hall—decidedly not.

These conditions could and should be remedied. The COLLEGIAN does not advocate holding forth financial inducements to athletes to attract them to M. A. C. But it does believe that those men who have made good in collegiate activities and are in need of financial aid should be given first opportunity as far as possible at the various student positions about the campus. In some cases an adjustment of conditions will be necessary. This can be accomplished.

Pep.

Among the most agreeable features of Saturday's football game was the hearty support given the team by the student body. The record of the game will go down in history as one of the "peppiest" ever, both as to playing and support. No alumnus present could have possibly suggested "Things ain't what the used to be." Rather, "This bunch has got the real Aggie spirit."

The old-time pep is coming back. The team is doing more than its share. You students, keep the pep coming and help them put across the biggest and best season in the history of M. A. C. football.

Two-Year.

The recent agitation on the part of the two-year men to secure separate chapel exercises is in line with their newer stunt of attempting to secure the abolishment of an unpopular course by means of petition. Fostered by a noisy minority, for a moment, the ideas have seemed to be about to succeed. It is well that colleges are not by such minorities. Chapels, required courses, and such like, have reasons for their existence too numerous to mention in these columns. They have been established only as the result of years of experience. They are not to be destroyed by an uproarious group of sub-freshmen.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

The committee in charge of the Allan Leon Pond Memorial Fund wishes to announce that representative contributions from undergraduate, alumni, faculty, and home town friends amounting to nearly $500 have been received. The plan that the fund would represent subscriptions from as many individuals as possible has certainly be fulfilled, as over 300 individuals have contributed thus far.

The committee has taken out $500 in Liberty Bonds and the permanent income from the bonds will be used to annually award the Allan Leon Pond Memorial Medal. The medal is to be presented at the close of each football season to the member of the football team whose playing during the season has been the greatest credit to the college. The player to receive the honor is to be selected by a committee made up by the Joint Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics.

Last June quite a number of the undergraduates requested that opportunity to subscribe to the Memorial Fund should be offered in the fall, and the committee wishes to state that such opportunity still exists.

Original designs for the medal have been solicited. The permanency of the award having been assured the committee will apply further contributions to the securing of a medal of original design and to enable the committee to present the die to the college together with the trust fund.

(Signed) HAROLD M. GORE.

COMPETITION OPENS WITH A GOODLY DISPLAY OF TALENT

The COLLEGIAN competition is now on and will continue through to February 1921. There are several promising candidates among both Sophomore and Freshmen competitors and from present indications there will be quite a strife for the positions on the board. A standing of the competitors will be published within a week or two.

Those competing for positions on the editorial board are as follows: Sophomores, Hallett, Slade, Irish and Fuller; Freshmen: Bilski, Brunner, MacAfee, Bliss, Steere, Bartlett, Wood, Misses Labrovitz, Wood and Grieger. Business Department competitors are Holteen, Barteaux, Lamb and MacCaulay.

The competitors for the editoral staff should frequent the office in North College as much as possible and especially Monday evenings. Those who don't know their assignments, see Edman competition manager, at once.

The Sophomore Class will have a large delegation of Freshmen to present to the Senate in the near future. Fear of the early morning dew is rumored as one of the major offences.

STATISTICAL WIZARD TO SPEAK WEDNESDAY

Roger Ward Babson, president of Babson's Statistical Organization of Wellesley Hills, Mass, is to address the student body at Assembly on Wednesday, Nov. 3. This is a splendid opportunity to see and hear a great business man, a man who has pushed his way through almost insurmountable obstacles, and who has developed, since 1902, what was then an almost unheard of business into the largest statistical organization of its kind in the world.

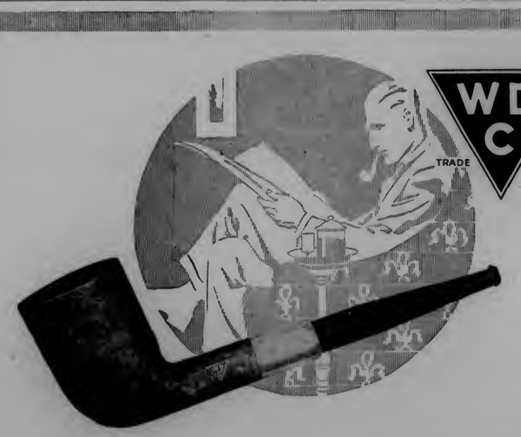

He was born in Gloucester, the son of a merchant in that town, and he began early to show an exceptional interest and ability in business. He worked when other boys were playing, because he liked to work. He craved to accomplish things. He graduated from the civil engineering course of Mass. Institute of Technology in 1898, but he never did any actual construction work. After college he worked in a Boston bank, compiling statistics which were used in the bank's business.

In 1902, serious ill health forced him to give this up, and he began to cast about for a means of employment which would permit him to live in the open air. He conceived the idea of analyzing reports and tabulating figures to be furnished several banks, thus providing information which each bank had previously been collecting for its own private use. This means of saving much costly duplication of effort was soon sought after by many banks. Babson's business grew. He began to publish new kinds of statistics and figures, that brokers and other business men could use. Constantly enlarging its scope, and becoming more and more useful to the business world, Babson's early work has grown to great proportion. And during all these years he has been fighting ill health. He has done practically all of his work out of doors, and even his business office has open windows on three sides during the coldest winter weather.

Besides running his statistical organization he has found time for lecturing, and for considerable writing; and he founded recently a brand new phase of his work, the Babson Institute for training business executives.

Roger Babson will surely have a worth-while message, next Wednesday, for Aggie men and women, the message of a man who has done things.

E. L. MORGAN SPEAKS ON WORK OF RED CROSS

Former Faculty Member Gives Interesting Assembly Talk.

Dr. Ezra L. Morgan of Washington, D. C., was the speaker at Wednesday's Assembly, taking "Why Men Fail" as his subject. Dr. Morgan is an old M. A. C. man, having been connected with the Extension Service. At present he is working on town community problems under the auspices of the Red Cross.

The speaker pointed out that a great many men do not make good because they do not know how to lead people. Taking the development of agriculture as a means to bring out his idea, he showed that the farmer is not willing to accept improvements on fertilizers, soiling, or orcharding, and so the farm bureau finds it necessary to employ men who are leaders, men who are capable of convincing the farmer that his old methods are wrong.

"The measure of the man today is not 'Are you a college graduate,' or 'Do you come from a good family,' but 'Can you deliver the goods?'" said Dr. Morgan. "And the American Red Cross is an organization which tests a man in this way. The Red Cross has lived up to its reputation of 'America's Watch-dog' on account of its being made up of energetic, resourceful leaders."

Dr. Morgan affirmed that the Red Cross offers exceptional positions to physical engineers, public health nurses, disaster and junior work specialists, and home service secretaries, one of the prime requisites being a college training.

In conclusion Dr. Morgan showed that the principle of "Noblesse Oblige" in respect to the college man is still true, and that men can not fail if they possess the qualities of clean, constructive leadership.

CHANGES IN WORLD AGGIE NIGHT PROGRAM

The Co-eds are to participate in World Aggie Night; this has been definitely decided, and plans are now being made for the dinner which will be held at the Hotel Bellevue, Boston. All arrangements are to be made with Mrs. Mae Holden Wheeler, 49 Stanton St., Dorchester.

This is the first event of its kind in the annals of the histoy of M. A. C. women students. At least eleven young women are expected to be present at the dinner to do their bit towards a successful celebration. The alumnae are especially anxious to have Mrs. Butterfield present at their meeting as a special representative from the college.

The dinner at Amherst promises from all indications to be an enthusiastic one. About one hundred men are expected to be present, from Greenfield, Northampton, South Hadley Falls, and the smaller towns in this district. The list of speakers is in charge of the toastmaster, Mr. George Chapman, but definite plans have not yet been made.

Attention is called to several changes in the list of meetings, since the publication of the last list. The Baltimore meeting has been canceled, and the alumni there are to join the Washington alumni with their dinner. The meeting scheduled for Leominster is to be held in Fitchburg instead. The Cuba gathering will be at Havana, and there will also be meetings at Albany, N. Y., and Madison, Wis.

AMERICAN SOCIETY OF AGRONOMY CONVENES

S. B. Haskell Elected Vice-President at Banquet in Draper Hall.

The American Society of Agronomy held its annual meeting at Springfield on the 18th and 19th of this month. The program included a symposium on the teaching of Agronomy and use of lime for agricultural purposes. The meetings were well attended, and at four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon, the 19th, the members made a tour through Holyoke, Northampton, Sunderland and Amherst, where the program for the convention was continued. Agronomists from all over the country were present, some of whom had never seen the intense specialized agricultural methods of the Connecticut Valley, and who were at this time given a good opportunity to see how the tobacco and onion growing industries are carried on in this section. About 40 visitors met at the college and opportunities were given for inspecting the experimental plots and equipment at Stockbridge Hall the college staff volunteering conveyance by automobile. The program was brought to a close with a banquet and business meeting at Draper Hall. Here an election of officers for the coming year was held. Prof. C. A. Mooers, Tennessee, was elected president, S. B. Haskell of M. A. C., vice-president, and P. E. Brown, Iowa, secretary and treasurer.

Those present at the meetings from the college were Professors Beaumont, Jones, Crocker, and Thelin from the Agronomy department and Director Haskell and Mr. Gaskill of the Experiment Station.

SABRINA YEARLINGS DEFEAT M. A. C. FRESHMEN 20-0

Practice Scrimmage Results in Defeat of Aggie 1924.

In a practice game staged on Alumni Field last Thursdry, the M. A. C. Freshmen were defeated by the Amherst first year men by a 20-0 score.

The Aggie men put up a game fight but were outplayed by the heavier Amherst team which succeeded in pushing the ball over the goal line once in each of the last three periods. One of these touchdowns came as a result of an intercepted forward pass on the thirty yard line but the others were earned by straight rushes and end runs. The latter especially netted long gains for Amherst, and one of them resulted in the first score after the Freshmen had held for three plays inside their own five yard line. The last touchdown came after two successive fumbles by the M. A. C. backs. On the second of these the ball was recovered by Amherst and a moment later was carried between the goal posts.

The game was in the nature of a practice scrimmage. All of the Freshmen candidates were given a chance to prove their worth and Coach Jakeman tried out some new combinations in the backfield.

On Saturday as an added attraction to the Varsity game the Freshmen will play North Adams on Alumni Field. The North Adams team is a heavy and fast aggregation and is rated as one of the best High school teams in Western Massachusetts.

Edmund T. Ferranti of West Bridgwater has been elected captain of the 1924 outfit. He plays a stella game at quarter, though without previous football experience.

raising," Dr. Gilbert declared "and it is to the advantage of industrial managers, as well as farmers and the consumers in general, to aid in the development of agriculture as much as possible."

On Friday, October 22, all but the engineering division, which visited the Institute of Technology at Cambridge, Mass., went by special trolley, through Holyoke, to M. A. C.

After making an auto tour of the campus, the delegates listened to Prof. F. A. Waugh, who described the beauties of Aggie, and told of the features of the institution. They then separated into small groups and made visits to the different departments, being guided by professors and department heads. A complimentary luncheon, which consisted almost entirely of products grown on the college grounds, was later served at Draper Hall.

The Society returned to Springfield by way of Northampton. To cheer the homeward journey the Horticultural Department furnished an ample supply of cider, while the Extension Service furnished cigars, presumably made from Connecticut Valley tobacco.

Dean J. G. Hills of Vermont, who has attended many of the past conventions of Land Grant Colleges stated that the program for this year was the best within his memory.

Steele of Marblehead; sergeant-at-arms, Robert Barrows of Quincy; class captain, C. O. Clark of Beachmont; class historian, R. E. Steere of Chepachet, R. I.

The students of the M. A. C. were tendered a reception and dance by the the Unity Church on Tuesday, Oct. 19th from 7-30 P. M., to 10-30 P. M. The patrons and patronesses were Rev. and Mrs. Ives and Prof. and Mrs. Patterson. A very enjoyable evening was spent by about 200 students lncinding the co-eds who were the guests of honor. Refreshments were served and the dancing from 8-00 to 10-30 was enjoyed by all to the music which was furnished by an M. A. C. orchestra.

All Federal Board men were excused from classes from 11 to 12, Thursday morning for a meeting in Bowker Auditorium. Mr. Novitski, the Federal Board Co-Ordinator at M. A. C. spoke first, giving the new men some points on the rules and regulations of the Federal Board. Daniel J. Curran '16 of the Boston Office, who is in charge of the Agricultural work of the whole district then spoke. It was requested that the Federal Board men consider themselves as much Aggie men as the regular students, and that they participate in all activities. Mr. Curran encouraged the work of the new M. A. C. Federal Board Club, and suggested that they give entertainments. Federal Board men were asked not to loaf around South College, which gives a bad lupression.

FIRST INFORMAL SET FOR NOV. 6

In Chapel, Friday morning, Oct. 22, the student body contributed $55 toward the deficit of $75 which was incurred last year in running the Informals. Justin J. McCarthy, '21, Chairman of the Committee, was well pleased with the expression of sentiment of the student body toward these dances, and it has been decided to have an Informal once a month if possible. The first one of the year will be held in the Drill Hall, Saturday, Nov. 6. The game with Rhode Island State College will start at two o'clock, and dancing will start at half-past three. Supper will be served in Draper Hall from 6-00-6-30, after which dancing will be continued until 9-15, when most of the guests must leave to get connections for home. Tickets will cost either $3.50 or $4.00.

Music was furnished by Dunbar and Frost and refreshments were served at the house by a local caterer. The house was prettily decorated with crysanthemums and autumn leaves.

INTERCOLLEGIATES

Recent registration figures show that Columbia will be the largest educational institution in the world with an enrollment of 31,000.

"The honor system has not failed at California," says the Daily Californian, the official organ of the student body at that school. California was the first university in the country to be given complete student control. Nearly all cases of dishonesty have been reported by members of the student body; there is no constituted police force, dependence being placed on the feeling of responsibility of the student. Punishment has been given ranging from expulsion, to reprimand by the president.

EXTENSION SERVICE BULLETIN REAPPEARS

Massachusetts Extension News, the monthly publication of the Extension Service, makes its re-appearance this week, after a long absence, in a new and attractive form. It is issued under direction of Mr. H. M. Lyons of the correspondence course office, and is intended to carry news and timely information from the college staff and Extension Service to all the farm bureaus of the state.

The first number consists of 20-odd mimeographed sheets in neat paper folder, which bears the motto, "A Campus as Big as the State." There is an interesting editorial section entitled "Dreams," in which the editor points out that M. A. C. has stood for high ideals and dreams of a happier country life ever since it was founded, and that the great conferences on comuunity planning and rural welfare held here during the past few days is to help celebrate M. A. C.'s semi-centennial of service to the people of the state. Then comes "Snatches of Dreams," a section devoted to a few of the best thoughts of some of the conference speakers.

Another page gives an account of a typical country fair, which the students held on the campus last week. Announcement is made of a new policy in regard to the new publications of the experiment station. It is planned to bring out a series of popular editions of scientific bulletins, so that the work of the station may be more readily available to all the people of the state. A series of short paragraphs speaks of other activities of the Extension Service, and mention is made of a new farm account book soon to be ready for distribution. A feature of the book is that it is arranged as a basis for figuring income tax returns, a convenience which will surely be appreciated by every one who has ever tried to fill out an income tax blank. There follow several articles by members of the college staff and extension workers, describing new and worth-while ideas and farm practise. It ends with a note from county agents about the state.

The Social Union rooms are now used on Tuesday and Thursday as the Gymnasium for the Women Students. The college can now make use of the Chapel Library for study on those days, a privilege which one was unable to enjoy before this year.

'20.—Harry A. Ball is instructor of Physics in the Quincy High School, Quincy.

NEW HAMPSHIRE STATE WINS ON ALUMNI FIELD

Connors and Harvell Big Factors in Aggie's First Defeat on Alumni Field.

Playing a hard, clean-cut game, M. A. C. suffered defeat Saturday on Alumni Field at the hands of New Hampshire. Score, New Hampshire 9, M. A. C., 0.

In the fall of 1915 Alumni Field was appropriately dedicated when Aggie defeated Colby 26-0. From that date until last Saturday M. A. C. had never lost a game on Alumni Field. This is a record to be proud of and, although broken, it will ever retain the evidence of many clean-cut, hard-fought battles in which such men as Curran, Darling, Weeks, Pond, Dunn, Palmer, and the Grayson brothers have made their names in Aggie history.

M. A. C. entered the game last Saturday with a record of four straight victories and, although they fought hard for a fifth victory, the strong New Hampshire eleven one more proved an Aggie jinx. Three times Capt. Poole had his men within the ten yard line on first down but each time New Hampshire held like a stonewall and gained the ball on downs. Harvell, the visitor's big center, was a tower of strength in the line, and repeatedly broke through to break up an Aggie combination. It is almost useless to try and tell the value of "Dutch" Connors to the New Hampshire eleven. Throughout the entire game he sent long spiral punts to the side lines for almost consistent gains of fifteen and twenty yards for his team. He was called upon to rush the ball in every three or four rushes and usually managed to gain while his teammates were held for losses. Near the close of the first period he ran 45 yards to the Aggie 25 yard line and, a short time after, scored three

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM STROLLS AWAY FROM W. P. I.

Aggie Cinder Men Chalk Up First Victory of the Season.

Captain Slate's wing-footed squad of cross-country men strolled away from Worcester Tech's confident team at the rate of 24 to 31 in the first race of the season at Worcester Saturday. The Aggie team composed of Slate, Woodworth, Evers, West, Irish, and MacCready left the campus Saturday morning arriving at Worcester too late to have an opportunity to examine the course.

The five and one-quarter mile course which was mostly over smooth ground proved easy in comparison with the courses which the M. A. C. team has been running in practice; the three long hills proving more exhausting to the Worcester men than to the visitors.

It was Aggie's race from the start although the leaders were fairly well bunched until the last mile. After the first mile Slate and Woodworth of M. A. C. and Hoar, Marston, and Johnson

SLATE TO CAPTAIN VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

Meeting after lunch, just before their victorious chase with Worcester Tech, the Cross Country Team elected George Slate '21 as their captain.

Graduating from Bernardston High in 1917 with no track experience, Slate started his track work at M. A. C. in the spring of his Sophomore year, and has been an active member of every Cross-country and Spring Track team since that time.

Last Spring, Slate won his "M" at the Triangular meet at Burlington with five points, snatching second in a fast mile, and third in the two-mile against excellent competition. For the first place captured at Worcester, Saturday, Slate will undoubtedly be awarded the Cross Country "M".

George Slate is a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, a popular man on the Campus, and one of Aggie's track leaders, both on the cinders and on hill and dale.

WORLD AGGIE NIGHT A SUCCESS IN MANY CITIES

Large Groups Present in Boston, Amherst, New York, and Cleveland.

The second Aggie World Night in the history of the college was held Friday night, Oct. 28, all over the country and in every place where any Aggie alumni could have a "get-to-gether." The first World Aggie Night was held over a year ago for the purpose of uniting the alumni in an effort to raise money for the proposed Memorial Building. This year, with the Memorial Building well on its way toward completion, President Butterfield decided that it was of the utmost importance to acquaint the alumni with the needs of the college, especially in the matter of new buildings.

ROISTER DOISTERS LAY PLANS FOR THE YEAR

Tacharner Watkins Elected Vice-President.

Plans for the biggest year ever were laid at the banquet of the Roister-Doister Dramatic Association at Draper Hall, Friday evening, Oct. 29. Prof. Frank P. Rand, representing the Non-Athletic Board of the Faculty, was the guest of the Society. Tacharner G. Watkins '21, of Midlothian, Va., was elected Vice-President to fill the only existing vacancy. The other officers are Jonathan H. Smith, of Roslindale, President, and George W. Edman, of Orange, Secretary.

It was decided to give the annual student vaudeville show in December, each fraternity on the campus being given an opportunity to present a short sketch.

A new departure was suggested in the form of an "Aggie Show" to be given during the latter part of January, in which stunts will be given by the Faculty, the four classes, Co-eds, Two-year students, and the Clerical Staff.

For the Prom show it was decided to put on a musical comedy written by "Jack" Smith. The title is "Rubbish," the scenes are laid in the Connecticut Valley and the Fiji Islands, the home of the ukelele and the hula maiden. The plot is entirely original and the dialog exceedingly clever. It is possible that a few performances may be given on the road after the Prom show.

The outlook for the coming year is exceedingly bright. The Society was fortunate in losing very few members by graduation and in addition much promising new material is available. With the customary enthusiastic support of the student body, the Roister Doisters are sure to maintain a splendid reputation for the college and themselves.

JAMES C. GREENOUGH IS HONORED GUEST

Former M. A. C. President Tendered Luncheon at Draper Hall.

James Carruthers Greenough, President of M. A. C. from 1883-1886, and a man now 92 years of age, who has always been interested in any affair concerning the welfare of Aggie, was the honored guest at a luncheon tendered him at Draper Hall on Saturday, Oct. 30.

There were present at the luncheon twenty people, including several of those most closely associated with Mr. Greenough during his term of office, several of the older officers of the college, and representatives of Adelphia. This event was part of the semi-centennial celebration of the college, and following close upon World Aggie night dinners, held the night before, wherever a group of Aggie alumni could get together, this luncheon was unique among these gatherings, in that almost everyone present could recall events in the development of the college reaching back over nearly the complete span of its history.

Both Dr Joseph B. Lindsey, '83, and Dr. H. J. Wheeler, '83, were members of the class that graduated the year of Greenough's inauguration to the leadership of M. A. C. They were the two original employees of the Experiment Station. Dr. Brooks of the class of '75, who directed the Experiment Station work at M. A. C. for almost thirty years, studied under Goessmann, the founder of agricultural chemistry in America. Miss Helena Goessmann, daughter of the chemist, and Dean E. M. Lewis were also guests at this reunion. C. A. Gleason and J. J. Greenough of Deerfield, brother of ex-President Greenough, S. R. Parker, leader in county agent work, and Rev. H. J. White, '87, now engaged in the ministry at Hartford, Conn., and a veteran football man were among those present.

Dr. Charles Wellington, '73, who has maintained his contact with the college as student and teacher almost since its inception, had stories of the famous "Faculty of Four": William G. Clark, first President and scientist trained under Louis Agassiz, before he embarked in scientific education; Henry H. Goodell, of Amherst College, Levi Stockbridge, from Old Hadley, whose name runs through the annals of two generations of Aggie life, and Ebenezer Snell, also an Amherst College teacher. He remembered the days when Aggie students were marched two by two down Pleasant street on Sundays to take their religious exercises in the gallery of Amherst College Chapel. In those early days Amherst College professors helped the young and much misunderstood agricultural college by giving their lectures to Aggie students as well as to their classes in the older classical college.

Mr. Tuckerman and Mr. Brodeur, Principal of Westfield Normal School, also spoke. The talks were mostly reminiscences. Greenough spoke of the hardships in college in those days, of the many efforts to obtain new buildings, of the fact that the trustees were on the outs with the Alumni, and of his success in obtaining the stone chapel which is now the library. In addition to this, North and South Colleges were built during his administration, while in 1884 he reported that the chemistry Laboratory was no longer usable and that a new one should be built. South College burned while he was here, catching fire from an exploding lamp in an incubator run by an ambitious poultry student, and during this contagration, ex-President Greenough himself rescued the old shell which is now in the trophy room of North College.

These men were not only the pioneers but were the leaders through a long period of Aggie history. From the foundations built by them, the Aggie of today may be said to have been moulded.

FRESHMEN IN 7-7 TIE WITH DRURY HIGH SCHOOL

Only extremely hard luck prevented the M. A. C. Freshmen from defeating North Adams High, last Saturday, in a football game which resulted in a 7-7 tie.

The yearlings made their only touchdown in the first quarter, after they had held their opponents for downs and marched straight down the field, using line plays.

In the second period, a North Adams kick was blocked behind the line and an Aggie man fell on the ball. Through some mistake, the referee refused to give the Freshmen the touchdown, and called the ball "dead."

North Adams kept the Freshmen guessing by a fast end-around play. In the third quarter this netted the up state lads a touchdown, the ball being carried for twenty yards around right end.

The final bit of hard luck came at the last, when the Freshmen carried the ball over, only to find that linesman Chapman had broken his whistle, and had been unable to announce the end of playing time before the play started.

Not much overhead work was tried, although North Adams worked one pretty forward. M. A. C. did not have to kick once during the entire game, and North Adams only a few times. The two teams were well matched in the line, but Aggie was a bit heavier in the backfield.

Capt. Ferranti starred for the Freshmen. He made several long runs, and used excellent judgment in choosing plays. About one-third of the yearlings have been made ineligible for future contests because of failure in studies. Coach Jakeman used the following line-up Porges le; Salmon lt; Staebner lg; Wilhelm c; Myrick and Barker rg; Noyes rt; Chase re; Lowell and Bartlett lhb; Williams fb; Ferranti rhb; Bilskie qb.

FREHMAN CLASS MEETING

A Freshman class meeting was held Tuesday evening October 29, in Clark Hall, to hear the report of a committee nominated to draw up a constitution for the class. After some discussion, it was decided that a quorum to adopt the constitution should consist of two thirds of the class. The roll was called, and there not being a quorum present, the question was laid on the table till the next meeting. It was decided to have the football team elect its own manager. There being no other business, the meeting adjourned.

MANDOLIN CLUB COMMENCES WORK FOR THE SEASON

Many More Men Needed.

The Mandolin Club has started out the season with two practice periods a week and snappy practice for those who are out. As a good, large club, however, it is handicapped by a lack of material from the upper classes. There is a feeling among the present members now that there are fellows in college who could be out for the club but who are not. There are 18 men out in all now, though there should be twenty-five for a normal season. Under the circumstances, however, for a small club with lots of pep its outlook is fairly optimistic. The old stand-by's Labrovitz, Waugh, Sears, Wendell, Vinten, Towne and Fuller are out strong, and a refreshing outlook for next year is shown by the comparatively large number of Freshmen who are out for practice now but who, unfortunately, will not be able to play until after Christmas. For the Sophomores, Faneuf and Perry are doing good work. The Freshmen out are Blanchard, Lamb, Loring, Woodworth and Toby.

As for the schedule, the regular Boston trip will be made at Christmas time and the Greenfield and Hadley trips are quite certain. Practice is being held in Stockbridge Hall twice a week. Monday after the fraternity meetings and Wednesday after seven.

CROSS COUNTRY

of W. P. I. drew ahead of the rest and ran fairly well together until the last mile when Slate and Woodworth easily took the lead and were never threatened. Captain Slate finished in a wonderful burst of speed around the track leading his team-mate, Woodworth by about fifty yards. Johnson, Marston, and Hoar of Worcester were the next to finish being closely followed by the three remaining Aggie men, MacCready, Rollins and Irish. The time for the five and one-quarter miles was 30 minutes, 20 seconds. As this was the first race of the season Coach Dickinson feels sure that the present team will be the strongest for several years. Several of the men in Saturday's race will be in much better trim in another week; Tanner who is at present ineligible and Friend who is out temporarily with an injured foot will both be men to be reckoned with before the season is over.

Next week the team meets the strong New Hampshire squad on the M. A. C. course and a lively race is promised. New Hampshire is without her record-beater, Gordon Nightingale, but she still has a strong aggregation in Hubbard, Thompson, Weston and Paine. With the advantage of running on its home course and with the support of the student body, Captain Slate's team should come through with another victory.

Seedlings of some new varieties of carnations, the results of exercises in hybridizing by the Floriculture class of last spring, are beginning to blossom and several of them are showing up remarkably well. At least three of them give promise of making good commercial varieties. The especially promising ones are a dark red, 6-3, a pale pink, 10-2, and a deep salmon-pink, 2-6.

TWO-YEAR TEAM NO MATCH FOR SUFFIELD ELEVEN

"Em" Grayson's Team Makes Its Only Tally In Second Quarter. Final Score 20-7.

A hard, well-fought game at Suffield, last Saturday, terminated with a score of 20-7 against the two-year varsity. A husky rival had been expected in the Suffield team which has been cleaning up all around this fall. The two-year team, however, showed improvement over its playing of last week—It showed more fight and better tackling. Suffield had to take time out and use substitutes again and again. A square deal was given the visiting team by coaches and students.

Babcock was the star player for Suffield. Pickard, quarter-back and captain for the two-year team, however, showed up equally well with Babcock, making big gains, and being stopped only by Babcock himself. Gerard played a good game. Burke received a painfully twisted ankle in the last quarter, and had to leave the game. Caldwell and Anderson of Suffield also had to leave the game because of injuries. The two-year team made twice as many first downs as Suffield but were unable to push the ball over as a result of penalties. On the whole the two-year team may be said to be improving, and looks forward to a successful game with Cushing next Saturday at Ashburnham, and with the Connecticut Aggie seconds here the following week.

The first quarter started in with the two-year kicking to Suffield. The latter made a first down and punted. The two-years took the ball and rushed it first down after first down, from the 30-yard line. Frequent penalties, however, prevented scoring. At the end of the first quarter, Pickard broke away and went 40 yards, but a confusion resulted, due to the timer blowing his whistle and the play was stopped, preventing a score.

The second quarter began with two first downs for the two-year, followed by a forward pass to Gerard who made a touchdown, scoring the only point for M. A. C. Pickard kicked the goal. The ball then stayed practically in the center of the field, the Suffield players trying line bucks and end runs with very little result until toward the end they made a touchdown and kicked the goal, thus tying the score.

The two-years received the kick-off in the second half. The Suffield bunch came back hard. After an exchange of punts, Wiggin fumbled and Suffield recovered on the two-year four-yard line. Three plays took it over. They missed the goal. The two-years received the kickoff and made a couple of first downs. Then after an exchange of punts, Babcock got the ball and ran for a touchdown. He kicked the goal, making the score 20 to 7. The two-year failed to do any more scoring, though the ball was in the opponent's territory all the time. Repeated penalties kept the two-year from scoring.

The line-up was as follows:

EX-PRESIDENT TAFT TO SPEAK TO STUDENTS SUNDAY

Aggie Very Fortunate in Obtaining the Presence of Great American.

Sunday Chapel Commences next Sunday morning, with Ex-President William Howard Taft as the speaker. Not much need be said here of the good or bad qualities of Mr. Taft; we can surely expect a worth while message from him.

Hon. William Howard Taft is one of the foremost men in American national affairs today. Born in Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1857, he attended school there and graduated from Yale in 1878 as salutatorian of his class. He then studied law and was admitted to the Ohio bar.

Previous to his presidency, Mr. Taft held various important judicial and administrative positions. He started his career as a lawyer and legal newspaper reporter in Cincinnati, Ohio. He then held several minor public offices, which led up to his appointment, in 1888, as judge of the Ohio Superior court, and later to the 6th U. S. Circuit, where he took a notable stand against boycotts and strikes.

From 1700 to 1904 Mr. Taft did wonderful work as Governor of the Phillippine Islands, and won the hearty good will of the Filipinos towards the United States. Returning to this country, he was Secresary of War, 1904-1908, in which office he performed several difficult missions with great tact and diplomatic ability. In 1906, after visiting Cuba and the Philippines, he went to Japan and China, where he did much to create good feeling with the United States.

Although his great ambition lay in the Superior Court, by the influence of his brother and President Roosevelt Mr. Taft was nominated for the presidency and elected in 1908. During his term of office, he loyally supported his cabinet officers, whom he chose without party lines. He served the country well for four years, and then left the presidential chair in favor of Woodrow Wilson.

Since his presidency, he has returned to Yale College as Kent Professor of Law there. He served on the National War Labor Conference Board, and is now President of the League to Enforce Peace. He has taken a definite stand on all matters of national concern, and his opinion and judgment is looked up to by the whole nation. The faculty has been very fortunate in securing Mr. Taft to come here to speak to us, and it is hoped that the whole college will show its appreciation of him next Sunday.

Aggie Economic Club Meeting.

The Agricultural Economics Club held a meeting October 27 in the Social Union Rooms. About fifteen members were present, Prof. Cance presiding. In the course of the meeting each man was called upon to give a short resume of his work last summer. Everyone had something interesting to say, but Douglas '21 was especially good with his tales of "cow punching" on a western ranch. Afterwards, refreshments were served. The date of the next meeting will be announced later.

Two-Year.

In an article headed "Two-Year" which appeared in the last issue of the COLLEGIAN, statements were made which have since been proven to be untrue. The editor-in-chief wishes to retract these statements on the basis of misinformation. The sarcastic tone of the article would have been justified if the facts, as presented to the writer, had been true. The COLLEGIAN can wish for nothing but the most cordial relations between the two-year and four-year students. It is sincerely sorry for whatever "hard" feelings may have been caused by the appearance of this article.

First, the object was not to abolish chapel, but to change the days in order to give the two classes of the Two Year Course an opportunity to organize.

It is necessary for so large a body of students to organize. Under the present arrangement of chapels and assemblies there is no method possible for this. It was therefore suggested that by changing chapel mornings, this matter might be remedied. Consequently, the matter was discussed and it was decided that the extremely short time thus gained, no where near counterbalanced the loss in fellowship, unity, and the intangible but vital "College Spirit", thus incurred. Therefore, the matter was dropped. The proposed petition for the abolishment of a required course eventually vanished in the air, as do many similar student agitations.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN.

In the student forum last Wednesday a possible inauguration of a credit system in student activities was discussed. Several points were brought up in favor of this system which, although possible, do not seem feasible. It is a recognized fact that all societies and organized bodies have leaders who are born and not made, and have members who are best suited to carry on that particular line of work. If these men are to be kept out of the work in which they can do good, just because they are also doing something else, it is going to break down the leadership and the efficiency of each separate body.

The question of scholarship has been brought up. When a man becomes an upperclassmen in college, he, in most cases, is of his own mind enough to know just how much work he can or cannot do. The man who attains to Phi Kappa Phi is not always the man who is deaf to student activities. Last year the Phi Kappa Phi men at M. A. C. included the editor of the COLLEGIAN, editor of the Index, track captain, basketball captain, president of Adelphia, Senior president, four or five "M" men, and a number of men who took part in dramatics, musicals and socials. Although not a complete list this helps to show that college men as a rule do not try to handle more work than they are capable of attending to.

As for affixing a definite standing to each activity it should be borne in mind that the president of the Senate is a very high office in college but it takes only a comparatively small amount of time each week for the president to attend to his duties: whereas a member of the COLLEGIAN board or Index, board although receiving less credit, has to spend a great deal more time on his work. This is also true in comparing athletics and non-athletics.

The last point, of the credit system's allowing more men to participate in activities, brings up again the question of whether you want a weak organization composed of untrained and incapable men. If a man has the power of leadership so that he can lead two or three bodies and at the same time do well in his studies, why in the world should he be kept down? To give the other fellow a chance you say. This is a democratic college and each man has a fair chance to demonstrate his ability. If he is found wanting it is a world wide custom to give the better man the position As one prominent business man said. "A man in order to be a good executive must not only be able to execute but he must also be able to conceive. Men of such a nature are the men who form the leadership of a strong organization and they are not found at every turn.

WORLD AGGIE NIGHT

was held in Boston, where numerous important questions were decided upon and President Butterfield was the main speaker. Besides the matter of building, President Butterfield called attention to the fact that unless financial aid, in the way of increased salaries soon makes its appearance, the college will be unable to retain its present staff of finely trained and proficient professors. It is an unfortunate fact that Massachusetts is not paying as much for her professors as the County Farm Bureaus are paying. Among the matters of business taken up, it was decided to reorganize the Boston Alumni Club, and a drive for 500 new members will be instituted at once. H. W. Dana '89 was elected the new president of the Associate Alumni, and L. W. Ross '17 secretary. Five co-eds also met in Boston and formed an Associate Alumnæ, subsidiary to the present Association. It was further agreed that all would go in mass to the Tufts game.

In Amherst 85 alumni were present, prominent among whom were A. J. Morse '94, E. B. Smead of Greenfield, Dr. Fred Tuckerman and Dr. G. H. Chapman '07 who acted as toastmaster. Professor Hasbrouck spoke on the college enrollment. At present we are just holding our own as regards new regular men, but there has been an increased enrollment in the short courses. Scholastic standing among the lower classes has been lowered as a result of the present rushing rules, and in consequence a new rushing system must be adopted without delay.

Reports are fast coming in of meetings held Saturday night. Thirty men gathered in each of the cities of Philadelphia, New Haven and Springfield. In New York state meetings were held in New York, Buffalo and Ithaca, at which a total of 63 men were present. At Pittsfield there were nine men, and at Cleveland there were 12 who gathered to foster the old Aggie spirit. Four '20 men, Luce, Cole, Pree, and Burns were unable to attend the meeting in Seattle and so had a little meeting of their own at Wanachee, Wash. Twenty men gathered at Hotel Raymond in Fitchburg. Prof. Robbins and Dr. Peters '81 were both present. Not to be outdone by anyone else, Guy McLeod '20 and Carry Phipps '19 held a social evening of their own at Geneva, N. Y., over a supper of Campbell's soup, etc. They talked over old times, and Aggie songs were rendered to the accompaniment of a mouth organ and a ukelele.

All reports which have been received tell of the great time that everyone had at the meetings and there seems to be a general feeling that another meeting should be held in March and that an extensive drive will be undertaken to get all the alumni back to M. A. C. for Commencement in June.

EXTRACTS FROM "BURLINGTON FREE PRESS AND TIMES"

Fine College Spirit . . . . not only are the members of the Massachusetts team to be congratulated on their spirit and sportsmanship, but the hundred or more students who travelled from Amherst to Burlington to support their team are to be congratulated. One interesting group was made up of co-eds. Although peeved at missing two touchdowns made by their team they took it like sports and let loose all the pent up enthusiasm of their fifteen hour ride. Looking at them and realizing the trip which they had endured for the sake of the team one would scarcely wonder at the pep and fight displayed by the Aggies.

Again . . . . M. A. C. is a real football aggregation from one end of the line to the other and then through to the backfield. The U. V. M. line could not master the Aggie line, working with machine-like precision. It is the best team that has played on Centennial Field this year. It is a pleasure to watch them.

How Large is an Atom?

ATOMS are so infinitesimal that to be seen under the most powerful microscope one hundred million must be grouped. The atom used to be the smallest indivisible unit of matter. When the X-Rays and radium were discovered physicists found that they were dealing with smaller things than atoms—with particles they call "electrons."

Atoms are built up of electrons, just as the solar system is built up of sun and planets. Magnify the hydrogen atom, says Sir Oliver Lodge, to the size of a cathedral, and an electron, in comparison, will be no bigger than a bird-shot.

Not much substantial progress can be made in chemical and electrical industries unless the action of electrons is studied. For that reason the chemists and physicists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the very constitution of matter as they are with the development of new inventions. They use the X-Ray tube as if it were a machine-gun; for by its means electrons are shot at targets in new ways so as to reveal more about the structure of matter.

As the result of such experiments, the X-Ray tube has been greatly improved and the vacuum tube, now so indispensable in radio communication, has been developed into a kind of trigger device for guiding electrons by radio waves.

Years may thus be spent in what seems to be merely a purely "theoretical" investigation. Yet nothing is so practical as a good theory. The whole structure of modern mechanical engineering is reared on Newton's laws of gravitation and motion—theories stated in the form of immutable propositions.

In the past the theories that resulted from purely scientific research usually came from the university laboratories, whereupon the industries applied them. The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company conceive it as part of their task to explore the unknown in the same spirit, even though there may be no immediate commercial goal in view. Sooner or later the world profits by such research in pure science. Wireless communication, for example, was accomplished largely as the result of Herz's brilliant series of purely scientific experiments demonstrating the existence of wireless waves.

CO-ED SUPPORT APPRECIATED AT U. V. M.

From the Vermont Cynic we are pleased to rewrite the following:

How times do change and customs with them! Did you notice how those M. A. C. men cheered their co-eds last Saturday, when they arrived at the game, after a 15-hour ride, covering almost 200 miles in a dilapitated motor truck? Would you cheer our co-eds? Would they show the pep to ride 200 miles to see their team play? Mind you, I say their team, for are they not a part of the University? They are. Just like the mother-in-law joke, animosity to the co-eds is going ont of date at all colleges. Do we want to be the last to get in line? All Vermont will band it to the M. A. C. girls for their pep in coming.

CORN HUSKING AND DANCE

The Division of Agriculture entertained the college staff at a cornhusking bee and dance at Drill Hall last Saturday night, from eight until twelve. The hall was appropriately decorated with pumpkin and corn, and the orchestra was hidden in the middle of the hall by piles of corn stover. Some 175 members of the staff and their wifes were present. President Butterfield appeared in a Wild West suit.

During the first part of the evening everyone husked corn busily, and various friendly contests in speed took place. Dean Patterson and J. B. Lindsey were discovered with red ears in their pockets. A two horse wagon was required to draw the corn away after the husking was over. Refreshments of apple pie and cheese, popcorn balls, ice cream and sweet cider were served.

The last part of the evening was spent in dancing, and one of the features was an old-fashioned Virginia reel.

CLASH WITH RHODE ISLAND WILL BE LAST HOME GAME

Visitors Open Work and Trick Plays Expected to Test Aggie Defense.

The last home game of the football season will take place Saturday on Alumni Field with Rhode Island State College as the opposing team. Although Rhode Island has not yet won a game she nevertheless will present a fast aggregation. She has lost to three strong teams, Brown, Wesleyan and Boston University, but has played a 7 to 7 tie game with the University of Maine, leaders in the race for the Maine State championship, and last Saturday tied Union College by the same score.

The Rhode Island team is coached by Frank Reaney a former coach of the Everett High School team, who has a good reputation among football men. Several former Everett High players are now on Keaney's team at Kingston among them "Bill" Beck who has been starring all season.

The Kingston aggregation is a fast, heavy and scrappy group. Its games this fall have been notable for open play and wide end runs. These later have been particularly successful on account of the exceptional interference given them. The team is also opening a bag full of trick plays and delays which ought to test the Aggie defense to the limit. Johnson full back and Turner at halfback are two partienlarly dangerous men in the backfield while the man to watch in the visitors line will be Captain Eastwood at left guard.

While Rhode Island does not appear nearly as formidable as Springfield or Tufts, nevertheless Coach Gore will send in his regular line-up in expectation of a scrappy game. The recent appearence of the Deans Board has made one or two players ineligible and as a result their will be a few shifts. Sargent will be back at right halt again and Collins will return to the fullback

TWO-YEAR RECEPTION

The committee in charge of the reception tendered the Senior two year men last Friday evening by the Junior two-year, is very gratified at the fine co-operation shown by everyone in an effort to make the affair a success.

The program for the evening included dancing and games, and the newly formed Junior quartet, with Nichols P. Harrison as soloist sang some fine selections.

The costumes, as well as as the decorations, were suggestive of Hallowe'en and prizes were given for the best dressed lady and gentleman. Favors were given for the games, and a knife and candy for the costume winners.

Mrs. Butterfield, Mrs. Bacharach, Prof. and Mrs. Machmer and Prof. and Mrs. Phelan were present as guests of the two-year class.

The old pre-war custom of announcing election results was revived at M. A. C. this fall. Movies were held last night in Stockbridge Hall from 10 o'clock to midnight, and the results were given to the students who were interested enough to remain out of bed to get them.

M. A. C. HARRIERS SCORE WIN OVER W. P. I., 24-31

Slate and Woodworth Lead Engineers Over Worcester Course.

The Varsity hill and dale squad started its season Saturday with a decisive victory over Worcester Tech, running over the Worcester course and bringing in a score of 24-31. The course covered slightly over five miles of macadam, gravel, and pasture, and included several good hills. Captain Slate romped in, an easy victor, in 30 minutes, and 20 seconds. He was closely followed by Woodworth. Johnson, Tech's Freshman star, pursued Woodworth at a distauce of about seventy-five yards. Tech also captured the next two places; Aggie coming through with sixth, seven, and eighth. Tech placed her last two scorers in ninth and tenth positions. Of the sixteen starters one Tech man failed to reach the finish.

Worcester had a strong team, having trimmed Trinity the previous Saturday. The M. A. C. men appreciated the excellent sportsmanship of the Tech runners who used considerable precious breath in directing our men over the somewhat tortuous course. The Aggie men were well entertained at the various Fraternities after the race.

The men crossed the line as follows:
Slate, M. A. C.
Woodworth, M. A. C.
Johnson, Tech.
Marston, Tech.
Hoar, Tech.
Macready, M. A. C.
Rollins, M. A. C.
Irish, M. A. C.
Brigham, Tech.
Styffe, Tech.
West, M. A. C.
Hamilton, Tech.
Anderson, Tech.
Gallotte, Tech.

Cross Country has not brought out many enthusiastic competitors this Fall, but due to the dilligent work of Coach Dickinson, Aggie has now an excellent nucleus of about a dozen men from which to pick her team. Credit is also due to Louis Lyons, Captain of Cross Country in 1916, who ran with the men at the start of the season, and gave instructions in running form. Two of our best hill-climbers were unable to run Saturday: Friend '23 with a bad leg, and Tanner '23.

The Aggie hedge-busters will run New Hampshire on our own course next Saturday during the Rhode Island football game.

FIRST INFORMAL OF THE YEAR COMING SATURDAY

The first informal of the season will be held this Saturday, Nov. 6, after the game with Rhode Island. The committee this year consists of J. J. McCarthy, chairman; C. G. Mackintosh '21, treasurer; James Alger '21, J. D. Snow '21, D. C. Douglass '21, H. E. Gaskill '21, G. H. Thompson, Jr., '22, K. W. Moody '22, and F. V. Waugh '22. A goodly number are expected and a successful occasion is assured.

The music will be furnished by Smith's orchestra composed of Wendell '23, piano; Dunbar '21, traps; M. M. Smith '22, violin; Woodworth '23, banjo; R. Swift, coruet, and Adams, saxophone.

The game begins at 2-20 and it is arranged that the girls coming from Smith will take the 2 o'clock car from Northampton. The dancing will begin immediately after the game and supper will be served in Draper Hall at 6 o'clock. The dancing will then continue until the girls from across river and over the mountain have to take their departure. The Smith girls will take the 9 o'clock car back from Amherst center.

The tickets are now on sale at the Phi Sigma Kappa house at $3.50. After Thursday noon the price will go up to $3.75. The chaperons from Smith and Mt. Holyoke will be announced at Wednesday Assembly. The committee would greatly appreciate the students obtaining tickets for informals as soon as possible after the time announced that they will be on sale. Providing enough students attend this first informal, the committee will endeavor to run at least one informal each month during the collegiate year.

PROBLEMS OF THE DAY DISCUSSED AT FORUM

The Question of a Credit System Discussed. Honor Constitution Revised.

Adelphia under the direction of Bunker '21, vice-president, conducted a student forum in Wednesday's Assembly. The question of a credit system for student activities at M. A. C. was brought up, as was announced at the last forum. Martin '21 explained that the credit system has been quite successful at M. I. T. and should be considered here at Aggie. The three main points in its favor are:

1. More men would be stimulated to take part in activities.
2. Men would be prevented from neglecting their studies.
3. A definite standing would be assigned to student activities.

There were a few arguments pro and con, but no definite action was taken.

A change in the honor system was next taken up. Haslam '21 gave reasons for the proposed revision.

Ballots were provided and a vote was taken resulting in the acceptance of both amendments.

In conclusion the students were asked if they had any fault to find with the Dining Hall. There was some commotion, but no one was willing to make a criticism.

Sophomore Class Meeting.

The Sophomore class held its regular meeting Wednesday, October 27, after assembly in the auditorium. The officers were chosen from a list presented by the nomiuating committee. Those elected were: President, W. H. Marshman of Springfield; vice-president, N. D. Hilyard of Beverly; secretary, F. G. Sears, Jr. of Dalton; treasurer, J. P. Smith of West Roxbury; class historian, Miss D. V. H. Turner of South Amherst; sargent-at-arms, M. W. Alger of West Bridgewater; class captain, S. K. Hardy of Littleton. The constitution of the class was changed to read that class elections should take place at the second regular meetings in October and February.

Last Friday morning at chapel the class of '23 challenged the class of '24 to a six man rope-pull, to be held between the halves of the Rhode Island football game next Saturday. The Freshmen accepted the challenge at Monday chapel.

NEW HAMPSHIRE GAME

points for his team on a beautiful drop-kick from the 20-yard line. Soon after the second half commenced he was sent over for the only touchdown of the game. His work certainly seemed to justify the possibility of his selection as an all-collegiate backfield man.

"Ed" Tumey, Grayson, and Lent were the only men on the M. A. C. team who played their usual game. Mackintosh at center played a great game on the defense but offensively he was not up to his usual standards and was outplayed by Harvell.

Captain Poole at quarter has been sending his backs against inferior lines all season, so that when the strong New Hampshire line confronted him, it took him the greater part of the game to accustom himself to a change of tactics.

The tackling by M. A. C. men was the best that has been seen on Alumni Field for a long time. It was hard and sure, and in the particular cases of Grayson and Cotton, it was timely.

Before the game, the student body assembled at the Social Union and led by the College Band, marched to the field in column of fours. The cheering on both sides was continuous and snappy during the game, for nearly two hundred of the New Hampshire student body followed their team in autos and trucks.

In the first quarter New Hampshire held the ball nearly all the time. Repeated gains by Gustafson and Connors finally put Connors in position to score his dropkick goal. Collins and Poole made short gains this quarter but the ball was held in Aggie territory.

At the first of the second quarter, long gains by Collins and Tumey brought the ball within scoring position, but Aggie lost it on downs when a long forward to Cascio was missed. In this quarter, Lent brought the home supporters to their feet by his fine open field running, which netted him several gains of ten to thirty yards.

Connor's touchdown, following a penalty, gave New Hampshire their last score in the third period. Here again, Tumey and Lent made repeated gains, and the ball was brought to New Hampshire's five yard line, only to be lost on downs after three futile attempts to gain through the line.

In the fourth quarter, Grayson brought a ray of hope to Aggie supporters when he caught a forward from Poole and was only pulled down on the five yard line. Sargent took the ball for four more yards and then for the third time, New Hampshire presented a stubborn resistance to the Aggie backs. Sargent had replaced Tumey, and although only in the game for five minutes, he made several brilliant gains on end runs. The game ended when Tarplin, who had replaced Lent, went around end for ten yards.

The game was far from discouraging to M. A. C., and one such defeat will only make the team fight harder for the remaining three games.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE GAME

Referee's equipment seemed to be in pretty bad shape last Saturday. First the stop watch refused to go in the varsity game, and then Chapman found his whistle too far gone to blow at the close of the Freshman contest. The latter accident cost the yearlings six points.

Those Granite State rooters surely had a pleasant surprise. Money that was deep down out of sight before the game started was flashed around promiscuously immediately after the who half had ended.

Being very jubilant over the score of the New Hampshire game last Saturday, a few Durham students were seen riding home in a truck which bore a sign reading, "we're the guys that put the Hearse in Amherst."

Among the spectators of Saturday's game was one who will always have a deep interest in "Aggie" football. He carries a stiff knee gained in playing football for M. A. C. on the same team with "Gid" Mackintosh's father.

More than one New Hampshire man realized more than his expenses down here after the game was over. "Aggie," men never "welch" on their bets.

'17.—W. G. Buchanan is at present connected with the Department of Agriculture at the Bernardston High School.

Ex-'23.—George E. Baker was back on the campus last Saturday. He has transferred to Colgate this year.

CAMPUS NOTES

Leavitt '21, Sampson '21, and Gay '23 are at the Infirmary on sick leave.

A Hallowe'en house party at the Kappa Gamma Phi house, last Saturday, following the New Hampshire State game, was enjoyed by 16 couples. Davenport's orchestra furnished the music, and Mrs. Cassin, a local caterer served a buffet lunch for the party. Mrs. Skinner of Mt. Holyoke, and Miss Arnold of Smith, were the patronesses. Dancing lasted until 10 o'clock. The house was very appropriately and attractively decorated with a Hallowe'en setting of pumpkins, jack-o'lanterns, cornstalks, and black and orange crepe paper streamers.

The houseparty of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity after the game Saturday was attended by 25 couples. Both local and Smith girls were present. The chaperons were Mrs. Hicks of M. A. C. and Miss Zurbrack of Smith. Dunbar and Smith's orchestra furnished the music, and Woodworth '23 played banjo and mandolin selections. The dancing lasted until 9-30 P. M. A buffet luncheon was served in the house. Among the alumni present at the party were "Mike" Brewer '14, who brought Mrs. Brewer with him, "Chick" Davies '14, "Jack" Hutchinson '14, and "Ned" Edwards '14.

The Kappa Sigma fraternity held a houseparty after the game last Saturday, and 18 couples were entertained. Most of the girls were from Mt. Holyoke with Miss Devlin as chaperon. Frost's local orchestra played for the dancing, which lasted until time for the "last car." Refreshments were served in the house. Carl Gushin '17, Richard Smith '17, Pratt '18, "Bob" Skinner '20, and "Don" Cook ex-'21 were back for the game and the party.

M. A. C. VS. SPRINGFIELD AT PRATT FIELD SATURDAY

Strong Aggie Team is Confident That the "Goodwin Pep" will Bring a Big Victory.

This from the Springfield College paper early in the season. "In our big game, the one with Mass. Aggies, we are out for blood. It is proverbial that either team may make a poor showing on the remainder of their schedule and yet put up a truly remarkable game in the annual contest stayed at Pratt Field. We are still leading in number of games won with eleven victories to nine defeats and three ties."

DONALD M. LENT
Fleet Maroon and White halfback who has been a consistent ground gainer all season.

From this statement it is evident that M. A. C. is going against a team Saturday which is full of pep and enthusiasm, but no Aggie man who saw the 1919 game at Pratt Field will forget the fight and determination with which Captain Pond's men went into that game. They all wanted that game badly and they went after it. Aggie has a line this year that is going to show the Goodwin pep right through from end to end. The backfield, fresh from a short rest, will be in the condition they were in at the start of the Vermont game, and when the whistle blows Saturday, the entire Aggie student body will be on the sidelines. It's a combination which can not be beaten.

Springfield defeated Bowdoin 21-0 in their first game. Since then they have not won a game and have been outclassed sixty-two points by their opponents. Yet this does not mean an easy game, necessarily, for since the Bowdoin game Springfield has uncorked a system of aerial attack which has baffled both Brown and Holy Cross, so that the two together have scored only 26 points against Springfield. Springfield blames "the irony of fate" for one of Brown's touchdowns. This "fate", an intercepted forward pass, is the kind

M.A. C. HARRIERS LOSE TO N. H. 27-29

Leath Finishes First in Probably Record Time.

Captain Weston's New Hampshire Harriers defeated Slate's fence-jumpers by the narrow margin of two points, last Saturday, running over the M. A. C. five-mile course. It was a clean, fast race from start to finish, and Aggie may feel that her cross-country team gave one of the best teams in New England a hard run. Leath, who has been for several years running mate to Nightingale, was first over the line, covering the distance in 26 min. 26 sec., and was closely pursued by "Skip" Weston, captain of the N. H. men. Woodworth, Aggie's gritty all-round track man, took fourth position.

The men started at the Drill Hall and finished on Alumni Field, between the halves of the Rhode Island game, the men running directly across the field and ending under the South goal post.

After the first half mile, the runners found their positions and held them in most instances, to the finish. A notable feature of the race was that every man of the 18 starters finished, the men following each other closely, leaving no stragglers. Probably, the time Saturday was the best ever made over the Aggie course. The previous record was held by Louis Lyons, captain of Cross-country in 1916, who covered the distance in 26 min. 31 sec. The record made Saturday cannot, however, be held official as it was made over a slightly different course than had been previously used.

The order of finishing was as follows: Leath, N. H.; Slate, M. A. C.; Weston, N. H.; Woodworth, M. A. C.; Graves, N. H.; Rollins, M. A. C.; Higgins, N. H.; MacCready, M. A. C.; Irish, M. A. C.; West, M. A. C.; French, N. H.; Moody, N. H.; Martin, N. H.; Evers, M. A. C.; Hooper, M. A. C.; Newman, N. H.

Score—N. H. 29, M. A. C. 27.

Next Saturday, Aggie will have a team at the New England Intercollegiates to be held in Boston.

WEDNESDAY ASSEMBLY

Roger W. Babson, statistician, of Wellesley Hills, last Wednesday in Assembly, gave one of the most forceful and thoroughly interesting talks that has been heard here for several weeks. His work is closely connected with the captains of industry and he told a few of the things which he has learned about the American business man in the 18 years in which he has come into contact with him.

There are opportunities in every line of business. Not a single commodity is known in which somebody,

R. I. STATE TIES AGGIE ELEVEN 7-7

Blocked Punt in First Period Paves Way for Visitor's Score.

Presenting the heaviest line that the Maroon and White has faced this season, coupled with a versatile style of play, and favored by good fortune—the R. I. State eleven got a 7 7 tie verdict in their tilt with the Massachusetts Aggies on Alumni Field Saturday afternoon. Man for man, Captain Poole's outfit played better football, and outrushed the visitors, keeping the play almost entirely in their territory during three of the four periods. Only once, at the opening of the second half did R. I. display a consistent ground gaining offensive.

The scoring came early in the game by both teams, R. I. registering seven points in the first quarter by virtue of a blocked kick; and Aggie hammering through to a touchdown early in the second period. Thereafter the game settled down into a punting defence by the visitors against a Maroon and White offence that carried the play well down into R. I. territory, and twice threatened to score.

The game in detail.

King kicked off to R. I. and the ball was put into play on their 20-yard line. Two line plays and an end run failed to gain and Johnson punted to Sargent. R. I. recovered a Massachusetts backfield fumble and aided by a 15 yard forward pass, Beck to Totman, advanced to Aggies' three yard line, where M. A. C. took the ball on downs. R. I. broke through, blocking Collin's attempted punt, and Totman, Rhody's right end, fell on the ball behind the goal line for a touchdown. Johnson kicked the goal. Score. R. I. 7, M. A. C. 0. Play

WILLIAM H. TAFT OPENS YEAR'S SUNDAY CHAPELS

Speaks on "Success and How to Obtain It" to Capacity Auditorium Audience.

The college was fortunate in having for its speaker at Sunday morning chapel, ex-president William Howard Taft. This was Mr. Taft's second appearance in the auditorium, his first being six years ago when he delivered the opening address at the dedication of Stockbridge Hall.

Mr. Taft spoke on success and the best way to attain such in the work which we plan to follow. Real success is usefulness to one's self, home, friends, and community, and it can never be attained except by hard work and not work in the sense of routine. No great accomplishment can ever belong to any of us unless at some period during our lives we are forced to perform work which at the time seems mere drudgery. In the work which we perform we must always be thorough, and never be hurried or sloppy. Mr. Taft gave as an example of thoroughness, the instance which Booker T. Washington relates in his book, "Up From Slavery." In seeking admission to Hampton Institute, Mr. Washington was told that he was not wanted, but was finally given an opportunity by the woman in charge to show what he could do by cleaning a room. When he had finished, the woman, who happened to be from New England, decided that the thoroughness of his work alone warranted his admission to the college. It was his thoroughness in small things that later made him such an influence in teaching his race the value of hard work. The cause of unrest in the industrial world is caused, not by poor wages and conditions, but by a lack of utilizing every minute and a failure of putting full work in the full hour. We have every chance in the world for success for there was never a time when the man who performed conscientious work was not sooner or later rewarded.

Contrary to popular opinion, the so-called college grind does make good in life. As a result of an investigation carried out by A. Lawrence Lowell, it has been proved that 75 per cent. of the country's leaders were from the ten per cent highest in scholarship, and these men do make good because they have learned the value of hard work. Mr. Taft laid emphasis on the fact that we are here primarily for studies, and we must not build a labyrinth of athletic and non-athletic activities around a thread of studies. Another important factor in success is the habit of thrift, and it may well be called a brother of work. Thrift is necessary to life and it was this instinct that developed the cave dweller into the man of the present. As a builder of character, thrift is unsurpassed for it teaches to the individual, self respect. In order to win success we must learn how to get along with people. We are continually bumping into people of different sorts, but we must always keep in mind what is due them and have consideration for their wishes. Manners, which might well be defined as the "doctrine of fair play," or the schooling of one's self in the ideas of others, is a thing in which members of the present college generation might well improve. Manners is only another term for self-restraint and self-control, a thing which Bolshevists and similar people have not yet learned. The greatest example of self control in our democracy is the election, when the defeated minority submits to the winning majority without causing any trouble.

In closing, Mr. Taft said, "Success is the achievement of happiness and real happiness is that mental state in which you realize that by your success you have helped others." Happiness is not measured in riches, and if each one is willing to do his share, and even a little bit more, and have enough money to support his family, he will surely have gained success and happiness in his life.

ENTIRE STUDENT BODY GOING TO SPRINGFIELD

The Springfield-Aggie football game has been postponed to Saturday, Nov. 13. The game was originally planned for Armistice Day, but as that day is not to be a legal holiday this year postponement was decided advisable.

Tickets for the special train to Springfield may be purchased at the Phi Sigma Kappa House any evening this week, from 7-00 to 9-00 o'clock. The price of the round trip will be $2.05. One-way tickets will also be sold.

The train will have either six or seven cars, and over 500 students are expected to make the trip. The special will leave the B. & M. station at 11-20 A. M., and will leave Springfield for Amherst at 11-15 P. M. It will arrive at Springfield at 12-30 P. M., and the students will have 30 minutes for luncheon.

The parade for Pratt Field will start from the vicinity of the Union Station at 1-00 o'clock.

Prof. Hicks has game tickets for sale at his office in the Drill Hall, and the College Store has tickets for "Princess Virtue," a musical comedy at Court Square theater, for sale, at $1.20 each.

FRESHMAN WIN ANNUAL SIX MAN ROPE PULL

The Annual Sophomore-Freshman Six-Man Rope Pull took place last Saturday afternoon between the halves of the football game with Rhode Island State College, and resulted in a well-deserved victory by the Yearlings. The contest was three minutes in duration, and was an evenly matched affair.

The signal for starting was given by Professor McLaughlin. At the instant the pistol was fired both sides went to it with a will, and although the Sophomores gained a few inches at the start by getting the "jump", the Freshmen, keeping time to the "heave" of the mentor, Fuller '20, gradually drew the rope to their side, so that when the pistol was fired at the close of the contest, the Frosh had acquired 18 inches of the rope. The Sophomore coach was Newell '20. The Freshmen participating in the pull were Woodworth, Ferranti, Brunner, Davis, Fernald, and King. Their opponents were Williams, Hardy, Gordon, Holly, Abele, and Nowers.

VARSITY SECONDS DEFEAT STRONG PREP SCHOOL TEAM

Deerfield Loses 35-0. Roser, Bent and Clark Score.

Last Friday "Bob" Holmes took the Varsity second team to Deerfield to play the strong Deerfield Academy eleven. The team from Aggie won handily by a 35-0 score. Deerfield Academy has one of the best teams in its history, having won all its games by substantial scores. Friday's game being the first they had lost this year. They are a heavy team, slightly outweighing our second team, and put up a game, scrappy exhibition.

The first half ended with the score 7-0 in favor of the second team. There were a number of penalties during this half and the Aggie team could not seem to get under way. Victor Butterfield, Prexy's son, played quarter for Deerfield and got away for several good runs during this period.

The second half was a different story. The Aggie offense got under way and scored two touchdowns in each quarter. Clark to Roser was the aerial route for three touchdowns and the other two were made by Bent on end runs.

Marshman featured the game with his kicking, and smashes through center. His kickoffs all went to the Deerfield five-yard line and his punting was of the best calibre. Jakeman's coaching has certainly improved this man's kicking. Clark, the second string quarter, kicked every one of the five goals from touchdown thereby running his season's string up to 12 with no misses.

The Aggie line proved very effective; the playing of Freeman, Davenport, Waite and Alger being very creditable. Sweetzer, McKay and Burro played well for Deerfield. Captain Bixler was also conspicuous.

The second team line-up:

MacCarthy le, Wentsch lt, Waite lg, Mudgett lg, Freeman c, Alger rg, Gould rg, Packer c, Davenport rt, Roser re, Clark qb, Beals rhb, Bent lhb, Marshman fb, Field fb.

TWO YEAR ELEVEN DEFEATS CUSHING 20-7

The two-year team scored their first win of the season last Saturday afternoon at Ashburnham, where they defeated Cushing Academy to the tune of 20-7. Cushing put a fine team on the field and seemed confident of winning, as they had, previous to this, tied Worcester Academy and Williston, and not lost a game.

Cushing won the toss and received the kick-off. They tried two plays, then a punt. The two-years took the ball and went right down the field with line plays and end runs for a touchdown. They missed the goal. In the second quarter Steele threw a pass to Gerard from Cushing's 45-yard line, and Gerard took it down to the one-foot line. One play took it over for the second touchdown. Merwin kicked the goal. The ball was in Cushing's territory for the rest of the period, but penalties prevented a two-year score.

The second half began with the two-year's receiving the kick-off. The ball was fumbled and rolled behind the goal-line, where Pickard recovered it and got as far as the 30-yard line. The two-year's then took the ball right down the field, gaining 5-6 yards at each rush. Another forward pass to Gerard netted 25 yards. The ball was then on the 10-yard line. A poor pass bounced into the hands of Cushing's left end, who had a good start and took it down the field for a touchdown, making Cushing's only score. They kicked the goal. After the kick-off a forward pass from Steele to Gerard took the ball 20 yards. Pickard, after a series of line bucks down the field, took the ball over from the five-yard line in two plays. Merwin kicked the goal, making the score twenty to seven. The quarter ended shortly after.

There was no scoring on either side during the last quarter. The ball was in Cushing's territory most of the time, but the fighting was hard with little gains. Gerard, Wiggin and Snelling did good work for the two-year eleven. Friday afternoon at 2-30 the team plays the Connecticut Aggie seconds, and there is a possibility of a game with Deerfield Academy the following week.

PRACTICE AFTER DARK

A few days ago one of the country's leading papers made the statement that Cornell, in using searchlights for practice after dark, had introduced a new custom into collegiate football. This may be the truth as far as the editor knew but everyone in Amherst knows that since the year before the war M. A. C. has used searchlights for practice in the late November afternoons and evenings. The Aggie coach had appreciated the extra hour or so that this system afforded.

YEARLINGS SWAMPED BY STRONG WILLISTON ELEVEN

Favored both in weight and football experience, the Williston Academy team swamped the Aggie yearlings 61-0, at Easthampton, last Saturday. The Freshmen only used two substitutes, because of the large number of men who were made ineligible by failure in studies.

Smith, Williston's clever back, ran the first kick-off back 80 yards for a touchdown, and from that time on, the ball was in the hands of the Easthampton lads the majority of the time. M. A. C. made most of its gains on line plunges. Nelson put up a fine game at guard. The Freshmen showed their good training by the manner in which they stood up under the gaff of the rushes of the heavy opposing line.

LIBRARY ACQUISITIONS

Two books recently added to the library collection, should be of interest to everyone both because of their contents and their unlqueness. One, entitled "Hortus Grammens Woburnensis," by George Sinclair, was published in 1816. It is a description of experiments on the production and nutritive value of grasses.

The other book entitled "The Natural History of Maize" by Matthieu Bonafonsmaui was published in 1830. It is written in French and contains some wonderful plates of the different varieties of maize.

SPRINGFIELD GAME SATURDAY

of an opportunity that a team such as Aggie has, is always on its toes for. There are a certain few men on the Aggie defense who are going to have a fine time breaking up their opponents, forward passes. It was these forwards that held Holy Cross, West Point, and Brown to small scores so that with these taken care of it seems almost certain that an Aggie triumph is due, for the feature of the M. A. C. team work this year has been the defensive play of the line in stopping line plunges and off tackle plays. Coach Gore has spent a great deal of time with his ends lately, coaching them to watch for trick plays around end. We have two hard tacklers playing the wing positions who are fast men and should be able to break down any attempted runs from a forward pass formation.

The team, the pep, and surely not least, the student body a great combination and a trio that is going to be thrown with full strength at Springfield next Saturday. Yes, Springfield; "We are out for blood, too."

We're From Missouri.

Annually, at this time of year, just before Aggie's clash with Springfield, we hear a lot of talk about what our nearly rivals have done all season in the way of gridiron accomplishment; of what the Maroon and White has not done, and vice-versa.

As to the value of football dope, we are to say the least, skeptical, and you would-be prophets take a look at the results of past years and think over the following: Back in the days when Springfield had that wonderful team, when 'Cap" Sermon, probably the greatest back that ever wore the Red and White, and "Breezy" Gale and a host of others were making gridiron fame for Coach Berry, they didn't succeed in turning out a team that could beat a "fighting Aggie eleven" and what's more the "Y" boys are not going to begin next Saturday.

They may be good but they've got to show us.

On to Springfield.

COMMUNICATION

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

The Amherst Woman's Club wishes to express its appreciation to the musicians of M. A. C., who so generously contributed their services on Monday evening, Nov. 1.

PROF. JONES RESIGNS FROM M. A. C. FACULTY

M. A. C. is to lose another of her professors Friday when Earl Jones, M. Sc. Agr., leaves for Ohio. He has accepted a position in the Farm Crops Department of the Extension Service at Ohio State University.

Prof. Jones was brought up in Ohio and was graduated from the State University in 1912. He spent one year there as a P. G., before going to Maine, where he first entered the teaching profession. In the Agronomy Department of the University of Maine he remained for a period of two years, coming to M. A. C. in August, 1915.

During the first three years of his stay at M. A. C. Prof. Jones was an instructor in the Department of Agronomy. He entered the Extension Service in July, 1918, and has been Extension Professor of Agronomy until now.

Ohio State University will receive a man who is thoroughly acquainted with all branches of agronomy, a man who has devoted all his time to the needs of the farm in this special field. His loss will be keenly felt by all those connected with him in Massachusetts.

ALUMNI COMMITTEE DISCUSSES SHORT COURSE

The Executive Committee of the Associate Alumni held a meeting in the Alumni Office on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 2, at which Director Haskell, Dr. Tuckerman, Dr. Peters, Professors Osmun, Parker, MacDougal, and Mr. Campbell were present.

Numerous important business matters were taken up and in regard to the petition of the short course it was voted to have the chairman appoint a committee of three, one of whom would be himself, to make a study of the short course problem with the view of being able to pass more intelligently on the petition of the short course alumni to be affiliated with the Associate Alumni, and report at a future meeting of the committee. It was also voted to make recommendations to the Trustees through the President that living members of the class of 1871 be reissued diplomas in the form of golden diplomas as part of the semi-centennial celebration program. The next meeting will be held in the Alumni Office on Nov. 19.

REV. J. H. RANDALL TO PREACH AT SUNDAY CHAPEL

Reverend John Herman Randall of New York City, is to address Aggie Students at Chapel next Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Randall was graduated from Colgate University in 1892 and ordained in the Baptist ministry in 1895. Besides being a capable preacher he is known as the author of a number of books on philosophy and religion. He is now minister of the Community Church in New York City. This church is famous throughout the contry because it is one of the few churches which welcome to its membership people of all religious beliefs, all creeds and all nationalities. We can count on an interesting and timely talk from Mr. Randall.

SEVENTY-FIVE COUPLE AT FIRST INFORMAL

Dance After the Game Commences Season's Socials.

Following the game last Saturday the first informal of the year was held in the Drill Hall. Dancing commenced at 5 o'clock and lasted until 9-15 with an hour's intermission for supper at Draper Hall.

The usual quota of girls were present from Mt. Holyoke, Smith and Amherst. Those coming from Smith were forced to leave earlier than the others in compliance with the rules of that college. All were on hand early though to see the Rhode Island State game.

The dance order comprised 22 dances some of which had to be omitted because of the late hour at which the dance commenced. Music was furnished by the college orchestra and was full of pep throughout the evening.

The decorations, in charge of Waugh, Thompson and Moody were much as usual and consisted of potted palms in the corners and at intervals along the sides, banners and pennants on the walls, and a screen of palms about the orchestra. A punch bowl at one side received constant attention all the evening.

The supper, served at the dining hall consisted of cocktail, chicken croquets, green peas, French dressed potatoes, rolls, cherry sundae, cake and demitasse.

The chaperons were Miss Pease, Mt. Holyoke, Mrs. Bachrach, Amherst; and Mrs. Shock, Smith.

Y. M- C. A. SPEAKER IN MORNING CHAPEL

Mr. Campbell Later Addresses Missionary Meeting.

The speaker at Monday morning chapel was Fay Campbell an ardent Y. M. C. A. worker. He spoke of the wonderful work that the Student Volunteer Movement was doing in foreign fields. He brought concrete evidence in the presentation of the testimonies of Assyrian, Japanese and Negro students, who have taken the Christian religion and profited thereby. He spoke of conditions in China and Turkey and what the unselfish and sincere work of our missionaries has accomplished. He tendered a plea for more young men and women to enter this field since there was so desperate a need for their service.

The Y. M. C. A. conducted a missionary meeting for all those interested, in the social union room Monday evening at 6-30 at which Mr. Campbell, who was the last year secretary of the Y.M.C.A. Student Volunteer Movement of Yale College also spoke. About 50 students attended. After a hymn and prayer, Mr Campbell spoke 15 minutes on the value of a Real Christian Spirit. He said he urged no one to become a missionary but he did urge everyone to be a Christian.

Interviews, mostly personal, were held with Mr. Campbell all day Tuesday beginning at 8-30 A. M., for 15 minutes each.

AGGIE MEN BRING HOME TWO TROPHIES

Rate Well Up at the New England Fruit Show.

At the New England Fruit Show Saturday, Nov. 6, Aggie men had an opportunity to prove that in agricultural training our college is second to none in New England.

The New England Fruit Growers Association, following a custom interrupted by the war, offered two silver cups to be awarded to the teams winning the first place in the Apple Packing and Apple Judging contest, held in connection with the Fruit Show.

Both teams were composed of Aggie Seniors majoring in Pomology, Peck, Geer, and Howe comprising the packing team, while the lineup for the judging contest was Knight, Lambert, and Mallon.

Howe made first place in both the barrel and box packing, which put the team in the lead, while Peck and Geer scored high.

In the fruit judging Rhode Island had high man, while Mallon, Lambert, and Knight walked off with second, third and fourth places respectively, making the team an easy winner.

Much credit for the showing made is due Professor Sears who exercised general supervision over the training, and to Professor Drain and Mr. Gould who coached the team.

LIST OF TENTATIVE GLEE CLUB MEMBERS ANNOUNCED

First Concert Will Be at Hadley Early in December.

A permanent list of the members of the Glee Club has not been decided upon as yet, but from time to time a list of those who are to be retained will be published. The following list includes those who have, to date, been accepted:

Seniors: Lincoln, R. L. Starkey, Martin, Sloane, D. C. Douglass, Goff, Casclo, Newton, R. D. Baker, F. S. Fletcher, E. M. Haslam; juniors, H. W. Spring, D. H. Smith, Martin, K. W. Moody, Erysian, Burnett, Blakeley, Burnham, Holman, Vinten, Russell; sophomores, Broderick, Keith, L. B. Arrington, Sears, Slade, Fanenf, Richards, Norcross, Whittier; freshmen, Dubois, Leath, Staebner, Williams, Hairston and Hutchins. Wendell, '23, is now pianist and Howard Goff, '21, club leader.

The first trip will come during the second week in December, when the clubs will give a concert at Hadley. The schedule of succeeding trips is not yet definite, but the annual trip during the Christmas vacation will probably start early in the week, if not on the Friday preceding. According to Professor Bigelow, who has coached the clubs from time to time during the past years, the present club has material which will produce an unusually successful season.

Ex-'21.—Miller is now a Junior in Columbia University.

THREE FRESHMEN FEATURE IN SECOND POND PARTY

Last Friday was an ideal day for the second pond party of the season, which was held directly after dinner, with Cromack, Leathe, and Clark of the Freshman class as the principal entertainers. The new platform built at the north end of the pond added much to the occasion, for by dint of the extra height the Freshmen were given a much better conception of what a correct pond party should be.

Playing a brass drum and symbals, the three prisoners were solemnly paraded from North College to the pond by a group of Sophomore escorts. Cromack, convicted of walking with co-eds, was the first to hit the water and stir up the mud. After much persuasion Cromack admitted his guilt. Next in order came Leathe, who was first given a chance to try out his singing ability across the pond. He was called back after one ducking, and in mournful tones rendered that old ditty:

"How dry I am
How dry I am
Nobody knows
Or gives a ——."

The last man, Clark, was found guilty of not jumping 9's and of not wearing his Freshman hat, both major offenses. However, out of pity for the poor fish (in the pond) he was thrown in only once and allowed to go free.

ONCE MORE THE AGGIE BAND WILL LEAD US

Under the leadership of Cornetist Ray Swift '20, the college band has recently been reorganized and is now under full swing towards a successful season. At present there are 20 members in the organization, and rehearsals are being held every Tuesday evening in the Social Union Room. Any man, whether a 4-year or a 2-year student, who is at all proficient with any band instrument, is urgently invited to attend the rehearsals and become a member of the band. To induce the men to come out, and to insure its success by regular attendance at rehearsals, the band is being run on a credit basis this year: i. e., each member receives one college credit per term, and is thereby allowed only a certain number of absences or "cuts."

The primary object of the band is, as it has always been, to promote college spirit, and it is hoped that it can become as important a college organization as it was in previous years. It made a very good showing at the football game on last Saturday, and it has assured the student body that it will lead them through the streets of Springfield on Nov. 13.

Holders of the United States 4¼ Liberty Bonds of the Second Issue should convert before Nov. 15, and holders of First Issue 4% bonds before Dec. 15, which are the last days of grace for conversion into 4¼% bonds of the respective issues. Failure to exchange will result in loss of market value.

RHODE ISLAND GAME

was in the enemy territory the remainder of the period, Aggie twice pounding through to the R. I. 25 yard line, to lose the ball and have Johnson punt out of danger. Lent's 17 yard gain through tackle and Poole's 10 yard smash through center were bright spots in the M. A. C. play here.

Facing the usual stone wall defence, R. I. was forced to punt at the opening of the second quarter. For Massachusetts, Collins kicked on the fourth down. For R. I., Gardner got around right end for 12 yards, and then after two line plays had failed to gain, Johnson kicked to Tarplin, who ran the kick back 14 yards to midfield. Collins returned the kick. After three plays had gained scarcely three yards Johnson punted, Tarplin running the ball back 25 yards to the Blue and White 25-yard line. From here three line plays and a forward that netted 13 yards brought the ball to the R. I. eight yard line. On the third down Lent went through for the touchdown, Poole kicking the goal. Score, R. I. 7, M. A. C. 7. Punts were exchanged during the remainder of the period.

Johnson's punt at the opening of the third quarter was run back to the M. A. C. 40 yard mark. Collins on the fourth down punted to the visitors 18-yard line. R. I. here developed their only consistent offense of the game, carrying the ball to Aggie's 35 yard line, where they lost it on downs. An end run and a forward accounted for 16 yards of R. I.'s advance. Collins punted and Capt. Eastwood's eleven started an offense that netted them 18 yards before they lost the ball on downs. An exchange of punts ended the period.

Starting the last quarter M. A. C. rushed the ball 35 yards to Rhody's 25-yard line, where it was lost on an incompleted forward pass. MacIntosh broke through and blocked Johnson's attempted drop kick, but the Blue and White recovered, tried an unsuccessful forward pass and then kicked. An exchange of punts, followed by a run back of 20 yards by Tarplin, brought the ball to Aggies' 47-yard line. In their last attempt to score, Aggie rushed the ball to their opponents 3-yard line, losing it on an incompleted forward pass. Lent and Poole featured in this advance, the former twice slipping off tackle for a total of 15 yards, while "Cap" banged through the center of the line for the same distance. The game ended here with the ball in possession of R. I. far down in their own territory.

King, Poole and Tarplin played stellar football for M. A. C., and the all around work of Johnson featured for R. I.

The lineup:

M. A. C.	R. I. STATE
Grayson, re	le, Totman
King, rt	lt, Nordquist
Brigham, rg	lg, Connors
MacIntosh, c	c, Potter
Mohor, lg	rg, Eastwood
Cotton, lt	rt, Perry
Cascio, le	re, Haslam
Poole, qb	qb, Beck
Lent, lhb	rhb, Coyne
Sargent, rhb	lhb, Gardner
Collins, fb	fb, Johnson

Score—M. A. C. 7, R. I. 7. Touchdowns—Lent, Totman. Goals from touchdown—Poole, Johnson. Substitutions—M. A. C., Tarplin for Sargent, Grey for Cascio, Davenport for Brigham, Freeman for Davenport, Roser for Grayson; R. I., C. Nordquist for Totman, LaBree for Coyne, Mowrey for C. Nordquist, McAlevy for Nordquist. Referee—Carpenter of Harvard. Umpire—Lowe of Dartmouth. Head linesman—Keunedy of Amherst.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE GAME

When Capt. Poole booted the ball across the bar last Saturday, it made his thirteenth consecutive successful goal this year. Poole is the leading scorer, too.

According to the laws of progressions, we win this week. First a defeat, then a tie, and then ——.

Someone ought to dub Tarplin, "Mouse". He surely reminded one of the diminutive animal running through a crowded parlor, when he darted through the heavy "Rhodie" line, with all the guards and tackles making ineffectual grabs at him.

"Father" Lent surely fools 'em. He stands there kind o' easy like, but when they try to start something, O, boy!

They ought to make a rule forbidding white horses on the highway at the same time as the cross-country team.

FRESH-SOPH GAME TO BE PLAYED NOV. 17

Sophomores Favorites in Numeral Contest.

The annual Freshman-Sophomore football game will be held after Assembly on Wednesday, Nov. 17.

The Sophomore team has begun practicing and about 20 men have turned out. Among these are Hillyard, Davis, and Robero, backs on last year's Freshman team, who, with Earl Williams, former Deerfield Academy quarterback, will make a hard combination for the Freshmen to stop. "Connie" Wirth at end and Hardy at center were also members of their Freshmen squad. Burbeck appears able to take care of the other end in good shape, and there are several candidates for the line positions. There is also the possibility that some men now on the varsity squad will be able to play.

The Freshman team is more of a known quantity than the Sophomore aggregation. While it has not shown any great strength in its games thus far it has the advantage of having had regular coaching and practice as a team. This should count much in the numeral game. The team will have a good line with Wilhelm, Staebuer, Myrick, and Salmon, and a versatile backfield with Williams, a hard line plunger, and Bilski and Tewhill who have been consistent gainers on end runs and tackle plays.

The Sophomores are the general favorites around the campus and look to be the strongest team, though the Freshmen will not accede to their claims and are loyally backing up their own team.

CO-EDS OCCUPY ADAMS HALL

At last the patient co-eds are installed in their new quarters. An official moving day was held last Saturday Nov. 6, and now the girls are settled and enjoying the comforts of the Abigail Adams House. This being the first week of the occupancy of the house the girls are being serenaded early in the morning for a period of 15 minutes by the talented Freshmen co-eds. This assures the immediate rising of every girl.

It is rumored that "moving day" was quite an ordeal for all concerned. Lines of girls carrying four or five hats on one arm and various paraphanalia on the other, were seen flitting back and forth from Draper to the "Abbey" all day. Trunks persisted in getting mixed up and everything got in the other "fellows" room. Those paper box carriers would persist in breaking and the path between was strewu with stray articles. However this is probably the only moving day Aggie will see for a long time so cheer up, girls.

VARSITY BASKETBALL CANDIDATES CALLED OUT

Varsity basketball practise was started Monday night in the Drill Hall. Hereafter, on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights candidates will be coached under the direction of Captain Gowdy. The prospects for a successful season are the best in the history of the college with four "M" men back. The schedule will be ready for publication in the near future.

Those reporting for practice are: Captain Gowdy '22, A. Smith '22, Thompson '22, Ball '21, Armstrong '21, Baker '21, McArdle '22, Hooper '22, Randall '22, Hale '23, Alexander '23, Hunter '23. Many basketball players are expected to report at the close of the football season, including Lent '21, Kroeck '22, Roser '22, Lewandowski '22, Marshman '23, Tumey '23, Grayson '23, Beal '23.

The assistant managers this year are Freeman '22 and Walsh '22, while from the Sophomore class Dowden, Folsom, Tisdale, and Hilyard are competing for the assistant managers' position.

Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Hurd attended the bride and bridegroom respectively. Mr. Hurd wants it to be understood that it was a strictly private wedding.

somewhere, is making millions. Statistics show that a man's success or failure is not due to the line of business he pursues, but to his ability or lack of ability. From statistics we also learn that very few of the captains of industry today are sons of bankers or millionaires. Almost without exception they come from the country farmer and the country minister. The reason is clear. In order to get along they have had to develop thrift, that fundamental basis of all success. Pick out the employer and the wage-earners: —the former have saved money systematically, the latter have not.

Mr. Babson compared success to a six-cylinder engine, composed of the five I's, and, most important of all, thrift. All that we have today is due to somebody's thrift at some time. It may, then, be considered as the dividing line between barbarism and civilization.

2. Industry, hard, steady work, is essential to success, and is closely linked up with thrift. But this is of no use unless coupled with

3. Integrity, the brother of civilization, on which its entire structure is founded. Integrity applies alike to nation and individual.

4. Initiative is to success what gasoline is to the engine. Fulton, Edison and other great men succeeded because they saw things before the other fellow did.

5. Intensiveness, or specialization, assures success, just as the harmless sun-rays, focused through a lens, are concentrated to give great heat.

6. Interest, the last cylinder, is one of the most important; for whether a man is a success or failure depends largely upon the amount of interest he takes in his work. It is inseparably bound up with habit, for by continually doing a thing, we understand it better and it becomes more interesting.

How shall we develop these six cylinders of success? Rich, damp soil and plenty of sunshine are necessary to good plant growth of any sort. Good health, in this case, is the damp soil; a person's ambition and his health are very intimately related. Just as a plant needs sunshine, so a person needs religion.

By figures we find that at birth a child lives 100% by instinct.

At 5 oears of age, 95% instinct, 4% religion and 1% intellect.

At college age, 75% instinct, 20% religion and 5% intellect.

Even the ablest men in the country live 60% by instinct, 30% by religion, and only 10% by intellect. We may not control the instinct, and we may not always control the intellect, but the one great factor we can control is the 30% religion, and this we must do if we are to gain lasting success.

'20.—Arthur H. Helder, who was a graduate student in Landscape Gardening last year has taken up landscape work with Ross & Hatch, golf specialists. He has established his office at Amherst.

PREREQUISITES FOR SUCCESS IN THE BUSINESS WORLD

The following article from the New York Times is a verbatum excerpt from an address by Charles M. Schwab to the Princeton student body, and seems very well adapted to reprinting here:

"My idea of a successful life is the man who has successfully accomplished the objects for which he set out: to do something that is worthy of a real American man. Money is not the measure. The thing you want to do is to make up your mind what you are going to drive for and let nothing stand in the way of its ultimate accomplishment.

First of all things is integrity—unimpeachable integrity.

"You can make up your mind to do one of two things; you can have a "good time" or you can have a successful life, but you can't have both. Make your employer feel truthfully that you are sincere with him; that you are going to promote his interests; that you are going to stand for the things that he represents,—loyalty above all.

"It doesn't pay to make enemies.—Concentrate and think upon a problem in mind until you have reached a satisfactory conclusion in your own mind, then go ahead even if you do make a mistake.

"The worst thing that can happen to a man is to start life with influence. He will have to work twice as hard to prove his merits. Don't imagine that because you have a college diploma that you are on a different plane from other men. Boys from universities have got to learn; and they are learning it fast, that men are not men because they are rich or because of high social position or because of influence, men are men because of the true instincts of men. No man can be successful at work, if he doesn't find the work he has to do pleasant. Determination, loyalty, integrity, and stick-to-it-iveness will bring happiness and prosperity to you all."

CAMPUS NOTES

Professor John Phelan's new book, "Readings in Rural Sociology" is being brought out by MacMillan and Co.

The head of the Chemistry Department in consultation with the college architect, J. L. Ritchie, '18 busy drawing plans for a new chemistry laboratory.

A very interesting meeting was held Tuesday evening, Nov. 2nd, in French Hall by the Pomology Club. A talk was given to the club by Dr. Shaw, of the Experiment Station.

The compilment of war service records which the president's office has in preparation will in all probablity be delayed until spring. The book will be a complete record of the wartime activities of Aggie men.

Mandolin Club rehearsals are now being held twice a week in Stockbridge Hall. The club is progressing rapidly and will give a good showing at the first concert which will be held immediately after Thanksgiving in Hadley.

The college has recently obtained possession of the insect collection of the late L. W. Goodell of Pansy Park. The collection will augment that of the Department of Entomology which is already the most complete in the country and probably in the world.

Connecticut has adopted a daylight saving plan of its own. Since the earlier arrival of nightfall, the faculty has voted to run all classes, starting Oct. 28, an hour early, until the Thanksgiving recess. This was done to benefit the football team and interclass activities.

A very successful Wax Tread was held last Friday evening in the Drill Hall. About 200 of the students were present and put forth their best efforts to prepare the floor for the affair to follow the next day. Peppy music was furnished by a nine piece orchestra and dancing was in order from 7-30 to 11-00.

Through the kindness of Colonel Walker, who is granting the use of the horses and furnishing instruction from the Military Department, the Co-eds are enjoying riding lessons as a part of the course in Physical Education. Several of the girls are already expert horsewomen and the entire group is developing fast under their corps of instructors. Needless to say "Fizzie Ed" is now one of the most popular courses on the campus.

The Animal Husbandry Club had an interesting meeting in Stockbridge Hall last Wednesday evening, Nov. 3. J. C. McNutt, former Professor and Head of the Department of Animal Husbandry at M. A. C., spoke on "The Opportunities in Animal Husbandry Associations". Professor Salsbury, present head of the department, gave an interesting talk on the work of the Saddle and Sirloin Club of the Ohio State College of Agriculture. Eighty members of the Club were present. The next meeting will be a business meeting and will be held tonight in the Grinnell Arena.

ALUMNI

The following alumni were seen at the game and informal last Saturday: Bena Erhard '19, Red Cosby '19 and Bob Horne '20.

The M. A. C. club of New York only meets once a year so the following have decided to get together at least once a month for an old fashioned fest and smoke talk: Lyons, Maples, Holloway, Graves, Quadland, Crowe Readio and Oppe '20.

'05.—Fifteen years absence has not made A. Russell Paul lose interest in his Alma Mater. In a recent letter to Professor Barnes he states that he is very much interested in the fine football team that Aggie can boast this year. He has watched its progress and thinks the scores excellent. At Aggie fairs throughout the country he has met a large number of Aggie alumni.

'17.—H. A. Rostrom has full charge of Gardening and Fruit growing at the Norfolk County Agricultural School, Walpole, Mass.

'18.—T. H. Reuman, is connected with the Leominster High School in the Department of Agricultural Education.

'18.—Mr. and Mrs. William Theodore Hoofnagle of Glenridge, N. J., announce the engagement of their daughter Katherine Wooton Hoofnagle to Forrest Sanbury Hance of Paterson, N. J.

'20.—A. A. Clough was on the campus a few days this week.

Some of the alumni who were back for the New Hampshire game were: "Bob" Skinner '20, "Dick" Smith '17, Carl Gurshin '17, Merrill Warner '17, Oliver G. Pratt '18, Marshall Lanphear '18, "Steve" Richardson '18, "Ed" Hazen '14, "Ernie" Russell '16, Charles Moses '16, C. A. Huntington '16, H. Brewer, '14, D. C. Cande '15, Ernest S. Clark '14.

MAROON AND WHITE DUE TO TRIM TUFTS

Aggie Eleven Meets Old Rivals at Medford Saturday.

The final football game of the season Saturday at Medford, with Tufts, promises to be one of the most interesting battles that the two rivals have ever contested. On the face of things Aggie should win. Theoretically the Maroon and White is superior to Tufts. We have the better line and a fast backfield, while Grayson will without doubt measure up to the standard of play that Macchia has given Tufts this year. In fact Macchia seems to be the mainstay of the Tufts team. With the exception of one safety he has scored all of their points this season.

M. A. C. won her first four games by scores of over twenty, to one touchdown. New Hampshire and Springfield defeated the Maroon and White be-

PRES. SPEARE SPEAKS AT WEDNESDAY ASSEMBLY

Gives Interesting Talk on "The Man Who Arrives".

Mr. Frank E. Speare, President of the Northeastern College, of Boston, gave a very instructive talk on "The One Who Arrives," at assembly last Wednesday. His position affords him an opportunity to study young men and their problems, and he told some of the things which he thinks essential for their success.

A great army of men have no opportunity for higher education. Only one man in every hundred is a college graduate, and only ten out of every hundred have even gone to a high school, which means that the majority of citizens of the United States have received a grammar school education. Statistics show that 50% of all the higher positions in life are held by this 1% of college men.

Who is the man that will arrive and be successful? He is a good animal. The modern business man carries five to ten times the load his father did, therefore, he must be a better man physically to win out in the race of life. He has an education. The vocational school is best for the student as he is taught to concentrate on a certain thing. When a man goes out to sell his services to the world, it asks, "What can you do?" and "How well can you do it?" In other words, a college degree means nothing unless the push is behind it. He is a social success. The principle of action and reaction asserts itself strongly. If he is grouchy, everybody is grouchy. If he is courteous, everyone likes him. If he spends

STATISTICS OF THE 1920 AGGIE ELEVEN

Brief Sketches of the Gridiron Wearers of the Maroon and White.

The following brief sketches and statistics of the members of this year's Aggie eleven are of interest as giving the personnel of the team and showing how Coach Gore's warriors shape up this season in gridiron experience and ability.

Poole, Harold W. '21, captain and quarterback, weighs 156. He prepared for college at Hudson High, where he played fullback. He captained and played fullback on the 1919 freshman eleven, the best yearling team ever turned out here. Last year he won his M at fullback, playing all of every game. Shifted to quarter this season, he has been playing a fine game. He

SPRINGFIELD OFFENSE OVERCOMES M. A. C.

Capt. Poole's Eleven Fights Gamely Against Far Heavier Team.

For the first time in five years Aggie went down to defeat before Springfield, Saturday; Coach Berry's men playing fine football and whining 28-7. The total runup of the Red and White was the largest that a Springfield team has run up in many years against her old rivals. M. A. C. has no cause to feel ashamed of the score, for the Maroon and White warriors fought to the last ditch against a team superior in experience and far superior in weight. The story of the game is one of a light, good defence against a heavy, powerful and versatile offense, and the latter won.

Though it was Springfield's day and their game after the first quarter Aggie supporters found much to enthuse over in the play of their eleven, and the M. A. C. rooters, 600 strong banked solidly in the stands along the east side of the field, kept up a peppy line of cheers and chatter until the final whistle. The way the light but game Maroon and White line held at times against the terrific onslaught of Springfield's heavy backs, and not infrequently broke through to nail the runner for a loss: the tackling of the team, Collins' punting, and Lent's long gains and open field running were indeed features of the game. The fleet Aggie left halfback played sterling football throughout both on the defense and on the offense, and tore off several long end runs.

The first half, and more particularly

STATISTICS OF TEAM

is a good line plunger, handles the team well, and this year has completed over 50% of his forward passes and kicked 14 consecutive goals from touchdowns.

Cascio, P. J. '21, the diminutive left end, weighing 134 pounds, hails from Willimatic, Conn., High, playing there two years. He played interclass football and last season subbed at the wing position on the varsity, landing a regular berth this year. He is fast, aggressive and a hard tackler.

DONALD M. LENT '21
Saturday, at Tufts Oval, will be the last chance to see this clever halfback in action.

Cotton, George A. '22, left tackle, weighing 168 pounds, prepped at Woburn High, playing there two years. A back on the 1922 freshman eleven, he was shifted last year as a varsity sub, to tackle. His play at tackle this season has been the very best.

Mohor, Robert D. '23, left guard, 165 pounds. He prepared for college at Newton High, playing football there and being chosen as an all interscholastic guard in 1918. On last year's freshman team he played a great game at right tackle. This season he was shifted to guard and has played with the varsity in all of every game, playing hard, clean football and stopping all comers.

MacIntosh, C. G. '21, center, weighs 167. This is his second year with the varsity, he having won his M at guard and center on the 1919 team. He prepped at Peabody High, playing there two years, and playing center on the 1921 freshman eleven. His work at center has been high grade all of his two seasons and this year he has been frequently mentioned as all New England material.

LaTour, Oliver P. '23, right guard the heaviest man in the line, weighing 174. He played football for three years at Worcester North High, playing center and fullback. He alternated between fullback and tackle on the 1923 yearling team. This year he has been a regular at right guard, playing a great game all through the season.

King, Starr M. '21, right tackle, tips the beam at 173. He graduated from Adams High, playing fullback there two seasons. He played right tackle on the 1920 freshman team, and last year was a regular at the same position on the varsity. He is a tower of strength in the line and a brilliant defense man. He is rated by Bob Dunbar as a possible all New England tackle.

Grayson, Raymond H. '23, right end, weighs 153 pounds, and has been playing a sweet game with Capt. Poole's outfit. Coming to Aggie from Milford High with three years' gridiron experience, he captained the 1923 freshman eleven last season, playing right end. He has easily won a regular position this year. He is fast down under punts, a sure, hard tackler and figures prominently in offensive play.

Tarplin, Allan S. '23, right halfback. He is only 17 years old, weighs 135, and is going like a veteran. He prepared for college at Boston Latin. Last season he was quarter on the freshman team, and has recently broken into varsity circles as a first string back. He is fast and picks holes well.

Lent, Donald M. '21. He plays left halfback and weighs 151. Coming to M. A. C. from Maynard High with no football experience, he has proven to be excellent varsity timber. He played a halfback on the 1920 freshman team, and last season was a substitute halfback on the varsity, winning his M. This fall he has been a fixture at left half. He is a sensational broken field runner and a consistent gainer through the line.

Collins, Herbert L. '22, fullback. He weighs 161. He has been playing regularly on the varsity in this, his first season of football, and putting up a good game. He has developed rapidly as a kicker, his punts averaging over 40 yards in the R. I. game.

Gray, Irving E. '21, substitute end and back, weighing 154. Gray got his first football experience under Kid Gore's tutelage on the 1920 freshman eleven, where he played a halfback position. This is his first season in varsity company. At end in the Springfield game he showed up very well.

Brigham, John D. '21, substitute lineman. He weighs 171, and has been playing a good game in his chances with the first team thus far. He never played football in high school, but makes up for lack of experience in aggressiveness and drive.

Sargent, R. H. '23, substitute back, weighs 156. He played football at Thornton Academy, Buxton, Me., before entering M. A. C. Last season he played a fine game at fullback for the 1923 outfit. He has been playing varsity right half more or less regularly this season, and has shown up well as an open field runner.

STARR M. KING '21
Husky veteran lineman, who dons Aggie togs against Tufts for his last game.

Freeman, S. L. '22, 156 pounds in weight. Substitute center. He played his first football with Team C, and the Sophomore class team last year, playing end on the latter. He has developed fast this fall and has been used by Coach Gore in part of nearly every game.

Davenport, Frank C. '21, substitute lineman. Weighs 155 pounds. He came from Dorchester High without much gridiron experience and has developed into an aggressive lineman, playing a great game at right guard against Springfield Saturday. An injured hand has undoubtedly prevented his further use so far this season.

Clark, C. F. '22, substitute quarter. Clark prepped at Amherst High school, but never played football before last season, when he was Team C and Sophomore class eleven quarter. He has not had much opportunity as a regular, but he has developed fast and should be heard from next season.

C. G. MACKINTOSH '21
Clever center, who will conclude two great seasons on Saturday.

Marshman, W. F. '23, Substitute back. Prepared for college at Springfield Technical High school, but never played football before this season. He is a regular back on team B and is coming along nicely. He weighs 148 pounds.

Mansell, Elton J. '21, left end. Weighs 148 pounds. He entered Aggie from Arlington High, playing end there two years. He played end on the 1919 freshman eleven, and won his M on the varsity last season at the same position. He is unusually fast, and figured prominently last season in the forward passing game, scoring the first touchdown against Tufts in this manner. His defensive work at the wing position was A-1 all the season. A broken hand in the first scrimmage of the year, and later a broken arm, have combined to put him out for the season.

Acheson, Roger M. '22, left end, weighs 148. Prepped at New Bedford High, playing end there two years. Last year he played end on the Sophomore eleven. Alternated with Mansell at left end at the start of the season, he was showing up well until a dislocated knee sustained in the Vermont game put him out for the remainder of the season.

Tumey, Malcolmb E. '23, substitute fullback. The heaviest of the backfield material, scaling 168. He is an Old Deerfield Academy star, playing halfback there. He played on his Freshman eleven, and has been used frequently at fullback on the Varsity this season. He is a good punter, and possesses a lot of driving power as a line plunger.

McCarthy, J. J. '21, substitute end. 151 lbs. He has shown up very well in this, his first, season of football. He prepared for college at Arlington High, but played no football there.

Gould, Robert M. '21, substitute lineman, 160 pounds. He came to Aggie from Arms Academy, but did not play football there. He played interclass football his Freshman year, and subbed at guard on the Varsity last season. He has substituted at guard and tackle this season.

Waite, Richard '21, 149 pounds, substitute lineman. An Old Deerfield Academy lineman who has played football at M. A. C. for four years, being used as a substitute this season.

Long, Albert D. '21, substitute back, weighing 150 pounds. Prepared for college at Chicopee High School where he played tackle. He was shifted to back by Coach Gore, and has put up a good game in this position.

SPRINGFIELD GAME

the second quarter, was the disastrous one for M. A. C. After a neatly executed forward pass has scored the touchdown that evened up the score at 7-7 the M. A. C. defense was penetrated twice during the second period for touchdowns; one being the result of a long forward and the other coming from straight rushes. During the second half Coach Berry's team scored but once, this during the closing minutes of the last quarter, the Red and White being aided by a Massachusetts penalty that brought the ball to the Aggie one-yard line.

The game by periods:

King kicked off to Springfield and in a few short minutes, aided by a forward and several five and ten yard gains, the White team scored its first touchdown. The goal was kicked. King kicked again and inside of five minutes two rushes by Lent, several short gains and two fine forward passes tied the score at seven all. Grayson scored and Poole kicked the goal. The ball was in Springfield's possession the rest of the period.

The second quarter spelled disaster for Aggie. Springfield was held for downs. Collins punted on the second play. Cammack and Watters each gained about 20 yards. Six plays through the line put Redshaw over for the second score. The goal was kicked. King kicked again. Springfield gained but seven yards in three downs, but on the fourth play Cammack tore off 30 yards off tackle. Grayson finally tackled him. After seven line plays had barely made 15 yards a forward pass to Watters scored seven more points.

The third period was scoreless. Springfield made very few good gains. While Lent, Poole, and Sargent gained more than at any other time during the game. Lent's run of 35 yards was the most pleasing feature of the game to the Aggie supporters.

Springfield had possession of the ball beginning the fourth quarter. They pumbled and King fell on the ball. After three unsuccessful attempts to gain through the line Poole threw a forward which was intercepted and ran back 27 yards. For the next few minutes Cammack and Lent ran compet-

On To Tufts.

The last game of the season looms up in the near future as a game where the slate will be cleaned of the marks of the last three games. Tufts has always been, along with Springfield, the game of the season. Last year the Tufts aggregation was defeated on Alumni Field for the first time since that field was made. It was a game well fought and won. This year the contest takes place at Tufts. The Tufts team will be on their home grounds. It means that the support of the entire student body will be needed. Let us repeat the Vermont game at Tufts as a fitting termination of the season!

LET'S KEEP THE OLD BELL SACRED

An incident due mainly to ignorance perhaps of campus traditions on the part of the Two-year men occurred Friday after the Two-year team had defeated the Connecticut State College seconds. No doubt the Two-year men appreciated the victory gained by their pigskin chasers and this state of exhuberance perhaps stimulated them to ring the bell. However, the Freshmen also appreciated the stellar game exhibited by their team, but they did not give vent to their feelings by ringing the bell. Why? Because they knew that the bell is supposed to be used only on an occasion of a great victory by the varsity teams. The bell was not made to peal out the strains of victory of half a dozen teams which do not represent the college as a unit.

The Freshman varsity does not represent the college, neither does the Two-year varsity, so let us remember and keep the traditions of the old bell sacred by ringing it only in event of a great victory by the team which is a true representative of M. A. C.

OUTLINE OF M. A. C. COACHING SYSTEM

Staff Consists of Advisory Board and Head Coach.

To the 1920 coaching staff belongs much of the credit for the sucess of the M. A. C. team this season. Starting on Sept. 20 with a nucleus of five letter men, they had to build up a team around these veterans. One of these "M" men was injured at the start of the season, and forced to leave the squad, so that only four veterans have been on hand for a majority of the eight weeks of practice. This has meant the building of a practically new line, and the rearrangement of the backfield, a sufficient task for any coaching staff in a single season. Though, to a majority of the alumni and to some undergraduates, it may seem like a season of mediocre success, too much cannot be said in commendation of the coaches when one stops to consider that a majority of the material reporting each season is without any previous football experience, making it necessary for the mentors to build from the ground up. Interscholastic and prep school stars but rarely matriculate at "Old Aggie", eligibility rules are stiff, all of which makes the work of the football personnel of the Physical Education Department more difficult and praise more due them, especially in a season of ups and downs as this has been.

The coaching staff this season, consisted of five members: H. M. Gore '13, head coach; Victor A. Rice, backfield coach; R. P. Holmes '20, line coach; E. E. Grayson '17, end coach; and B. F. Jakeman '20, coach of the kickers, and Freshman coach. Each of these has attended to perfecting the work in his own department of the game, and all have cooperated in unifying the work of the team.

"Kid" Gore '13, head coach and old Aggie quarter, has been on hand all season with the old time pep, supervising the coaching of the staff, and having charge of the practice.

Victor A. Rice, backfield coach, is one of the new acquisitions to the coaching staff this year. He is a graduate of North Carolina State College, being varsity quarterback there, and captain of the eleven in 1914. Under his captaincy, North Carolina had one of their best teams, culminating their season with a victory over the Army. He has added to the coaching staff a wealth of football knowledge and has worked untiringly for the success of Capt. Poole's team, giving careful attention to the backfield men.

R. P. Holmes '20, varsity tackle for three years, has handled the coaching of the line. At the start of the season, he faced the problem of having only two veteran linemen, center and right tackle, so that he has had to build up the left side of the line from new material entirely. Coupled with this is the fact that most of the candidates were comparatively light. That he has been successful, is shown in the defensive power apparent in the line.

E. E. Grayson '17, has coached the ends, developing two class AA regulars, and a number of speedy subwing men.

B. F. (Jake) Jakeman '20, has spent consilderable time with the kickers. He seemes to be developing a coming punter in Collins, while several backs on teams B and C are coming along rapidly under his training.

This loyal corps of five, have given of their best during the past season to put Aggie football on the map, and though encountering several difficulties, they have succeeded in whipping together a real eleven, which, win or lose, has played hard, clean football, often against teams far heavier.

WEDNESDAY ASSEMBLY

money, he will not have it. In fact, the business man of to-day must be a good mixer, for business is built on friendship. He is an economic success. Over 90% of our businessmen fail because they are not thrifty. The safest and surest way of saving is to take out a life insurance policy at an early age along with a few shares in a co-operative bank. He is a good citizen. Ordinarially, the American must be pushed to the polls, while the foreigner rules politics. Graft is great in most public offices and efficiency is almost an unheard of thing. He has a high moral sense. Truthfulness is a prime requisite to credit and credit is the structure of business, for there is no place for the man who fails to keep engagements and neglects to pay his bills. Finally, he is religious. The main thing that stands between us and barbarism is religion. The selfish materialistic man will not succeed.

Last Monday evening, Nov. 8, an informal meeting was held by the ex-'19 men at Aggie in the Phi Sigma Kappa House. Various plans were talked over and discussed. About 15 were present.

The Margin of Safety

The need of a "margin of safety" is not confined to the building of bridges or sky scrapers.

Milk and milk products need the "safety margin" which efficient and dependable cleanliness provides.

The growing use by the dairy industry of

SIDELIGHTS ON THE GAME

Six co-eds staged another peppy stunt Saturday when they walked to Springfield.

Too much cannot be said of the around playing of Lent. The fleet Aggie halfback was here, there, and everywhere. In fact, Springfield completely lost track of him at times. His defensive work was only a shade behind his remarkable offensive play, and his long runs were one of the features of the game. He may be small—but oh my!

The Sunday Union very generously gives us credit for having three football players on our eleven. We didn't see any of the maroon jerseyed players, either regular or sub, who wasn't playing the game of his life, and moreover, their playing was often times as good as Springfield flashed.

Collins' punts were all long, straight down-the-field spirals that carried high and far. They averaged forty yards. His punting speaks well for "Jakes's" coaching, and in another year he should rank well up with the best intercollegiate booters.

Cammack and Civiletto did the most brilliant work for Springfield; the former with his wide end runs, and the latter with his line plunging. In fact, the Western Reserve star was the only back who gained consistently through the Massachusetts line. Cammack certainly could tear in a broken field.

Between the halves, Springfield students staged a mock-football game, with the "farmer's" and "physical directors" as opponents. A pumpkin was used for the ball, and the scrimmage was fast and furious until the Aggie Cow was shot and slain. A funeral procession was then formed, and the corpse of the poor bovine, kicking sadly, was removed from the field on a stretcher.

After this exhibition, a group of M. A. C. men, clad in physical education regalia, staged an act entitled "S. T. S. Traveling Circus." Lewandowski '22, was the strong man, but he failed to budge the 500 pound (feather weight) dumbbell, which a bottle of "booch" enabled the "living skeleton," Smith '22, to raise with ease.

Both acts received prolonged applause, and were means of merrily passing the time between the halves.

We had plenty of seats reserved for us this fall, in marked contrast with last year. Perhaps this was because the Aggie cheering section was well filled at two o'clock.

On Main Street, after the game was over, one cute little thing was heard to remark, "Aggie must have won; I heard them cheering down by the Bridgway." It is hard for some people to understand how we can always look at the bright side.

It is well that the Springfield trolleymen do not have an Aggie parade to contend with every day in the week. State Street traffic was well nigh paralyzed for a few minutes, as the conductors were busy climbing back and fourth adjusting their trolleys. Many of them took it good-naturedly, but for those who did not—woe be it unto them.

The Court Square audience knew that Aggie was there, and there strong Saturday night. The crowd gave a demonstration of the king of singing which we encourage here, mixed in with some good snappy Aggie cheers, which brought down the house.

There was no question about Aggie's touchdown; it was clear-cut and well-earned. Poole, standing well behind the line, shot the ball like a bullet directly into the arms of Dane Grayson who was running behind the goal line; not a man was in his vicinity at the time. "Cap." then added one more to his 100% record of goals kicked this season, this making his fourteenth goal.

The class in agricultural education 50 is making a series of memory tests with a view to determining the law of economical learning.

TUFTS GAME SATURDAY

cause of their heavier lines; and Rhode Island was very fortunate in holding the Aggie team to a tie. Tufts has lost all but two games while her opponents have piled up 171 points. She has defeated Norwich and Bowdoin and lost to several strong teams including West Point and Boston College. Although Dartmouth defeated Tufts only 34-7, this is no indication that Tufts is a stronger team than others that have played the Green team for the team from Hanover was composed almost entirely of subs. Tufts only score was a long run by the fleetfooted Macchia.

Tufts has played a defensive game this year. So has Aggie; with a better line M. A. C. should soon tire the Tufts defense and open holes for the backfield attack. Capt. Keefe at fullback and Martin at halfback are two good men for line plunges but it is certain they will meet their match when they hit the Aggie line. LeCain at quarter is a good general but not as consistent a man as Capt. Poole of the Aggies. Poole's generalship is the games this season has been of the best and in the Vermont game, especially, was he at his best. Vermont defeated Tufts 7-0 and Aggie defeated Vermont 21-7.

Last year Aggie defeated Tufts 14-0. Tufts had a team that had beaten Detroit 7-3. Now this year Detroit, with a stronger team to be sure, defeated Tufts 65-2. Tufts has been outweighed by nearly all her opponents. The loss of such men as MacMamara, to Detroit has weakened the team this year. Macchia and Keefe have been injured but will be able to play Saturday.

The showing of the Aggie team against Springfield leaves no doubt in the minds of Aggie supporters but what Tufts will receive a bad beating. The line is going especially well now. Grayson and Cascio are playing the best games of the careers at ends: and with a few drills this week in fundamentals and interference the backfield will be at top notch form.

Coach Gore has a large string of substitutes, some 14 of which are going to Medford. Lent's remarkable ability to run in an open field, and Collins' punting are again factors which will play a large part in bringing an Aggie victory. Mohor, King, Macklntosh, and Cotton, with Lent and Poole, spell DEFEAT for Tufts.

ALUMNI FOOTBALL COMMITTEE PERSONNEL

Four Former Aggie Grid Stars Have Acted in Advisory Capacity This Season.

An attempt to put Aggie football on the same basis, as regards supervision, as at the leading American colleges, has been the selection of an Alumni Advisory Football Committee for the 1920 season. This committee chosen just previous to the beginning of the season consists of four members: H. W. Brewer '14, S. A. Dole '15, G. B. Palmer '16, and E. E. Grayson '17, all of whom are former Aggie gridiron stars, and thoroughly familiar with M. A C. football. A brief sketch will serve to indicate the reasons for their selection as members of the committee.

H. W. (Mike) Brewer '14 made the varsity football team his Freshman year, and played four years at left half back. He captained the varsity in 1914, and during his four years on the team played brilliant football.

S. A. (Dolly) Dole '15, stands in Aggie football as probably the greatest center who ever wore the Maroon and White. He played varsity football at M. A. C. for three seasons, establishing an enviable reputation as a hard, clean-playing, clever lineman. From time to time in past seasons he has assisted in coaching the centers, lending valuable aid to the coaching staff.

George B. (Brad) Palmer '16, is well known to M. A. C. alumni and undergraduates as quarter on the 1915 eleven which held Harvard 0-7, tied Tufts and beat Springfield. "Brad" was assistant varsity coach in 1916 and again in 1919. While in the service he captained the Camp Devens service team. As assistant coach he worked mostly with the backs and kickers, with great success. This season he has assisted the coaching staff, giving instruction to the kickers when he was back on the campus for a few days.

Emory E. (Em) Grayson '17 needs no introduction even to the present generation of Aggie men. He played end on the victorious 1915 eleven and captained the team in 1916, playing exceptional football. Last season and this he has served as assistant coach, working with the ends.

Keep Heavier Opponents in Check Throughout.

The Freshman team staged somewhat of a surprise for the strong Deerfield Academy eleven in their game on Friday, Nov. 12, with a tie score, 0-0. Coach Boyden of Deerfield was confident of giving 1924 a bad whipping. His team is much heavier and has been putting up a good game, having won from Holyoke High and Springfield Central High by large scores.

The playing of both teams was hard and fast throughout the game. The Deerfield lads were held in check, so that not once did they gain entrance to Aggie's 20-yard zone. On the other hand, 1924 were twice within scoring distance, but owing to fumbles could not cross the line.

Despite their heavy line, Deerfield could not seem to penetrate the Freshman defence. Myrick and Nelson put up a fine exhibition of football at the guard positions, in helping hold back the Deerfield line. Tewhill, 1924 left half halfback. was one of the most consistent ground gainers for his team. Staebner at right end broke up several of Deerfield's end runs, while Wilhelm at center showed good headwork in detecting his opponents' plays. For Deerfield, Mackay played a fine game at right tackle.

Salmon, Freshman left tackle, kicked off to Deerfield, who lost the ball on downs. Then 1924 started off with a good gain, but on the next play fumbled the ball, losing it to Deerfield again. Butterfield, Prexy's son, playing quarterback for Deerfield, tore off some long end runs during the first part of the game, but the Frosh put a stop to this before long.

The gradual introduction of garden work into the grammar grades has been progressing for several years past. TWO YEAR TEAM SLAUGHTERS C. A. C. SECONDS

M. A. C. Team Superior in All Departments. Pickard Stars.

In their first appearance on Alumni Field this season the Aggie Two-year Football team tramped roughshod over the Connecticut Aggie Seconds last Friday afternoon rolling up a total of 53 points before the final whistle blew. Their own goal was never in danger.

The Connecticut eleven was completely outclassed in every department, though in fairness to them it may be said that they were not at their best, playing so soon after a cold ride from Storrs.

Following the kickoff by Connecticut the Aggie team started a rush down the field which culminated shortly in a touchdown by Pickard. The offense of "Em" Gayson's charges literally swept Connecticut off her feet and gained ground almost at will, scoring two touchdowns in each quarter and only being held for downs once in the entire game. Pickard was the particular star for the two year men and his numerous long runs were the feature of the game. He was responsible for six of the eight touchdowns scored by his team. The other two were made, one by Wiggin and the other by Keating on a forward pass from Pickard.

On the defense the line of the M. A. C. team was impenetrable and Connecticut could do little when she obtained the ball. Only three times during the game did she make first down and one of these was the result of a penalty.

The strong wind not only drove off all but the hardiest spectators before the end of the first half, but it also hindered in kicking off and kicking goals. It prevented either team from resorting to a punting game. The lineup:

M. A. C. TEAM PLACES SEVENTH AT N. E. I. C. C.

Captain Slate's Harriers Finish Further Up Than Was At First Thought.

The cross-country team did not place as well in the New England Intercollegiate Cross Country at Franklin Park as was expected, taking seventh place among the twelve teams represented. However, it will be of interest to those who read the score in the papers to learn that the M. A. C. team actually captured seventh place instead of the eleventh place which was officially allowed it. Due to the confusion of preparing to leave the grounds, the Aggie manager accepted the official allotment of eleventh position, and it was not discovered until the next morning that MacCready's finish had not been noted at all in the official scoring. Manager Gilbert will enter a protest to the Intercollegiate management.

The M. A. C. team, including Capt. Slate, Woodworth, MacCready, Rollins, West, Evers, Irish, Manager Gilbert, and Coach Dickinson left for Boston Friday morning, walked over the Franklin Park course Friday afternoon, and ran at 10:30 Saturday morning. The course covered practically the same ground as in previous years. Our team got a good start, Rollins leading the field of eighty men at the start. The pace soon became too fast and the Aggie men dropped from the lead, although MacCready was fourth at the two mile mark. The Aggie men placed as follows: Slate, 23rd; MacCready, 28th; Woodworth, 31st; Rollins, 56th; West, 59th, making our actual score, 197. For some reason, the officials failed to count in MacCready at all, Evers who was 67th man according to their count being scored with the team, making our score officially 233.

MacCready, despite a bad foot ran a fine race from start to finish. Several surprises occurred in the running. Leach of New Hampshire whom many were looking to to win individual honors, came in after three Aggie men had finished. Captain Slate was beaten by two Worcester Tech men and two New Hampshire men whom he had beaten easily in the meets with those two colleges. The insertion of MacCready's name would change the entire scoring, bringing the order as follows:

1.	M. I. T.,	59
2.	Bates,	82
3.	Maine,	97
4.	Wesleyan,	110
5.	Williams,	139
6.	New Hampshire,	152
7.	Massachusetts Aggie,	197
8.	Colby,	200
9.	Worcester Poly.,	207

CHARLES L. STELZLE TO BE HERE DECEMBER 5

Prominent Labor Reformer Will Speak in Sunday Chapel.

At the Sunday Chapel exercises, Dec. 5, there will be a speaker of exceptional ability, and one whom everyone should make it a point to hear. Charles Stelzle of New York, expert in surveys, publicity and industrial problems. Mr. Stelzle is widely known for his influence among the workingmen. He was himself closely associated with New York tenement conditions, where for 20 years he faced the problems confronting the city workingman. He was intensely interested in the welfare of his associates and took active part in the conventions of the American Federation of Labor. He organized and conducted the famous Labor Temple in the most congested district of the lower eastside of New York. During the winter of 1914-1915, when New York was in the throes of its most serious unemployment problem. Mr. Stelzle was an executive on Mayor Mitchel's committee on unemployment—and for months he spent his nights in breadlines and in lodging houses, in labor halls and open forums, discussing the labor situation and putting up constructive plans to meet their needs. He has arbitrated for five years important labor disputes in the daily newspaper offices in New York and his absolute fairness always won both the bosses and the men. Mr. Stelzle has studied the labor question in nearly every industrial center in this country and in Europe, also making important surveys of how workingmen spend their spare time and of the economic aspects of the liquor problem.

class: Haslam '21, Law '22, Friend '23, Barrows '24 and Bliss 2-year. Miss Bruce has charge of the co-eds.

In the colleges, this drive started Nov. 11, and will end Nov. 17, although it lasts another week in the country as a whole. The New England colleges are competing for the highest per cent membership, and the winning institution will receive a large banner from the Red Cross.

On Nov. 14, M. A. C. was eleventh among the N. E. colleges, with subscriptions coming in at a good rate. The drive ends tonight, Nov. 17, at 10 o'clock, and all subscriptions must be in at that time.

The drive is the fourth annual roll call, and its purpose is to get money to carry on the work for next year. The bulletin entitled, "Red Cross Facts for College Men," enumerates the activities of the organization at present. "Today the Red Cross is serving 17,000 men and officers of the U. S. army in Germany. Today there are 26,414 men in the army, navy and public health hospitals receiving Red Cross ministrations. Today every man who is blinded or partially blinded in the service of the U. S. is able to receive treatment and instruction at the Red Cross Institute for the blind at Baltimore." The organization is also fighting foreign plagues, furnishing social service for army and navy men, aiding stricken communities, combating avoidable accidents, and keeping in touch with 800,000 families of returned service men.

The Red Cross is confident that those whom it helped once will not forget it now, and that others, who are not so familiar with its useful service, will fall in line and subscribe for membership now.

MUSICAL CLUBS TO MAKE INITIAL APPEARANCE DEC. 10

Annual Hadley Concert Will Open Season.

The Musical Clubs are speedily rounding into shape for the concert which will take place Friday, Dec. 10, at the Hadley Town Hall. The clubs are of the first quality this year, being the best that Aggie has turned out for some time.

The Glee Club, with Harlan Worthley '20 as coach, has shown great improvement in the past few weeks and is in concert shape at the present time. However the remaining rehearsals will be of value in working up the fine points. Howard Goff, the leader, has selected some excellent music which includes humorous as well as the more classical songs.

The Mandolin Club under the guidance of Prof. Katzenbach of Amherst College is also showing good form in spite of numerous difficulties, one of which is the lack of co-operation of the upper-classmen. Freshmen, who compose a large proportion of the Club, will not be allowed to make the Hadley trip, but will be eligible for the Boston concerts. The popular airs and marches are being played in a very acceptable manner and by Friday night should be in first-class condition. A dress rehearsal will be held in Stockbridge Hall, Thursday night, at which time the combined clubs will run through the entire program.

Manager Howard has not been able to arrange a complete schedule as yet, but, beside the Hadley concert, there will be one at Stowe, Dec. 29; Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, Jan. 1; Greenfield, Feb. 3; and Amherst Town hall, Feb. 15. Other concerts will be announced later. It is noticable that the concert dates are grouped more closely than usual, thereby removing the difficulties of a long-drawn-out season, and insuring a successful one of short duration.

GEORGE A. COTTON '22 ELECTED FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Interesting Talks Add to Football Banquet.

The annual football banquet to the coaches, players, and advisors of the M. A. C. squad was held in Draper Hall last week, Tuesday, at eight o'clock in the evening.

Lorenzo Fuller, manager of the team, acted as toastmaster. His ready wit and humor made him an ideal official in this position. After the banquet, which was served by Miss Diether, Capt. Harold Poole of Hudson was called on for a talk. He took but a few minutes with a digest of the past season and its lessons.

At the conclusion of Poole's talk, the ballots for the election of next year's captain were passed out. George Asa Cotton of Woburn, left tackle, was elected, and responded with a short talk pertaining to the 1921 season. Pres. Butterfield of the college next gave a few interesting words on the educational value of football.

Dean Lewis was present with his usual optomistic words to the men. His speech on the success of the season compared with other years contained the eternal Aggie motto that the "right spirit ensures success in the long run."

Dr. Lentz followed the Dean's talk with the impression he had gained by the season's showing. Each Senior on the team was called on for a few minutes talk. The evening closed with the singing of the college song. Every man was present, including the following Seniors who will not be back next year: Harold Poole, Donald Lent, Elton Mansell, Peter Cascio, Charles Mackintosh, Starr King, Irving Gray, Justin McCarthy, Albert Long, Robert Gould, Richard Waite, and John Brigham.

George Asa Cotton '22 of Woburn, graduated from Woburn High School in 1918, and entered M. A. C. the following fall. He played consistent ball as fullback on the Freshman team in 1918, and the next year made a substitute berth on the varsity. His opportunity to make good came this year, and he certainly took advantage of the chance. With King, he helped make a pair of the strongest tackles Aggie has had. His playing is always consistent, and with his experience, he should make an ideal leader for the next fall.

Beside his football work, Cotton has sung for two years on the Glee Club, has held several class offices, and was a member of the six-man rope pull. He belongs to the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

The 1920 football season was a success. Everyone who saw the team play, who saw the spirit the men showed will agree that Captain Poole's eleven finished a very satisfactory season when they

Final Standing Shows Us 60 Per Cent Subscribed.

The final result of the Red Cross drive for 1921 memberships among the New England colleges finds M. A. C. in fourth place. The Red Cross Honor Flag for the men's colleges went to Williams, while Wellesley and Wheaton of the girls' colleges tied for first place, each having 100% membership. The New England Division Manager has voiced his appreciation of the excellent manner in which M. A. C. students have contributed to the fund. These men are: Lorenzo Fuller, manager; Harold Poole, captain; George Cotton '22, captain elect; Elton Mansell, Justin McCarthy, Peter Cascio, Irving Gray, Starr King, Charles Mackintosh, Donald Lent, Robert Gould, Albert Long, Richard Waite, Frank Davenport, all Seniors; Herbert Collins and Stanley Freeman, Juniors; Robert Mohor, Oliver Latour, Raymond Grayson and Richmond Sargeant, Sophomores.

AGGIE ELEVEN ENDS WITH BRILLIANT 21-0 VICTORY

Captain Poole's Team, Fighting All the Way, Downs Old Rivals at Medford.

For the second time in as many seasons the Massachusetts Aggies achieved one of the goals of their season by defeating Tufts at Medford on Nov. 20. The 1920 team went last year's eleven one better, and scored three touchdowns to the two registered against the Brown and Blue last fall, making the score 21-0. Coach Parke's protegees, after a season of reverses, came down to the Massachusetts game determined to, and confident of, holding the speedy Aggie offence in check and winning by a small margin. The Aggie fighting spirit, stimulated by the reverse of the week before at Springfield, was not to be downed, and was an important factor in carrying the Aggies through to a clean cut win. Tufts' best men, saved from the Boston College and Detroit games, plus their best team play of the season, counted for little against the Maroon and White onslaught.

The game itself was an exhibition of good football by both teams, and a closer battle than the score indicates, with Massachusetts leading by a single touchdown until the latter part of the fourth period, when they added two more in rapid succession. Aggie had the edge over her rivals in all departments of the game, with a noticeable superiority in ability to run the ends, forward pass, and kick, and it was these three factors that contributed most to the victory. End runs paved the way for the first touchdown, a wide skirting of one of the wings scored the other, and the third came on a forward pass. Collins' kicking, gaining ground consistently, kept M. A. C. in a threatening position for most of the game.

The play in detail:

First Quarter.

Killam ran King's kickoff back to Tufts' 35-yard line where the ball was put in play. Holding, on the first play, cost the Brown and Blue team 15 yards so an attempted end run lost three more, and they were forced to kick. Aggie followed suit almost immediately, and an exchange of punts took up the first part of the period. Following a 10-yard run of Lindell's punt, by Sargent, the Aggie backfield, starting on their 35-yard line, launched a drive that carried the pigskin over Tufts' goal line in nine plays for the first score. A 15-yard penalty on the first play set us back to the 20-yard line. Then Sargent skirted Macchia's end to a clear field, racing 50 yards before he was brought down by Macchia on Tufts' 30-yard line. A forward pass went incomplete. Lent slid off right tackle for eight yards, and Sargent, through left tackle, made it first down. Lent reeled off 12 yards around right end, making first down again, this time with only six yards to the goal line. Sargent got a yard through left tackle. Lent added four more around right end, and "Cap" smashed through center for a touchdown. He kicked the goal. Score—M. A. C. 7, Tufts 0. An exchange of kicks ended the period, with Tufts in possession of the ball at the close, on their 22-yard line.

Second Quarter.

Starting the second period Tufts pushed the ball to their 35-yard line, where Lindell fumbled and King recovered for Aggie. The Tufts line held. Neither team seemed able to penetrate the other's line at this junction of the game, and the quarter settled down into a punting duel. Collins' boots, giving Aggie the advantage, had forced the Medford team to accept the offensive at their own 15-yard line as the period ended.

Third Quarter.

Punts were exchanged, starting the second half. At the middle of the period the Aggie eleven started a drive that netted 44-yards before a penalty on their third down forced Collins to punt. M. A. C. had come into possession of the ball on their 36-yard line. Sargent went around left end for five yards. Collins picked up four more through right guard. Lent added two more through right guard and then Poole was held for no gain. On the next play he banged through left guard and dashed to Tufts' 22-yard line, a 32-yard gain. Lent skirted right end for six yards, Sargent slid off tackle for one, and then a 15-yard penalty on the next play necessitated kicking. Captain Keefe's eleven gained but nine yards in four downs, and the Maroon and White took the ball. They rushed it to Tufts' 20 yard line; Lent went through tackle for nine yards, and Sargent made first down through the same position left. Lent was sent around right end for a one-yard gain, but the Tufts line held against the plunging halfback on the next play. A Tufts five-yard penalty for offside gave M. A. C. first down on Tufts' four-yard line. Lent banged through right tackle for a yard and Poole got a yard through center. The quarter ended here.

Fourth Quarter.

It was fourth down with two yards to the Tufts goal line as the last period opened. The opposing line stopped Lent on his plunge through right tackle, a bare yard from the coveted mark, and Lindell punted. Sargent brought his kick back to Tufts' 30-yard line, and Aggie pushed across for a touchdown in five plays, as follows: Poole hit center for three yards. The Aggie quarter "foxed" the Tufts defense, who had been covering the ends for forward passes, by shooting a pretty forward to Lent for a 14-yard gain. Then "Don" gained a yard through right guard, bringing the ball to Tufts' 10-yard line.

From here Sargent went around left end for a touchdown. Poole kicked the goal. Score—M. A. C. 14, Tufts 0. Kicks were again exchanged until the middle of the period, when Aggie scored thd third touchdown by the prettiest play of the game in a piece of aerial work that was well nigh perfect. Poole, standing just behind Tufts' 40-yard line, shot a long forward to Gray, racing toward the goal line far down the field. He turned and gathered the ball in over his shoulder while evading two tacklers and dashed over the goal line for the third touchdown. Poole kicked the goal, his 18th consecutive for a season percentage of 1000. Score—M. A. C. 21, Tufts 0. Tufts, after making a first down, was held, and forced to kick. The Aggie backfield pushed the ball from their 38-yard line to the Medfield eleven's 28-yard mark, Lent ripping off 12 yards around right end, and Collins plugging left guard for 12. The game ended here with Massachusetts on the offensive on Tufts' 28-yard line.

The play of the entire Aggie eleven was superb, with Poole showing excellent judgment at quarter, and Sargent and Lent's long gains featuring the offense. King played his usual stellar defensive game at right tackle. Macchia excelled for Tufts.

SIDELIGHTS ON THE GAME

During the entire game M. A. C. did not take time out once. This speaks for itself concerning the condition of the men.

From a local sporting page "If the individual football records of eastern colleges included Massachusetts "Aggies" then Harold Poole, captain and quarterback at M. A. C. would rank with the first half dozen. Poole scored 65 points for the Aggie during the past fall, making eight touchdowns and booting 17 goals from touchdowns. In this department he had a perfect percentage. Poole didn't miss a minute of any game, was a fine field general and made all the forward passes for his team, of which more than 50 per cent. were completed."

How that man Macchia could travel! The speedy Tufts right end nipped a seemingly sure touchdown on at least two different occasions.

Aggie played a wonderful defensive game as shown by the fact that Tufts at no time during the entire game had possession of the ball within our 40 yard line.

"Sonny" Mansell, playing for the first time since he broke his arm in the Bates game, deserves special credit for the brand of football he flashed at his old position after a six weeks layoff and with no practice previous to the game.

The playing of LaTour and Mohor at the guard positions was reminiscent of the game that that famous 1915 guard combination of Jordan and Dunn used to play. And "Babe" got off a sick-bed to get into togs.

For individual defense and offense play Lent was almost in a class by himself, and showed some of the reasons for his later All New England status.

One of the most interested spectators at the game was the father of the late "Ras" Pond, who sat on the bench all afternoon.

Mackintosh, King and Poole certainly passed out of intercollegiate football in a blaze of glory. Cotton, at the other tackle position wasn't far behind Starr in defensive play.

Collins flashed a wicked right toe and gave the ball some long rides.

That forward pass, both on passing and receiving, was timed to perfection. Gray had a faculty of being "Jonny-on-the-spot" all afternoon, and played a cooking good game.

It mattered little to the Aggies whether Tufts was playing its strongest combination, including Macchia, Keefe, Martin and LeCain. They were out to win and they came through with a bang, against stiff opposition.

To Team C and the Seniors of the squad not regulars, Davenport, Brigham, Waite, Long, McCarthy and Gould, must go a lot of credit for their work this season. Some one has said that a team is as good as the subs make it, and tho these men haven't been in the limelight they have more than held up their end.

STOCK JUDGING TEAM MEETS STIFF OPPOSITION

M. A. C. sent a team to the International Stock Judging contest held recently at Chicago. All classes of live stock were there judged. The Middle West swept everthing before them in this contest, and Aggie had to be content with 20th place among 21 competing teams. Syracuse was the only Eastern college ahead of M. A. C., and it was only 19th. Three Canadian teams participated, and were 11th, 12th, and 13th in the standing. Aggie was the most easterly team present, and New Mexico the most westerly. The Western teams showed the result of continuous work in judging, and were unbearable as a result. In many of these colleges, almost the entire first term is spent in making judging trips, the degrees in animal husbandry are given.

Commenting further on the choice of these mythical all-star outfits the Union says: Starr King of M. A. C. stood out as one of the best tackles in the small college lists. He was easily the support of the Aggie's line." King was chosen as a member of the first team with three Dartmouth players, two from Brown, two from Boston College and one representative each from Holy Cross, Springfield and Wesleyan.

The Springfield Republican, which picked King for the same position on its all-western New England eleven, with Grayson right end, and Poole right halfback on the second string selection, has this to say concerning the work of these this season: "A second eleven made up of men nearly as good as those picked for the first team, and in some cases quite as good, might be made up, with Grayson of the Aggie's end and Poole of the Aggie's halfback, a crack at both running and forward passing.

The announcing of these three selections among New Englang colleges exclusive of Harvard and Yale and All-America selections, serve to give Aggie football stock a big boost. All season long their work has been way above the average, and their selection does not come as a surprise to many. That individual M. A. C. players rank with the best produced by colleges far beyond our class in size and football facilities, in a season productive of no mean lot of real stars, this rating speaks volumes for the work of the Aggie football department, both players and coaches, during the successful season just closed.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. on this campus is an organization which works in comparative secrecy. The results obtained are hard to define in a barely material way. It does not seek the limelight of publicity. It is a modest, hardworking group of men who are actively interested in giving Christian service to their fellow men. They have, and are, accomplishing this in a manner worthy of the highest commendation. They are doing a worthwhile job in a worthwhile way.

You, as a student, can give them definite aid by answering their appeal next Wednesday.

Freedom and the Razor.

The question of just how far a person can enjoy personal freedom and just how far he can exercise his own judgment comes up occasionally, even here in our democratic college. And it is always answered in the right way by student opinion and subsequent student action. The over-bright yearling always finds his way to the murky depths or to the sawdust arena. There is usually no argument in his case. But when one in a more elevated position than a Freshman becomes a bit too daring, the question appears harder. Yet the answer is evident—any breaking of conventions which will cast a bad reflection on the good reputation of the college should not be tolerated by those who love the name of Aggie. The college barber, assisted by a few score others, answered the question correctly a few nights ago. There is a certain religious sect where a tonsorial artist is considered an assistant of the devil. Noah probably did not own a Gillette, either. But here at M. A. C. convention backs the shaving-stick, and the student body backs the convention.

B. F. J.

Communication.

Being democratic, we men at Aggie dislike to follow the hard and fast rules of convention. However, there are certain customs that we try to adhere to, because we all know that they are the proper customs. One of these, is the custom of adhering to the dignity of Sunday chapel. There appear to be not a few among us, who do not yet realize the difference between Wednesday assembly and Sunday chapel. It is quite natural that we welcome our assembly speakers with hearty applause. But, to applaud at Sunday chapel shows exceedingly bad judgment and exceedingly bad taste. For many of us Sunday chapel is our only church. Let us conduct our chapel as a service and not as a public forum.

The Margin of Safety

The need of a "margin of safety" is not confined to the building of bridges or sky scrapers.

Milk and milk products need the "safety margin" which efficient and dependable cleanliness provides.

The growing use by the dairy industry of

Wyandotte (Sleyman's) Cleaner and Cleanser

is contributing very largely to the protection of the dairy and creamery from the preventable losses which result from unsanitary condition in manufacturing processes.

Then, too, they say that this cleaner supplies this adequate protection very economically.

BASKETBALL CANDIDATES SHOW GOOD EORM

Thirty Candidates Answer First Call For Practice.

The first week of basketball practise has brought out a wealth of good material from the lower classes which Coach Jiore is fast putting into shape. Two teams of Class A calibre are at the head of the squad now. The five men who finally land regular berths this year will make a team which will be the fastest ever put out at Aggie. Manager Bunker has nearly completed a schedule which includes what will probably be some of the strongest teams in the East. Among the teams are: Harvard, Tufts, Middlebury, M. I. T., Amherst, Wesleyan, and St. Lawrence University. The completed schedule will be announced in next week's COLLEGIAN.

In former years, Aggie has put out a basketball team which has oftentimes defeated some of the strongest teams in this section. The addition of Harvard and St. Lawrence Univ. to the schedule is testimony to the confidence the management has in this years team.

What Is Air?

BEFORE 1894 every chemist thought he knew what air is. "A mechanical mixture of moisture, nitrogen and oxygen, with traces of hydrogen and carbon dioxide," he would explain. There was so much oxygen and nitrogen in a given sample that he simply determined the amount of oxygen present and assumed the rest to be nitrogen.

One great English chemist, Lord Rayleigh, found that the nitrogen obtained from the air was never so pure as that obtained from some compound like ammonia. What was the "impurity"? In co-operation with another prominent chemist, Sir William Ramsay, it was discovered in an entirely new gas—"argon." Later came the discovery of other rare gases in the atmosphere. The air we breathe contains about a dozen gases and gaseous compounds.

This study of the air is an example of research in pure science. Rayleigh and Ramsay had no practical end in view—merely the discovery of new facts.

A few years ago the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company began to study the destruction of filaments in exhausted lamps in order to ascertain how this happened. It was a purely scientific undertaking. It was found that the filament evaporated—boiled away, like so much water.

Pressure will check boiling or evaporation. If the pressure within a boiler is very high, it will take more heat than ordinarily to boil the water. Would a gas under pressure prevent filaments from boiling away? If so, what gas? It must be a gas that will not combine chemically with the filament. The filament would burn in oxygen; hydrogen would conduct the heat away too rapidly. Nitrogen is a useful gas in this case. It does form a few compounds, however. Better still is argon. It forms no compounds at all.

Thus the modern, efficient, gas-filled lamp appeared, and so argon, which seemed the most useless gas in the world, found a practical application.

Discover new facts, and their practical application will take care of itself.

And the discovery of new facts is the primary purpose of the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company.

Sometimes years must elapse before the practical application of a discovery becomes apparent, as in the case of argon; sometimes a practical application follows from the mere answering of a "theoretical" question, as in the case of a gas-filled lamp. But no substantial progress can be made unless research is conducted for the purpose of discovering new facts.

Of the men out, Captain Carlyle Gowdy, 1922, is already showing the form that won him his regular position his first two years at M. A. C. His play as a back this year should rank high among collegiate players. The other ground position is open now, but is sure to be filled by a capable man. It is hard to find two better men than Grayson and Lent. Both are natural athletes and clean, fast pluggers. As understudies to these two, Clark and Hale are competing for a regular berth.

G. A. Thompson '22 is playing at center now, but as soon as eligibility rules will permit Marshman to play, this tall athlete from Springfield will undoubtedly make a fine man to fill the position vacated when S. V. Smith left college.

A number of first class men are out for the forward positions. A. W. Smith '22 will probably hold oneposition. His unerring eye is already accounting for many baskets which will help "Al" to a banner season in scoring two-pointers. His defense work is also of fine quality. He is all over the floor, and also right on the ball. L. E. Ball '21 is also shooting well and proving to all contestants that his year's absence from college has only increased the keenness of his eye. Tinney, Armstrong, Roser, Moseley, and Alexander are also men contending for a forward position.

The prospects for the season are exceptionally bright, and with no hard luck, the final results should show Aggie well up among the Eastern Colleges.

SOCIAL UNION PROGRAM INCLUDES NINE EVENTS

Opens with Mr. Phidelah Rice, Dramatic Reader, Friday Evening.

One of the finest programs of entertainments ever arranged by the Social Union Committee will be presented during the coming winter months in Stockbridge Hall.

There will be a series of nine entertainments, beginning with the one on Friday, Dec. 10, and concluding with the one Prom concert the date of which will be announced later. On Friday, Dec. 10, Phidelah Rice of Boston will give his own dramatization of "Great Expectations," the popular novel written by Charles Dickens. Mr. Rice is very well known as an impersonator and reader of plays, and his "Great Expectations" has been pronounced by Leland Powers as an "artistic masterpiece."

The program for the season is as follows:

Dec. 10, Friday, Phidelah Rice, dramatic reader.
Jan. 8, Saturday, Pitt F. Parker, cartoonist.
22, Saturday, B. F. Ford, electrical scientist.
Feb. 4, Friday, John Kendrick Bangs, humorist.
19, Saturday, Freshman Show.

HILL AND DALE TEAM ROMPS TO VICTORY AT SPRINGFIELD

Capt. Slate's Men Land Five Out Of First Six Places.

The Aggie Cross-country team walked away from the Springfield Harriers over the Springfield course Saturday, trimming the previously unbeaten Springfield runners to the tune of 19 to 36,and placing 5 men out of the first 6.

The Springfield course was a genuine cross country, being through the woods for practically the entire distance of five miles, the path crossing a good sized brook twice, and one piece of marsh. The Springfield men, who have won all their previous meets against some of the best teams, were under the impression that the Aggie men were the last to finish at the New Englands, and confident of an easy victory over their own course, allowed the Aggie men to lead at the start. Rollins set a tremendous pace for the first couple of miles, and they discovered their mistake too late. Peabody, Springfield's star who has been their winner previously, came to the front in the last two miles, but proved unable to sprint as fast as Woodworth who finished first in 26 minutes and 4 seconds, lowering the season's record for that course by 13 seconds. Peabody took a close second. Captain Slate easily grabbed third position, closely followed by McCready and Rollins. Irish sprinted by Robbins of Springfield in the last ten yards, making four red jerseys to cross the line in succession. Springfield then captured 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, and 11th places. West and Evers lost themselves on the poorly marked course but pluckily stuck to the chase, winning 12th and 14th respectively.

The finish was at the grandstand, where Aggie's slashing victory was witnessed by the thousands gathered to watch the Springfield-Detroit game.

The M. A. C. runners had a somewhat exciting experience on the way to Springfield, being in the railroad wreck which occured near Holyoke. Most of the team was in the coach which went farthest off the tracks, and several of the harriers underwent the nerve-racking experience of assisting dozens of frightened Smith girls from the wreck. The team then walked to Holyoke and took the special to Springfield. Judging from the race afterwards, their nerves were little injured.

The order of finishing was as follows:
Woodworth, M. A. C.
Peabody, Sp.
Slate, M. A. C.
MacCready, M. A. C.
Rollins, M. A. C.
Irish, M. A. C.
Robbins, Sp.

Original Christmas Suggestions
Have you ever thought how excellently a flexible notebook is suited for a private cook book? Or a five-pound box of Bittersweets is both reasonable and sure to please. And Don't Forget Our COLLEGE JEWELRY

Training started early in October with a small but promising squad. Coach Dickinson gave the men a good stiff daily work-out, specializing on hill work. On Oct. 23, the Interclass Meet gave a line on the best men. The Varsity team, consisting of Slate, Woodworth, MacCready, Rollins, Irish, West, and Evers went to Worcester on the 30th and easily defeated W. P. I., 24-31. At this meet, the men elected Slate as their Captain. This team ran in all the other meets; and in fact, the squad was now so sadly depleted by ineligibility, physical troubles, and lack of competitors, that there were practically no alternates for the varsity.

Nov. 6, M. A. C. met the N. H. State Harriers on the Aggie course, and in a close and extremely fast race lost to N. H. 27-29, due to the superlative work of Leath of N. H., who has been considered one of the best cross country runners in New England.

Nov. 13, the Aggie runners entered the New England Intercollegiates at Franklin Park. No one of the men was at his best, and the team took seventh out of twelve colleges entered; although, due to an error on the part of the officials, we were only credited with eleventh position.

On Nov. 20, our team went to Springfield and ran the previously unbeaten Springfield harriers on their own course. The race was a great surprise to the confiden. Springfield runners; Aggie finishing five men out of the first six, and running up a score of 19-36.

Captain Slate and Woodworth shared stellar honors for the season, Slate being the first Aggie man to come across in two meets, while Woodworth captured the blue ribbon at Springfield, lowering the season's record for that course by 13 seconds. Rollins and MacCready alternated for third and fourth honors, while Irish was fifth man for the team in all the dual meets.

The team was handicapped throughout the season by lack of material but owes most of its success to the hard work of Coach Dickinson who gave his services voluntarily.

THE Y. M. C. A. BUDGET

By H. M. Gove.

It has always been the custom of the Y. M. C. A. of the College to ask the student body for financial support of the Association. Heretofore the College has found the means to employ a General Secretary to keep the organization in running order. This year it has been necessary to do without a General Secretary and place the entire responsibility of administration of this work in the hands of the students. In order to carry the Association through a successful season the Cabinet has spent considerable time and energy in drawing up a budget, which it was thought best to bring to the attention of the entire student body, before asking for a contribution, so that all might know definitely where the money is to go.

The movement of the Association this fall has gained steadily in impetus, and already several deputation teams have been sent from the College to nearby communities, where entertainments have been put on, much to the enjoyment of those who have but little to brighten the daily drudgery of their lives. The student body has always been very generous in support of its Association, and it is felt that the response this year should be equal to that of other years.

The budget is as follows:

The man who buys a DE LAVAL is taking no chances.

MOST any kind of cream separator will do fairly good work the first few months, when it is new.

But if it is a cheaply made or inferior machine, after the first few months your trouble will begin.

Why take chances when you come to select a machine that may mean so much in increasing the profit from your cows?

There is one cream separator that has been the acknowledged world's standard for over 40 years. It's the one cream separator that is used by the creamerymen almost exclusively. Dairy farmers the country over know the De Laval and its sterling quality. Experience has shown them that defeated Tufts 21-0 on Tuft's Oval. The only defeats of the season were suffered at the hands of Springfield and New Hampshire State, and these games were not won by large and decisive scores. The University of Vermont game played at the height of the season was a game that will long go down in Aggie history as an example of wonderful team tight and supporting spirit. Vermont papers were loud in their praise of the M. A. C. machine-like play and the individual play of several linemen. It was about this time that Bob-Dunbar mentioned King as an All New England tackle.

It is the best cream separator that money can buy.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN ELECTED

Four consecutive wins at the start of the season is a record that any team should be proud of. Every one of these victories was won by a score of over twenty points.

The showing made in the last two games against Springfield and Tufts was of the highest standard. In Springfield, Aggie showed up very well considering the superior weight and experience which was lined up against her.

The Tufts game was an inspiration to the many people who expected to see Tufts hold Aggie to a 7-0 score. Macchia was counted on to score one or more touchdowns, but the defensive work of the Aggie ends and backs kept the Tufts secondary defense in check. Only those at the game know how very near Aggie came to scoring two more touchdowns.

The seasons scores follow:

M. A. C. 28—Connecticut 0.
M. A. C. 21—Bates 7.
M. A. C. 21—Worcester 6.
M. A. C. 21—Vermont University 7.
M. A. C. 7—Rhode Island State 7.
M. A. C. 0—New Hampshire State 9.
M. A. C. 7—Springfield 28.
M. A. C. 21—Tufts 0.

Totals,—126, Opponents, 64.

Captain Poole ranked as one of the first half dozen leading scorers with 66 points to his credit. He has played every minute of every game during his last two years at college.

REV. W. A. ATKINSON SPEAKER AT SUNDAY CHAPEL, NOV. 21

Takes For His Subject, "The 20th Century Man."

The speaker at Chapel Sunday, Nov. 21, was the Rev. William A. Atkinson of Amherst. Dr. Atkinson took as his subject, "The Twentieth Century Man." The twentieth century, said the speaker, is not the greatest because it succeeds the nineteenth, history proving that progress does not follow thus, but rather proceeds in great cycles. It is because of multitudes of reasons that this century is the peak of all centuries.

What God needs and what the world needs in this wonderful era is leaders. The type of man who can make a leader in the twentieth century must be possessed of certain unusual characteristics.

He must be a man of character. Character may be compared figuratively to the automobile, which is not complete with its chassis, its engine, its gearshift, or any one of its parts by itself, but rather is a clever combination of all of them. Character is the assembly of all the parts.

He must be a man of vision. Not a visionary man, but one who can look clearly and analytically into the future.

3rd. He must be a man of power. He must be able to bring things to pass; to do the things he purposes to do.

The speaker spoke of the need of high ideals. He mentioned the little known fact that there are seven, or possibly eight, other countries which surpass us in literacy. We must "grow in knowledge and then go forth to express that knowledge in service." Muscle doesn't make a man; money doesn't make a man; neither does dress, mentality or morality alone make a man. It is ministry, service, charity, that makes a man. "Charity should begin at home", says the old adage, but "home is a relative word", says Dr. Atkinson. "If I were in Amherst, I would say my home was on Pleasant St.; if I were in Boston, I would say my home was in Amherst; if I were in the South, I should say my home is in Massachusetts; while if I were in France, I would say my home was in America." Today we are World Citizens, and to the world must we give service.

POULTRY AND EGG SHOW TO BE HELD ON DEC. 16, 17

The Fourth Annual Dressed Market Poultry and Egg Show will be held on Thursday and Friday, Dec. 16, and 17, in Stockbridge Hall. It is staged under the direction of the Poultry Department as a climax to the fattening and killing work of the fall term, and some unusually fine birds are always to be seen on the display tables.

As last year, the exhibit will be divided into three main parts. The competition for prizes in dressed poultry will include an entry from each student taking a marketing course with the department, and from such commercial poultrymen as care to enter. It is expected that several members of last year's classes will make entries. The egg show will have classes for students, commercial poultrymen, and also for faculty members, many of whom have backyard flocks. The educational exhibit will include commercial packs from the Boston market, charts, and displays of the tools and equipment used for fattening and dressing. It is hoped that the show will be again judged by Mr. Hosmer of F. N. Hosmer & Co., Boston, who gave such satisfaction last year.

Thursday evening will be devoted to an interesting program which includes demonstrations of different processes in preparing poultry for the market, and a Student's Dry Picking Contest.

Friday afternoon all college exhibits will be auctioned to the public, giving a fine chance to get fancy birds for Christmas.

A feature of the show will be a guessing contest, similar to the one which aroused so much interest last year, when all visitors were given an opportunity to guess how many kernals of corn a pair of capons would eat during the show. The winner was given a choice pair of roasters.

COLLEGIAN COMPETITION STIRS UP CUB REPORTERS

The COLLEGIAN competition this fall has brought out a numerous assortment of embryonic editors and others. As a general rule, however, the "cubs" are about up to the usual standard. The Co-eds are displaying quite a bit of pep and if past records are any indication they will give the men quite a contest for the positions. The competitors who have not yet displayed much enthusiasm toward the job are about due with some work—get going, the COLLEGIAN wants workers, not men who consider a job done when they have handed in their names to the competition manager.

The following list gives a record of the competitors up to this issue:

CHARLES L. STELZLE GIVES IMPRESSIVE ADDRESS

Prominent Authority on Labor Speaks at Sunday Chapel.

At Sunday Chapel, Dec. 12, Mr. Charles L. Stelzle of New York City, made one more addition to the number of fine speakers heard at college this fall. Mr. Stelzle did not go to college; he received his education for his life work in an East Side machine shop. He is still a member of the Machinists' Union; but he has risen to be one of the foremost authorities on labor problems in the United States.

Taking "Radicalism" as his subject, Mr. Stelzle said in part: "In this significant age we are not only making a nation, we are reshaping the world. One underlying fact is clear—this is the last struggle for democracy. Nothing can stop the march of industrial democracy; the labor union is a mere instance of it, and if this were abolished something worse would take its place.

The labor agitator was not the cause of all the labor trouble; he himself grew out of this trouble. We are not so much concerned today with the radicalists as with the conservatives, those who have not yet learned the lesson of supremacy of the common people, a condition which is inevitable.

The American Federation of Labor has been a grand bulwark against Bolshevism in this country. Then there are other forces at work. The public library has become a great influence in the education of the common workman. The art galleries in the cities must also be considered. When a man comes out of an art gallery, he sees the common things about him in a much different light than before. But the greatest leveller of classes, affecting us all, is the public school.

Radicalism is not a bad thing. The church has been the greatest radical agitator throughout history; missionaries cause radicalism, for when foreign

PECK '22 ELECTED MANAGER OF VARSITY FOOTBALL

At assembly Wednesday afternoon, William H. Peck of Stow, Mass., was elected manager of the varsity football team for the season of 1921.

Peck is a graduate of Stow High School and entered Aggie in the class of 1922, when the S. A. T. C. broke up. He has since been an active member of that class. His freshman year he was elected manager of the class tennis team and was a member of his class rifle team. He is also on the 1922 Index Board. As assistant manager this fall he became popular with the football squad and his election to the managership is proof of his position in the student body.

Peck is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

M. A. C. SEVEN PROMISES TO BE FAST TEAM

Three Veterans, Wealth of New Material, New Rink, and Good Schedule Complete Bright Prospects.

This winter, if present indications are to be relied upon, hockey is to assume a more important position among Aggie sports than it has heretofore held.

The new rink is now completed and will present a better surface and will elimate to a large extent the uncertainty which has handicapped teams in the past who were dependent on the pond.

The Athletic Department is boosting hockey and doing much to get things under way. Besides the varsity team it is planned to substitute a series of games for the annual Freshman-Sophomore battle.

M. A. C. has turned out some noted hockey teams in the past, but this year's seven promises to be on a par with the best. Twenty-five candidates have reported to Coach Mansell and preliminary practice is now being held regularly in the Drill Hall until the ice will allow the men to get out doors.

Captain McCarthy will hold down his old position at right wing and should show at his best this season. "Mac" is a product of Arlington High School and while there was placed on the all-interscholastic team in 1915. He now ranks as one of the best wing men in Eastern collegiate hockey.

Collins is another veteran who hails from Arlington and was on the same inter-scholastic team with McCarthy. "Hubba" at point is a stellar defense performer.

"Sonny" Mansell besides coaching the team will play at center position and it is safe to say that he can hold his own with the best men in collegiate hockey. Newell, last year an understudy to Delahunt will probably be goal tend. He is captain-elect of baseball and at guarding the net he should prove a "Dave" Buttrick who was formerly all intercollegiate goal tend, M. A. C. '17. Cotton, captain elect of football is also a contender for this position. Leavitt, the star left wing of two seasons will be out of the game on account of a recent attack of typhoid fever.

In addition to these veterans there is a wealth of new material out and some of them are showing up particularly well. In this list are: Lyon '22, Mallon '21, Snow '21, Anderson '21, Coombs '21, Hodgson '23, Gordon '23, Whittaker '23, Tarr '22, Picard '23, Friend '23 and Hardy '23.

Manager Evers has arranged a fine schedule which includes trips to Boston and New York and games with such teams as Boston College, M. I. T. and Dartmouth. There are also two games with Amherst College and tentative dates with Harvard and West Point.

During the Christmas vacation the team will hold practice in the Boston Arena in order to get in good condition for the first two games with Amherst and Dartmouth. After the Christmas vacation the Freshman seven will practice with the varsity, a plan which should benefit both teams.

The schedule is as follows:

Jan. 12, Amherst at M. A. C.
" 15, Dartmouth at Hanover.
" 21, Open date.
" 22, Tufts at Boston.
" 27, Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y.
" 28, Hamilton at Clinton, N. Y.
" 29, Rennsalaer at Troy.
Feb. 2, Springfield at Springfield.
" 3, Tufts at M. A. C.
" 5, Boston College at M. A. C.
" 9, Amherst at Pratt Rink.
" 11, M. I. T. at Boston.
" 12, Boston College at Boston.
" 17, Dartmouth at M. A. C.

PREXY TRACES EARLY HISTORY OF COLLEGE

teviews Aggie Problems in Assembly Talk.

President Butterfield, speaking to the student body at Wednesday assembly, Dec. 8, outlined some of the main problems which today confront the colleges. Various alumni, in talking with Prexy, have assured him that athletic fame is by no means the limit of their interest in Aggie; they appreciate the larger problems here, and are willing to help in any way.

A brief historical survey shows that in 1857 Michigan Aggie became the first college of agriculture in the country. Soon after, the Morrell Act was passed giving each state in the Union a certain amount of land, with the revenue from which state colleges have been formed. This law provided for instruction in agriculture, mechanic arts, home economics. However, owing to the establishment of M. I. T., which receives one-third of the revenue from Massachusetts, this college stands alone in the country as having remained purely agricultural.

Formerly very little practical agriculture was taught in any college, because the investigators had no material to hand over to the teachers. Now, due to the extensive work of the experiment stations connected with the state colleges, thorough helpful courses may be presented to the student. The work of the research man, of whom we have several here, is fundamental, since applied science is the key to all our teaching.

Another important branch of work at state colleges is the extension service, which, in this state, is working in cooperation with the county farm bureaus to reach the farmers throughout the state. Extension service has grown steadily in importance since its inauguration in Michigan in 1861.

The teaching at Aggie follows the theory that the courses must deal with the problems of citizenship and of life as well as of one's occupation. The first two years' courses are general in nature, and are required of all students alike. The last two years' work is more specialized and is governed now by the "major" system.

Then there is the question of salaries. Last year their was a 12 per cent increase here as opposed to a much greater increase elsewhere; this year simply a 10 per cent increase is being asked. There is also the building problem; nothing need be said of this need, for it is apparent to any visitor on the campus. Up to 10 years ago, 50 per cent of Aggie graduates went into business; this nummer has lately diminished so that nearly 80 per cent are now going into some sort of agricultural work and a mere 20 per cent into business. Yet outsiders are still suggesting that we give up the agricultural courses for general work.

Our problems are constantly changing, but our leaders are trying always to work out fundamental principles. The students often misunderstand the problems of the faculty; likewise the faculty may fail to see things from the point of view of the student. In the college of the future there must be a larger interest in all of the problems by all concerned.

FIRST SOCIAL UNION EVENT PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE

The first of a series of entertainments to be given by the Social Union was held last Friday evening, December 10, in the Bowker Auditorium, Stockbridge Hall, and was attended by an audience of over 300 persons, consisting of students and townfolk.

The entertainment was in the form of a dramatic reading of Charles Dickins' famous novel, "Great Expectations' and was rendered by Mr. Phidelab Rice, who represented the versatile cast of characters most successfully. The reader was obliged to present a variety of characters, from that of a sweet-voiced girl to that of the husky blacksmith, His control was of the best. He was especially good in bringing out the character of the lawyer, and of Pip's sister.

POMOLOGY TEAM TAKES THIRD PLACE AT COLUMBUS

Geer '21 Places Second in Individual Scores.

Aggie ranked third in the apple judging contest at the international meet held at the exposition grounds at Columbus, Ohoi, Dec. 2. The meet is an annual affair and was held in connection with the American Pomology Society and the State Fruit Show. There was a wonderful display of fruit from all states of the union and also varieties from England, Nova Scotia, and Ontario.

The fruit judging team, consisting of three Seniors majoring in Pomology, Geer, Mallon, and Peck, made a very creditable showing on their recent trip to Columbus, Ohio, where, on Thursday, Dec. 2, they judged at the Ohio State Pomology Show. Out of five teams, Maisachusetts stood third, while in the individual scoring Geer placed second, Peck eighth, Mallon thirteenth.

The standing of the teams (with a possibility of each team getting 10,800 points):

Ohio,	9443½
New York,	9270
Massachusetts,	9133½
Iowa,	8876½
Ontario,	8813½

The standing of the five highest men (with a possibility of each man getting 3600 points):

Laisy (Ohio),	3283½
Geer (Mass.),	3176½
Niles (Iowa),	3143½
Howlett (N. Y.)	3133½
Almey (Ontario),	3130

E. A. Thompson of Amherst, has been obtained to overhaul the large portraits of the college presidents, in the reading room. Each portrait is to be removed from its frame, and the whole thing is to be cleaned and put into ship-shape condition.

CALL ISSUED FOR FOOTBALL CANDIDATES

Seniors Emplasize the Need of a Large Squad. Eighty-six Respond to Call.

Following Wednesday Assembly a call was sent out for men to sign up for next year's football team. Captain-elect Cotton and the senior members of the team each spoke a few words in regard to the team and its future.

Captain Poole outlined the program for the coming year and emphasized the need of a squad of at least 75 men, inasmuch as new material must be produced to offset the loss of eight letter men who will graduate this year. "Gid" Mackintosh said that football not only developed a man physically but also mentally, and it would benefit every man's education to go out for the team. "Don" Lent suggested that since co-eds were fairly numerous it would be a good idea for them to do the cheering in the future and let all the men go out for the team. Starr King gave three reasons why a man should go ont for the team; principally because every man who went out could help toward the success of the team in some way, and at the same time learn the game of football. He also emphasized the fact that too many men of ability walt until their last year before trying to earn their letter, and as a result their services are lost to the team. "Tubby" Long gave the real talk of the afternoon, but at that said he had forgotten half what he had planned to say. "Tubby" has been out for the varsity every year and though he has never been on the first team, he was awarded his letter as a result of his hard work each season. George Cotton, captain-elect, said that as the team would be much lighter next year than for sometime, the light men as well as the heavy would have a very good opportunity of winning their coveted M.

In response to the call for candidates 86 men signed their intention of going out for football next season.

MUSICAL CLUBS GIVE EXCELLENT PROGRAM

First Concert is Greatly Appreciated by Hadley Audience.

The combined Musical Clubs held their first concert of the year at the Hadley Town Hall last Friday evening. The program was executed in fine style throughout and for the first concert it was undoubtedly the best program in years. A great deal of credit is due to Mr. Worthley and Mr. Katzenbach for their able work in coaching.

"The Sword of Ferrara", sung by the Glee Club was presented with much skill. The opening phrase sung loudly was succeeded by varying soft and loud tones the whole club ended with great volume and snappiness on—"in Spain". In direct contrast to the last two years, this club is singing six snappy songs with nothing which will allow sleep in the audience. "A Calamity", sung at the opening of the second part was a cause for much laughter by the spectators.

The Mandolin Club shows great improvement over last year. A college medley and a medley of popular pieces were delivered with the necessary pep and jazz so that the young folks could scarcely wait for the dance afterward. "The Hikers" and "Chalu of Daises" also came in for prolonged applause.

Labrovitz and Vinten with their mandolins played several "Scraps" which more than delighted the audience. They were very good.

Davidson, in Scotch Highlander costume, managed a humerous solo entitled "A Little Scotch".

The quartet composed of Sloan, Goff, Vinten and Haslam was very good. They responded to three encores.

The program:

March, "The Hikers"	Weldt
Mandolin Club
"Sword of Ferrara"	Bullard
Glee Club
"Scraps",	Selected
Labrovitz and Vinten

There will be a meeting of the New England Fruitgrowers Association in Wilder Hall, Dec. 20-21. One of the purposes of this meeting is to decide on a 10-year program for apple growing in Massachusetts, including both production and marketing, with special emphasis on the latter.

MUSICAL CLUBS TO MAKE ANNUAL BOSTON TRIP

Will Give Series of Concerts During Christmas Vacation.

The Annual Alumni concert will be held at the Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, January 1st at 8:00 o'clock. As an innovation this concert will be informal this year, and a large number of undergraduates are expected to attend, as well as alumni. Tickets will be $2.75 a couple.

The schedule of concerts as arranged to date is as follows:

Needham, Dec. 30.
Stow, Dec. 31 or Dec. 20.
Copley Plaza Hotel, Boston, Jan. 1.
Greenfield, Feb. 3.
Auditorium, M. A. C., Feb. 4.
Amherst Town Hall, Feb. 15.

Other concerts will be announced later. Arrangements are being made for a joint concert with Mt. Holyoke College and for a concert in Northampton. The Musical Clubs will furnish the Prom Cabaret this year, as usual.

It is planned to end the season with the second term, as interest always lags during the third term.

1924 BASKETBALL PRACTICE BEGINS

The initial call for candidates for the Freshmen basketball team was made last Wednesday, Dec. 1, and a squad of 22 men reported for the first practice. There is a wealth of experimental material, with several prep school captains in the squad, and the outlook for a successful team seems to be more promising than usual at the first of the season.

Among the candidates are Bike, captain of the 1920 Westfield High team, Bilski, captain of Hopkins Academy, which won the championship in the Hampshire County League last season, Brunner, of Peddle Institute, Hutchins of Arms Academy and Barker and Ferranti of West Bridgwater, whose team were the North Shore champions last winter. Westfield High has three representatives on the squad:—Bike, Kane, and Bartlett. Ball, '20, is acting as Freshman coach since the resignation of Jakeman.

The schedule for this season has not as yet been completed, but will call for 12 games with the leading high and prep schools in the valley. As arranged so far it is as follows:

Jan. 21, Hartford at Hartford.
Jan. 26, Cushing at Cushing.
Jan. 29, Smith Academy at Amherst (pending).
Feb. 5, Williston at Easthampton.
Feb. 12, Hartford at Amherst.
Feb. 25, Deerfield at Deerfield.

DR. SEERLEY OPENS SERIES OF HYGIENE LECTURES.

Contrary to previous years, Dr. Seerley is brought here this season under the auspices of the Department of Physical Education of the college In consequence of this, all Freshmen are required to attend the lectures, while the rest of the student body is cordially invited.

Dormant?

Where are the informals of years gone by? Why has there been but one informal this year? Why has there not been made a serious attempt to have an informal Saturday in conjunction with the student vaudeville? Why has there been but two meetings of the informal committee this past fall?.

The questions and more like them are being agitated in the minds of many of the students. The natural reaction has been the increasing number of fraternity house dances which have been held during the past two weeks. There is no doubt but that the substitution of house dances for the general college dance tends to create the "cliquey" spirit within the group. This is to be avoided at M. A. C. The various difficulties of holding informals could be remedied by a definite policy of foresighted management. The informal committee is asleep on a job which carries with it a real responsibility of upholding of democratic ideals.

Along the same line might be noted the inactivity of other organizations on the campus. Adelphia, composed of the foremost men in the senior class, has not held a meeting since before the last student forum. There is much work for it to do in the guidance and expression of studednt opinion.

Phi Kappa Phi, made up of those of superior scholastic attainments, could and should take an active part in student affairs. Its present program consists essentially of the election of new members and the subsequent banquet. Surely men of brains of Phi Kappa Phi calibre could do more to foster the ideal scholarship than by mere elections. What has become of Le Cercle Francais? Why not an English Club or a Spanish Group?

The Chemistry, Landscape and Agricultural Economics Clubs should be mentioned. All of these could be brought to life by developing programs of general interest and by giving them timely publicity of the urgent kind. The Animal Husbandry and Pomology Clubs of last year are examples of the heights which organizations of this type may attain. The material is there for those who do the necessary work of bringing it before the student body.

The editor does not wish to "razz" any of the organizations mentioned. He is attempting in a public way to bring to the attention of those leaders involved, the fact that they are allowing worthwhile organizations to die, or at least to sink into the limbo of partial or even total oblivion.

COMMUNICATION

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

Finals in less than a week; examinations that will test all of us, and of which we are all thinking considerably about at the present time. But our examinations are not the only tests that are to come during these finals. There are two tests one of which the majority has perhaps thought little about. The first is the Honor System; the second, the freshmen.

The crucial moment for the Honor System and the freshmen is at hand. If the freshmen can pass their finals this term, the roughest part of the trail to their degrees has been covered. If they can live up to the ideals set forth in the Honor Constitution at this time, the Honor System will have passed over the roughest part of its trail in its relation to the class of 1924. For this first term, the freshmen have been on trial, and the finals will prove whether they are true Aggie men of strength and character, for at no other time is the temptation to crib so hard to conquer.

Freshmen, watch your step. We want every man of you to stay with us, but if you can remain only by soiling our character, we don't want you! We want good, wholesome virile men at Aggie, and honesty is our first requisite from you. If you break our trust by infringing upon the Honor System Constitution, you are undermining the bulwark of the atmosphere of honesty that we are trying to build up in our relations in the class room and on the campus. The College does not want to have its Honor Council force any man to leave College, for we need you and you need us.

Therefore, freshmen, every man of you make up your mind to show us that you can be trusted, that you are real men who will stand by the Honor System and uphold the Honor of M. A. C. the cause she has given you to uphold. If you flunk out——if you die, let it be an honorable death and not a disgraceful one.

(Signed) P. J. CASCIO,
President of the Honor Council,

ANNUAL STUDENT VAUDEVILLE ON DECEMBER 18

The annual student vaudeville show will be staged December 18, at 8:00 P. M., in Bowker auditorium. There are to be twelve acts, including a variety of bright music, fancy dances, heart-thrilling stunts, and other added attractions.

Dress rehearsal takes place Thursday evening, starting at 7:00 sharp. Each fraternity will report for its act at the time announced in assembly. It is absolutely necessary for every fraternity putting on an act to be present at this rehearsal.

Jack Smith will appear in one of his fantastic rôles, and a worthy substitute has been found who will attempt to fill Cohen Leavitt's shoes. "Bob" Jones will make a startling appearance in a snappy new dance. Nat Ames is to make his debut as an East side juggler.

NEW HOCKEY RINK IS COMPLETED

As a result of the new hockey rink which has recently been completed, prospects look bright for Aggie completing her schedule of home hockey games during the coming year.

In former years, a rink has been set off on the college pond, but the snows which have been cleared and banked outside the rink have caused the ice to crack. Difficulty has also always been experienced in flooding the top of the pond for new ice.

The new rink is situated north-east of the athletic field near the brook; and its construction has been made possible by grading with material from the site of the Memorial Building. The rink can be flooded from a hydrant connected with the street main.

In the spring, the space now occupied by the rink will be utilized either for tennis or for field hockey for the girls.

HILLS BOTANICAL PRIZES

In the competition for the Hills Botanical prizes the judges have awarded the first prize of $20 to Mr. L. S. Woodworth, and the second prize of $15 to Mr. E. N. Tisdale. The following names are recommended for Honorable Mention: L. B. Arrington, L. E. Dickinson, L. J. Fitzpatrick, Miss Mary Gildermeister, A. J. Heath, Miss M. L. Lewis, G. E. R. Lindskog, W. E. Paddock, J. P. Smith, T. L. Snow, R. G. Wendell. Special mention is made of the herbarium of Miss D. P. Clark, graduate student.

From the set of seventy-nine herbaria received from the class in Botany 25, twelve were selected as of exceptional merit and entered for competition. Professors C. H. Thompson, Gordon and Harrison kindly acted as judges.

The Hills prizes in Botany are given annually and awarded at Commencement, for the best two herbaria received from members of the three upper classes. The period for the preparation of the regular herbarium required of each student in botany has been extended from June to November. Thus all Sophomores become entitled to enter the competition for the Hills prizes.

The members of the class are to be commended for the general excellence of their collections. With so many contestants the competition was necessarily very keen and many herbaria not entered for the prize are deserving of high credit.

The judges gave particular attention to the twenty-five special sheets prepared to illustrate the general principles of morphology.

Recipients of the prizes are to be congratulated on their neatness, accuracy and originality; and particularly on the excellent interpretative and descriptive sheets appended to the specimens.

Members of the Kolony Klub, composed of Short Course and Two-year students held a very successful dance at Masonic Hall, Saturday evening, Dec. 11. Twenty-five couples were present. The patrons and patronesses were Professor and Mrs. Phelan, Mr. and Mrs. Viets, and Mrs. J. Bachrach. The orchestra was composed of M. A. C. men, Davenport, Labrovitz, Adams, and Hunter, furnished a program of first class dance music. The committee in charge were Messers. Newell, Baxter, Stevens, MacLeod, and Hancock. The Klub is planning to hold a series of similar dances during the winter.

SUNDAY CHAPEL

people see the new light of Christ, they begin to have some sort of social unrest. But this social unrest is the greatest blessing that ever comes to mankind.

However, there are certain elements in radicalism that must be overcome. There must be confidence between the boss and the workmen; now there is just as much crookedness on one side as on the other. There must be complete co-operation; the individual plans which concerns are continually trying do not help much. Open forum discussion is also necessary; the men should have competent leadership, in this, for they will discuss the questions anyway. Furthermore, both the employer and employee must admit when they are wrong. There must be justice in both parties. No matter what the system, it will work out if we hold honor to God and respect to our fellowmen above all else. The question of what you and I are individually will determine the question of our whole future life.

PROF. PATTERSON TALKS ON CHARACTER OF LEADERSHIP

Prof. Patterson gave a very interesting talk in chapel Monday morning on the "Character of Leadership in Our Representative Bodies." He declared that the nation is guided by men who are not above the average intellectually, that the great call was for men of such calibre, practical men but not idealists. Explaining that these men are well adapted to run small affairs successfully, he illustrated their incapacity for handling the larger problems of the country. We find that there are few men who have achieved big things in our assemblies. This brings up the question of the practical man and the idealist. One tries to get all he can out of the country, while the other works for its uplift. America is really an ideal, and is going on to higher ideals. The community is not educating young men so that they can cheat their neighbors, it trains them in order that they may better the whole community. This, then, is the reason for higher education.

Selecting Types

The vastly increased milk yield of the pure bred dairy herd has vindicated the years of scientific study of Dairy problems and has also established the principle that quality is always economy.

The distinctive and wholesome sanitary cleanliness which the use of

Wyandotte Sanitary Cleaner and Cleanser

is providing to the Dairy Industry is likewise the result of years of scientific study and careful selection.

So consistent in protecting the delicate qualities of milk food is the use of Wyandotte Sanitary Cleaner and Cleanser proving that the results of increased milk production has been conserved to the Dairy Industry.

An order on your supply house will convince you that with cleaners too, quality is economy.

CAMPUS NOTES

Atherton Clark of Boston, son of Pres. W. S. Clark, has presented to the library several back numbers of L'Illustration.

Pres. C. S. Howe of the Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Ohio, M. A. C., '78, has given to the library a lot of college history material, dealing with the period when he was here. The collection contains some very interesting and valuable papers, such as Military Regulations, Schedules, and College Periodicals.

Professor Thayer of the Floriculture Department was at St. Anne de Bellevue in Quebec on Dec. 2, at Macdonald College, and gave a lecture before the Pomological and Fruit Growers' Society of the Province of Quebec.

The Sophomore class held a meeting Thursday Dec. 9 at 4 P. M. in Clark Hall. The most important business was the election of two members for the Interclass Athletic Board. Of those nominated, Bates was elected. Alexander and Smith tied which will necessitate another vote being taken. E. B. Johnson was elected basketball manager. A motion was carried that Newell '21 and Lewandowski '22 be thanked for services rendered the class in the 6-man rope pull and in football respectively.

The Mettawampe Club will take their annual trek next Saturday. They will climb Mt. Toby from the south side. After the hike there will be a big dinner at the Lathrop, in South Deerfield.

The January number of the Alumni Bulletin will have several features. There will be an all-Aggie football team, with the players selected from all the varsity teams since 1912. There will also be a special article on the agricultural enrollment in New England colleges. Prof. Phelan will set forth the aims and purposes of the Short Course at M. A. C. in the same issue.

The Q. T. V. fraternity held a house dance Saturday Dec. 11. Mr. and Mrs. McCloud of Amherst chaperoned the party which lasted from 8 to 12 about 12 couples being present. The decorations were in red and white. Light refreshments were served during the evening.

A few adventurous Aggie students were seen taking their first skate Monday morning. Monday afternoon one of the adventurers celebrated by breaking through the ice.

Lambda Chi Alpha had a house dance Saturday Dec. 11 at which there were nine couples, Mrs. Pray of North Amherst acted as chaperon. Music was furnished by a victrola and local talent.

D. H. Smith '22 left college Tuesday to return to Cuba for the winter. He will return to his former position in connection with the sugar industry of the island.

Christmas Party.

The girls at Adams House are to hold a Christmas party next Sunday evening Dec. 19, beginning at six o'clock. Miss Skinner and Miss Hamlin are to be guests of honor. The singing of Christmas carols and the customary hanging up of stockings about the fireplace, are among the plans for the evening.

Informal Co-ed Dance.

The freshman and sophomore girls held a very informal victrola dance, last Friday evening from 8 to 11, at Adams House. Members of the classes of '23 and '24 were guests. The big living room was brightened with an open fire, in which marshmallows were toasted between dances. The party closed with the singing of favorite Aggie songs about the fireplace.

Floriculture Club.

The annual election of officers of the Floriculture and Market Garden Clubs for the following year was held last Tuesday evening a combined meeting of the clubs which was held in French Hall. Preceding the business meeting Mr. Thayer gave a talk on "Greenhouses in Canada" and Josiah O'Hara gave an illustrated lecture on "Greenhouse Construction." Miss Bruce, Miss Towle, Mr. West and Anderson were elected to serve as the social committee. The officers for the following year are to be Josiah O'Hara, president; Harold Hunter, vice-president; and Miss Towle, secretary and treasurer. The meeting was attended by 25 club members and refreshments were served after the completion of all business.

'20.—D. W. Belcher is teaching agriculture, Chemistry, and manual training at the high school in Walpole, N. H., besides leading the boys' and girls' club work of the vicinity.

MOST any kind of cream separator will do fairly good work the first few months, when it is new.

But if it is a cheaply made or inferior machine, after the first few months your trouble will begin.

Why take chances when you come to select a machine that may mean so much in increasing the profit from your cows?

There is one cream separator that has been the acknowledged world's standard for over 40 years. It's the one cream separator that is used by the creamerymen almost exclusively. Dairy farmers the country over know the De Laval and its sterling quality. Experience has shown them that '20.—Leland S. Graff is teaching English and Vegetable Gardening in the Norfolk County Agricultural School. He also has charge of the new dairy herd being formed there.

'20.—G. Blossom Woodward is now proprietor and manager of the Blossom Farm, Nassau, N. Y. He has just finished setting out 500 young apple trees.

'20.—C. A. Pike is working for the Perkins Fruit and Products Company in Springfield.

'20.—Morton Cassidy is running a Bee Farm in Groton, N. Y. He plans to go to Cuba for the winter.

'20.—W. A. Luce is in Wenatchee, Wash., working on a fruit farm.

'20.—B. F. Jakeman, after resigning his coaching position at M. A. C., is now traveling for the Wright-Ziegler Dairy Supplies Company of Boston.

'07.—L. D. Larsen has been manager of the Kilauea Sugar Company for about three years and in that time has brought this company to the front ranks among sugar companies. His program of welfare work for his plantation is an excellent one. He was one of the first managers to realize the importance of a good milk supply for his employees and has made an excellent start with an ideal dairy plant stocked with imported Ayrshires. Although the youngest sugar mill manager in the Islands, he ranks with the best in efficiency.

A HAIR RAISING EXPERIENCE

Amherst—A hair restorer, guaranteed to work is in great demand at the Massachusetts Agricultural College. If any one has such a patent, let him take the first train for Amherst, for there his fortune is assured.

A college tradition which requires all Freshmen to salute Seniors necessitates the growing of moustaches by the members of the latter class as a means of recognition. In spite of the agricultural ability of these men, a large majority of the class members have been unable to raise any appreciable crop of hair on their upper lips. Hence, the appeal for a guaranteed fertilizer. The girl students of the class are exempt from participation in this "hair-raising" stunt.—From the Boston Record of October, 8, 1920.

FIRST BASKETBALL GAME A VICTORY, 28-23

Connecticut Defeated by Superior Team Play.

The varsity basketball season started off in the right way Saturday afternoon when the Connecticut State team was defeated in the Drill Hall by a 28-23 score.

The game commenced just after the hockey game at three o'clock. The seating capacity of the hall was all used and the constant cheering, and singing between the halves, aided materially in keeping up the fight of the Aggie team.

There was no scoring done by either side until the middle of the first half. Roser was the first to score, on a foul. Shortly afterwards Marshman, playing his first Aggie varsity game shot a long basket from the center of the floor. The playing of Marshman throughout the game was fast. Connecticut's first score was on a foul. Alexander shot nine fouls for the visitors but the foul shooting of Roser for M. A. C. was exceptionally good. He gained a point for his team on ten different occasions, the last eight tries which he made being successful. The half ended in Aggie's favor 12-11.

At the beginning of the second half the home team ran up a lead of five points but two baskets from the floor by Connetieut made the score 21-20. Aggie led all the way and at the final whistle was ahead 28-23.

The superior pass work of the M.A.C. team was instrumental in their victory. Their defense was also exceptionally good and it was only on long shots

JUNIOR PROM COMMITTEE CHOSEN

Seven Men from Junior Class to Choose Chairman this Week.

Preparations for the Junior Prom were started last Thursday night in class meeting when fourteen names came up before the class, seven men to be elected from this list to comprise the committee.

While the ballots were being counted a discussion upon the Index was carried on and Randall, Gilbert and Russell were appointed a committee to bring up papers at the next meeting.

Lewandowski made an appeal to the class to back the class basketball team.

As a result of the elections, the Prom committee is as follows: Clarence F. Clark, Sunderland; Henry Mosely, Glastonbury, Conn.; Albert W. Smith, Easthampton, Hobart W. Spring, Brainfree; Geo. H. Thompson, Jr., Lenox; C. Raymond Vinten, Boston; Frederick V. Waugh, Amherst. The chairman will be elected by these seven this week.

PREXY EMPHASIZES AGGIE'S NEEDS

Mentions Need of Salary Increases and Building Program in Annual Report.

In his annual report President Butterfield stated that the college faces the most significant crisis in several decades. The problem is not the course that the college should take but the course that it is to be permitted to take.

One of the most serious problems is the changes in the faculty. "Nearly 100 changes in a staff of approximately 200 have occurred in two years. Less than one-third of the Extension staff employed two years ago are now with us." The reason for this is the ridiculously low salaries paid. Other state colleges have increased the salaries of their professors. Ours also have been granted a slight increase but it is in-

ATHERTON CLARK '77 NOW A TRUSTEE OF M. A. C.

Is Chosen to Succeed E. F. Mortimer.

Sincere gratification is felt by many connected with the college, at the appointment of Mr. Atherton Clark as a Trustee of the college, to succeed Mr. Edmund Mortimer, who has recently left the state. It seems very fitting that a son of one of the early and most distinguished Presidents should be so honored.

Mr. Clark is a member of the class of 1877, and for many years has been connected with the R. H. Stearns Co., of Boston. He has taken an active interest in the welfare of the college, having been President of the Associated Alumni, and at present being the Chairman of the Alumni Memorial Building Committee.

There are now five graduates of the college on the board of trustees. They are: Mr. William Wheeler, '71, Mr. Atherton Clark, '77, Mr. Elmer D. Howe, '81, Mr. Charles H. Preston, '83, and Mr. Harold L. Frost, '85.

RECENT CHANGES IN FACULTY PERSONNEL

Additions and Resignations Change Staff of Institution.

Since the opening of college last fall there have been several additions to the faculty, in many cases to take the place of those who have left for other fields.

Professor S. M. Salisbury was chosen to succeed Professor McNutt as head of the Department of Animal Husbandry. He graduated from Ohio State University in 1913 and since then has been engaged in work in animal husbandry, first as instructor at the college of agriculture at North Carolina from 1913-1915, as assistant Professor at Ohio State University from 1915-1918, and as county agent for Medina county, Ohio, from 1918-1920.

Mr. W. C. Thayer, a graduate of this college last year is an instructor in this department also.

Mr. W. L. Dowd '20, a graduate of M. A. C., is now teaching in the Entomology department and has charge of the short course work.

Mr. R. D. Harris is a new instructor in market gardening. He is a graduate of Middlebury college.

Mrs. J. G. Strahan, a graduate of Columbia is now teaching Home Economics.

Mr. Guy A. Thelin is a new addition to the Agronomy Department. He is a graduate of South Dakata State College.

Mr. W. E. Philbrick a graduate of this college in 1912 has been appointed extension assistant Professor of Landscape gardening. Since his graduation he had been engaged in practical work in landscape gardening at Minneapolis, Minnesota.

Professor Payne of the Poultry Department has recently resigned to take a position as professor of that subject in the department of agriculture in Kansas State college.

THREE CONCERTS GIVEN BY MUSICAL CLUBS

Annual Christmas Trip a Financial and Social Success.

The annual Christmas trip of the college musical clubs, which lasted this year from Dec. 29 to Jan. 1, included three concerts given in the vicinity of Boston. It may be considered a successful trip from the financial standpoint, and as for enjoyment, the men all agreed that the trip was well worth while.

On Wednesday, Dec. 29, the first concert was given at Stowe, a small town about 30 miles outside of Boston; then, on Thursday the clubs went to Needham, just outside of Boston, and on Saturday, New Year's Day, came a fitting climax to the trip at the Copley Plaza Hotel in the Hub City itself. This left the men free for Friday and New Year's Eve, a time which most of them managed to put to good use.

Meeting at Hudson, on Wednesday afternoon, transportation was furnished to Stowe by the local trolly line. On arriving at their destination, the men were furnished with a hearty supper by the ladies of the town, to put them in

GAME SECURED FOR AGGIE FIVE FOR JANUARY 15

Varsity will Take on Wentworth Institute.

The open date on the basketball schedule Saturday, Jan. 15, caused by the cancellation of the Rhode Island game, will be filled by a game with Wentworth Institute at the usual time, 3-00 P. M. The manager had great difficulty in filling this date on account of the lateness of the season. Wentworth Institute has one of the fastest institute teams around Boston, having lost only by a small score to Tufts. Comparatively little is known of their prowess in basketball as their team has never clashed with Aggie in previous years.

The Aggie quintet showed up well last Saturday in their game, excelling in pass work and defence. Of the two forwards, Roser has never played on the varsity before, but is going good and has his eye on the basket. A. W. Smith, veteran letter man, is beginning where he left off last year. Marshman played with the usual good form that marked his work last year in the interclass series. He promises to be one of the fastest centers in New England intercollegiate basketball this season. Gowdy, all New England guard, has lost none of his skill on the defence. Thompson, the other back, is making good in his position.

The probable Aggie lineup is:

Roser, rf; A. W. Smith, lf; Marshman, c; Gowdy, lg; Thompson, rg.

M. A. C. SEPTET MEETS DARTMOUTH SATURDAY

Mansell's Return Should Strengthen Team for Game at Hanover, N. H.

The M. A. C. hockey team will play its first out of town game on Saturday, Jan. 15, when it meets Dartmouth at Hanover, N. H. Dartmouth this year has one of the strongest teams in New England, and probably a stronger team than last year when she gained a 1 to 0 verdict over Aggie after three overtime periods. At that time the Maroon and White was crippled, with two men on the sick list, but this time she is out for vengeance and the Green team will have its work cut out on Saturday afternoon.

Dartmouth, like Aggie, has practically a veteran team. She is coached by Leon Tuck, a former Dartmouth and B. A. A. player, and last Saturday defeated Amherst College 4 to 2. The Amherst-M. A. C. game today will give some basis of comparison between the two teams.

The Aggie seven has not yet been put to a real test but at present it looks like one of the best ever turned out here. The high score against the Springfield Hockey Club is perhaps some indication of its scoring power. Since the recent cold weather the squad has been out on the ice and has got in some hard practice in preparation for the first games.

Harold Poole is now out with the squad and should give added strength to the defensive play.

Coach Mansell has recovered from a recent severe cold and will be in the game again Saturday, at point.

The team will probably lineup as follows:

M. A. C.	DARTMOUTH
McCarthy (capt.), rw	lw, Rothschild (capt.)
Gordon or Anderson, lw	rw, Smith
Lyons, c	c, Sands
Snow, r	r, Perry
Mansell, p	p, Furry

CARTOONIST ENTERTAINS APPRECIATIVE AUDIENCE

Pitt F. Parker Opens Social Union Program for 1921.

The first Social Union entertainment of 1921 was held in the Bowker Auditorium, Stockbridge Hall, last Saturday evening, Jan. 8, at 6-30, and was enjoyed by an audience of over 400 students and townsfolk. The entertainment was given by Mr. Pitt F. Parker, and consisted of drawings and racial sculpture work. Mr. Parker proved himself to be very witty and entertaining, and while sketching he kept up an entertaining run of conversation on a variety of subjects. A sly stab concerning the use of cosmetics was made with the aid of a drawing and the recitation of a short poem. He sketched an inverted scene of Niagara Falls, which proved to be incomprehensible to his audience until he had set it upright. Another beautiful scene which he drew was that of a mountain near Tacoma, Washington. He spoke on cartooning, saying that it was the oldest thing in the world. The performance was interesting as it was unique. The next Social Union entertainment will be held Saturday evening, Jan. 22, and the attraction will be Mr. B. F. Ford, electrical scientist.

INTERCLASS BASKETBALL SERIES UNDER WAY

Sophs Defeat Seniors and Juniors Lose to Freshmen in Opening Games. The Schedule.

Interclass basketball started off with a vim Friday night at the Drill Hall when the Sophomores overcame the Seniors by the score of 20-11, and the Freshmen defeated the Juniors 15-11. Both games were fast and full of action, a fact which would seem to indicate that it will not be an easy matter to decide the championship of the series this season. The fact that both lower classes came through with victories augures well for a keen competition for the annual Freshman-Sophomore numeral contest.

In the first game the fast teamwork of Tumey with Sargent and Grayson kept the Seniors hustling during the first half, which ended with the score 9-3. In the other half the Sophomore forwards were better covered, though they managed to score as many points from fewer tries. The defensive work of both Latour and Hunter was good. For the Seniors, Armstrong and Davis showed shooting ability, while Brigham starred on the defensive.

The line-up:

1921	1923
Poole, King, lb	rf, Sargent
King, Waite, rb	lf, Grayson
Brigham, c	c, Tumey
Lent, Davis, lf	rb, Latour
Cascio, Armstrong, rf	lb, Hunter, Wirth

Referee — Ball. Time — 20-minute periods. Score—1923-20, 1921-11.

The second game was close, but was marred by many personal fouls called on both sides. Barrows '24, helped his team materially by his good shooting of fouls. There seemed to be not a little difficulty over the inside side lines, which make the court much narrower than last year. The defensive playing of both teams was good, but in the second half the Freshmen got started and showed a fine spurt of team work. The shooting of Kaue, '24, was of the best, as was also the defensive work of Weatherwax and Hairston. For the Juniors, Clark and Webber did good work.

The line-up:

JUNIORS	FRESHMEN
Clark, lb	rf, Barrows
Lewandowski, rb	lf, Kane
Randall, c	c. Hill
Wentsch, lf	rb, Weatherwax
Krasker, Webber, rf	lb, Hairston

Referee — Gore. Time — 20-minute periods. Score—1924-15, 1922-11.

DEAN BEEBE SPEAKS

Tuesday afternoon, Dec. 21, although coming in the midst of finals, was reserved in order that the Pilgrim Tercentennial might be celebrated, with James A. Beebe, Dean of the School of Theology, Boston University, as the speaker.

Dean Beebe said it did not seem right to call the Pilgrims "forefathers," for they were young men of an average age of only 33. It is superfluous to look at the surface of their lives, yet their inner life discloses something worth while. We are dealing with religious material when we deal with the Pilgrims. They subordinated the material to the spiritual, and by doing so succeeded in producing one of the smoothest running governments ever known. The pilgrim group was not a colony, but a church composed of Idealists. To-day the idealist is called a Bolshevist or a Socialist. It is a fact that democracy is afraid of Idealism.

This brings up the question of how much we really believe in democracy. Color and race have quite a bit to do with our beliefs, and the unlimited application of democracy is not thought of at all. In other words, there seems to be a double standard of living. The Pilgrims had the the courage to bring their beliefs to a single standard with the subordination of everything to religion.

In closing, Dean Beebe showed the danger that confronts young men today when they stand on the threshhold of opportunity, and recommended that America strive to create an atmosphere congenial to ideals as the Pilgrims did three hundred years age.

ASSISTANT FOOTBALL MANAGERS CHOSEN

The assistant managers of football for the coming year were chosen last Friday afternoon at a meeting of the captain, student manager, and general manager. They were rated on a basis of their merits and comparative standing, in which a written examination, the amount of work, and general ability counted prominently. Those who were considered as being best qualified for the position are: John M. Whittier '23 and Holden Whitaker '23. Whittier is a graduate of Everett High School and Whitaker is a graduate of Newton High School.

OVER ONE HUNDRED IN TEN WEEKS' COURSE

After a registration lasting the greater part of last week, more than 110 students have been added to M. A. C. These men and women have enrolled in the Ten Weeks Winter School, under the auspices of the Short Course. 1921 marks the 22d year of a winter school at Aggie. The men and women taking the courses this year come from all parts of the state, and represent almost every state of education, some being common school graduates, while a few are rounding out college educations with a little practical work. The usual subjects in agriculture and homemaking are being taught this year. In addition, there is a "Two Weeks' Tractor Course," which will offer opportunities for regular students also to study these "machine horses."

The limiting factor of the winter school is the lack of rooms, on or near the campus, for the students. This factor has been the only thing that has kept the enrollment below 120 for the last two years.

In addition to these people, who are taking advantage of "ten weeks at college," several new men have enrolled in the Two Year and Federal Board groups.

We Turn to the East.

In his annual report to the Trustees of M. A. C., President Butterfield has laid bare the needs of the College, needs which must be filled very soon if Aggie is not to fall to the rank of a second-grade institution.

Prexy stated that the College faces at this time a crisis, perhaps the most significant one in several decades. We are crippled in four ways by lack of appropriations. First, we are losing professors far faster than we can hire competent men to fill their places—this because salaries here are so ridiculously low. Second, the scope of the College has been broadened in the past few years more extensively than Boston has seen fit to broaden our appropriations. Third, the building program has been so shortened that "no major building has been provided for seven years, and new departments have no abiding place." Fourth, we are handicapped in publicity work by lack of funds.

Every Aggie man who has been on the campus even for one year must have been cognizant of these conditions. He must realize how numerous Aggie's "hills of difficulty" have become. Most of us probably have little influence over the political affairs of the Bay State. But any pressure that can be exerted through influential parents or friends—pressure to induce the Legislature through its individual members to do the obviously fair thing to M. A. C. in way of appropriations—such pressure should be made use of.

The rest of us must gaze to the East, to the gilded dome on Beacon Hill, and, like Mohammedans praying to far-off Mecca, pray that those assembled there will not forget us in 1921.

"Hayshakers"

Education and its various advantages has been the theme of discussion in the learned gatherings of the world. By these discussions policies have been decided upon and their development finds reaction in the system now in vogue at M. A. C.

The later idea is that education is not merely a memorized accumulation of facts, but is the preparation and training for a fuller life expression. This idea was recently given by a member of an education class at M. A. C. Among the factors of a fuller life expression were mentioned personality, reasoning power, culture, and others. These statements were accepted by the majority of the class as being nearest to the true definition.

With this in mind, how many students realize what they are in college for? The majority would answer "To get an education." How many realize the opportunities for self-development which are offered at this college? How many are really making use of them? There are to be heard about the campus such terms as "hay-shaker", "wheat", used in reference to some particularly indifferent fellow-student. In brief, these terms merely indicate that these men are not taking advantage of their opportunities for the fullest development. They are retiring into a shell, avoiding contact with their fellows except along certain narrow lines. Their view-point of life is one-sided. When they leave college they will be unable to compete with others except along certain narrow lines. When jolted out of the rut by a stroke of Fate they will be lost.

It is to these men that this is addressed. The man who has chosen to pursue agriculture should not disregard art, music, literature, the social graces, economics, sociology, and the other more or less cultural subjects. Be able to meet your fellow-men on any standing. Be cosmopolitan, it will do no harm. Aggie presents these opportunities, make use of them.

BISHOP HUGHES DELIVERS IMPRESSIVE SERMON

"Man's Friendship for God", is His Theme.

Bishop Hughes was the speaker at Sunday Chapel, Jan. 9, and used for his topic the story of the Prodigal Son. He impressed the fact that above all God cares for everything that takes place on earth, and if we do any kind of wrong it hurts Him. God shares both pain and pleasure, proof of which is found when running through the New Testament where we find again andagain phrases of divine pain and pleasure. As one passes up the scale of the animal kingdom it is seen that the power of pair and of sorrow increases proportionally with the advancement of each animal.

We must always keep in mind the friendship of God for us, and realize that it makes a vast difference to God the degree of our friendship for Him. Although brought up under good religious training at home, it often happens that when a young man goes to college, he goes back on God and God's friendship by not following his early teaching. It must always be remembered that when we go back on God we cause him great pain; but when human beings come into His truth God rejoices. In the Prodigal Son, the father represents the sufferer and not the son, and in the same respect God is the one who suffers when we do wrong.

In referring to his war experience in France, Bishop Hughes spoke of the numerous addresses he gave to the soldiers on profanity, and that in every case the men realized the wrong they had been committing by talking in profane and mean conversation. The man who swears violates the laws of God Almighty, and above all he is not a good Christian. If, instead of using profane terms in a careless and meaningless sense, we make them really mean something, then we will have benefitted ourselves in no small respect.

"He Profits Most Who Serves Best"

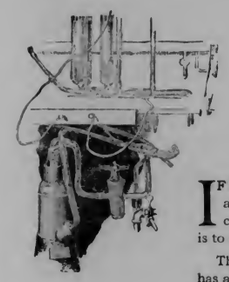

WE realize that it has become not a question of whether merchandise sells at a profit or at a loss—the profit of the individual is of small moment where the welfare of the multitude is involved. The clearing of shelves has become a public duty—a patriotic duty—so that future purchasing may be done, to the end that the industries of America may not become stagnant. Your purchases and our purchases help to keep America employed.

M. A. C. SEVEN DEFEATS SPRINGFIELD HOCKEY CLUB

On Saturday afternoon the Varsity hockey team played a practice game on the pond against a team representing the Springfield Hockey Club. Aggie won easily though the game was slowed up and both sides handicapped by poor ice and lack of boards around the rink. The M. A. C. men proved to be much faster than their opponents. They kept the puck in Springfield territory practically the whole time and scored almost at will. The Springfield shooters seldom broke through the Aggie defence and goaltender Newell did not have a very busy afternoon.

Captain McCarthy, Snow, and Collins did the best work for M. A. C and Art Johnson '15, an old Aggie baseball and hockey man, was the star of the Springfield aggregation.

Coach "Sunny" Mansell watched the game from the sidelines as he is just recovering from a severe cold.

What Is Vacuum?

IF THE traffic policeman did not hold up his hand and control the automobiles and wagons and people there would be collisions, confusion, and but little progress in any direction. His business is to direct.

The physicist who tries to obtain a vacuum that is nearly perfect has a problem somewhat like that of the traffic policeman. Air is composed of molecules—billions and billions of them flying about in all directions and often colliding. The physicist's pump is designed to make the molecules travel in one direction—out through the exhaust. The molecules are much too small to be seen even with a microscope, but the pump jogs them along and at least starts them in the right direction.

A perfect vacuum would be one in which there is not a single free molecule.

For over forty years scientists have been trying to pump and jog and herd more molecules out of vessels. There are still in the best vacuum obtainable more molecules per cubic centimeter than there are people in the world, in other words, about two billion. Whenever a new jogging device is invented, it becomes possible to eject a few million more molecules.

The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have spent years in trying to drive more and more molecules of air from containers. The chief purpose has been to study the effects obtained, as, for example, the boiling away of metals in a vacuum.

This investigation of high vacua had unexpected results. It became possible to make better X-ray tubes—better because the X-rays could be controlled; to make the electron tubes now so essential in long-range wireless communication more efficient and trustworthy; and to develop an entirely new type of incandescent lamp, one which is filled with a gas and which gives more light than any of the older lamps.

No one can foretell what will be the outcome of research in pure science. New knowledge, new ideas inevitably are gained. And sooner or later this new knowledge, these new ideas find a practical application. For this reason the primary purpose of the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company is the broadening of human knowledge.

JUNIOR CLASS MEETING AND SMOKER HELD

The first Junior class smoker of the year was held last week Friday in French Hall with president Albert W. Smith the presiding officer.

George A. Cotton, captain-elect of football, was the first of a list of informal speakers. Herbert L. Collins, star athlete of the class, was the next man to be called on. His few words on hockey and baseball were well chosen and drew forth a good handclap. Clarence F. Clark, manager of baseball, gave a few remarks and also read a report from the Soph-Senior hop committee giving the balance on hand.

The principal speaker of the evening was Prof. Hicks of the athletic department. He responded to the chairman's call with his usual interesting words and particularly emphasized the need for more spirit among the upperclassmen in regards to going out for managerships.

It was voted to appoint a class nominating committee.

It was also voted to elect the Junior Prom committee at the next meeting.

Paul Reed was elected to serve on the smoker committee to replace D. H. Smith who has gone to Cuba. Kenneth A. Barnard was elected to serve as the other Junior member of the athletic board. Lewandowski had previously been elected as the first member.

The next smoker will be held tonight in the Social Union.

SENATE NOTES

The President of the Senate took occasion recently to remind the Freshmen that after the Christmas vacation they were not required by the rules of the Senate to salute Seniors and Senate members. The ban on walking with co-eds is also off.

The Senate is now working on rules for the annual Freshman-Sophomore banquet season, coming next term. Special provisions are to be made to guard against any possible breaking of the rules by either side.

The Senate now holds its meetings every Tuesday night at 6-45, rather than at 7-15 as was stated in the campus calendar.

Professor W. R. Hart of the Department of Agricultural Education has accepted an invitation to act as one of the judges at the Bowdoin-Dartmouth debate to be held at Brunswick, Maine, January 14th.

BÖGHOLT '21 HEADS ROISTER DOISTERS

Succeeds J. H. Smith '21. Plans Begun for Prom Show.

At a meeting of the Roister Doister dramatic society just previous to the Christmas recess, Carl M. Bogholt '21, of Newport, R. I., was chosen president to succeed J. H. Smith '21, whose resignation was accepted by the society. Bogholt became a member of the Roister Doisters by taking part in last year's Prom show, "Nothing but the Truth", and has since taken a very active interest in the organization. He scored a decided hit in the 1920 commencement play, "The Witching Hour". His election is a popular one to the society and undergradnates. He is a member of the Q. T. V. fraternity.

At the same meeting a committee consisting of Faculty Manager Rand, Manager Edman, C. M. Bogholt '21, and D. G. Davidson '21 was chosen to select a play for Junior Prom. Announcement of the play selected, with cast of characters chosen, will probably appear in the next COLLEGIAN.

VARSITY RELAY PRACTICE BEGINS

Good Bunch of Veteran Runners Give Promise of Successful Season.

The Varsity Relay practice started last week with a good bunch of veteran runners out, who are hitting the boards with the old time speed. The seniors are the best represented with six men out including Captain Gray, Hurd, Allen, Sloane, Slate and West. Sullivan and Kemp are juniors represented, while the sophs have MacCready, Woodworth and Tanner out. The Freshmen have only three men out, Woodworth, MacAfee and Ball. More candidates are needed both from the Freshman and Sophomore classses.

Practice is being held every afternoon under coach Dickinson and Manager Gilbert. The practice consists largely in training taking the banks properly and passing the baton. This is especially important as M. A. C. has always been one of the most proficient teams in passing the baton at the meets.

Captain Gray, Sullivan, MacCready and Woodworth are doing good work as usual and Allen is in in good form.

The first race will be with New Hampshire, Feb. 5, at the new arena in Boston. A race with Amherst is also contemplated on the week before. A successful season is looked forward to.

LAST COPIES OF 1921 INDEX SOON TO APPEAR

Those who have not yet received their copies of the 1921 Index will get them soon. Several unfortunate circumstances have occurred to delay publication since last June, the time when the books were scheduled to appear. The principal cause of delay was a misunderstanding between the Business Department and the publishers concerning the number of books desired. The latter have acknowledged a mistake on their part, and although the type had been taken down, it has been reset, and the extra copies are now being published.

The first issue of the second volume of The Razor Blade appeared Jan. 10th, after a long absence. Evidence of the downward trend of prices appears in its new price of "two Lincolns."

WORK OF EXTENSION SERVICE OUTLINED

Director Willard Gives Survey of the Department at Assembly.

Mr. John D. Willard, Head of the Extension Service, outlined the objects and accomplishments of his department Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 5, in Bowker Auditorium. This was the first student assembly of the term, and nearly every seat in the hall was filled, the balcony being occupied by the vocational and other short course students. Accordlng to Professor Patterson of the English Department, who introduced the speaker, the students have only a vague idea of what the departments of the College, including the Extension Department, are doing.

Mr. Willard stated that the Extension Department was, "The College, functioning in an educational way for the people of the State who are not resident at the College." Its object is to take the College to the people who cannot come to the Campus to derive its benefits. The Extension Service teaches the better ways in agriculture, and helps to make the home more attractive. This project of extension work is, however, not new. It was used as early as 1784 by "Turnip" Tonshend, who traveled in England lecturing on better methods of raising turnips. The Massachusetts Society for the Promotion of Agriculture was established in 1792. The various counties have also formed their own bodies; that of Berkshire county having been formed in 1810.

The organization itself consists in the director and his assistants, the county agent leader, the State leader, and the county agents themselves. The county agents take the work directly to the farm and the home. It is not so much the work of the Staff that is the main factor in the progress of the Extension Service, as it is the individual farmer. The successful farmer is a college by himself. Others learn by associating with him individually, and in agricultural co-operative associations.

SOPHOMORE MEMBERS OF HOP COMMITTEE CHOSEN

The Sophomore Class held an important meeting Wednesday, Jan. 5 after assembly for the purpose of electing a Soph-Senior Hop Committee. Donald B. Alexander of Rochester, Owen E. Folsom of Roslindale, Robert D. Fuller of Woburn, Richmond H. Sargent of Buxton, Maine, Francis Buckley of Natick, Howard Gordon of Ipswich, and Fred Sears of Dalton, were elected. A smoker committee consisting of rGayson, chairman, Sargent and Mohor was elected.

CAMPUS NOTES

At a meeting held on the evening of Jan. 5, the Informal Committee decided to have the next Informal January 22, if supported. There will be a stand on the matter in Assembly today. No other business was tranacted at the meeting.

The Y. M. C. A. will conduct its regular weekly business meeting in Stockbridge hall after Assembly to-day. Wednesday night, Jan. 12, Willis Tanner, a regular student at the college will give an illustrated lecture on his native country, "Japan."

What do you know about Japan? You will learn something about our neighbor by coming to French Hall, Room F, Thursday, Jan. 13 at 6 p. m. A lecture with stereoptian views, will be given by W. Tanner, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Watch the campus billboards for further notices regarding word education.

President Butterfield addressed the student body at Monday morning's chapel, January 10th. He dwelt on religion in connection with labor conditions of the day and the general social unrest prevailing. He emphasized the fact that religion is the remedy needed for the existing conditions, and he brought out strongly the great lack of religion among American business men.

A series of lectures has been scheduled for the winter by the Pomology Club. On Jan. 18, the second talk of the season will be given by Mr. Charles Gould of the Pomology Department. The remaining lectures will be as follows: Feb. 1: "Opportunities for Orcharding in New England", by Mr. Van Meter; Feb. 15: "Plums, Wild and Cultivated", by Prof. Waugh; March 1: Program to be announced; election of officers; March 15: "Movies", "The Citrus Fruit Industries".

The bi-monthly meeting of the Animal Husbandry Club will be held Wednesday evening, Jan. 12, in Stockbridge Hall. Prosessor Judkins of the Dairy Department will discuss the history and the present problems in the dairying industry, especially as relates to New England. Every one interested is invited to attend. President Fletcher of the club announces that an active program is being planned for the coming year. At the regular meetings held every other Wednesday, there will be course discussions by practical breeders and by representatives of the various breeding associations. Several moving picture illms with interesting speakers to accompany them have also been engaged to come here during the season.

fighting trim for the performance, which was called at 8 P. M. Needless to say, the dance which followed was well participated in by both audience and clubs.

While at Stowe the men were put up for the night at the private houses of the townspeople, who very kindly opened wide their doors for the accommodation of the clubs. The fellows united in praise of the hospitality of these people, and all agreed that they could not have been better treated.

Manager Howard succeeded in gathering together most of his flock again in the South Station, Boston, Thursday night, in readiness for the Needham concert, which was given in the Needham town hall. Following this concert, most of the men went to their homes around Boston, or with friends, until Saturday night.

The program was practically the same for the three concerts, and was as published in the COLLEGIAN for the Hadley concert, Dec. 10. The short sketch by Don Davidson '21, seemed especially well appreciated, while the quartet who were encored time and again, made a decided hit at each concert with their clever songs. The Glee and Mandolin clubs come in for their share of praise, as they showed good results from their intensive training. The addition of four Freshmen on this trip proved a valuable asset to the Mandolin club.

By far the crowning event of the trip was the Copley Plaza concert, as was entirely fitting. Held in the Swiss Room, this was largely attended by undergraduates and alumni with their wives and friends, making a gathering of about 80 couples. Enthusiasm and Aggie spirit pervaded the air, and the audience showed its appreciation of the clubs by repeated encores. The men responded to this show of appreciation by putting forth their best efforts to make this the best concert yet. The audience was seated around the sides of the hall, and dancing immediately followed the concert, lasting until 11-30 P. M. In regards to this concert, which is an annual affair, plans are being made to hold next year's concert in the ball room of the hotel, and to make the concert a New Year's Eve affair.

The following men were taken on the trip, beside managers Howard and Lowery:

1921—Fletcher, Goff, Haslam, Howard, Labrovitz, Lincoln, Martin, L. P., Newton, Sloan, Starkey, Davidson.

1922—Burnham, Holman, Hussey, Martin, E., Moody, Mosely, Spring, Vinten, Waugh.

1923—Arrington, Faneuf, Fuller, Norcross, Richards, Sears, Slade, Towne, C. A., Wendell, Whittier, Martin, R. F, Bennett, Broderick.

1924—Bowes, Kennedy, Lamb, Loting.

PRES. BUTTERFIELD'S REPORT sufficient.

"The building situation has become not only discouraging but almost disheartening. No major building has been provided for seven years." New departments have no housing place and old ones inadequately housed a dozen years ago have not had their facilities improved. In the report a permanent building program and the financial support of it are asked for again. In asking for increased maintenance and new building Prexy says, "These appropriations are absolutely essential in order that the college shall render its full service to the entire population of the Commonwealth."

In conclusion he said, "Is our college to be regarded as a necessary nuisance, or as an object of the most liberal possible support because it is considered indispensable to the economic and social progress of the state? Can I possibly be more clear in stating that this institution is not our institution? It does not belong to the trustees or to the faculty, it belongs to the people of the state. We are their trustees for its effectiveness. We simply report the conditions under which it can be made fully effective. We will be derelict in our duty if we fail to indicate the terms either financial or administrative under which we believe it can be made most effective."

John H. Lockhart '22, left "Aggie" Thursday to attend New York University.

VARSITY FIVE TO INVADE VERMONT

Will Take On U. V. M. Friday and Middlebury Saturday.

On Friday the basketball team leaves for their trip to Vermont, where they will play the University of Vermont Friday night and on Saturday will take on Middlebury at Middlebury. These will be the first games away from home this season and if the team plays against the Green Mountain boys with the same flash they have displayed in their wins against Conn. Aggie and Wentworth Institute, two more wins will be chalked up for M. A. C.

Very little is known of Vermont's strength as this is the first season in several years that basketball has been a varsity sport, and an entirely new squad has had to be developed. Although defeated in their first game with Albany Law School, they have greatly improved lately as a result of much hard practise and participation in exhibition contests. Capt. Heidger, who has been elected to fill the position left vacent by the resignation of Capt. Harris, will lead a strong quintet against M. A. C. and a good contest is certain to be on tap.

Middlebury has already played seven games, splitting even in victories. They defeated Albany Law School, 32-21, lost to Dartmouth, 31-19, and lost by close scores to both Harvard and New Hampshire State. On Saturday they defeated Northeastern, 33-17. Leonard who plays forward, is easily the star of the team and his work against M. A. C. will be watched with interest. A very fast game may be expected, with Middlebury possessing the advantage of being on the home surface, and M. A. C. the faster team.

MIDWINTER ALUMNI DAYS SET FOR FEBRUARY 4 AND 5

An Interesting Program Has Been Provided for the Occasion.

Winter Alumni Day this year will be of more importance than ever before, because of the large number of returning alumni and the fact that the day will be considered a part of the Semi-centennial program of the college. A fine program has been arranged, and a cordial invitation to visit classes has been extended by the departments to all the returning alumni.

The program begins with the visiting of classes and inspection of the college on Friday morning, Feb. 4, and terminates with the Fraternity banquets to be held at 7-30 Saturday evening. A complimentary alumni supper will be served Friday evening at 6 o'clock in Draper Hall, and as many undergraduates will attend as can be accommo-

CAST IS SELECTED FOR PROM SHOW

Dramatis Personnae of "School for Scandal" Includes Sixteen Lower Class Men.

"The School For Scandal", a comedy in five acts by Richard B. Sheridan will be presented by the Rolster Dolster Dramatic Association for the Junior Prom. This comedy has been placed at the head of the English comic drama, and was first acted in 1777 at Drury lane. Notwithstanding this fact, the play is entirely modern in its sentiment, and may be regarded as a well directed take-off on the times. Seldom has a piece met with equal success, and it retains its place to this day as a flawless specimen of an acted comedy.

A large number of would-be actors and actresses met at the Social Union rooms, Friday night, Jan. 14, and as a result of a strong competition the following cast of characters were chosen by the judges who were Prof. Rand, faculty manager; Bögholt, President; Edman, manager; and Davidson:

Sir Peter Teazle	Donald G. Davidson '21
Sir Oliver Surface	Francis S. Fletcher '21
Charles Surface	Carl M. Bögholt '21
Joe Surface	Robert F. R. Martin '23
Crabtree	Earle S. Carpenter '24
Rowley	Russell D. Baker '21
Moses	Edwin H. Warren '22
Sir Benj. Backbite	Robert M. Darling '24
Careless	Charles H. Anderson '21
Sir Harry Bumper	Lawrence E. Broderick '23
Snake	Cleon B. Johnson '23
Trip	James L. Williams '24
Servant to Lady Sneerwell	Robert L. Jones '21
Servant to Joseph S.	Roger B. Friend '23
Maid to Sir Peter	Miss Mildred H. Lyons '24
Sir Toby	George R. Lockwood '21
Lady Sneerwell	Miss Rose F. Labrovitz '23
Mrs. Candour	Miss Eleanor W. Bateman '23
Lady Teazle	Miss Frances B. Martin '23
Maria	Miss Inza A. Boles '23

On account of the exceptionally large cast of twenty characters, opportunity has been given to test much new talent, especially from the Freshman class. Miss Bateman, Miss Martin, and Miss Boles took part in the very successful Freshman play last year. Lockwood, Fletcher, Jones, Anderson, Baker, Bogholt, Friend, and Davidson are members of the Rolster Doisters, having taken part in previous dramatics, and the best is sure to attend their work. Rehearsals will start as soon as possible and every effort will be made to produce a play of the highest quality.

M. A. C. VS. HARVARD AT CAMBRIDGE WEDNESDAY

Hockey Seven will Also Meet M. I. T. and Tufts on Boston Trip.

The present week promises to be a busy one for the Aggie hockey seven. The team leaves today on a three game trip to Boston. Games are scheduled with Harvard tonight, with M. I. T. Friday afternoon and with Tufts Saturday afternoon. The game tonight will be played in the new Arena but the other two are dependent on the weather as they will have to be played out of doors.

The game with Harvard tonight will be the hardest on the M. A. C. schednle, and the Maroon and White will be playing against odds when she lines up against the Crimson. Harvard is probably the strongest college team on the ice this winter. She opened the season with a 9 to 1 victory over Kings College and has also beaten the strong B. A. A.

C. RAYMOND VINTEN IS JUNIOR PROM CHAIRMAN

Active Preparations Under Way for the Biggest and Best Junior Prom April 15, 16, and 17.

April 15, 16 and 17. The date for Junior Prom has been set at these three days. Here is a chance for those who like a good dance to have the best time of their four years in college. This year's Prom is going to be a bigger and better affair than any which has ever been held at Aggie. At this early date a surprisingly large number of men have handed in their names to the chairman of the committee so as to be sure of a ticket. The "prelims" will be out next week. The price of the Prom dance itself will be approximately $10. Three dollars is to be paid as a deposit for the "prelims".

Charles Raymond Vinten of Boston has been elected chairman of the Prom Committee. Vinten has already demonstrated his ability as an efficient worker. His Sophomore year was broken up when he entered the navy, but since his re-entrance into college he has been an active member of the Squib Board, being managing editor this year. He is also leader of the college quartet and a principle in both the Glee Club and Mandolin club. His election is a popular one. He is a member of the Theta Chi fraternity.

Active preparations for Prom were started last week Wednesday at a meeting of the committee held after the Junior Smoker in the Social Union. The seven members were divided with the following duties for each: Decorations Spring, Thompson, and Vinten; supper—Smith; music—Waugh and Moseley; programs—Clark and Smith; finances—Clark. These divisions are at

VARSITY SEPTET WINS AND LOSES CLOSE GAMES

Amherst Beaten, 2-1. Dartmouth Wins, 3-2, in Two Five Minute Overtimes.

The M. A. C. hockey team got away to a good start Wednesday afternoon when it took the Amherst College seven into camp in the first game on the new rink. The score was 2 to 1 but this hardly shows the relative ability of the two teams. Amherst was outplayed in every department and only fine work by goaltender Plimpton, kept the Aggie score down. The Amherst cage was fairly peppered with shots while "Phil" Newell had only six stops during the afternoon.

Harold Poole was in the game at point and though he only recently joined the squad he put up a fine game. He scored first for Aggie early in the opening period, caging the puck from close range after dribbling down the ice through the Amherst defence.

The second Aggie goal also came in the first half. Lyons was the player to score from in front of the net following a long shot by Collins, which rebounded from Plimpton's stick.

The second period proved to be faster than the first and at times the play was rather rough. Several times the Aggie forwards brought the puck down the ice with a rush only to have it warded off by a fine stop at the Amherst goal. Captain McCarthy and Mansell were particularly prominent in this attack but they could not get the puck past the Purple and White goal tend.

The only Amherst score came late in the last half. It was a pretty shot to the corner of the net made by Captain Davidson, after dribbling nearly the length of the rink.

The game was fast throughout, and while Amherst fought hard in the last half, the M. A. C. team held the advantage at all times. The puck was in the visitors' territory most of the time.

Probably the feature of the Aggie play was the work of "Sharkey" Lyons. Besides scoring one of the goals he turned in some fine defensive work. The Maroon and White was particularly strong on the defensive work. Collins and Poole proved a pair hard to get by and Mansell and Lyons were also prominent in breaking up Amherst rushes. Captain McCarthy played his usual whirlwind game and Collins also featured. Gordon put up a very creditable exhibition in his first varsity game.

Plimpton was easily the headliner for Amherst, his work at the net being of a high calibre. Captain Davidson also came in for honors while Clark proved himself a dangerous man with the puck.

The lineup:

M. A. C.	AMHERST.
McCarthy, rw	lw, Metcalf
Mansell, Snow, r	r, Clark

M.A.C. Library

Lyons, c	c, Davidson
Gordon, Anderson, Haskins, lw	rw, Titus
Collins, cp	cp, Worcester
Poole, p	p, Wilcox
Newell, g	g, Plimpton

Score—M. A. C. 2, Amherst 1. Score at half time—M. A. C. 2, Amherst 0. Goals made by—Poole, Lyons, Davidson. Referee—Bullen, Goal judges—McIntosh, Jones. Time—20 minute halves.

Fighting all the way for a victory the aggressive Aggie sextet was barely nosed out of a win by Coach Tuck's speedy Dartmouth outfit in the last five minutes of a double overtime period game on the latter's Alumni Oval rink, Saturday, by a 3-2 score.

Aggie at the start, assumed the aggressive and carried the puck into the Green's territory. In a stiff scrimmage the puck was chased all over that end of the rink until Ross the speedy Dartmouth wing, captured the puck, dribbled it the length of the rink and shoved across the initial tally. Mansell was robbed of a count by Neidlinger's close stop soon after. The shooting of "Sonny" kept the Green goal on his toes the entire period. Sands made the second score for Dartmouth by a well placed shot from the side of the rink. With the referee's whistle at the end of the half, Tuck's warriors led 2-0.

The playing of both teams in the second half in all lines far outclassed that of the first half. The Aggie offensive took the lead and Snow gaining the puck dribbled it up the ice and pushed a neat goal past Neidlinger. Within a few minutes of the first tally Mansell scored the second by a well directed shot from about 25 feet before the Green goal. This brought the Dartmouth rooters to their feet. Both teams struggled for the winning count but neither was able to penetrate the other's strong defense. The speedy and shifty play put up by Captain McCarthy kept the Green defensive on their toes. At the close of the period the score was a 2-2 tie.

No count was made during the first five minutes overtime period. Each team directed its shots accurately but the clever work of Newell and Neidlinger checked the scoring. The winning tally for Dartmouth came with a fast advance by the Green offense and a close shot before the Aggie goal by Captain Rothchild. The final score stood 3-2.

In speed and attack the Aggie seven had the edge on their opponents. The strong teamwork and follow-up of Ross and Sands, the Dartmouth wings, featured the playing of the Hanover team. The lineup;

M. A. C.	DARTMOUTH.
McCarthy, rw	rw, Smith
Snow, lw	lw, Ross

M. A. C. DEFEATS BOSTON FIVE BY 36-12 SCORE

Roser, Marshman and Smith Feature. Aggie Teamwork a Strong Factor.

The varsity quintet won its second game of the season on the Drill Hall floor last Saturday afternoon when it defeated Wentworth Institute of Boston by a 36 to 12 score. The team from Boston was not up to the standard of the Aggie five. Their play lacked the efficient teamwork and passing that characterized the play of the home team.

The work of Roser and Marshman was very good. These two men were constantly within range of their opponents basket and on several occassions brought the cheering section to its feet by their skillful shooting. Marshman was particularly good on shots from beneath the basket while Roser and Smith got several baskets from the fifteen foot mark.

Wentworth had the first chance to score after about thirty seconds of play, but missed. They gained one point shortly after though, when McNeir shot a foul. Roser followed this with a foul for M. A. C. and Marshman added two more points with the first basket of the game. A few minutes later Marshman made his second score and Smith followed with a basket from the sideline. Two or three foul shots which were successful and a basket by Roser brought the score to 10-4 in Aggie's favor. For three or four minutes after this nearly every shot tried was successful. Roser scored twice from the floor and once from foul. Smith, Gowdy, and Marshman each scored from the floor and McNeir scored two points for Wentworth with shots from the foul line. A unique feature of this half was a triple foul on Aggie followed immediately by a double foul on Wentworth. Roser scored once more from under the basket and the half ended 25-8 in favor of M. A. C.

The second half was not as good an exhibition of basketball as the first half had been. Smith scored twice, and Marshman and Thompson each got credit for a basket. In this half fully twenty-five shots by the Aggie men hit the edge of the Wentworth basket and bounded away while in direct contrast the shots in the first half were nearly all successful. The game ended with the score 36-12 after Roser had shot a foul on the last play.

The work of Roser and Marshman, with Gowdy's fine defense work still stands out in Aggie's play. McNeir and Roberts were the only two of the visitors who were able to get down the floor at all.

The score:

M. A. C.	WENTWORTH
Roser, rf	lg, Van Iderstine
A. W. Smith, lf	rg, Kennedy
Ball, lf	rg, Ralph
Marshman, c	c, McNeir
Thompson, rg	lf, Roberts
Hale, rg	lf, Woodward
Gowdy, lg (Capt.)	(Capt.) rf, Wolstenholme

Baskets from floor—Roser 4, Marshman 4, Smith 4, Thompson, Gowdy, Roberts 2, and McNeir. Baskets from foul—Roser 8, McNeil 3, and Roberts 3. Referee—Garland of Holyoke. Timer—McLaughlin of M. A. C. Scorer—Bunker of M. A. C.

SPEAKER TALKS ON SOCIALISM

Professor Crook, at Wednesday Assembly, Reviews New York Debate.

Prof. J. W. Crook of Amherst College addressed the student body Wednesday afternoon Jan. 12. He related in a most interesting manner a few details of the Socialists banquet at New York and gave an essence of the debate held that evening. The subject was "Is Capitalism Collapsing?" Professor Crook brought out the following points as presented by the various speakers. Capitalism is that system of industry in which the world markets, stock exchange, and working people are part of. In times before the program of this industry was different than that of today. Capitalists and labor were more closely associated. They felt to be on level with each other. Labor could work with the hope of becoming owner themselves. They could even hope to become part of the capitalists family by an alliance of marriage. Their position was one of equality. Today the system has changed. The Capitalists aim is entirely different. Instead of wishing to produce for the good of the people, their only aim is to make wealth and build up a fortune for themselves. As a result, labor has become disheartened and rebellious. Agitation among them has become widespread and industrial turmoil reigns today.

SENIORS AND SOPHOMORES COME THRU IN CLASS GAMES

Defeat Two-Year and Juniors Respectively.

The second set of interclass basketball games Friday night, Jan. 14, at the Drill Hall, saw the Juniors defeated again, this time by the Sophomores to the tune of 13-10. The Seniors made up for their defeat last week by registering a 15-12 victory over the 2-year team, which made its first appearance on the floor in this game. Accordingly, the Sophomores have two games to their credit, being tied for first place with the Freshmen, who have won their only game.

The Junior-sophomore tilt, especially in the first half, was marked by poor shooting and lack of systematic teamwork. There were plenty of personal fouls called on both sides, and the three points made by Tumey '23, on fouls, accounts for the final score of the game. In the second half the Juniors caught up, making the score 9-8. Both teams then played nip and tuck, each making one basket, but Tumey's next twin-counter soon put the game on ice. He was high scorer for '23, while Beal and Hunter also put up a fast game. Randall '22 played well at center until relieved by Acheson, and, with Wentsch, did much of the scoring for the Juniors. The lineup:

Wentsch, rf	lg, Alger, Hunter
Webber, lf	rg, Grayson
Randall, c	c, Tumey
Lewandowski, rg	lg, Beal
Clark, Acheson, lg	rf, Sargent

Score — '23, 13; '22, 10. Referee — Grayson.

The second game was a good exhibition of basketball, despite the fact that the Seniors were always in the lead. Good shooting ability was revealed on both sides. Lent '21 caged several fine ones, but Stevens and Girard of the S. C. also had their eyes on the basket, and the work of these two clever forwards always made the game uncertain. After the 2-year, with two successive baskets, had come to within three points of their opponents, the game took on new life, but the Seniors soon gained a fresh lead. Waite and Brigham '21 put up a consistent game, while Green and Stevens did steller work for their team. The lineup:

SENIORS	TWO-YEAR
Lent, rf	lg, Grant, Clough
Davis, lf	rg, Maggi
Brigham, c	c, Green
Waite, rg	lf, Stevens
Cascio, lg	rf, Girard

Score—'21, 15; T. Y., 12. Referee—Ball.

ADDRESS ON EVILS OF BOLSHEVISM

Peter W. Collins Speaks at Sunday Chapel.

A very instructive talk was given at Chapel last Sunday morning by Mr. Peter W. Collins of the Knights of Columbus, Boston. In it he dealt particularly with Bolshevism, what it really is and its significance in respect to social conditions in this country. He gave a brief history of Bolshevism and told how it differed in form from other socialistic movements. Bolshevism is mainly true, applied, socialism. It really originated from the soap box orators and other crack-brained fanatics, and not from the mass of working people. The working man in the main does not begin to feel dissatisfied until told by the orators that he is being radically wronged and should make his power evident in order that he may obtain his rights. The commons look upon the subject from only one side. The buildings they have built do not really belong to them as the orators tell them. They build them, that much is true, but they were paid for their time and energy. It is the flowery words, not the ideas of the orators that stir the masses. Socialism is expressed in two media—the collegiate language and the language of the uneducated. The orators employ what collegiate phrases they happen to know and so befog their listeners with a language that is beyond their comprehension so that as a result they are lead to believe things which they would not if allowed to exercise their reason.

Socialism contradicts religion and the ten commandments. The speaker brought out the fact that Bolshevism must be subdued by education. The general ignorance concerning what Bolshevism really is, is the cause of its spread. If the working people really know what Bolshevism is, as it is being worked out in Russia, they would try by every possible means to escape it rather than lending a longing ear to whatever demagog holds the soap box.

work and extensive plans are being made for the decorations and supper. The orchestra will be announced within a few days.

Besides the regular Prom dance on Friday night there will be the usual week-end attractions. The first of these is the Prom cabaret which is held from 2-00 to 5-30 on Saturday afternoon. The combined Musical Clubs will give selections while an orchestra will furnish music for dancing. The usual refreshments and drinks will be in abundance. At 8-00 o'clock the Prom show will be staged in Stockbridge Hall. The show to be presented this year is "The School for Scandal." Several fraternities plan to hold short house dances after this performance. Sunday morning the Prom guests are cordially invited to chapel exercises and in the afternoon a concert is to be given in Stockbridge Hall by the Albert Sanda Quintette.

Kid Tricks.

The number of petty thefts which have taken place on the campus of late is very noticeable. Articles varying from neckties to sums of money are constantly missing. The college administration has taken steps to put an end to this. Without doubt, the malefactors will be discovered and their depredations cease.

But there are some stunts which distinctly bear the earmarks of an undergraduate stunt. Stealing ice-cream and other eatables from the short-course socials has seemingly grown to be a custom. Do not let it happen again. Aggie men are supposedly honor men, witness the success of the honor system. "Swiping", if only in fun, is not honorable, and lays the one who "swipes" open to criminal charges. Incidentally, the whole affair smacks of the small boy. To those who were involved in this year's pranks, and others that have preceded it, we can but say, "Grow up, be honorable men."

We, Too, "Have No Abiding Place".

They are looking for endowments up at McGill University. Stephen Leacock, noted humorist, is a professor there, and he himself wrote the appeal for dormitories. He said that when he was a student at McGill he lived in no less than 17 boarding houses, all of which are still in operation. Then he added that if he were to build a college, first he would have a smoking room, then dormitories, and later on, if there was any money left, a professor or two.

It seems to us that Aggie men should sympathize strongly with Mr. Leacock. Year after year offices are gnawing their way into South, until now he who would take a shower must wait until 5 o'clock or "pussyfoot" cautiously down past the offices to the basement. North is entirely inadequate. We get together, more or less, to eat, but thereafter scatter to rooms, some of which are miles from the campus.

Dormitory life is one of the most important things in a college man's career. It gives him contact with his fellows, and makes him one of a unified student body. Those who have experienced it remember it as a powerful influence in building their characters.

Prexy says that here "new departments have no abiding place." That is an unfortunate truth. But the training that an Aggie man now gets in finding a place "where to lay his head" will surely fit him for any search, later in life, for a limb on which to build a matrimonial "love nest". We surely need more dormitories at M. A. C.

TEACHING INSTITUTE AT SUMMER SCHOOL

The second annual Institute for the Improvement of Agricultural Teaching will be held at M. A. C. during July. The Institute is a cooperative effort under the joint direction of the Division of Vocational Education in the State Department of Education, and the Department of Agricultural Education of M. A. C. Its aim is the improvement of agricultural teaching, teacher-training, and the supervision of agricultural teaching. The Institute is open to directors, supervisors, teacher-trainers, teachers in service, and candidates for teaching agriculture and allied subjects. The instructors and lecturers in the Institute are chosen from the best available talent in the country. The study of special problems by individuals is a prominent feature of the work. Credit towards the degree of Master of Science is allowed to such members of the Institute as are eligible to the Graduate School of the College.

The Institute is run in connection with the personal improvement project. This project is run on a production basis. It is assumed that every boy in the state taking agricultural work in the schools has a definite interest along some agricultural line. Maybe the boy is raising a few chickens, or has a small plot of potatoes. It is the teacher's work to increase his production and his percentage profits. In order to be able to do this most efficiently, every teacher of agriculture in the state is required to keep himself familiarized with modern agriculture by doing a certain amount of self improvement work each year. The work that each man does is supervised and accepted by Prof. W. S. Welles of the Department of Agricultural Education, and Mr. A. F. Heald, State Supervisor of Agricultural Education.

Because we pick the flower of the season's patterns before the woolen mills offer their lines in the open market—

Because every fancy mixture we select for college men's suits is confined exclusively to us—

Our suits and overcoats appeal to college men who want something out of the ordinary.

Everything they wear.

ELECTRICAL SCIENTIST TO BE HERE JANUARY 22

B. F. Ford will be Social Union Attraction.

Mr. Burnell R. Ford, Electrical Scientist, will give an entertainment Saturday, Jan. 22 at 6-30 P. M. in the auditorium under the direction of the Social Union. Mr. Ford is well known in the scientific field throughout the United States, and has been called by critics, "The Edison of the Platform". He has earned this title through his numerous inventions which include discoveries in the electro-chemical field, for example, making crystals talk, an electromagnet instrument that will indicate to the aviator his exact location at all times' thereby making it safe to fly in darkness or fog, and at the present time, he is perfecting a torpedo that can be accurately controlled by wireless. These and other interesting as well as highly technical demonstrations will be performed on the platform. Mr Ford, besides being an inventor and scientist of note, has great popularity as an entertainer and explains the principles and workings of the mystery of electricity, so the audience is not only entertained but also instructed.

COMMENCEMENT DATES CHANGED TO JUNE 10-15

Fiftieth Anniversary Festivities Impossible at Later Date.

The big home-coming of Alumni to celebrate our fiftieth anniversary day, will be held Friday to Wednesday, June 10th to 15th, 1921 It is hoped that all alumni can be present on the 11th, 12th, and 13th, Saturday, Sunday, and Monday which are the important days for alumni.

The original dates set for the last part of June were changed to the earlier dates here mentioned, for several reasons, among which was the impossibility of securing a varsity baseball game at the later date, and also the difficulty in preparing for summer school, should commencement be held late in June. These and other vital considerations led to a unanimous vote of the Faculty to make this change.

FRESHMAN QUINTET ANNEXES TWO GAMES

Trim Amherst High and Turners Falls.

The Freshman varsity basketball team defeated the Turners Falls High school team Saturday afternoon in the Drill Hall by a score of 32-8. From the start the game was in the hands of the Freshmen, who played a good passing game and a strong defense. At the end of the first half, the visiting team was left bewildered, with the Freshmen eight points in the lead. During the remainder of the game, the Turners Falls team scored only one point, and that on a free try. Barker, Kane and Ferranti played best for the Freshmen, while J. Casey was the star of the Turners Falls five.

The line-up:

FRESHMEN		TURNER FALLS
Kane, Bartlett, rf		lg, J. Casey
Ferranti, lf		rg, Donovan
Barker, c		c, R. Casey
Weatherwax, Brunner, rg		lf, Lakosky
Bike, Hairston, lg		rf, Parks, Kells

Score—M. A. C. 1924—32; Turners Falls—8. Referee, Garland.

The Freshmen played a practice game with Amherst High School last Wednesday evening in the Drill Hall. By a better passing game and by a stronger defense, the Freshmen easily beat their opponents with a 32-20 score. The first few minutes of play were rather slow, neither team being warmed up. The Freshmen held the lead during the first half, which ended with a 10-9 score in their favor. Kane made many good shots for the Freshmen, while Bike played a good game at guard, as well as being a strong following man. Ferranti shot the fouls. Kenney starred for the visitors.

DR. FITCH TO SPEAK IN SUNDAY CHAPEL, JAN. 23

Dr. Albert Parker Fitch, professor of religious history at Amherst College is to address the students at Sunday Chapel Jan. 23. He is a graduate of Harvard University and Union Theological Seminary, and he has taken the degree of Doctor of Divinity at both Amherst and Williams Colleges. Ordained in the Congregational ministry in 1903, he preached from that time until 1909, when he became president of the Andover Theological Seminary. He held that position until 1917, when he left to take his present chair at Amherst College.

Dr. Fitch is the author of several books, including "The College Course and the preparation for Life," "Religion and the Undergraduate," and "Can the Church Survive the Changing Order,"

DEAN LEWIS ON FAITH AND HONOR

A very excellent talk was given in Chapel last Friday morning, Jan. 14, by Dean Edward M. Lewis. He related two incidents which had occurred to him during the vacation just passed. One was that of a meeting of an acquaintance who had been "over there" and because of what he had experienced in Europe had lost all faith in humanity. The Dean exhorted his audience not to lose faith in humanity no matter how roughly their beliefs are shaken at times. He also had seen a theatrical drama in which the hero, pursued by his enemies is finally killed by them, and as he takes his last breath he says, "They may take away my life but they can never take away my badge of honor." The Dean then said that whatever happened to Aggie men in later life they should never forget their "badge of honor."

ROISTER DOISTERS' BANQUET

The Roister Doisters at a banquet on Monday evening in Draper Hall entertained as their guest Mr. Windsor P. Dagget of New York, a Shakesperian reader. All members of the society, faculty manager F. P. Rand, and assistant faculty manager G. M. Campbell, were present at the banquet. C. M. Bogholt, president of the Roister Doisters, presided as toastmaster. Mr. Dagget gave many interesting remarks, including reminiscences of some of his dramatic experiences, as well as some timely criticism of some actors now on the American stage.

At 8-30 the party adjourned to the Social Union rooms, where Mr. Dagget gave a reading of "Romeo and Juliet". A good-sized audience, composed mostly of members of the faculty and their wives, and members of the Roister Doisters and invited guests, enjoyed the presentation of this well-known work of Shakespeare.

It was voted to use the money raised for the band in order to buy gold footballs for the members of the team as not enough was collected previously for this purpose.

The Landscape Extension Department, revived under the direction of Mr. Charles R. Philbrick, is undertaking actual work in a number of towns throughout the state.

INFORMAL POSTPONED

There will be no informal this week end. At the last week assembly there was a stand to see how many intended going, but as 75 couples were needed to make a success, and only about 50 stood, it was temporarily called off. Again on Friday in the morning chapel it was asked that those wishing to support an informal write their names on a piece of paper to hand in as they passed out. This, however, proved unsuccessful, as but thirty names were handed in. It is not known when there will be another informal, but it is said that no dates can be arranged for one this term.

CAMPUS NOTES

The Junior and Senior girls gave a party to members of their class Friday evening, December 17th. Ten couples attending and amused themselves with lively games of their childhood, including Whknm, Blind Man's Bluff and Drop the Handkerch'ef. The girls prepared refreshments of chocolate, sandwiches, cake and fudge. Mrs. Bacharach chaperoned the party.

The Delta Phi Gamma Sorority is planning to give a Valentine Dance February 12th for twenty-eight couples. The girls are sparing no efforts to make the affair a successful one. The committee in charge consists of Ruth Harder '22, hall and decorations; Rose Labovitz '23, music.

Professor Tyler of Amherst College has been secured by Professor Parker of the Mathematics Department to teach the course in Economics 20, which is a study of the "Evolution of Civilization." Professor Tyler has spoken in assembly and is well known to many students on the campus.

Prem Lal, an Indian Student in the four-year course of the College, will give an illustrated lecture on "Palestine" at the Congregational church a week from Sunday. Mr. Lal's talk will be strengthened by the relation of his varied experiences in Palestine, Egypt, Mesopotamia and France. He was working with the Y. M. C. A. in these countries for five years, and was an official guide to troops in the city of Jerusalem during a part of the war. Mr. Lal intends to finish his course in three years because of his advanced standing obtained at a university in India.

On Jan. 15, Lambda Chi Alpha held a house party at which there were fifteen couples. The chaperon was Mrs. Cameron of Mt. Holyoke College. An orchestra of five pieces composed of local talent furnished music for dancing. The decorations were of laurel and evergreen.

Kappa Sigma held a very successful house dance Saturday Jan. 15. There were eighteen couples present, chaperoned by Mrs. Ladamer of Mt. Holyoke and Miss Case of Smith College. Music was furnished by a local orchestra. A buffet luncheon was served during the early part of the evening.

At the mass meeting last Wednesday C. D. Kendall, president of the Senate, cautioned the students not to violate customs at weekday and Sunday chapel. There should be no talking at Sunday chapels, and there is altogether too much noise when hymn books are taken out and returned to their places. Sweaters should not be worn in the auditorium, and books should not be read at chapel exercises. Standing in the back of the auditorium is not permissible.

"Jersey Cattle in New England" will be discussed by Mr. Tichane, extension representative of the American Jersey Cattle Club, at the next Animal Husbandry Club meeting, Wednesday, Jan. 26, in Bowker Auditorium. Moving pictures and stereoptican slides will serve to make the meeting more interesting.

The purpose of the club at these bi-weekly meetings is to present the various phases of animal husbandry in a practical way, stressing the methods to the best followed in New England. Every one interested in animal husbandry is invited to attend.

The Landscape Department has drawn up plans for a little garden, which will probably be set out next spring in co-operation with the Grounds Department, between Wilder Hall and the old Stockbridge House.

The varsity relay team is practicing at taking the banks, and passing the baton. Men who are showing up well to date are Captain Gray, Sullivan, Allen, Hurd, Woodworth, MacCready and West. The first meet is to be held in Boston, on February 5th, with New Hampshire State.

The Freshman class held a meeting last Tuesday evening in Clark Hall. A committee was appointed to take charge of the class play as follows: John Reed, Norman MacAfee, James Williams, Robert Steere, F. Davis, Alfred P. Stuebner of Windham, Connecticut, was elected to the Honor Council. Great enthusiasm was shown by the class over some original songs and cheers by Hairston.

The Y. M. C. A. is to hold a series of discussion groups on America's relations with Japan, China, and the Far East, led by Professor Machmer. These meetings are to be held every Wednesday night at 6-45, in room 317, Stockbridge Hall. The first of the series is tonight. The entire student body is invited.

MIDWINTER ALUMNI DAY

dated. At 7 o'clock John Kendrick Bangs will give an entertainment in Stockbridge Hall, which will be followed by a concert of the Musical Clubs. On Saturday morning at 9 o'clock there will be an alumni meeting in Room 114, Stockbridge hall, and at 10-30 there will be two meetings held, one for the alumni interested in athletics and the other for those interested in non-athletics. The former will be held in Room 114 Stockbridge, and the latter in Room 110, and a discussion of the condition affecting both subjects will be taken up. In the afternoon there will be a hockey game at 2 o'clock with Boston College followed at 3 by a basketball game with New Hampshire State in the Drill Hall. The fraternity banquets will be held in the evening at 7.30.

The alumni office in South College will be the central bureau for registering and securing of complimentary tickets.

In connection with the plan for the alumni to visit classes Friday morning, the Veterinary department will keep open house, and graduates now in Chemistry will relate their experiences to the chemistry classes of undergraduates. Dr. S. B. Haskell '04, director of the experiment station, will give a talk to the Agronomy classes on professional aspects of agronomy, and A. W. Higgins '07 will present agronomy from the commercial standpoint. Students who majored in Poultry have been invited to give brief talks on their line of work, and the Pomology depart-team. In Captain Bigelow and Bunth, Harvard has two of the best center men in the college game and she also has an exceptionally strong team on the defense.

M. A. C. VS. HARVARD

The Aggie team at present is not in the condition it hopes to be later in the season. It is only during the past 10 days that there has been ice enough to permit practice and the team has not yet reached its top stride. All the regulars will be in the lineup however and the men are confident that they can give the Crimson a tough battle.

While Harvard will probably be the favorite, there are plenty of Aggie backers and if the crimson does win, she will be forced to play herbest. The Aggie team showed in the Dartmouth game that it was no weakling. Captain McCarthy has been playing a fine game at right wing and it is safe to say that he will hold his own with any of the Crimson men. The Harvard defense has its work cut out to stop him tonight. Collins at cover point and Mansell at rover are two other stars of the Aggies who will bear watching.

The lineup will probably be as follows:

M. A. C.	HARVARD
McCarthy, rw	lw, Angler
Lyons, c	c, Buntin
Hansell, r	r, Bigelow
Snow or Gordon, lw,	rw, Emmons
Collins cp,	cp, Owens
Poole, p	p, Humphrey
Newell, g	g, Holmes

On Friday afternoon the Aggie's opponent will be the Massachusetts Institute of Technology team. "Tech" has a strong team, but has been playing in hard luck and has lost two games, both to strong teams and by a one-point margin. She is not as strong as Harvard, but nevertheless will fulnish stiff opposition. M. I. T. has practically a team of veterans, and a strong combination built around McNeil at center, who is a real star.

This game will be played with six-man teams, but this should not put M. A. C. to any disadvantage. Captain McCarthy, Lyons and Mansell will make a fast forward combination, and Collius, Poole and Newell form a defense which both Amherst and Dartmouth found difficult to penetrate. Newell has developed fast since last season and, particularly in the Dartmouth game, made some fine stops.

The game should be fast and close, but from the records thus far Aggie seems to have some advantage.

The last game of the trip will be played with the Tufts team at Medford on Saturday afternoon. The Tufts team is more or less of an unknown quantity but apparently is not nearly as strong as either M. I. T. or Harvard. The Medford seven lost its first game to the Portland Hockey Club and the Aggie team is not expecting much trouble in winning.

Snow, captain and center of the Tufts group is a brother of "Johnny" Snow of the Aggie team.

The Aggie lineup will be the same as against Harvard.

SHORT COURSE NOTES

The Junior class of the two-year course gave a "welcome" party to the winter school students in room 114 Stockbridge Hall, last Tuesday night. Miss Hamlin and Miss Skinner were patronesses. The evening was spent in dancing and playing old-fashioned games. A much enjoyed feature of the party was the corn popping in the open fire. Cider and crackers were served.

The Winter Course students have organized for the coming term. At the first meeting of the Winter Course students held on Friday evening, Jan. 14, the following officers were elected: W. A. Casey, president; Miss Josephine Samson, vice-president; E. C. Newton, secretary; and J. N. Walker, treasurer. An entertainment committee was elected, consisting of E. H. Walker, and other class officers, Mrs. Miller and Miss Ward. The following chairmen of their several committees were also elected: Musical Clubs, I. E. Thomas; dramatics, E. C. Newton; debating, F.R. Spofford; athletics, C. E. Gronberg; and Students Council, C. E. Sowerby.

A dance and party will be held at the Drill Hall at 8 o'clock Saturday night, Jan. 22, by the Senior two-year class. The Freshman two-year students and the 10 weeksstudents are invited. Whitmore is in charge of the committee of arrangements. Davy's orchestra has been obtained.

The Kolony Klub, at a meeting last Friday night in the Grinnell Arena, initiated the following new members: Alstrom, Klerstead. Brown, Wilson, Harrison, Sutton, and Adams.

The two-year Glee Club, which has become newly organized under the direction of Mr.Worthley, has got together some very promising material. Twenty-five men are out for practice, which is to be held regularly every Wednesday evening from 6-30 to 9-00 in Room 114, Stockbridge Hall. While it may be possible to give a concert on the campus just before the junior members leave college in March., this year's efforts of the club are to be given mainly toward developing and getting into shape a strong club for next fall.

In the program of the Agronomy Department for Alumni Day, February fourth, it is planned to have Director S. B. Haskell, '04, and A. W. Higgins, '07, talk to the students on "Professional and Business Aspects of Soil Fertility and Fertilizers."

'18.—William R. Loring,who has been teaching in Hopkins Academy, is taking short courses in agricultural education and rural engineering as part of his professional improvement work.

WHAT
Do you put in there?

FEED, yes. But—
WHAT KIND is it?

At the fairs and dairy shows, many of the most successful dairymen tell us they get more dollars' worth of milk out of a dollar's worth of BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED, fed mixed with wheat bran or millfeed, oats, etc., than any feed they know of.

They probably never had anybody offer a reason why BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED makes milk the way it does. They did not care WHY so much, as long as they got the milk. But the very high digestibility, in large measure, accounts for it.

See that there is plenty of BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED in xture in the feed trough in front of your cow s—and you will understand why BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED is so well thought of on thousands of real dairy farms.

FEED UP! Your dealer should have BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED. If he does not, write us for literature and sample, giving us his name and address.

MAROON AND WHITE QUINTET WINS AND LOSES

Captain Gowdy's Team Downs Middlebury 23-18, but Loses to U. V. M.

Last week-end the varsity basketball squad had one of the most successful trips that a team from M. A. C. has ever had. They lost to Vermont in a hard, clean game by a 21-10 score, but defeated Middlebury the next night, 23-18. The success of the trip was furthered by the fine treatment given the boys in both places. At U. V. M. the students were particularly cordial and gave the M. A. C. team all the credit in the world for the fine exhibition of play which they put up under the difficulties confronting them. The team arrived in Burlington only a short time before the game was scheduled to start. Roser's knee was still so bad as to make it impossible for him to play more than a very few minutes.

The Vermont game, as written in the Burlington Free Press and Times:

The Vermont basketball team wrested a victory from the speedy quintet from the Massachusetts Agricultural College at the University gymnasium last night by the score 21 to 10 in what was one of the fastest and most exciting exhibitions of basketball ever seen on local courts. The visitors were easily the best team which Vermont has yet confronted, playing a fast passing game which must be nearly invincible on their own floor, but the Green and Gold team's success was due to the fact that from the very start, and with few exceptions to the final seconds of the game, they took the aggressive and had the M. A. C. hustling to keep the

DEATH OF MRS. SHORES IS SHOCK TO FRIENDS

Clerk at Dean's Office Succumbs to Long Illness.

The many friends of Mrs. Mary I. Shores were deeply grieved to hear of her death last Friday at her home in Amherst. For many years Mrs. Shores has acted as clerk to the Dean, and she was always ready and willing to help all who came to her for assistance. Without a doubt she was the most popular and well liked of the clerks on the campus. Mrs. Shores was ill most of the last semester and was forced to be absent from her duties on the campus. When she returned at the beginning of this term every one was pleased to see her. About a week ago she was forced to take to her bed and had since then been seriously ill. Her death was a great shock to her host of friends and acquaintances. Delta Phi Gamma Sorority sent a beautiful floral piece as a token of their esteem.

AGGIES TO TAKE ON FORDHAM SATURDAY

Hockey Team to Meet New York's Best at Ice Palace. Three Game Trip.

"Primed full of dash and pep, the agriculturalist flashed offensive and defensive strength that opened the eyes of the Crimson septet. They were in there fighting every minute, never once giving quarter to the enemy. With their speedy skating and clever laside hockey they broke up the Harvard offensive drives over and over again, and turned the tide in the opposite direction. Down near the Crimson goal they fought like tigers, and kept "Jab" Holmes on the qui vive."

That's the way the Boston Post representative at the Harvard game felt about the Aggie hockey team one of the fastest septets yet turned out by M. A. C. And after holding down Harvard, who massacred the Dartmouth seven 5-0 last week, Aggie starts out for a three-game trip, beginning this Saturday, a trip during which three of the

DR. FITCH PREACHES AT SUNDAY CHAPEL

Impressive Speaker Occupies Sabbath Day Platform.

Dr. Albert Parker Fitch of Amherst College delivered an intensely interesting address at Sunday Chapel Jan. 23. His sermon was an analysis and discussion of the three famous parables, The Lost Sheep, The Lost Coin, and The Prodigal Son. Dr. Fitch said that most people are portrayed unconsciously or not in one of these parables. He said that many men and women are like lost sheep, making mistakes through ignorance and inexperience. Many young people fall into this group because they are blind to their failings. The common, petty vices of college youths, such as gambling and evading of the truth are due simply to inexperience.

In contrast with this group is another with which the parable of the lost coin deals. It includes the hundreds of thousands of people who, through no fault of their own, find themselves in a hopeless and wretched environment. They are the poor and unfortunate lost by the ruthless indifference of modern civilization. They have none of the sheltering influences of the home, church and school which college men and women have.

The third group, like the prodigal son, have deliberately chosen to live riotously and sinfully. They have no consciousness of guilt. They care only to avoid by some means the consequences of their evil deeds. For such people nothing can be done until they of their own volition determine to lead better lives.

AGGIE FIVE WILL FACE STRONG TEAMS

Harvard Wednesday, M. I. T. Thursday, and Amherst Saturday, Make Up Hard Week.

In the next three days the varsity quintet will play one of the hardest sections of their schedule: Harvard tonight at Cambridge, Tech Thursday night and Amherst on Saturday afternoon. All three games away from home and against strong teams is sure to be a test that will try the team to its utmost. The Harvard game will probably be the hardest of the three. Amherst has not got a team which is up to her usual standard, but it is hard to prophecy the outcome of an Aggie-Amherst game. Each team is always at its best and full of scrap.

Harvard is being coached this year by Ed Wachter, Jr., a well known and highly respected man in basketball circles. He has produced a fast, clean team which has fared well so far, defeating Amherst, Williams, Tufts, Middlebury, and Clark; and losing only to Worcester and Wesleyan. Captain Tolbert is a good defensive man, while Fitts and Pallo have scored at will against some teams.

M. I. T., under Coach "Dutch" Ayer, will send a fast team against Coach Gore's men on Thursday night. Boyer

AGGIE REVIEW WITH SIX SPIRITED ACTS COMING

Will be Social Union Entertainment February 18.

On Friday February 18, at 7-00 p. m. there will be staged in Stockbridge Hall an "Aggie Review" which bids fair to rival Broadway's most fantastical production of any time,future included.

In this super production joy will be mingled with sorrow, masterful actors bubbling over with humor, pathos and emotion of every description will touch the highest and deepest notes in our bodies.

This event will be featured by six acts of the highest class music, drama and comedy imaginable. The participants will be each class, the two-year and the faculty,

To put at ease all questions concerning the relation of this event to the Freshman Show, it can be said, that the Review is not taking the place of the "Freshman Show," neither is it the "Freshman Show." It is a production under the management of the Roister Doister Dramatic Society of which the Freshman Show will be a part.

For particulars, the class committees or managers should get in touch with C. Bogholt or G. Edman as soon as possible.

For further developments watch the COLLEGIAN.

VARSITY SEPTET HOLDS CRIMSON TO 2-0 SCORE

Mansell's Outfit Forces Harvard to Limit to Win.

By C. G. MACKINTOSH '21.

The Aggie septet broke into the world of hockey tame; when it held the crack Harvard outfit to a 2 to 0 score, at the new Boston Arena last Wednesday. The game was the best and fastest seen around Boston this year. Each "Agget" went as he never went before, and a brand of hockey was put on that was believed incapable; it had the Crimson buffaloed.

The score in itself indicates closeness, especially with such opposition, but it does not begin to indicate how close the game really was or what a battle took place. For two and a half periods the score board remained blank. Try as both teams did, attempts at caging the puck were futile. Harvard would swoop down the ice in grand style only to be rebuffed by our following back forwards. Then M. A. C. would advance right up to Harvard's defense and goal tender, which combination proved an impenetrable trio and easily saved the day for the Crimson.

Capt. Jerry McCarthy was easily head and shoulders above anyone on the ice. He would take the puck time and time again right through the Crimson line and down the length of the whole surface. It was useless for any Crimson player to chase him.

Newell's work at goal brought the stands to their feet several times. Phil was certainly brushing them aside in that game as well as Wylde, Dave Buttrick or any one else ever could. The first score came as a long shot by Owen, Harvard's able defense man. Owen got the shot away under cover, two men being in the way obstructing Phil's view. The second score came five minutes later on a shot from a pass Bigelow being the fortunate scorer. This score was due to our materially weakened defense because of Collins being off the ice at the time.

Coach Mansell was in rare form throughout the conflict. Many times he took the rubber from the Cambridgians and reversed the general direction of play. None too little credit can be given Sonny for his handling of the team. The strategy was perfect and had we had only a small share of the advantages of our opponents, there is no question but that M. A. C. would have left the Arena with the Crimson's wonder team scalped.

Harvard's great offense was made to look of the schoolboy type by our team and Sharkey Lyons had most to do with this little thing. His speed and agility together with that of the others made the Harvard stars look ordinary. Hubber Collins was not only there with a sterling brand of defense, but took a hand in peppering "Jabs" Holmes as well. Hub could take the puck down at will. He got several pretty shots and had "Jubs" been winking at the time they would have counted.

One of our best shots of the evening was from Poole's stick. Pooly dribbled down the ice and let them have it long and from the extreme left. The rubber rolled with bullet like speed, met ever-ready Holmes' skates and bounded straight up. No one in the Arena knows why it did not cage, even the score board man was about to chalk it up. Snow and Gordon alternated at left wing and were by no means out of the calibre of the rest of the "Aggets". They got some pretty shots and the Crimson did not get far along their boards.

HAYSEEDS

The Arena hockeyists conceded the game to have been the fastest this season, and the best seen in Boston since the days of Hobey Baker.

Six to nothing in favor of Harvard was the best the fans rated us. At least ten goals by Harvard was the general sentiment.

Boston Globe and others rated McCarthy as the best wing man seen in Boston this year, barring none.

Bigelow the Crimson's starring captain, looked like an ordinary player with McCarthy, Mansell, and Lyons on the ice.

The student body sure got their money's worth, all three of them.

Many former Aggie players attended. Bud and Dinnie Ross, "Gauk" Plaisted, Jack Hutchinson, Dave Buttrick, Jack Delahunt, Redding, and others. There was a big turnout of alumni.

R. L. Disler, Manager of the New York Ice Palace, was an onlooker at the game. He was so favorably impressed that he immediatly booked our team to play in his rink this Saturday.

HOP COMMITTEE ELECTS OFFICERS

Beginning early in order to get a good start on what is hoped to be the biggest and most successful Soph-Senior Hop in Aggie history, the Soph-Senior Hop Committee has elected Richmond Sargent of Buxton, Me., their chairman. Sargent has been prominent in class and college affairs during the comparatively short time he has been here. He is one of the few men who have earned their football letters in the Sophomore year. As a Freshman he played on the football, basketball, and baseball teams. He is claimed by the Kappa Sigma fraternity. Starr M. King, Pittsfield, and C. Donald Kendall, Worcester, were chosen to represent the Seniors on the committee.

points from rolling up against them in an overwhelming tide.

Capt. Gowdy, the leader and captain of the five lanky visitors, played a hard game, and was in almost every scramble, while Heidger, Vermont's fleet captain, was in his best form. With unerring eye, he caged five good baskets

As the game opened, it became evident that Vermont would have to hustle for a victory, for the snappy pass work of the visitors kept the ball in almost continuous play. Both teams hit such a hot pace that there was no chance for free basket shooting. At the end of the half, the score stood seven to three in favor of the home team. Vermont had three floor baskets and a foul to her credit; the visitors scored from three fouls. The second half opened with a quick basket by M. A. C. from an uninterrupted formation. In a few seconds Stevens came back for Vermont with a clean basket, and from then on, Vermont increased her lead, with Heidger always in the van.

M. A. C. 23 MIDDLEBURY 18.

Saturday night the second game of the trip was played on the Middlebury floor. The Aggie team was a different team from that which took the floor the night before against Vermont. A good night's sleep and time in Middlebury before the game, had put the men in fine trim, and the defensive and passing game which they showed the Middlebury student body was as fine as has been seen on their court before. Several Eastern papers remarked on the fine team work of the M. A. C. quintet. Ball and Smith were the individual stars of the game and Marshman was, as usual, all over the court, never for a minute out of the play. Capt. Gowdy's work on the defense was up to the usual high grade. Roser got a chance to play in the last five minutes and showed that his lay-off had done him no harm when he scored the last two foul shots of the game.

It was not more than five seconds from the blowing of the whistle that Smith took the ball in a perfect formation and caged the first basket of the game. That won the game for Aggie. From then on the home team did not have a chance to catch the fast Bay-Staters. The second score by M. A. C. was a basket from the floor by Ball. He followed this shot by scoring two fouls in succession. After a few minutes of fast play "Wizard" Smith shot down the sideline again and before his opponents knew that he had left the crowd he had scored his second basket. Ball caged two more fouls before the half ended.

In the second half Marshman leaned over the heads of his opponents and dropped in his contribution to the evening's score. "Red" Ball dropped in five more fouls during the second half and then went out to give Roser a chance to score the last two. Smith refused to be outdone by anyone so, to prove that he really got those two beauts in the first half he safely eluded the Middlebury defense and scored his third basket from the floor.

Leonard, Middlebury's right back, was the high scorer for the home team. He accounted for 12 of his team's points, 10 of these being baskets from fouls. Although Thompson did not score he played a good defensive game and was a big cog in the Aggie formation. The score:

SIDELINE BASKETS.

Louis Hastings '19 timed for the Aggie management at the Vermont game.

L. Smith '14, Fogg '19 and Bacon '20 were loyal rooters at the games.

Capt. Heidger of Vermont says, "The cleanest bunch I ever played against."

Prof. Donahue, Vermont Athletic Com. says, "The Aggies certainly have got a clean cut team there."

Referee O'Brien at Middlebury comments on the clean passing and play of the team and particularly mentions the captain "Hank". He certainly is a gentleman," said O'Brien.

Everywhere the team went they heard a good word for the football team and its bunch of loyal rooters last fall.

The hospitality shown the team in Middlebury was excellent and the M. A. C. management wishes to make public acknowledgement of their appreciation.

"The Addison Hotel" at Middlebury says it is a pleasure to have an M. A. C. team stop there. They say we have a fine reputation in Vermont.

As "Red Ball" leaves the floor: "Poor fellow he has both shoulders dislocated."

"That skinny guy (Al) is the fastest man I ever saw. He makes his man look like a monkey."

As grey sweaters come off and striped jerseys appear: "Gee, jail birds!"

"Hank" tested the "call to bell-boys system" at the Sherwood, thoroughly.

Smith's love for strawberry shortcake called forth a suggestion for two games with the Brandon H. S. girls on the next Vermont trip.

Margie has been changed to "Oh! Gee."

Miss Katherine Middleton, librarian of the upstairs reading room of the library, is ill with scarlet fever. She is being cared for at Dickinson Hospital at Northampton.

SENIOR AND TWO YEAR FIVES ARE ON TOP

Former Defeat Juniors by One Point in Interclass Series.

The Senior and Junior class basketball teams played a spirited, scrappy game Friday night at the Drill Hall, in which the Seniors managed to nose out one point ahead of their opponents with a score of 15-14. The entire game was hard fought, and neither team was the winner until the final whistle. To begin with, the Juniors ran up a score of 7 points, but '21 soon got started with 4 fouls and a basket, all caged by Armstrong. Hooper and Wentsch '22 made two more baskets in quick succession, and '21 again caught up, making the score at the end of the first half 11-11.

The first part of the next period was a deadlock, with tight defense on both sides. This was broken by Armstrong '21, followed quickly by Krasker '22. A foul placed the Juniors ahead, but with about two minutes of play Davis '21 broke through and caged the winning shot. He also showed good defense work throughout the game, while Hooper and Randall starred for '22. The lineup:

JUNIORS	SENIORS
Hooper, rf	lg, Gould
Webber, Wentsch, lf	rg, Davis
Randall, c	c, Brigham
Krasker, rg	lf, Armstrong
Clark, lg	rf, Lent

Referee — Grayson. Score — '21, 15; '22, 14.

The Freshman-2-year contest was rather a more one-sided affair, especially in the last half of the game. The uneven score was largely a result of poor teamwork and lack of systematic passing on the part of the yearlings. The scoring of the 2-years in the first half was mostly from fouls, Stevens shooting 7 for his team. In the second period the 2-year forwards got started on a rampage down the floor, and ran up a total of 20 points for the half. Brunner '24 showed good work, while Gulliford '24 did most of the scoring for his team. The lineup:

2-YEAR	FRESHMEN
Girard, rf	lg, Brunner
Stevens, lf	rg, Sime, Whitman
Greene, c	c, Hill
Grant, rg	lf, Merrick
Adair, Clough, lg	rf, Gulliford

Referee—Prof. Hicks. Score—2-year, 31; '24, 12.

DISCUSSION GROUPS STARTED BY Y. M. C. A.

On Wednesday, Jan. 19, the Y. M. C. A. started a series of discussion groups, led by Assistant Dean Machmer. These discussions are on international relations between countries of the Far East and the United States. The first meeting proved both interesting and instructive. It is planned to hold these discussions regularly every Wednesday night at 6-45 P. M., at Stockbridge Hall. These meetings are excellent for broadening one's knowledge of the world, and they are open to all.

During one day in the severe cold spell last week there were 33 tons of coal consumed at the Power Plant.

PRESIDENT DISCUSSES WEDNESDAY ASSEMBLIES

The theory of Wednesday assemblies was presented to the student body at Monday chapel by President Butterfield. Numerous complaints from upper classmen have reached Prexy's ears, among which are lack of attention, reading of papers, naps, the large number of faculty speakers, and the advisability of transferring assemblies to Sunday morning. These assemblies were started 14 years ago and their purpose has been to bring the man with ideas before the college. No money has been offered the prospective speakers during this time, a memo being the only communication and the desire to help a group of college men the only compensation.

Usually the Sunday speakers have been clergymen and on Wednesday the business man has appeared with an entirely different theme. This makes it inadvisable to transfer assembly to Sunday. Several ideas on assemblies were brought out by last year's Seniors on their final questionaires. It was suggested that a Ford Hall forum be held once a term, and also an Adelphia forum with 10 minutes for a Senate mass meeting at the end of each assembly. In regard to criticism of faculty speakers the president explained that the reason for their appearance was to make clear the problems of the college.

The Alumni always speak of assemblies as one of the best starts of their education. However, if students wish to dispense with them, there are two ways of doing so, by roughhouse tactics and by petition. Roughhouse is not the Aggie method. The right of having assemblies has never before been seriously questioned, but if they are no longer useful then give them up. If we keep them, we should act accordingly.

AMHERST AND AGGIE WILL COOPERATE

Two Committees Plan to Help Each Other in Various Commencement Matters.

The Centennial Committee of Amherst College and the Semi-centennial Committee of M. A. C. held a joint meeting on Monday, Jan. 24. For the first time in several years Aggie commencement will, this year, precede that of Amherst, and plans were discussed at the meeting, relative to both institutions cooperating in various matters attendant upon the unusually important commencement programs planned in each. With regard to rooming facilities at Amherst's commencement, it was arranged to have the Aggie fraternity houses put at the disposal of the Centennial Committee. Abigail Adams Hall will be open for their use, as well as North and South Colleges, if the latter rooming quarters are required. In many other commencement matters the two colleges will work together also.

A Meeting of Institutions Stewards, Superintendents and Head Farmers was held on Campus Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. The program consisted of lectures along professional improvement lines.

Interfraternity Dances.

The first real interfraternity dance, as such, was held Saturday when three fraternities combined at the Phi Sigma Kappa house. The affair was a success from every viewpoint. Lack of adequate facilities at the Drill hall undoubtedly led to the failure of the proposed informal. If the student body has arrived at the point where it will not support a college dance under Drill Hall conditions, a remedy must be found. A new floor in the Drill hall and a general renovation of the appointments would help. The new Memorial Building hall does not promise relief except for the smaller gatherings. But with the renovation of the Drill hall an impossibility, the interfraternity house dance is due to boom.

Why not have a schedule of interfraternity house dances with all fraternities participating?

Enter, Mr. Nero!

"Whither goest thou, tonight, Marcus?"

"I? Oh, I go to the Arena, to see the lowly Frosh grovel in the sawdust."

This will soon be noised about the campus again, now that the Pond is frozen over, and outdoor amusements are rather scarce. The question of the reasonableness of Arena Parties will again be brought up by a few, and the majority will answer, "Sure, let's have 'em—what's the harm? They aren't much worse than Pond-Parties."

The harm is right here. At Pond-Parties, every co-ed can be on hand and gaze to her heart's content. We never saw a co-ed at an Arena Party. Pond-Parties are written up in detail for the COLLEGIAN. We never saw a detailed account of an Arena Party in the COLLEGIAN, or even in the Blade. True, nothing very bad takes place at the Arena Parties, yet nothing very elevating or helpful to the name of old Aggie takes place there, either. The Freshman comes out of the Pond with a grin, he comes out from an Arena Party with either contempt for the custom, or a resolve to make it worse for the fellows next year.

As a disciplinary measure, the Arena Party is a failure, and it is only an incentive to more and worse Arena Parties. Would not a little more hard labor for the Freshman, under the leadership of Prof. Hicks or the Grounds Department be a little more effective? Or must we have our little amusements, like old Nero?

As a Matter of Courtesy.

There has been of late a tendency among students to fail to give proper respect to the speakers at assembly. Most of the speakers are men who are prominent along certain lines and it is the next thing to an insult to treat them as though it were their first attempt at speaking in public. Surely "rough-house" tactics are not worthy of M.A.C. men even if their interest is not aroused by the speaker.

Exemption from Finals.

Exemption from finals has long been a successful incentive to scholarship in this institution. Considerable honor is attached to having one's name in the list of the selected group whose standing is high enough to exempt them from examination. Exemption from a final or two often gives one an extra day of vacation. During the final week there is high pressure on the student, who has three finals in one day, and to be permitted to cut this number down by application through the term, is worth an extra effort.

The need for some incentive to scholarship is apparent. Phi Kappa Phi is beyond the reach of all but a very few students, and the majority give it but little thought after the first term of the Sophomore year. There are too many whom there is nothing to urge to greater endeavor than that represented by a mark of sixty-one. The minimum of work gives them an opportunity to attend our educational movies and the jazz dances. In view of the competition of athletics for the students' time, it is essential that there be some counteracting force. For the average student, this need is admirably filled by the custom of exemption from finals.

A tendency to discard this exemption system has recently become apparent among the professors, so that in a number of courses, all students take the finals regardless of standing. The students, urged by the hope of exemption, have usually made efforts to get an average of eighty-five per cent, only to find at the end of the term that there are to be no exemptions. With an increasing number of professors disappointing them, enthusiasm has rapidly decreased. The professors who do not conform to this custom are destroying its stimulating effect, even in the classes of those who regard it.

SENIOR CLASS MEETING AND SMOKER HELD

The Senior Class held a smoker at the Social Union Rooms, Thursday, Jan. 20. The first part of the smoker was devoted to a business meeting. Cooper was elected class hockey manager. Action was taken on the suggestion that a play committee be appointed. Fletcher, Smith and Edman were elected. Then followed a favorable report on the financial condition of the 1921 Index.

At this point the meeting was turned over to the chairman of the smoker committee, who acted as toastmaster. He introduced Macklntosh, who gave a detailed description of the Harvard hockey game. His talk was followed by a word from Prof. Machmer on the attitude of the faculty toward the Two-Year Course and the intention of keeping up the standards of the regular four-year courses. The smoker broke up soon after the refreshments were served.

Last evening at 7:30 the Graduate Club met at the home of Professor and Mrs. Chamberlain on Mount Pleasant. Thomas Watson of Boston was present and spoke on Early Days of the Telephone. Mr. Watson was associated with Alexander Graham Bell, at one time. He brought with him a model of one of the first telephones ever used.

B. F. FORD CONDUCTS SERIES OF EXPERIMENTS

Second Social Union Entertainment Given Saturday Evening.

The second of a series of Social Union entertainments was held last Saturday evening, January 22, in Bowker Auditorium, Stockbridge Hall, and was given by Mr. B. F. Ford, Electrical Scientist. He experimented mostly with wireless, and said that there will soon come a time when instead of cables running across the country to supply power, our cities will be lighted by means of invisible waves produced by machines hundreds of miles away. The next war will prove the uselessness of dreadnoughts. An electric torpedo wirelessly controlled by a pilot in an aeroplane far up in the clouds will be able to sink any foreign battleship menacing our coast line. Mr. Ford said that soon after the war was over, he had practically completed an instrument which would tell the aviator exactly where he was going, and thus in the event of another war, an aeroplane, under cover of darkness, could fly above the enemy fortifications and drop down explosives very effectively, and without the slightest danger to the occupants. This "Chartograph" consists of an electromagnet, which guides a pencil across a map, and as the aeroplane, swiftly flying through the air, cuts the magnetic lines of force of the earth, the pencil traces the route that the aviator is pursuing. Mr. Ford then spoke of the untold harm done to the human mind by the use of the "ouija" board, and said that many of our most prominent lawyers, doctors, and statesmen had been mentally ruined by this unscientific instrument. He then ended his excellent performance by an electric "Good Night" sign.

SUNDAY CHAPEL

At Sunday Chapel, Jan. 30th, the student body will have the privilege of hearing a former student of M. A. C., Reverend Herbert Judson White, of Hartford, Connecticut. He was born in Leominster, and from 1883-1886 was enrolled in our college. During 1887 he was a student at Colgate University. Then he took a course at Newton Theological Institution. He was soon after ordained as a Baptist minister. In 1907 he took the degree of Doctor of Divinity at McMinnville College in Oregon. Dr. White has had wide experience in preaching, and has been pastor of churches in Illinois, Washington, Boston, Beverly and Hartford, Connecticut, where he now has charge of the First Baptist Church.

On Friday night the Y. M. C. A., assisted by the College Quartet, gave an entertainment at Sunderland.

DON'T take a fellow's pipe. Take some other possession. Because wrapped up in his pipe is a fellow's peace of mind, his relaxation, his contentment. This is more than true if it's a W D C Pipe, because then a good smoke is multiplied many times over. Our special seasoning process takes care of this by bringing out all the sweetness and mellowness of the genuine French briar. Just you go to any good dealer and select several good shapes. Put them in your rack. Smoke a cool one every time, and you'll be well on your way to pipe-happiness.

CLASS OF 1923 SELECTS A PLAY COMMITTEE

Hockey Manager Also Elected at Class Meeting.

A meeting of the Sophomore class was held last Thursday evening in Clark Hall, following the meeting of the Sophomore members of the Hop committee.

Because of the substitution of class performances in place of the annual Freshman play, the first business of the meeting was to elect a play committee to arrange for a class production this year. Last year's committee was re-elected because of the creditable work it accomplished, and Roger Friend, who was head of the committee and wrote the excellent production, "Blood Tells," was unanimously re-elected chairman.

Now that hockey has been established as an interclass sport, the election of a manager for the team was held, and John M. Whittier was chosen manager for the coming season.

The faculty has decided to allow supervised arena parties this winter, and Williams, chairman of the Arena Party committee, announced that a number of Freshmen have already been before the Senate and have been sentenced to a season in the terrible arena.

It was voted by the class to send a letter to Alfred Gay, following his recovery from a serious two-months' illness.

WEDNESDAY ASSEMBLY

At Wednesday Assembly, Jan. 19, Mr. M. V. Malcolm of New York City gave a very interesting address on the Armenian Problem. Mr. Malcolm graduated from Amherst College about 14 years ago, and has attained considerable prominence as a lawyer. He was introduced by Harry Eryslan, who deplored to the students America's ignorance of the terrible sufferings of his native country.

Mr. Malcolm stated that Armenia was divided into three parts, previous to 1917, held respectively by Russia, Persia, and Turkey. At that time it had four and a half millions of people, of which over a million have since been massacred. Armenians, he said, were not Asiatics, but were originally a European race related to the Swiss and the Scotch. Armenia was the first nation to accept Christianity. Its Apostolic Church dates from 300 A. D.

The situation of the country, as the highway between Asia and Europe, has made it the battleground of other nations for centuries. By holding back Asiatic invaders, particularly the Turks from Europe, it has rendered inestimable service. Ever since the country was conquered by Turkey in 1600 it has been seeking to regain its independence. The late war seemed to the Armenians their long sought opportunity for freedom. Accordingly they refused as a nation to aid Turkey, but instead they fought valiantly with the Allies. This brought upon them the Turkish policy of systematic annihilation. A million Armenians were slaughtered in cold blood by the Turks during 1915 and 1916.

France and England, in return for the Armenian aid, promised to see that the country obtained its freedom. These promises have been forgotten. Armenia is a very rich country, with vast mineral resources, and the powers of Europe, in order to be able to exploit these natural riches, have by secret treaty divided the country among themselves.

"There is no longer an Armenian Problem," said Mr. Malcolm in conclusion. "She has escaped from Turkish despotism, with a loss of one-fourth of her people, only to be seized for exploitation by the very countries which she aided in the war."

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The Freshman varsity basketball team met its first defeat of the season last Friday evening when it was beaten by the Hartford high school squad in Hartford, Conn., with a score of 26-12. The score at the end of the first half was Hartford 9, 1924—7. The game was characterized by its fastness of play on both sides. The excellence of the Freshman five was shown by the fact that the usual heavy scorers of the Hartford team were held practically scoreless throughout the game. Escholtz of Hartford, who is usually depended upon for a large share of the scoring, was held to a couple of baskets by the fine work of Bike at left guard. McDermit, Hartford's left forward, caged a number of baskets for the high school. The Freshmen scored mostly through their forwards, Kane and Ferranti.

fastest teams in the East will be our opponents.

On Saturday, the Maroon and White will clash sticks for the first time in its history with Fordham. The New York team claims to be the fastest bunch on skates in the big metropolis. Little is known here of the team's record this year, but the sons of Peter Stuyvesant will be given a real chance to prove their worth.

Next Monday, Aggie will play the postponed game with M. I. T. The Tech aggregation lost a 4-3 game with Kings College, and then another, 4-3, to Boston College. But in the latter contest, the engineers were ahead in the second half, and the Boston team barely managed to squeeze out a victory. Dan and Nell MacNeil, in center and point, and Nickie at goal seem the strongest players on the Cambridge lineup.

M. A. C. and Boston College are all set to crack each other's shins on Tuesday. After trimming Bates 5-0 and M. I. T. 4-3, the Bostonians tore off Dartmouth's scalp last week to the tune of 4-0. Luke Urban, at goal and Captain Hughes at center showed the Green a lot about hockey. The Dartmouth says that "Curry (rover) was easily the best man on the offensive and although only shooting one goal himself, was indirectly connected with all the other B.C tallies." With all this year's dope lined up, and the fact that Aggie defeated Boston 5-4, in two overtimes, last season, it seems safe to conclude that the Ice down Boston way will be pretty well scratched up next Tuesday.

POULTRY TEAM WINS PRIZES AT NEW YORK

The M. A. C. poultry judging team carried away the honors at their recent sojourn in New York City. The occasion was the Intercollegiate Poultry Judging Contest (Eastern Section), held at the Madison Square Garden, New York, on Thursday last, Jan. 20. Aggie stood high in the total score, with Lincoln as prizewinner in one class.

The following five state colleges were entered in the contest:—New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, North Carolina, and Massachusetts. Each team was of three men, Aggie being represented by Lincoln '21, Hagar '21, and Ashforth, Special. In connection with the contest there is a cup given by the American Society of Investigation and Instruction in Poultry Husbandry, this cup to be held permanently by the team winning it for three times. Thus far, it has been won by Connecticut, last year, and by M. A. C. this year. As an additional reward, the members of the winning team each receive gold Eversharp pencils.

The contest this year was in two parts, the Utility and the Exhibition Classes. Aggie stood high team in the Utility, with Lincoln as high individual in the Exhibition. Taylor of Connecticut was high total individual, with Lincoln a close second. The standings of the teams was as follows (with a possible score of 2400):

M. A. C.	1660
Conn.	1643
N. C.	1553
N. Y.	1460

The Q. T. V. fraternity held a successful house dance last Saturday from 3 to 11.30. Miss Scribner of Mt. Holyoke chaperoned the party. 20 couples attended. The house was decorated with red and music was furnished by Davy's orchestra. Supper was served at the Davenport at 7 o'clock.

Manager E. C. Gronberg reports that he has some very good material among fifteen men who are practicing regularly for a prospective Winter School Basketball five. H. Kimball is captain. The team will be ready for games within a few days.

is the chief scorer and the all-round headliner for Tech. Captain Tonon is also a fast man who has shown up well in the two games Tech has played to date. Brown found little trouble with the Cambridge men, but in the games with Rhode Island State and Northeastern the Cardinal and Gray team led all the way and scored about ten points more than their opponents were able to muster.

Little is known of the strength that Amherst may be able to show against her old rivals on Saturday night. Harvard and Wesleyan both defeated the Sabrinas by large scores. The outcome of our game with Harvard will help to compare the strength of the two teams. Their teamwork is said to be on a par with that of Harvard, but the defense of the Purple and White is their weakest point. With the fine line of forwards which represents M. A. C. the Amherst five should not give any serious opposition to a larger number of Aggie floor baskets Saturday afternoon. Snyder, Lee, and Card are doing the most scoring for Amherst.

The lineups: M. A. C.—Smith lf, Roser rf, Marshman c, Thompson rg, Gowdy lg. HARVARD—Pallo lf, Fitts rf, Tyson c, Feiring rb, and Capt. Tolbert lb. M. I. T.—Capt. Tonon lf, Boyer rf, Pinkham c, Blood lb, and Hubbard rb. AMHERST—Card lf, Hill rf, Lee c, Palmer lb, and Snyder rb.

CAMPUS NOTES

The hockey games scheduled with M. I. T. and Tufts were cancelled because of the lack of ice. The Tech game will be played next Monday at Cambridge.

Dean Lewis spoke before a crowded auditorium, at West Roxbury High School last week. He is doing a great deal of speaking in Greater Boston Schools.

Prof. W. R. Hart and Prof. W. S. Welles attended a conference with President Butterfield and other educational leaders held last week in Boston in regard to rural education.

The second of the Sunday afternoon hikes of the Winter School Students took place last Sunday. The party under the leadership of A. W. Casey, left Stockbridge Hall at 2-15 and walked to Mt. Lincoln.

Alfred F. Gay of Groton, class of '23, and Ralph C. Leavitt of Melrose, class of '21, were discharged from the college infirmary last week, and sent to their homes, after a long serious attack of Typhoid-pneumonia.

The Springfield Student quotes the following: "Aggies up at Amherst have listed some of the strongest teams in the East for the coming basketball season, among them being Harvard, Stevens, Tufts, and Amherst.

AGGIE QUINTET LOSES TO AMHERST 22 TO 21

A Foul Game from Start to Finish. Fourteen for Amherst and Nineteen for M. A. C.

A final score of 22-21 tells the story of one of the most hotly contested and certainly one of the most peculiar games ever played between the old rivals, Amherst and M. A. C. Referee Garland was kept busy all the time calling fouls, first one team and then on the other. The game was in doubt up to the very last minute when the whistle blew just after Roser had shot his 19th foul for Aggie.

The passing of the M. A. C. team again stood out as the redeeming feature of their play. On over 50 occasions the Aggie men brought the ball up the floor to within shooting distance of the basket, but on all but one occasion the shot either fell short or hit the rim of the basket. Gowdy and Marshman seemed to have especially hard luck in trying to cage a floor basket. On very few occasions did the Amherst team break up the Aggie formation, and when they did manage to do it they were the ones to lose for the referee usually found something to call foul on. Roser invariably responded to the invitation by caging one of his numerous fouls.

In the first five minutes of play the hearts of Aggie men were satisfied for Roser shot two fouls in succession and although they scored no baskets Gowdy and Marshman tried several long shots which bounded off the rim. They would have all counted in an ordinary

AGGIE HOCKEY TEAM LOSES TO FORDHAM AT NEW YORK

Poor Rink and Penalties Handicap Aggies. Score 8 to 3.

The strong Fordham hockey team won its fourth victory, at the expense of Coach Mansell's sextet by a score of 8-3. The Fordham men put up the very best brand of hockey that the M. A. C. team has ever faced but there were also other reasons which helped to account for the defeat. The game was played on the 181st St. rink which was very small and with a row of four pillars about 20 feet from the side. While practice had made the New York players expert in dodging around these they put Captain McCarthy and his mates at a great disadvantage. Besides this, five of the Aggie men were put off the ice at various periods of the game while Fordham received only one penalty.

The Aggies put up a strong game and gave the home team their hardest battle of the season but under the ban-

VARSITY QUINTET MEETS FAST TEAM

To Play Stevens In Drill Hall Thursday Night.

Some good basketball will be flashed on the Drill Hall surface Thursday night when M. A. C. meets Steven's Tech of Hoboken, N. J. in the annual game between the two teams. The Stevens quintet has been seen here before and nothing need be said of the game of basketball that this team is sure to put up, except that this year's "Stute" five seems to be faster than ever.

Coaches Davis and Harris will send an entirely veteran team against the Aggies tomorrow night. Teaming up with Captain Egger, veteran guard of three seasons, are four first string men possessing from one to three year's experience. Of these men, the guards alternate at either forward, and the forwards at either guard. Captain Egger has been starring all season, while Kurty, Provost, and Roth have been consistent stellar performers. Kurty, with his record of 18 out of 16 fouls against Princeton, can be depended upon to score within the circle consistently. To date, the Hoboken collegians have won three out of five games. Wesleyan was trounced in the first game, 49-18. West Point smashed through to a 42-28 win over the Red and Gray. Delaware was beaten 35-25 in a brilliant second half comeback. Princeton was lucky to gain a 30-27 decision over Captain Egger's

REV. H. J. WHITE INTERPRETS GOD'S VARIED GRACES

Sunday Speaker Points Out Benefits of God's Blessings.

Rev. Herbert J. White of Hartford, Conn., addressed chapel Sunday morning on "God's varied graces and the abundance with which He bestows them on man. We are, as the Bible says 'Efficient stewards of God's varied grace,' and it is the grace of God which blesses a man. God shows His grace to us through personality, and as Paul once said, 'his life was flooded with grace.

"In shedding His grace on us, God has done so by giving us a great variety of blessings. The best moments in a man's life are when he gets closest to those things which God has made, and these constitute an immense amount of variety. We have observed the variety of God's plans in our researches; not a thing is made exactly in duplicate, every blade of grass in the field differs from every other blade, and in respect to human beings, no two humans are just alike even in appearance. We must have variety just like God, for we cannot stand the same thing again and again. It is said that the early Egyptians, coming from a hilly country and settling in the Nile valley, constructed the pyramids to relieve the monotony of the level sky-line. We then pass into the mental and spiritual realm of human nature, where variation is as prominent as ever. There is a great difference among members of the same family, and since we are so different among ourselves, each one of us has need of a different thing.

"All of us have different needs, dif-

PROM PLANS PROGRESSING PRELIMS GOING RAPIDLY

The Prom Committee is meeting every Wednesday evening and is fast completing arrangements for a successful weekend. The committee on decorations has made arrangements with Bemilson Manufacturing Co., and has drawn up elaborate plans for the settings of the different booths and doorways. White birch will form an attractive feature of the decorations. Maroon and white will be the prevailing color tone. The music has not been secured yet, but Messrs. Waugh and Mosely have heard from a number of leaders who have offered exceptionally good music.

The Prom dance will be held on the armory floor. The supper will be served at about 1-00 o'clock in Draper Hall.

Prelims are on sale now to any one who may wish them and may be obtained from members of the committee. The price is $3.00. Already over 55 prelims have been sold so that those wishing to purchase them had better get them at once as the number of tickets to be sold is to be limited to 75.

AGGIE FIVE BREAKS EVEN IN BOSTON

Coach Gore's Men Win from M. I. T. but Lose to Crimson in Last Few Minutes of Play.

Coach Gore's fast travelling basketball team got an even break in their invasion of the Hub city last week, losing a hard, up-hill fight to Harvard Wednesday night 25-21, and outclassing Tech on Thursday night, winning 18-12.

At Cambridge the Maroon and White quintet threw a decided scare into the Crimson, and came within an ace of defeating the fast, heavier Harvard five. The game was fast—a battle from start to finish. It was replete with brilliant basketball, with Capt. Gowdy's five outpassing and outplaying Harvard during the first period and half of the second. Aggie led at half time 11-9, and starting the second half, immediately opened up a seven-point lead at 19-12. Harvard's substitution of fresh men and rearrangement of their combination were the deciding factors in enabling the Cambridge team to go to the front 20-19, six minutes before the final whistle, and then earn a four-point lead. The foul shooting of Pallo, the Crimson's clever left forward, was also a big factor in Harvard's win.

The whole team played hard, scrappy basketball in both games, fighting for everything in sight, and had Harvard worried for the entire distance. Considering the hard game of the night before, the performance of the team against M. I. T. on Thursday is all the more credit to them, for they surely showed the way to Tech, holding them to three floor baskets, and keeping play dangerously near the Tech basket at all times.

The Harvard Game.

Play opened up fast, and Pallo, from the foul line, scored for Harvard before the game was a minute old. Fitts added a floor basket, and then Thompson from the floor and Roser from the foul line, tied the score at three all, four minutes from the start. Roser sunk another from the foul line, only to have Aggie's one point lead wiped out a moment later on two goals in quick succession by Pallo. Nearing the end of the half, the score stood 9-6 against the striped jersey quintet. Just before the close of the half the M. A. C. outfit, by virtue of floor baskets by Roser and Thompson and by a foul tally by the former, had worked into a 11-9 lead. This was Aggie's half - they had outpassed Harvard, and had outfought them, the defense compelling the Crimson forward line to take long shots.

The old Aggie fighting spirit was in evidence at the opening of the second half. Captain Gowdy's outfit came back at Harvard hard. Pallo sunk one from the foul line. The Aggie team was at the top of its passing game at this point, and had Captain Fitts's men baffled. The forwards broke through the Crimson defense and four floor baskets were chalked up in quick succession—two by Roser, and one each by Smith and Thompson. Pallo had meanwhile snuk two from fouls, making the score 19-12, and with the period half over. A spurt by the Cambridge men netted them three floor baskets and a single counter while Massachusetts was gathering one tally, and brought the score to 20-19 in Harvard's favor, and the game began to draw to a close. Harvard's resubstitutions and lineup changes, plus the coming into the game of two fresh men, now began to tell, and during the remaining moments, floor goals by Tyson and Pallo, with the latter's two goals from fouls, established the small lead which won for Harvard. Marshman, from the foul line, brought Aggie's score to 21, as the game ended.

No individual player can be specially cited, because the whole team played great basketball. Roser scored ten points, while the floor work and offensive play of Thompson was superb. Pallo and Fitts excelled for Harvard.

The M. I. T. Game.

At Walker Gym, Thursday night, it was the Aggie's passing game that played the most conspicuous part in their clean cut victory over the engineers. The large court seemed to bother the Bay Staters for the first few minutes, but the latter part of the opening period, and the entire second period, saw Coach Gore's charges at their best in passing and in defense.

The game got away with a slow start, the ball going out of bounds several times. Tonon put Tech to the fore with a long shot from the floor, and made it 3-0 with a foul a few moments later. Roser sunk a twin counter and a foul soon after, tying the score at three all, by the middle of the period. Boyer and Tonon raised Tech's count to six; Roser added one point from the foul line, and Captain Gowdy tied the score with a neat basket from the center of the floor. The Maroon and White defence tightened at this point, and the end of the half found the up-staters leading 9-7.

Starting the second half, Smith, Roser and Marshman garnered nine points before Boyer, for Tech, sunk one from the foul line. The Aggie five was traveling at top form and holding M. I. T. in check all the way. The defense baffled Tech's attempts to break through to within striking distance of the Aggie basket, and Tech scored only one floor basket during the second half, Boyer added three fouls in the closing minutes of the game, bringing the score to 18-12.

Captain Gowdy was a tower of strength on the defense, and the play of the entire Aggie forward line, Smith, Roser, and Marshman was A-1 quality. Blood and Tonon played excellent ball for M. I. T.

WHAT THE HOE TURNED UP IN BOSTON.

Aggie had as many loyal rooters at the Harvard game as did Harvard.

Al says the United States Hotel isn't built so bad at that; the shortest way down leads to the dining room.

Nobody would think off-hand that Al had the strength to do it, but according to the Herald he hoed the potatoes and filled the baskets in the M. I. T. game.

Bunker is so smooth that the ticket girl at Keith's thought he was a speculator.

The manager promised the team turkey if they won. They got as close as chicken.

Heard from the Harvard bench: "Look at the Aggie numbers, they must have a big squad". Heard from the Tech bench, "The Aggies wear those big numbers to make us think they have a big squad".

Our Boston alumni turned out en masse.

Johnny Hale's friend was a whole cheering section.

A digest of the Tech game: Al drew blood from a "Pinkham", while Tommy bit "Hubb-ard". Burke said, "Bachman" get away from that "Marsh-man" or you'll get swamped. Hank said, "I "Saw-yer" "Boyer" ain't so Hale as yer might be." Beal cried, "Get that "Ball" and "Hooper". "Hold up a minute", said Tommy, "is Ton-on?" "No", said Bunker, "He's in "Dutch" and they carried him off in a "Shea".

A WORTHWHILE TRIBUTE

What an alumnus who saw the Aggie basketball team at Middlebury has to say concerning his impressions of the team:

1. Your first appearance on the floor made one feel that you were a real basketball team.
2. You looked like a bunch who were clean players and lived up to everything that a gentleman in sport, implies.
3. You look like a big team, on the floor in those suits.
4. You looked as if your main job last Saturday night was to beat Middlebury. A business like crowd, I should say.
5. You looked confident, but didn't appear loud or boastful.
6. The effect of barred jerseys like yours on defence gives the effect of a railroad crossing when the gates are down and no one is to pass.
7. Your passing looks as if you knew when the old ball left your hands right where it was going to nestle next.
8. You are a fit looking crowd. I couldn't see any signs of letting down near the end of the game, and you all looked afterward as if you had been to a Saturday afternoon matinee.
9. You looked like worlk heaters to me.

dicap of a strange rink and five penalties they were unable to hold their opponents. Considering the conditions and the kind of hockey Fordham was playing the M. A. C. men made a very creditable showing. Fordham ranks as one of the best teams in eastern collegiate hockey and to the Aggies appeared stronger even than Harvard.

The home team took the lead soon after the start of the game and scored four of their goals in the opening period. Aggie came back strong again however and after holding the New Yorkers to one goal in the second period brought the score up 5-3 soon after the final session opened. At this point Captain McCarthy was put off the ice for three minutes for protesting to the referee and during this time Fordham scored three goals in rapid succession.

"Phil" Newell deserves much credit for his work at goal. He made a number of pretty stopsr Captain "Jerry" McCarthy and "Sonny" Mansell showed some fast and clever hockey and Collins was also responsible for one Aggie goal. For Fordham the work of Duncan stood out though every other member of the team except the goal tend caged the puck once.

The lineups:

SIDE LIGHTS.

Spectators at the game were allowed to smoke and with the low ceiling the building soon became so full of smoke that during the last two periods it bothered the players somewhat, especially the goal tenders.

The Aggie team had never played on such a rink as they encountered in New York. It was not only very small and poorly lighted but had a row of pillars down the side which bothered the Bay State men.

game. Snider scored three fouls for Amherst and Roser came back with another, tying the score. Each man added one more foul, Roser got two more and Snider one. A double foul was called on Aggie and Snider scored on both tries. Two more fouls for Roser and one for Snider stopped the scoring for a time and then Captain Palmer of the Sabrinas brought the Amherst supporters to their feet by scoring the first basket of the game on a nice toss from the 15 foot line. Snider added one more foul and the half ended with Amherst ahead 11-9.

At the beginning of the second half Roser scored three out of five tries and put his team in the lead; but shortly after Hill dribbled down the floor and scored the second basket of the game for Amherst. Roser shot two more fouls and Lee followed with another basket from floor for the home team. At about this time Nail replaced Card, Stewart took Lee's place, and Hale went on for Aggie, while Smith took a rest. The next five scores were on fouls by Snider. Smith had thought it over a while and upon a signal from Coach Gore went in again and inside of two minutes scored the only basket which his team was able to acquire. Snider shot one more foul. Smith was taken out and Ball took his place. Roser got in another foul and Hill scored his second basket of the game, making the score 22-19 in Amherst's favor. In the last minute of play Roser was successful in his two attempts to gain another point. The game ended as soon as he shot his last foul.

The line-up:

Hello, Again, Mr. Alumnus.

Another year has gone by, and once again we welcome back to our wintry campus the alumni, the undergraduates of the past.

Mister Alumnus, we are surely glad to see you. We are glad to greet one who has so generously and loyally stood by Aggie for the past twelve months. We are proud to have you enter our classrooms and walk our paths again, and to feel that you once lived where we now live. It seems like the reunion of a great brotherhood, whenever we at M. A. C. clasp hands with those who have received their degrees here.

You observe, Mister Alumnus, that we are about as happy as we were a year ago—a little more crowded, but just as happy. We still believe that in the centuries to come we shall see a new chemistry laboratory, a new gymnasium, three or four new dormitories, a new administration building, and (sight of sights!) Mr. Green, excavated from beneath his manuscripts, contented in a new library. Yes, we still have faith. Occasionally we wake each other in the night crying, "How long, O Lord, how long?", but not often. Ex-Prof. Neal once said: "I still have faith in God and the United States Senate". We say, "We still have faith in Prexy and the Legislature".

But, oh Mister Alumnus, you whose money has been so freely given for our sakes, please take a good look around you while you are here! Then run home and tell your representatives at Boston what you have seen. Tell our legislative parents that they can't expect their "farmer baby" to wear the same short pants at 50 years of age that he wore at 15!

COMMUNICATION

Exemption From Finals—A Reply.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

Since I happen to be one of those hard-hearted individuals who believe in subjecting all students to final examinations regardless of their class standing, it may be well to reply to the criticism of R. R. '22 in last week's COLLEGIAN.

Most students view this subject in a very one-sided manner. They should realize that to the instructor, even as to the student, the appeal of self-interest leads him to a strong desire to do away with the final. This is particularly true when it deals with the Freshman and Sophomore required courses where the accumulation of some 150 "Blue Books," representing a two-hour final, means from three to four days of the most detestable and nerve-racking work that falls to the lot of a teacher; this, be it remembered when he is often just as anxious as the student to leave for a holiday. And let me remark in passing, that when we hear of our brother instructors posting lists of exemptions, including as high as 50 per cent. of their class roll, we are inclined to look at it a bit differently from the student. Please remember that old-fashioned laziness is a failing of all the sons of Adam—college faculties not excepted.

Well, why hold finals anyhow? Again you must consider the subject from another aspect. If a student has made a grade of 60 per cent. he is entitled to the benefit to be derived from such a final. Not to give it to him is to rob him of what is an integral and important part of the course. Not the mere act of writing down the answers to a set of questions, but in the preparation antecedent to that, lies the supreme good.

During the term we give certain quizzes dealing with detached parts of the course. Only in preparation for the final, however, do most students ever get a synthetic view of the term's work. Any course, worthy of the name, is constructed around a certain principle or group of principles. Its facts are most subsidiary and should radiate toward or from the dominant idea. If the facts are rightly articulated, the whole course forms a unit. From experience I know that this single vision of a term's work is first gained during preparation for the final examination. It is the thing that the student carries with him long after specific details have faded. No instructor has a right to deny his students, and above all his best ones, this reward—this consummation of a term's faithful study.

If we could get the review without the final afterwards, that would be ideal—but again, only a slight experience convinces us that we are all lazy animals and that we need a spur. The final examination is the bit of steel that goads us forward for our own good.

The teacher must sometimes perform a disagreeable duty. He must refuse permission to certain students to take a final examination. This term, work shows that they have not grasped facts firmly enough to enable them to understand general principles. You, who are adjudged to finals are honored, since we signify thereby that we believe you to have fitted yourselves to use the higher centers of the brain in assembling and coordinating your facts into a block of knowledge. And to the honor man, there applies the old phase, "noblesse oblige." Not to do less, but to have the glorious privilege of doing more, is his high reward.

Another point must be considered. Throughout our lives we have to stand recurrent grillings of just this type—recurrent finals. The demand comes suddenly for an address, a lecture, a decision. The great man is he who in short order can marshal his resources, can focus the arc-light of his intellect upon the matter in hand, can compare, articulate and pass the test. Why not begin to get this training in college?

If we now take up R. R.'s arguments against the system of final examinations, I think we shall discover that they come dangerously near to being sophistries.

Exemption from finals as an incentive to scholarship was intended as a joke. The student works because he likes to work, because he is interested, because he has a divine desire to know something about this curious universe in which he finds himself. The unfortunate man who will make 85% to get out of a final and 60% if he knows he can't get out, is, Thank God, as rare as the hoop snake.

I am at one with R. R. in his desire to do away with three examinations in one day. A final examination is a man's job, a sudden and considerable drain on the nerve forces. But the evil which results in the congestion of three and even four examinations per day lies deep. Students are carrying too many courses and are often forced to do superficial, dilletante work on some of them. As long as credit hours mount up half way to the forties we shall have this undesirable condition at the time of finals unless the examination period be unduly extended. Obviously the remedy is to take fewer courses and do more intensive work on them, then finals will fulfill their rightful and high function.

R. R. feels the need of some incentive to high scholarship and with that I am in full sympathy. Yet I wonder if the incentive to scholarship isn't inherent in the thing itself.

Our American boy is sometimes nearly ruined by high school faddists bent on the application of "methods", his understanding of the true meaning of college education is sadly distorted by forces both without and within the gates. He can, however, be led slowly forward to cultivate habits of mental alertness, concentration, intensity. Then as he matures, as the higher centers of his brain begin to function more vigorously, as he steps onto the first table-land of knowledge and breathes a keener air and gets a glimpse of the wonder ahead, he catches the spirit of Intellectual Life and the rest is easy.

I wonder if Mr. R. R. is aware that the true mental life of M. A. C. isn't really at the low ebb which one might infer from his sentences. Having had experience with students in four colleges, I can say truthfully that the grade of work I am receiving from students here is equal to that in any of the others. Students, completely worthy of the name, really do exist even in the somewhat hostile and unfavorable environment of M. A. C. and their number is not small. To be sure, they may never make Phi Kappa Phi, but that is a small point. They have done of their own free will something, besides which there is nothing greater—they have taken the next forward step in their own evolution

FAST GAME EXPECTED WITH NEW HAMPSHIRE

Varsity Quintet to Play Old Rivals. Several Letter Men on Each Team.

The varsity basketball team will be tried to its fullest capacity next Saturday when it plays New Hampshire State on the Drill Hall floor. The team from Durham has been going at top speed in its first four games; each game resulting in a victory for New Hampshire. At the begining of their basketball season the prospects for a good team were exceptionally bright because of the fact that six letter men had returned to the fold. Among these men were Captain elect Anderson, Butler who had been given an All-New England berth, and Perry.

Their four victories with Middlebury, Connecticut, Brown and Tufts were all won by small margins which indicates that although the front line may be strong, the defense is not up to the standard of that style which they will encounter on Saturday in Amherst. Sherwood at left guard is a new man on the varsity squad. He is a Sophomore and will undoubtedly develop into a good man.

Gowdy and Thompson are fast shaping into one of the strongest back couples which has ever played on an Aggie team. Gowdy is always on the spot. His playing in the last two games has been very good.

In Butler, at right forward, the New Hampshire team has a man who has made an exceptional record for himself in the last two years. He has played on the Aggie floor before and his work will be watched with interest by all. Opposed to him will be "Dutch" Roser, who in his first year on the varsity has allready made a name for himself both in counting floor baskets and in shooting fouls. In the recent game with Amherst he shot 19 fouls, an enviable record. At left forward on the New Hampshire team is Perry who thus far has been the high scorer for his team. A. W. Smith playing right forward for Aggie is fast on his feet and a good floor man, but his eye has not been as good lately. Everyone has his spells of hard luck though, and every Aggie rooter is hoping to see Smith come into his old form this week.

Opposed to Marshman at center is Capt. Anderson. Marshman is not so experienced as Anderson but his height and keen eye give him an equal chance.

New Hampshire has yet to play Maine, B. U., Worcester, Harvard, and Tufts. The team they play here in Amherst, Saturday will be one of the best teams which they will face all season. Aggie rooters are behind the team to a man and want to see the New Hampshire jinx banished for good and all.

The New Hampshire line-up is Butler, rf, Perry, lf, Anderson, c, Stafford, rg, and Sherwood, lg.

Miss Helen Rand, graduate student in rural sociology, is teaching one of F. P. Rand's courses in English.

M. A. C. SEPTET MEETS B. C. IN FEATURE GAME ALUMNI DAY

Aggie Out For Vengance After Defeat in Arena; Team Plays Tufts Thursday.

The coming weekend will be another busy one for the Aggie hockey seven. Returning from Boston to-day they will play Tufts on the new rink tomorrow afternoon and on Saturday will play Boston College in what promises to be one of the best games this season.

The M. A. C. septet has not played at home since the opening game with Amherst but tomorrow and Saturday, weather permitting, the student body and alumni as well will have a chance to see one of the strongest of Aggie sevens in action on the home rink.

Unless the dope is badly upset Coach Mansell's team should return a winner on Thursday. Tufts has yet to prove herself in a class with Aggie's previous opponents. The Brown and Blue lost her opening game and has not yet struck a winning stride. A fact of interest in connection with the game is that Captain David Snow of the visiting team is a brother of "Johnny" Snow who will be in the Aggie lineup.

The game with Boston College was arranged as a special feature for Alumni Day. In the link seven M. A. C. will have a real opponent and Captain McCarthy and his mates will have to show some real hockey. In a game in the Arena at Boston Monday night, B. C. triumphed by a score of 2 to 1 and back on their own rink the Aggies are out for revenge. The Boston aggregation has lost only one game thus far, that to M. I. T. by one goal. However, she has not played teams of the calliber of Fordham and Harvard and cannot claim the achievement of holding the Crimson to a 2 to 0 score. The contest Monday night was so close that any break of the game might have turned it the other way and the one Saturday promises to be just as hard fought. On the form she displayed against Harvard M. A. C. should win, but it will be no easy game.

The teams will probably line-up as follows:

tive and Haverford succumbed 43-13.

Against this team, Coach Gore will probably send the same five which has started every game to date. Right now the Maroon and White forward line is travelling at a fast clip, and Marshman, at center, ranks with the best in floor work and in shooting ability. The team's pass work has been an important asset in their games to date and will prove the same against Stevens. Roser's foul shooting in the Amherst game stamps him as at least the equal of Kurty. Though on paper, Stevens shows up best, the M. A. C. quintet, as shown by their exhibition against Harvard, is developing into a clever passing, smooth working, fighting combination. It will take a good team to break through Aggie's defense, with Captain Gowdy and Thompson in their present form. All in all, the game looks like an even chance either way.

The probable lineups:

M. A. C.		STEVENS.
Smith, lf	rg,	Egger (capt.)
Roser, rf	lg,	Roth
Marshman, c	c,	Provost
Gowdy, lg (capt.)	rf,	Kurty
Thompson, rg	lf,	Higley

VARSITY RELAY TEAM OPENS 1921 SEASON

First Race With New Hampshire State at Boston On Feb. 5.

The varsity relay will have a chance to prove its worth at the New Boston Arena, Saturday, Feb. 5, when it runs its first race against New Hampshire State. The men to make the trip are Gray, Sullivan, Woodworth, MacGready, Allen, and Slate, who will be accompanied by Manager Gilbert and Coach Dickinson. Slate, who will run the handicap mile, is in good trim and will give his opponents a run for their money.

Not much can be ascertained of the two teams, as neither has run before this season. The New Hampshire aggregation is composed practically of new material, which at the first of the season was making a rather poor showing. Lagasse and Paine are among the veterens who appeared at the first call for candidates. However, under the coaching of H. R. Cleveland and Wentworth, former N. H. star, the team bids fair to keep up New Hampshire's usual reputation for a good race.

The men who will represent Aggie at the meet Saturday have not been picked yet, but the material at present looks good for a very successful season. The two veterans, Sullivan and Gray, are hitting up their usual stride, and are being backed up admirably by Woodworth and MacCready, who won fame in all Freshman contests last year. Allen, '21, has also been showing good form thus far. Coach Dickinson is putting his men throuh g their final workout this week, in preparation for Saturday, and it may be safely said that Captain Bennie Gray is leading one of the most promising teams which Aggie has put out in several years.

FRESHMAN FIVE BEATS GREENFIELD HIGH 29-8

The Greenfield high school basketball team was completely outplayed by the Freshman basketball five last Saturday afternoon in the Drill Hall, when the Freshmen ran away with the score of 29-8. The game started at a good clip, but the superior team work and the better defense of the Freshmen made it impossible for the Greenfield team to run up a large score. At the end of the first half the score stood 13-6. Then the Freshman defense settled down and Greenfield scored only once during the remainder of the game. Many times the visiting team tried to bring the ball up the floor, only to be met by the formidable Freshman defense. Then the ball would go to the Freshmen, and before Greenfield could perfect its defense—two points. Greenfield played a good game, but the Freshmen played better. Ferranti's consistent eye helped the Freshmen to gather several points from free throws as well as from the floor. Barker, at center, tossed in a few baskets. The lineup:

FRESHMEN		GREENFIELD HIGH
Kane, Barrows, rf	lg,	Houghton
Ferranti, Bartlet, lf	rg,	Andrews
Barker, Kane, c	c,	Woodrow, Hartman
Weatherwax, Hairston, rg	lf,	Buckley, Bonneville
Bike, lg	rf,	Partenheimer, Bonneville

Goals from floor—Kane 2, Barrows, Ferranti 4, Barker 3, Bike 3. Woodrow, Hartman. Partenheimer, Bonneville. Goals from fouls—Ferranti 3. Score—M. A. C. 1924 29, Greenfield High School 8. Referee—Hawley

TWO-YEAR QUINTET NOSES OUT VICTORY OVER JUNIORS

Freshmen Outlassed by Faster Sophomore Outfit.

In the inter-class games played last Friday on the Drill Hall floor the Juniors lost a close game to the Two-year by a 24 to 23 score and the Sophomores defeated the Freshmen 17 to 8.

The Juniors have lost four straight games, but the peculiar thing about their season is that although they have lost all their games their opponents have scored but seven more points for the season than they have.

The feature of the Junior's game was the floor work of Randall and Clark. Clark played his usual consistent game while Randall played more brilliantly than at any time this season. His seven floor baskets were the scores that kept his team in the game at all times. With but five minutes to go, the Juniors were behind 23 to 14. Their last nine points were scored in short order.

In the other game the all-round work of Tumey featured the work of Sophomores while Barrows excelled for the Freshmen. Sargent also played well and as a partner with Tumey completes a pair that is hard to stop.

The scores:

ferent experiences, tasks, paths, successes and lives ahead of us and the question arises as to who will supply these needs. The One who has made such a variety can alone supply us with our needs, and by looking back on our lives, we will realize how different characteristics and likes have been instilled in us through our association with people who have acted as mediators of the grace sent by God. God mediates His grace to us through those about us, and here in college we are influenced for the better by the very character of some of the professors with whom we come in contact. God recognizes the difference in all of us, and bestows His very graces accordingly, even now planning better things of every sort for us.

We will never become "efficient" stewards of God's varied graces until we arrive at the point where we radiate the best, through our personalities, and also learn to receive the same."

How is a Wireless Message Received?

EVERY incandescent lamp has a filament. Mount a metal plate on a wire in the lamp near the filament. A current leaps the space between the filament and the plate when the filament glows.

Edison first observed this phenomenon in 1883. Hence it was called the "Edison effect."

Scientists long studied the "effect" but they could not explain it satisfactorily. Now, after years of experimenting with Crookes tubes, X-ray tubes and radium, it is known that the current that leaps across is a stream of "electrons"— exceedingly minute particles negatively charged with electricity.

These electrons play an important part in wireless communication. When a wire grid is interposed between the filament and the plate and charged positively, the plate is aided in drawing electrons across; but when the grid is charged negatively it drives back the electrons. A very small charge applied to the grid, as small as that received from a feeble wireless wave, is enough to vary the electron stream.

So the grid in the tube enables a faint wireless impulse to control the very much greater amount of energy in the flow of electrons, and so radio signals too weak to be perceived by other means become perceptible by the effects that they produce. Just as the movement of a throttle controls a great locomotive in motion, so a wireless wave, by means of the grid, affects the powerful electron stream.

All this followed from studying the mysterious "Edison effect"— a purely scientific discovery.

No one can foresee what results will follow from research in pure science. Sooner or later the world must benefit practically from the discovery of new facts.

For this reason the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are concerned as much with investigations in pure science as they are with the improvement of industrial processes and products. They, too, have studied the "Edison effect" scientifically. The result has been a new form of electron tube, known as the "pliotron", a type of X-ray tube free from the vagaries of the old tube; and the "kenetron", which is called by electrical engineers a "rectifier" because it has the property of changing an alternating into a direct current.

All these improvements followed because the Research Laboratories try to discover the "how" of things. Pure science always justifies itself.

N. H. STATE NOSES OUT VARSITY 26-25

Exciting Game Won in Last 30 Seconds of Play.

Saturday afternoon the varsity basketball team played New Hampshire State College on the Drill Hall floor before an enthusiastic crowd of Alumni and undergraduates. The game was exceedingly close all the way through, and with Aggie leading at the half time by two points everyone was on their toes and ready for a tough battle in the second half. They saw one. With the score tied, and thirty seconds left to play a foul was called and Perry stepped to the line. In ten seconds the game ended with New Hampshire ahead 26-25. It was a clean game throughout and a good team won. Roser, Smith, and Hale played the game of their lives. Hale's fine work is ably illustrated by the fact that Butler, New Hampshires' star forward, scored but one basket throughout the game. Anderson, Perry, and Craig played well for the winners.

Roser and Perry started the scoring by caging fouls for their respective teams. After a few minutes of hard play Perry and Butler in succession scored for New Hampshire. Perry's two fouls and his basket from floor were all that the visitors got in the next few minutes while Aggie ran up eight points. Smith scored twice from the floor and Thompson once, while Roser contributed two more points on fouls. The second basket which Smith scored was the most sensational of the year. "Al" ran down the floor and underneath the basket. The pass came late and he had to catch the ball over toward the sideline from which point he tossed

ADELPHIA APPOINTS STUDENT COMMITTEES

Undergraduate Groups to Cooperate with Faculty and Alumni.

At a meeting of Adelphia held Sunday afternoon, Feb. 6, three student committees were appointed to discuss and act on certain college affairs of interest to the whole student body, these committees to act in conjuction with similar committees from the Faculty and alumni. As yet they have taken no action. The primary purpose of the plan is to bring together the ideas of all these bodies, so closely related to affairs on the campus, and to further the spirit which Prexy voiced at the year in his watchword—"All-together."

The committees are:—

General Celebration Committee for Semi-centennial:

Nathan W. Gillette,'21; Jonathan H Smith, '21; Albert W. Smith, '22; Roger B. Friend, '23; Richard B. Smith, '24.

Committee on Student Organizations and Courses of Study:

C. Donald Kendall, '21; Starr N. King, '21· Richard A. Mellen, '21; Emerson F. Haslam, '21; Carlyle H. Gowdy, '22; Frederick V. Waugh, '22; Wilbur H. Marshman, '23.

Committee on Student Activities:

Lawrence P. Martin, '21; Charles G. MacKintosh, '21; George W. Edman,'21; Lorenzo Fuller, '21; Belding F. Jackson, '22; Leslie D. Bent, '22; James A. Beal, '23.

STUDENT FORUM AT WEDNESDAY ASSEMBLY.

Several Topics Productive of Discussion.

Adelphia, represented by President Charles G. Macklntosh '21, conducted a Student Forum in Assembly last Wednesday, February 2nd. The first question brought before the student body was that of a Wednesday Assemblies. As there was no discussion on this subject Mackintosh briefly outlined the aim of these assemblies and pointed out that much benefit was derived from the many good speakers which Prexy brought before us.

The next subject brought before the assembly was the Election of Student Managers. In order that the student body should know exactly how student managers were elected in the past and at present, Professor Hicks was called upon. He sketched the differences in the methods of electing student managers when he first came to M. A. C. and how it is done now. Professor Hicks deplored the fact that so few men competed for the position of student manager. He pointed out that the position was a credit to the man and meant a great deal to the institution. It is important that a manager have business ability, a good personal appearance

ALUMNI DAY SEES RETURN OF MANY OLD GRADS

Memorial Building to be Finished May 1, 1921.

Over 130 Alumni registered for the two Alumni Days, last Friday and Saturday. Friday morning was spent visiting classes and in committee meetings.

The committee on administration met with President Butterfield Friday morning in a session which lasted three hours. The president first explained the scope of the college. He defined the institution as a "food supply college". Here, also an attempt is made to lay the foundations for the development of a satisfying country life. The president then outlined the projected building plan, and told of the complex intricacies of action between the authorities at Boston and those in immediate charge of the college at Amherst. He also explained the recent serious losses in the personnel.

The Alumni committee on administration had the following members present: Joel E. Goldthwaite '85, Fred Griggs '13, W. A. Munson '05, E. F. Richardson '87, Philip Whitmore '15 and Clinton King '07.

The committee on student activities met with the president also. At this gathering the undergraduate activities on the campus were discussed with the view of getting, through coordination, truly effective student life, with the power to carry away traditional influence and significance.

President Butterfield again addressed the alumni at a meeting Saturday He asserted that the work which the "old grads" are doing is helping the administration a great deal in unraveling the red tape which is now so prevalent in the relations between Boston and Amherst. He congratulated the alumni on their support and enthusiasm, which they have freely given. He reported failure to get increases in salaries, and stated that many professors and others of the instruction staff are leaving M. A. C. for places where a 50% higher salary is paid them. He urged the need of adequate information about the college for the people of Massachusetts.

Two new forms of membership to the alumni were adopted. The first is a sustaining membership which necessitates an annual payment of $10, and the other an endowment membership which requires the payment of a lump sum of $100. The question of having a membership fee based on a certain per cent of what the tuition at M. A. C. would be were it not free, was refered to the executive committee. $100 would be taken as a tuition basis.

Dr. Brooks '75 reported that the $300 appropriated prior to the war for the erection of a grandstand on Alumni Field, has been turned over to the athletic department. Mr. Munson stated that the recent membership drive in Boston netted 125 members.

The Memorial Building contractor stated that the building will be completed May 1. Interior plastering has started, and the interior woodwork will be under way in three weeks. The furnishings for the different rooms will be left to the organizations concerned. The following men were elected to the Memorial Building Management Committee: Enos J. Montague '15, the farm superintendent here: R. H. Jackson '08, an Amherst merchant; Sumner R. Parker '04, county agent leader and Evan R. Richardson '87.

At the meeting of the alumni interested in non-athletics Saturday morning, Dean Patterson unfolded a plan whereby all athletic and non-athletic rehearsals etc., would be arranged according to a fixed and definite schedule. The alumni interested in athletics met and discussed the athletic situation at Aggie. In all the meetings, the alumni talked over the old traditions and the opinion seemed to be in favor of more strennous banquet scraps, and of imbuing the student body with the "pep" of bygone days.

FAST STEVENS FIVE DOWNS AGGIE 37-18

Visitors Score Mostly in the Latter Part of the Game.

On Thursday night the strong Stevens Institute basketball team stopped in Amherst and defeated the M. A. C. team by a 37-18 score. The game was fast, both teams putting up a fine exhibition of play. The passing of the home team featured their work, while the foul shooting of Acting Captain Higley was the prominent feature in the work of the New Jersey men.

For quite a time the only scoring was on fouls by Roser and the Stevens man. Roser scored the first basket for Aggie. Shortly after the middle of the game several of the Aggie team were put off the floor because of personals. This gave Ball, Hale, Clark, Alexander, Beal, Randall and Hooper a chance to get in the game. Ball and Hale played well for the short time they were in. Hale got one basket, a long shot from mid-floor, while Ball scored twice from beneath the basket. Marshman was the only regular to stay in the game. He took Roser's place on the foul line and scored three times this way. He also scored two baskets from the floor. Near the end of the game he sustained a sprained ankle but gamely stuck through to the finish.

The game was well contested throughout, although the visitors were always slightly in the lead until their final scoring period near the end of the second half. The work of Gowdy, Marshman, and Ball was the best for M. A. C., while Higley's all round work stood out in the visitor's play. Captain Egger was forced to stay at home from this trip because of examinations.

The lineup:

STEVENS	M. A. C.
Kurtz, Mount, Belman, lf	lf, Smith, Beal
Higley, rf	rf, Roser, Ball, Hooper, Randall
Provost, c	c, Marshman
Roth, rg	lg, Gowdy, Hale
Brune, Muller, lg	rg, Thompson, Clark, Alexander

Score—Stevens 37, M. A. C. 18. Goals from floor—Muller 3, Higley 2, Kurtz, Provost, Roth, Ball 2, Marshman 2, Roser, Hale. Goals from fouls—Higley 20, Kurtz, Roser 3, Marshman 3. Referee—Garland. Timer—MacLaughlin. Scorer—Bunker.

AGGIE HOCKEYISTS TURN ON TUFTS

Fast Offense Rolls Up 8-0 Score Against Brown and Blue.

An 8-0 score was the best the Tufts seven could get in their tilt with Coach Mansell's team on the home rink Thursday afternoon. The game was one sided and rather slow on account of poor ice. The Aggies did not have to extend themselves but at times they opened up with some real fast hockey.

It was all Aggie from start to finish, the home team not only proving themselves superior skaters but showing a better brand of teamwork. The Maroon and White collected five goals in the first half but while Tufts strengthened her defense in the second period it was at the expense of her offense for Phil Newell was not called on to make a stop.

Sonny Mansell started the scoring in the first period by carrying the puck down alone from the middle of the rink and pushing it cleverly past the goal tend. For the final goal of the game he duplicated this performance in an even more Brilliant rush. After the first goal four more came in quick succession. Collins caged one from a hot scrimmage in front of the goal; Mansell drove one into the net from over on the left wing; and Capt. McCarthy scored two more after receiving passes in front of the net. Soon after the second half opened, Lyons netted the puck and a little later Poole scored on a pass from Mansell right to to the corner of the cage after the two had brought the puck down the ice together. It was the prettiest piece of teamwork of the game.

Tufts never threatened seriously and rarely got the puck through the Aggie defense. Snow and Hutchings did the best work for the Brown and Blue, Herculson at goal had a busy afternoon and made several fine stops. The lineups:

M. A. C.	TUFTS.
McCarthy, rw	rw, Hartwell
Lyons, Snow, c	c, Snow
Mansell, lw	lw, Hutchings
Poole, p	p, Gage
Collins, cp	cp, Davidson
Newell, g	g, Herculson

Score—M. A. C. 8. Tufts 0. Goals—Mansell 3, McCarthy 2, Collins, Lyons, Poole. Referee—Davidson. Time—20 min. halves.

FRATERNITIES HOLD ANNUAL BANQUETS

The annual initiation banquets, of the different fraternities, were held last Saturday evening. The dates of the banquets were arranged this year, so that it came upon Alumni Day, with the result that much more significance was given them by having a large number of the older members back. The following banquets were held: Alpha Gamma Rho, Draper Hotel, Northampton; Alpha Sigma Phi, The Perry; Commons Club, Draper Hall; Delta Phi Alpha, Russell Inn, Hadley; Kappa Gamma Phi, at the house; Kappa Sigma, Rose Tree Inn, Northampton; Lambda Chi Alpha, Draper Hall; Phi Sigma Kappa, The Davenport; Q. T. V., at the house; Sigma Phi Epsilon, Plymouth Inn, Northampton; Theta Chi, Plymouth Inn, Northampton.

VARSITY SEVEN BEATS M. I. T. BUT LOSES TO B. C.

Both Games are Hotly Contested.

The M. A. C. varsity seven broke its losing streak when it defeated the M. I. T. team in the Boston Arena Tuesday night. Although Boston College carried away the bacon on Monday evening by a score of 2 to 1 the Aggies came back with a vengeance and the Tech players who had previously beaten B. C. were forced to take the short end of the same score on Tuesday. Both games were thrillers but the B. C. game on Monday was probably the more sensational. In this tilt two of the goals cameon brilliant individual plays. One of these was by Frank Morrissay, who, in the final period, captured the puck near the center of the ice and alone carried it down the rink and shot it past Newell. The other, which was one of the outstanding features of the game, was by Capt. Justin McCarthy, and also came in the last session. "Jerry" snatched a loose puck from in front of L. Morrissey, in front of the B. C. goal and whipped it past Urban like a bullet. The other score of the fray, and which proved to be the winning margin, came in the second period. It was of the horseshoe variety, resulting from a long shot which slid under Phil Newell's skate.

The game was the closest and hardest fought which has yet been seen in the Arena. Aggie put up a real battle but whatever advantage there was in the play belonged to Boston and she deserved the verdict. The M. A. C. seven played a defensive game but B. C. broke through once too often.

Both goal tenders did some exceptional work and "Phil" Newell deserves considerable credit. "Phil" is a star who has developed since entering Aggie and he now ranks well up with the best. He made a number of brilliant stops and his work even excelled that of Luke Urban, the famous B. C. athlete. Capt. McCarthy and "Sonny" Mansell, as usual, proved to be Aggie's strongest players on the offense. "Sharkey" Lyons also figured prominently.

The lineups:

BOSTON COLLEGE	MASS. AGGIE
Garrity, lw	rw, McCarthy
Curry, c	c, Lyons
Hughes, r	r, Mansell
Healy, rw	lw, Snow, Gordon
F. Morrissey, cp	cp, Collins
L. Morrissey, p	p, Poole
Urban, g	g, Newell

Score—Boston Collge 2, Mass. Aggies 1. Goals—Garrity, F. Morrissey, McCarthy. Penalties—Hughes, tripping, 2 minutes; Healy, roughing, 2 minutes. Referees—George Gaw and Bob Clifford. Goal umpires—Ralph Edwards and John Larocca. Time—Three 15-minute periods.

In the victory over M. I. T. Tuesday night M. A. C. showed a stronger offense than against Boston College and later in the final period put over the winning goal on a pretty play by Mansell. "Sonny" corraled the puck near the center of the Arena, whisked the rubber down the left side of the rink, cut over toward the center and shot it past Nickle from close range.

Both teams scored in the opening period and from then on it was anybody's game. Aggie forced the playing most of the time but could not score the needed point until the last minute of play, as already described.

As in the B. C. contest the work of both goal tenders was of a high calibre. "Phil" Newell made several fine stops but was hardly as busy as his opponent. Nickle was kept constantly on the jump by the Maroon and White forwards. Along with Capt. McCarthy and Coach Mansell, "Sharkey" Lyons played a strong game in forward line. Particularly on the defense he proved to be a great stumbling block to the M. I. T. players. Collins and Poole made a strong defense and broke up numerous Tech rushes. "Hubber" was also responsible for one of the Aggie scores.

The teams played seven man hockey in the opening period and then out down the number to six in the last two. It is notable that two of the goals came in the opener. M. I. T. scored first when Taylor caged the puck from a scrimmage in front of the net, but Collins soon tied the count on a shot which Nickle was only able to deflect into the net in attempting to brush aside.

The lineups:

MASS. AGGIES	M. I. T.
Snow, Gordon, lw	rw, Cauldell
Mansell, c	c, D. MacNeil
Lyons, r	r, Grant
McCarthy, rw	lw, Taylor, Delaney
Collins, cp	cp, Duvernet
Poole, p	p, N. MacNeil
Newell, g	g, Nickle

Score—Mass. Aggies 2, M. I. T. 1. Goals—Collins, Mansell, Taylor. Penalties—Taylor, roughing, 2 minutes; N. MacNeil, tripping, 2 minutes; Duvernet, roughing, 2 minutes. Referees—Raymie Skilton and Bob Clifford. Time—Three 15-minute periods.

SIDELIGHTS

Jack Hutchinson saw both games and pronounced the Aggies the fastest team which has played in the Arena this winter.

Two Boston papers gave the Aggies credit for being the most alert and keenest at following the puck of any team seen there this winter.

Manager George V. Brown, of the Arena, was well satisfied with the M. A. C. team and is willing to reserve other dates if games can be arranged.

UNDERGRADUATE ATHLETIC COMMITTEE
MASS. AGRICUTURAL COLLEGE:

Gentlemen:—The Amherst College Student Council wishes to extend to you its heartiest thanks for permitting the Amherst hockey and track teams to use your equipment. We are indeed very grateful to you for this privilege and hope, that should the occasion arise, you will call upon us without hesitancy for a similar favor.

Very truly yours,
R. A. CLARK, for the Council.

South Boston?

A hundred and fifty alumni came back to the campus last weekend. Quite a number commented upon the slack appearance of the students. Several graduates even went to the COLLEGIAN and asked the reason for the sloppiness of the men on the campus. It is not confined to any group, either. It is noticeable in all classes. Let's match it up. Aggie men should want to appear neat as well as other men. Neatness does not mean flashy dress; just a common-sense amount of tidy dress is all that is asked for. Clothes don't make a man, but sloppiness never yet has helped a man. What is your opinion of a man who wears dirty, unpressed trousers, never-brushed shoes, dirty shirt and dirtier collar, hair which is seldom combed and perhaps an old cap or hat dirty as sin? Perhaps he has to wear old clothes. All right; but it is in any man's power to keep his clothes clean. A few second's each day just to brush or clean will make, in many cases, a new man, or at least a fifty per cent change. Don't get the idea that I think clothes make a man. That is not so; but when a certain number of men from each class persist in making themselves disagreeable and often disgusting, it is time for you men referred to, to sit up and take notice. Even the alumni in one day notice it. They want to know if this is a college or a state penitentiary. Let's show them that it is a college. Some of you men who are sloppy in your dress, think it over and try to decide why it is that you get less than your share of smiles, less than your share of elections or less than your share of friends. Remember this is not the heart of South Boston. You are M. A. C. men in Amherst. You're here because you've been placed above the intelligence of "Mickey" Schultz and his cronies. You're striving for success. Each untidy habit which you cultivate hinders your upward climb. Let's pay attention—you few men—Aggie wants a change.

H. I.

What does the student body want? The COLLEGIAN wants to get at the bottom of things. A newspaper is naturally printed for the ones who are to read it. The wants of the readers as a body are governed by "H. I." Human interest is the thing that the newspaper has got to cater to. A real live paper satisfies.

Does the student body want a long, detailed account of athletics, or do they want a short, snappy account of each game? If the latter is desired it gives the paper an opportunity to put in a large number of smaller articles that are really news, whereas, if a long, detailed athletic account is printed the readers perhaps find it monotonous. Is that not so? Why crab on the outside? Come inside some night when the board is convening and tell your tales of woe. What is wanted; lengthy articles with numerous details or short, snappy articles full of news?

COMMUNICATIONS

IN regard to the discussions of exemptions from final examinations that have appeared as communications in the COLLEGIAN for the last two weeks, it is probable that most of us regard what was said in the last issue about the benefit of final examinations to the student as applicable at least to major subjects. Certainly for the student to obtain the maximum from the courses that he has chosen as the most interesting and likely to be the most helpful to him in his post-college life, the final examination should be given.

However, there is a different situation existing in the first two years when courses are required and literally forced down the student's throats. Here there are courses in which the student will have very little interest except in a general way. Now many of these courses are made as difficult as possible in order that the student will have to do extra hard work in order to get by, and there is very little encouragement for high standing. Of course in this case, the student wants to get over 60% in order to pass the course and get rid of it as he would a bad cold, but the only incentive to high scholastic standing in such a course is the hope of being excused from the final examination.

As the student, during his freshman and sophomore years, strikes several such courses, his attitude toward them being governed by his individual predilections and by the personality of the instructor, it would be only fair for exemptions to be allowed in all required subjects for these two years.

The Aggie Review. Why?

In justice to the Freshman class it is only right that an explanation be made concerning the abolishment, this year, of the Freshman Show. When the announcement was made some time ago in Assembly that the Freshmen could not put on a show, the idea was misconstrued to mean that the Freshmen were incapable of staging a performance of their own. To correct this false impression I wish to say that the show was abolished at the special request of the Roister Doisters. It was abolished to relieve the unorganized class of the responsibility of an evening's entertainment, for often though a very good performance results from the efforts of the yearlings' nevertheless the event always carries with it a large question mark and sometimes undesirable fruits.

On Friday, Feb. 18, instead of the scheduled Freshman Show there will be an Aggie Review, bringing before the footlights talent from every source possible; each class, the two-year, and the faculty. The object of the event is, firstly, to provide a refined entertainment for the students and the townspeople and, secondly, to give the Roister Doisters an insight into the future dramatic possibilities.

Whether or not this event shall become an annual affair depends upon the support the students give it. From the standpoint of something worth while it deserves the backing of every last member of the college. This year's event will be the test.

Do you want an Aggie Review? If so, help your class put on a real, worthwhile act and support it on the evening of Feb. 18. GEORGE W. EDMAN '21.

FINANCIAL REPORT OF ATHLETIC DEPARTMENTS

In a Statement of the Finances of the Athletic Department from July 1, 1920 to Dec. 31, 1920, it is interesting to note that there was a deficit for the past year of nearly $2,000. The Department has been working under difficulties and accounts for this deficit in two ways. One is the fact that athletic equipment has risen in price 200% to 300%, the Student tax has increased only 50%, and again the number of students has increased by only about 100 in the past three or four years. The report in detail follows:

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL TEAM WINS TWO GAMES

Amherst High and Williston Fall by Large Scores.

The Williston basketball team was kept twenty points from a win by the rapid pass work and perfect team work of the fast Freshman five, last Saturday afternoon in Easthampton, by a score of 23-4. During the first half, Williston was not able to score, and the Freshmen played rings around her, the half ending 10-0 in favor of the Freshmen The Freshmen were outweighed by the heavy Williston five, but they did them up brown, just the same.

Weatherwax, playing right guard for the Freshman, was the star on defence. Barrows who substituted for Kane, injured in the first half, at right forward, played good ball and tied with Barker in the number of floor baskets. The lineups:

1924	WILLISTON ACADEMY
Kane, Barrows rf	lg, Chartier
Ferranti, lf	rg, Zimmerman, Strong
Barker, c	c, O'Loughlin
Weatherwax, rg	lf, Penshon, Magner
Bike, lg (capt.)	rf, Sheldon (capt.)

Goals from floor: Barrows 3, Ferranti 2, Barker 3, Bike, Sheldon. Goals from fouls: Ferranti 5, Chartier 2. Referee: Finn. Score: 1924 23, Williston—4.

The Freshmen defeated the Amherst high school in basketball last Thursday evening after the varsity game with a 55-13 score. While the game was exceedingly one-sided, it showed the Freshman team at its best and at the height of its season. The team gave a fine exhibition of team work.

Kane, hooped several good shots. Kane has proved one of the best tally makers this season for the Freshman team, and upheld his reputation in this game with seven floor baskets. Ferranti scored 15 out of 17 fouls. In the first half, Ferranti scored 7 out of 9, while in the second half, he scored on all eight free tries.

Weatherwax at right guard, was right on the spot, and broke up many of the high school formations which threatened to score. The lineups:

1924	AMHERST HIGH
Kane, Barrows, Bartlett, rf	lg, H. B. Brown, E. Brown, Judge
Ferranti, lf	rg, Jack, Dowd
Barker, Kane, Barrows, c	c, Fish
Weatherwax, Hairston, rg,	lf, Judge, Walsh
Bike, Brunner, lg,	rf, Sullivan, (capt.)

Goals from floor: Kane 7, Barrows 4, Bartlett, Ferranti 2, Barker 4, Bike 2, Walsh, Sullivan 2. Goals from fouls: Ferranti 15, Sulivan 7. Referee: Garland. Score: 1924—55, Amherst high school—13.

The horses of the R. O. T. C. Cavalry Unit have recently been named after the athletes and professors of M. A. C. "Kid" Gore, "Ras" Pond, "Red" Murphy, "Bob" Holmes, Prof. Hicks, "Billy" Hasbrouck, and "Bull" Prince illustrate the general idea.

NEW HAMPSHIRE JINX BROKEN AT LAST

Varsity Relay Quartet Trims Granite State at B. A. A.

The Aggie relay team "brought home the bacon" from their recent week-end trip, as was apparent to all who heard the Chapel bell being wildly rung by an ambitious Freshman at 12:30 on Sunday morning. The jinx that has followed M. A. C. teams, when playing against New Hampshire for the last two years, has finally been broken. Before a large crowd at the B. A. A. meet at Boston, the relay team decisively defeated the New Hampshire four, thus retrieving the hard fought game lost to her at Amherst in the afternoon.

Sullivan, the lead-off man for Aggie, fairly leaped to the front with the gun. Before Rogers, New Hampshire's first man, woke up, "Sully" was rounding the first bank with a lead of ten yards. This lead kept increasing until, on handing over the baton to MacCready, he had a lead of over 20 yards. "Mac," with his usual form, ran a fine race gaining 20 more yards on Draper, New Hampshire's second man. Allen, running third against Lagasse, easily held the lead that had been gained, while Woodworth, running anchor man, took things easy and let Paine, his opponent, gain about 10 yards, leaving a wide margin for the finish. The time for the race was 3.57, a slow time, due to the fact that the track was 92 yards longer than a mile. The race was lacking in the usual excitement, owing to the big lead gained at the first, and may be considered literally as a walkaway.

Slate '21 put up a good race in the handicap mile, finishing second. In a field of over 30 he passed all but a B. C. man, the latter with 40 yards handicap.

INTERFRATERNITY RELAY SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

Interfraternity Relay starts February 15 and from present indications it appears that there will be interesting races during the coming season. All of the fraternities have good teams and no combination as yet looks unbeatable. Following are the rules for this season:

1—Any man not on the varsity relay squad and being a member or pledge of any fraternity is eligible to run on the teams representing that fraternity.

2—All teams must report to McArdle, Mosely, or Kroeck with four men promptly at the time specified. Any team failing to do so will forfeit the race.

3—Postponed races must be run on the next date of scheduled races on which neither team has a scheduled race. Postponed races will follow scheduled races, the first to begin at 5.15 and others at 5-20, 5-25, etc. In case of both teams wishing to postpone a race notice must be given to McArdle, Mosely, or Kroeck before Feb. 11, 1921.

4—No spiked shoes to be worn during the race.

5—Members of the varsity squad will be allowed to represent their respective fraternities after the varsity schedule is completed.

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

An Opportunity

The dairyman today faces an unprecedented opportunity to market nutritious, palatable milk products at a substantial and continued profit, provided he carefully guards his operation costs, and protects his product from those preventable losses of quality which so often greatly reduce the margin of his profits. The exceptional cleaning qualities of are recognized by the agricultural colleges of the United States and Canada as being peculiarly adapted to this need of the dairy industry, and for eighteen years this cleanser has guarded the delicate qualities of sensitive milk products, thus saving a substantial margin of profit for the careful dairyman.

Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser

An order on your supply house will convince you of the truth of these claims.

JOHN KENDRICK BANGS IS SOCIAL UNION ENTERTAINER

His Address Followed by Musical Clubs Concert.

The third Social Union entertainment of the term was held in the Bowker Auditorium Stockbridge Hall, last Friday evening Feb.4, at 7 o'clock, and was enjoyed by an audience of several hundred students and alumni, who had come back to Aggie to participate in the various alumni day gatherings. The program consisted of two entirely different features. The first part consisted of an excellent humorous talk by John Kendrick Bangs, who has been termed "The Incorrigible Optimist." He may be recalled as being the author of "The Houseboat on the Styx." Mr. Bang's definition of an optimist was "a man who sees best because he sees hopefully."

The second part consisted of a concert given by the Musical Clubs. Each selection was excellently rendered, and both the Mandolin and Glee Clubs were encored time and time again. Especially splendid performances were rendered by the quartet and by Labrovitz and Vinten, the musical stars of the clubs. "A Calamity," sung by the Glee Club was very good. The concert and likewise the whole performance terminated with the singing of "Sons of Old Massachusetts" by the combined clubs and the audience.

and should be a credit to the college.

Star King then volunteered that the chief objections to the manager system as it stands today is that a man compete for the position for three years and get nothing in the end.

The third question which was brought up for consideration was that of the honor system. To what extent shoud the Honor Council advertise the results of it's work? Should the name of the expelled man be published? Mellen '21, opened the discussion. He advocated that the name of the man expelled be published in order that justice should be done to every one. Cascio '21, suggested that the Honor Council publish in the COLLEGIAN the fact that a man was expelled, when the occasion rises, but not to publish this man's name. The next speaker, Gillette '21, agreed with Cascio's suggestions and made a plea that no man expelled should be wronged by letting news of his misfortune spread outside of the M. A. C. campus. King '21, then explained chiefly for the benefit of the Freshman how the Honor System started at M. A. C. and what a great deal its establishment meant to M. A. C. The last speaker on the subject, Lent '21, suggested that if a man cribbed and was expelled that nothing else should be said. He stated that there is no necessity for publishing that man's name. The dishonor rests solely with the man himself and is no one elses business.

There was no discussion on the Dining Hall question so that subject was dropped. The forum closed with Kendall's outline of the Senate's position on regard to student questions. The Senate is an organization which is glad to take up any student grievances, and the only way the Senate has of obtaining public opinion is to obtain campus complaints.

over his head with one hand and scored. New Hampshire got three more points and Smith again caged a basket for Aggie.

The visitors scored seven points before the home team got started in the second half. Roser made several fine tries underneath the basket which barely missed counting. Finally Roser scored a foul and Hale shot a pretty basket from the center of the floor. New Hampshire scored four points in the next ten minutes and Aggie increased her score when Roser got two floor baskets inside of a very few seconds. Right here, just when the extra fight was needed Coach Gore sent Marshman into the game. "Willie" had a poor ankle but his injection into the game was all the home team needed to give the last extra punch. It worked, for in short order Smith went down and scored the basket that tied the count. The last foul has been described above.

CAMPUS NOTES

On May 11 the Short Course Winter School is planning to hold a reunion for all former short course winter students.

The Semi-centennial Committee is arranging as part of this year's jubilee program a series of conferences on various agricultural subjects. The dates are as follows: April 9 and 10, "Agricultural Missions," April 13-14-15, "Agricultural Education," April 15-16-17, "Rural Schools," May 6-7, "Mass. Food Supply," May 12-13-14, "Country Church."

The Freshmau class held a meeting last Tuesday evening in Clark Hall. Amendments to the class constitution were voted upon and were accepted. The first was a provision whereby in the future, nominating committees will be made up of one member from each fraternity, one man from the non-fraternity group, and one representative from the co-eds. The second amendment stated that the class historian in the the future shall be elected for the entire college year.

ALUMNI

B. F. Hubert '12, has recently been made Agricultural Director of Taskegee Institute, Tuskegee, Alabama. The Rural Messenger for November, 1920, contains an article in regard to Mr. Hubert's work, and the following comment taken from the Orangeburg Sun:

"During his stay in this community Professor Hubert has conducted himself in such a manner as to win the respect of people of both races and his leaving is the cause of regret on the part of numerous people with whom he has come in contact."

'18.—Theodore H. Reumann, an instructor in agriculture in the Leominster High School, is on the campus doing personal improvement work. He spent his Christmas vacation learning the practical side of poultry raising on a duck farm on Long Island. He now intends to spend the month of January learning the theoretical side here.

Don't Guess at What Feed Is Worth

Scales are used everywhere, from drug stores to steel mills, but they are no more important anywhere than at the feed trough and behind the cows in the dairy barn. A daily record of feed consumption and milk production is necessary for intelligent feeding. Weigh the feed you are now feeding. Weigh the milk you get. Put down each day, for each cow, what the feed costs and what the milk brings.

BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED

Then get BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED—the milk-producing concentrate—from your dealer. Mix up a mixture with wheat bran or other mill feeds, oats, etc. Make the BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED one-third, one-half or more of your mixture. Then feed this mixture to your cows, each cow according to her production, but give every cow enough to show what she can do with good feed when she gets a chance. Weigh each cow's feed. Then weigh her milk. A little figuring will convince you that it pays to feed BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED.

Write us for list of our giving mixtures for feeding BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED—and sample if you would like one. If your dealer cannot supply you, tell us who and where he is.

FORMER MEMBER OF FACULTY PASSES AWAY

Major Martin, for Ten Years Head of Military Department, Dies at Jacksonville, Fla.

Word has just been received of the death of Major George C. Martin, U.S.A. retired, who passed away at his home in Jacksonville, Fla., on Feb. 7. No particulars have been received. Major Martin, then Captain, was Commandant and Professor of Military Science and Tactics at M. A. C. for ten years—1905 to 1915. He served for a longer period by far than any other military officer who has ever been at the College and probably the length of his detail has not been exceeded in the history of the War Department to the Land Grant colleges.

Captain Martin endeavored to make the military work efficient without trying to over-militarize the institution. This was not an easy thing to do in the days before the R. O. T. C. The object of military drill was less understood then than now and while probably most students in after years realized its value, during college days it was a requirement more or less undesirable from the undergraduate point of view.

Captain Martin's relations to the faculty were peculiarly delightful. He was a man of fine social gifts, most considerate of the faculty point of view, always ready to co-operate with the teachers. He bore with unfailing good nature a serious invalidism that not only must have been trying to him as a man, but that incapacitated him for active military service before he had reached middle life.

Captain Martin was a graduate of Vermont Academy; was at Cornell for a time and took his degree at the University of Vermont in 1892. He taught in public schools and fitting schools before he entered the army. During his service at the College he taught mathematics for a time. When he left the institution in January, 1915, he left behind him a host of friends among faculty, alumni and students.

AMHERST CONCERT BY M. A. C. MUSICAL CLUBS

Dancing Follows Annual Concert in Town Hall.

The annual concert by the college Musical Clubs in the Amherst Town Hall, Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, drew a large audience of townspeople as well as a goodly scattering of students, attracted mainly by the dancing numbers which followed the program, with music by the college orchestra.

Following close upon the alumni concert of the week before, the clubs were in prime condition and showed the results of keeping in training since their Christmas trip, which is the most important trip of the year. The proceeds being realized from this concert will help materially to put the clubs on a firm footing to carry them over to next season.

The program was practically the same as that of the alumni concert. The numbers by the quartette were especially well received, as was the "Fifth Symphony in D Flat", as rendered by the Peerless Pair, Vinten and Labrovitz. The two clubs also came in for their share of praise for good work done.

"PAGEANT OF PILGRIMS" GIVEN AT STOCBRIDGE HALL

Many Faculty Members and Students In Unity Church Production.

The Unity Church presented the "Pageant of the Pilgrims," by Esther Willard Bates at Stockbridge Hall last Friday evening, Feb. 11 at 8 P. M. The pageant was organized by Fanny L. Rogers. Music of a high calibre was furnished by Ruth E. Dyer of Mt. Holyoke College, organist; Marion Searles, Mt. Holyoke, pianist; Ada Chadwick of Springfield, violinist.

The chorus composed of Miss Clara L. Rogers, Mrs. Bertha Serex, Mrs. Clara S. Dickinson Charles R. Vinten and Harlan N. Worthley, took an especially important part in the production and their work aided materially in its success.

The stage manager was Jack Smith M. A. C. '21. The pageant consisted of three episodes, "The Pilgrims Resolve to Leave Scrooby", "The Landing of the Pilgrims", and the "First Thanksgiving Day". The program was well rendered before a large and appreciative audience. Many members of the faculty and student body took part in the performance.

Phi Sigma Kappa held a house dance Saturday, Feb. 11, at their house. There were about twenty couples present chaperoned by Miss Chase of Smith and Mrs. Mowry of Mt. Holyoke College. Music was furnished by Smith's orchestra. Refreshments were served by a local caterer.

VARSITY LOSES TWO CLOSE GAMES IN CONNECTICUT

Hale and Smith Show Great Form. Fine Treatment Given Team.

Two close scores with a total difference of only thirteen points tells the story of the two losses sustained by the varsity basketball team last week-end in Connecticut. C. A. C. won their game on Friday night by a 26-19 score while the next night the strong Wesleyan team was victorious by a 23-17 count. Both games were fast, well played and clean throughout. The refereeing was particularly good and the hospitality shown the team at both places was excellent. The team was very well treated at Glastonbury. Mr. and Mrs. Stancliffe Hale and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Roser entertained the team in fine style at their respective homes and gave them a theatre party in Hartford.

In the C. A. C. game the fine work of Hale stood out prominently. Playing against Alexander, the fastest man on the Connecticutt team, this husky sophomore held the fast back to one basket whereas all season the C. A. C. scores have been largely made up of Alexander's individual scores. The Aggie man also scored one basket himself. Smith played well in this game and

DEATH CLAIMS WELL-KNOWN CAMPUS FIGURE

W. F. (Mike) Gibbons, Federal Board Student Passes Away.

Aggie lost one of the most cheerful, generous, kindly men in the Short Course, when William F. Gibbons, known all over the campus as "Mike", was found dead in his bed last Thursday morning.

Mike was a soldier to the backbone, and served in the regular army for 26 years, fighting Spanlards, Philipinos, and Huns, and only stopping when the third wound received in the recent war made him unfit for service.

After his discharge, he came to Aggie and enrolled as a Short Course man in the Federal Board. He had been in Amherst about a year and a half, and had made many friends. A prominent Amherst merchant says of him, "Mike was always gentlemanly, very original, and would give you the last cent in his pocket if he thought you needed it."

He was 47 years old, one of those who saw the opportunity offered wounded men for an education, and grasped it. He was a member of the Spanish War Veterans of Holyoke.

The funeral service in Amherst last Friday afternoon was attended by 250 people. The body was taken to his home in Fitchburg, where it was given a soldier's burial. Seventy of his American Legion comrades escorted the body to the grave.

PERMANENT SENIOR ELECTIONS ANNOUNCED

King is Re-elected President of the Class of 1921.

The Class of 1921 has elected its officers for the last time in its career as a class at M. A. C. It has selected the following men to lead it permanently: president, Starr M. King; vice-president, Charles G. Macklntosh; secretary, Donald C. Douglass; treasurer, Irving E. Gray; captain, Donald A. Lent; sergeant-at-arms, John D. Brigham; historian, Reginald D. Tillson.

King was re-elected to the office of president. He has played varsity football for two seasons, was chosen by the Union for the All New England eleven and was awarded the Pond Memorial Medal recently. He is vice-president of the Senate, and a member of Adelphia. At various times he has held other offices for 1921, and has played on the class baseball and football teams.

Macklntosh is the president of Adelphia, and a Senate member. He has played on six class teams, and was president of 1921 last year.

Douglass has been on the Index and Squib boards, and has been a member of the various dance committees.

Gray is the captain of varsity relay, and has been on the varsity track, cross country, and football teams. He has also helped 1921 in football and track.

Lent has played varsity football, baseball and basketball. He has been selected for the All New England and All Aggie football teams. '21 has used him in track, baseball, football, and basketball. He was captain of the class last year.

Brigham stars in both varsity baseball and football. He pitched for the varsity last spring and looks like an ace for the coming season. At football, baseball and track he has made 1921 a contender for class honors.

Tillson was re-elected historian, an office which he has held for over two years. Tillson has also been on the varsity rifle team, and on the 1921 Index board.

These committees are to get as many suggestions as possible from all sources. Their purpose is to make activities as strong as they can be made, and to enlist public support. In fact, we are really trying to study out problems with the good of Aggie always in mind.

SENIORS AND SOPHOMORES WIN

Interclass Basketball Series End. Frosh-Soph Game to be Played.

After running a close race with the Seniors throughout this winter's basketball season, the Sophomores managed to come out on top of the list by defeating the 2-Yr team last Friday night in the final set of games. This makes a clean slate of 4 victories to the credit of 1923. Although the Seniors have played a good game throughout the whole season, they lost to the Sophomores at the first of the season by a close score, and were thus put out of the running for championship honors.

This makes the second time that '23 has put out a winning basketball team. Much of the credit for this is due Tumey, who has put up a fast exhibition of the game whenever he has played on the floor. His teammates have worked well with him, and show the advantages of good experience and training. Besides him, high scorers for the season have been Armstrong, '21, and Stevens of the Two Year team.

The games last Friday were the last on the schedule before the numeral game, the date for which will be announced later. The scoring of the first game seemed to be mostly a race between Armstrong and Ferranti, who made all of the 12 points for '24. The second game was fast, especially in the second half, when the Two Year came to within 4 points of their opponents, by the fleet work of their two clever forwards. The lineups:

SENIORS		FRESHMEN
Rosoff, Alger, rf		lg, Sime, Bartlett
Armstrong, lf		rg, Gifford
Brigham, c		c, Hill, Bliss
Gould, Waite, rg		lf, Ferranti
Alger, Rosoff, Waite, lg		rf, Whitman, Sime

Score—1921, 16; 1924, 12. Baskets from floor—Armstrong 4, Ferranti 3, Rosoff, Brigham. Free tries—Ferranti 6, Armstrong 4. Score at end of first half—5-4, in favor of Seniors. Referee—Grayson.

SOPHOMORES		2-YEAR
Grayson, rf		lg, Adair
Sargent, lf		rg, Maggi, Green
Tumey, c		c, Grant

Score—1923, 24; T. Y., 20. Baskets from floor—Tumey 10, Girard 3, Grayson 2, Grant 2, Stevens 2. Free tries—Stevens 6. Score at end of first half—16-5, for '23. Referee—Prof. Hicks.

The final standing of the teams in the league:

scored twice from the floor. Marshman also got in two nice baskets after fast trips down the floor. Roser scored seven points on fouls but was not successful with his tries for floor baskets. Baxter was the star performer for the home team although on the whole the M. A. C. team seemed to have the edge on their opponents by virtue of their superior passing.

Baskets from floor—Smith 2, Roser, Marshman 2, Hale, Putnam 3, Alexander, Baxter 3, and Gromwaldt.

The game the next evening was a little closer and faster. Smith played a fine brand of ball for M. A. C. putting up one of the finest exhibitions of play that he has ever shown. He had only a few chances to shoot for a basket but was successful on two tries; while his floor work was very good. Marshman played well and contributed two baskets from the floor as in the previous evening. Captain Gowdy, it is needless to say, played a stellar game on the defense and contributed his share to the score by dropping in a nice basket from mid floor. Roser, Smith and Marshman all scored in the first half from the floor while Roser scored twice from the foul line. The half ended with the score in Wesleyan's favor and they were never headed. Robinson and Hosdawich played well for the home team and as before stated, Smith's work was of the best.

GLEE CLUB ENTERTAINS IN SUNDERLAND

Last Friday evening, Feb. 11, the Glee Club was invited by the Women's Club of Sunderland to give an informal entertainment in the Town Hall, in connection with a little play given by the local club entitled the "Family Album". The Glee Club rendered selections before and after the play. Dancing and refreshments followed and after having enjoyed a very good time the songsters were driven home in automobiles by the townspeople.

PRINCIPAL STEARNS AT SUNDAY CHAPEL

Phillips Academy Head Talks on Application of Old Testament Story.

Principal Alfred E. Stearns of Phillips Academy, Andover, gave a very interesting address at Chapel last Sunday morning. Mr. Stearns took as the basis of his address, the Old Testament story of Elijah fleeing into the wilderness, and of his hearing the words of God, "What doest thou here."

Mr. Stearns pointed out how the same thing is happening every day of our lives. "God speaks not only to individuals, but to nations at critical moments", he continued. "The call came to the United States at the beginning of the war, and although slow in doing so, she finally answered the challenge. God speaks through your conscience, never more strongly than during your college days. Although the college possesses untold opportunities, it may turn out a catastrophe if not used rightly. The man who comes without a purpose, can, through his social life, his friends, his privileges, crystallize the weakness which threatens his character. If a man's aim is selfish, the college becomes a deadly instrument. The voice comes with every individual problem. You cannot get away from it. Remorse comes after every wrong act. Vision and mighty mental powers are needed that civilization may be preserved, but here comes the great danger of looking down on former associates, friends and even members of your family. It is a rare opportunity to lift those one has left behind, to the high levels he has obtained. No one can afford not to listen to God's voice.

DELTA PHI GAMMA HOLDS VALENTINE PARTY

Successful Function Attended by Over 30 Couple.

A very successful Valentine Dance and party was held in the Drill Hall Saturday evening from 7-45 to 11-15 by the Delta Phi Gamma Sorority. The hall was fittingly decorated for the occasion with red and white streamers, and an abundance of hearts. The walls were covered with M blankets and banners. Palms were set in the corners. The patrons and patronesses were Prof. and Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Bachrach and Miss Skinner. Music was furnished by an Amherst College orchestra: Anderson, traps; Royce, violin; and Claster, piano. Refreshments consisted of punch and cookies. Thirty-three couple attended. Heart dances were a feature of the evening.

Dr. Fernald has been writing a "Text Book on Economic Entomology," which he expects will go to press in the near future.

PROF. MARSHALL TALKS ON GRADUATE SCHOOL

Director Speaks at Wednesday Assembly.

Prof. Charles E. Marshall, Director of the Graduate School at M. A. C., spoke on the Graduate School at Assembly last Wednesday, Feb. 9. Prof. Marshall is a firm believer in agriculture for young men, not from a material standpoint especially, but from the spiritual side.

Opportunities for broad personal independence are bound up in this vocation, and the successful farmer must be both a naturalist and a business man. Agriculture is not all farming; there are numerous sides, such as forest specialty and marketing. The purpose of the Graduate School is to take one path leading to the goal. The question comes up "What is an education in agriculture" and "What is added by graduate work?" Practice, science, economics, humanities and social welfare constitute an agricultural education. The farmer must be familiar with all the elements of agriculture and must be capable of utilizing these elements. From these facts comes the definition of farming: an occupation which utilizes all the elements for a definite end.

There are two lines of endeavor in the Graduate School, one is the intensive course leading to the Master of Science, and the other is the graduate professional line, as, for example, Master of Landscape Architecture. There is a great demand for these latter lines. The Graduate School is a necessary continuation of study in an agricultural college. The biggest and most highly trained men are needed.

MR. GREEN INSTITUTES FRATERNITY LIBRARIES

The Library has put a collection of 12 to 15 books in the 12 fraternity houses. This is an entirely new scheme in the colleges as M. A. C. is the first college to try this plan. The plan is similar to the Public Libraries placing books in fire stations, and public schools. The books in these collections are "The World Almanac", "Cushing's Manual", "How to Study" and books on College Life and Self-improvement. In placing these books in the houses, the Library selected books which would not be used in any course of study. Under this arrangement the Library hopes to get the students acquainted with a number of valuable books which the student does not know about. The collection will be changed every three months.

Uneasy.

The student body is uneasy. The faculty are skeptical. The Athletic Department is frequently aroused to protest. Something must be the trouble at Aggie. Some little cog is slipping, and missing too often.

Student activities are crowding more and more. They are taking time away from studies. They are even fighting themselves. All too frequently several organizations call meetings at the same hour, making it necessary for some to leave one duty to attend to another. The student activities committee has got to go into this matter in detail Can you help them out by publishing your ideas in the COLLEGIAN? Are we burdened with too many afternoon laboratories, so that we have to concentrate our study, our pleasure and our appreciation of the Arts into the short hours following supper-time? Are Athletics beginning to hold too much attention in college? Athletics come second to studies and should not be made a business proposition in college from the student viewpoint. The student athlete wants a clean, invigorating exercise; a diversion from his studies. The athlete of twenty years' age doesn't want to spend afternoons and evenings and often between-times thinking and playing Athletics. When has he a chance to do the studying he should? When can he read or do the few odd tasks he may need to do?

Last, and not least, surely, is the fraternity question. To what extent are fraternities injuring college spirit? Is it not fair that fraternities should have Monday nights for their meetings? If so there should be no friction between fraternities and college spirit. How about it?

Will You Help?

The Year of Jubilee, as outlined by Prexy, is fast getting on. Scheduled events are rapidly disappearing into the past and the new is replacing the old at an astonishing speed. The collegiate year is half over and for the seniors, at least, commencement and graduation seem but a step luto tomorrow.

Tentative commencement plans call for the "biggest and best ever". "Old stuff", murmurs the suffering student, overburdened with the strenuous mental effort of maintaining his scholastic equilibrium. But here, my downtrodden friend, is a chance for you to set a standard in jubilee celebration which will be a bright spot in Aggie history for all time. We have the occasion—our postponed semi-centennial. We have the materials—dedication of the Memorial Building, return of alumni (the estimate is for 1000), and a potential pageant.

It is distinctly your job. You are to be the hosts, the alumni are to be the guests. The general public will be present to a greater extent than ever before. But the most important of all, as never before, M. A. C. is to "sell" herself to the alumni and people of this state. You must, as hosts, show them hospitality worthy of the name.

A suggestion. Take up the matter in your next class meeting. Appoint a committee. It is not too early to begin.

FACULTY ORGANIZES BASKETBALL TEAM

Twelve Candidates Report For Practice.

The Faculty have shown that they are very much in the game by their recent entry into the basketball world. Two practices have been held with twelve candidates out. Prof. Edward F. Burke has been elected manager. Plans are being made for two games with the Amherst Faculty, and it is hoped that the first game will be held at home, next week. Those who are out are: Edward J. Burke. Harold M. Gore, E. E. Grayson, Wm. S. Regan, W. E. Philbrick, Wm. Daunt, Wm. F. Robertson, A. C. Faneuf, Robert Hawley, Guy Thelin, Willard K. French, and Paul Serex, Jr.

Miss Frances Powers has been engaged by Librarian Green to take Miss Middleton's place in the upstairs library of the chapel. Miss Powers was formerly employed in Flint laboratory.

The Y. M. C. A. activities of the last few weeks have included the Weekly World Fellowship Discussion Groups by Professor Machmer, the Bible leaders Training Class by Professor Wells, Dwight Station work, and Sunday school teaching in West Farms.

Wednesday evening, Feb. 16, at 7-45 in Bowker Auditorium, there will be a Meeting of the Animal Husbandry Club at which Professor Loomis of Amherst College, who has conducted scientific researches in western U. S. for the past 15 years, will lecture on the origin and history of the prehistoric horse. There will also be stereoptican slides with the lecture.

A very successful dance was held by the Theta Chi fraternity, Saturday afternoon and evening. Decorations were in the fraternity colors, and were appropriate to Valentine's Day. There were 16 couples dancing, music being by the Fraternity orchestra. Supper was served at the house. Miss Barney, of Smith and Mrs. Wheeler of Mt. Holyoke, were chaperones.

HARTFORD HIGH IS DEFEATED BY 1924 FIVE

Yearlings Get Revenge For Early Season Defeat.

The Freshman basketball team defeated the Hartford High School team last Saturday afternoon at the Drill Hall by a score of 26-17. The Freshmen were defeated in the early part of their season by the Hartford team at home.

Weatherwax, playing center, instead of his usual position at guard, got into the shooting and scored a couple of baskets. Kane, playing his usual type of hard, steady basketball, tossed in four baskets. Escholtz, for the visitors, played good ball, and was the chief means of scoring for Hartford.

The lineups:

Kane, rf	lg, Barkus
Barrows, lf	rg, Sexton
Weatherwax, Salmon, c	c, McMinnigal, Goooman

VARSITY DEBATE IS ARRANGED

Tryouts to be Held Feb. 23.

A varsity debate has been arranged with Springfield College to take place on April 7. Both colleges will have two teams, one going away and debating one side of the question, and the other staying at home and upholding the other side. The question to be debated is "Resolved: that, waiving all questions as to transportation and constitutionality, the Federal Government should own and operate all the coal mines in the United States."

Trials will take place next Wednesday evening, Feb. 23., in Stockbridge Hall. Candidates wishing to try out should hand their names to Manager Lockwood immediately. Several have already signified their intentions of competing, but there are not enough yet. Freshmen are eligible. In picking the teams each candidate will in three minutes present a constructive argument on one side of the question, to be assigned. The candidate will then have one minute to refute the previous speaker. Any further information will be given as the candidates report.

GROUNDS DEPARTMENT LESS BUSY THIS WINTER

Cost and Labor of Removing Snow Has Been at a Minimum. Interesting Data Given.

Yes, the north wind doth blow, and once in a while we have snow, but to all appearances the Grounds Department is very optimistic as to what will be the cost of removing snow this season as compared with last winter. In fact, they point with pride to the fact that it has cost them only 36.5% as much to remove snow to date as it did in the same period last year. In other words, while it cost them $440.75 to remove the snow up to Feb. 1 last year, it has cost them only $168.71 to remove it this year. The Grounds Department lays this difference in cost to the fact that the snow has melted quicker this year than last. They expect that this will hold true for the rest of the winter.

A curious thing in regard to the expense of clearing away the snow is the fact that during the last nine years, on only two occasions has the Grounds Department had to remove snow during November. Expense incurred from removing snow in October or December has been common, but for some reason, Jack Frost has avoided giving trouble in November.

This winter has been very hard on lawns, it having been very easy to make tracks in the absence of snow.

'17.—E. E. Grayson has been playing conspicuously fine basketball for the Easthampton five, holding down a guard position in top-notch style.

DARTMOUTH PROSPECTS

the Aggies are confident that she will not repeat. Since that contest comparative scores against other teams are all in favor of M. A. C. The Green lost to Harvard 5 to 0 and to B. C. 4 to 0, while Aggie held the Crimson to two goals and lost to Boston College by 2 to 1. M. I. T. who had previously beaten B. C. was defeated 2 to 1.

Dartmouth has a scrappy aggregation with a strong offense built around Capt. Rothschild at center and Perry, rover. She also has a goal tender of more than ordinary ability in Neidlinger. On the other hand, in the games against Harvard and B. C. the Green did not show either the offensive power or the defensive strength which marked the Aggie's play against the same opponents.

The previous game was won by virtue of better team work on the part of Dartmouth. Coach Mansell's team has been handicapped all the season by lack of practice, but in spite of that has improved greatly. The win from M. I. T. and the 8 to 0 defeat administered to Tufts certainly showed evidence of team power. Dartmouth will face a far stronger team than she did at Hanover three weeks ago. The Maroon and White has a well balanced combination and when playing in the Boston Arena was given credit for being the fastest team which has played there. Capt. McCarthy and Coach Mansell along side of Lyons and Snow form a forward line which is dangerous to any opponent. The defensive ability of the Collins Poole Newell combination is well shown by the fact that Harvard, Boston College, and M. I. T., three of the strongest teams, in the east, were able to collect a total of five goals in the three games. Dartmouth will have her work cut out to score, and from all present indications M. A. C. should be on the long end of the score.

Each year makes its own crop prices
Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.
Do you see the situation in that light?
E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. An Opportunity
The dairyman today faces an unprecedented opportunity to market nutritious, palatable milk products at a substantial and continued profit, provided he carefully guards his operation costs, and protects his product from those preventable losses of quality which so often greatly reduce the margin of his profits.
The exceptional cleaning qualities of
Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser
are recognized by the agricultural colleges of the United States and Canada as being peculiarly adapted to this need of the dairy industry, and for eighteen years this cleanser has guarded the delicate qualities of sensitive milk products, thus saving a substantial margin of profit for the careful dairyman.
An order on your supply house will convince you of the truth of these claims.

INTERCOLLEGIATES

Because of the growing number of students at M. I. T. who were either graduates of or transfers from Dartmouth, a Dartmouth club has been organized there. This marks a new departure in intercollegiate relations.

The New Hampshire, in the writeup of the M. A. C. basketball game of Feb. 5: "For the first time this season Butler was held down to one basket. This was largely due to the fact that the opposition stuck to his heels throughout the game. Thompson, the Aggie center, together with Smith, made it almost impossible for 'Ted' to shoot." Yes, we noticed that.

AGGIE FAIR TO BECOME AN ANNUAL EVENT

Tentative Plans Drawn Up for the 1921 Show.

The "Aggie Fair," inaugurated on the campus last October, is going to be an annual event. The Fair Committee, composed of F. A. Waugh, J. A. Foord, R. D. Hawley, and S. B. Haskell, met recently, made tentative plans for the fair next fall, and promise the students a larger and better exhibition.

Although the Fair last October was confined to the Department of Horticulture, hereafter the Department of Agriculture and other departments will join to make the show representative of all branches of agriculture.

The 1921 Fair will be in the latter part of October. The Committee decided that commercial exhibits should be restricted very closely to college departments, and that no outside organizations should be included save as their exhibits were part of departmental exhibits.

There will be a student midway this year, on which the usual fakirs and refreshment booths will have full sway. All the profits from these midway attractions will be turned into the Memorial Building Committee, preferably to be used for furnishing the building.

The following committees were appointed: grounds, Lawrence Dickinson, chairman; publicity, W. P. B. Lockwood and L. M. Lyons; prizes, F. A. Waugh, chairman; student concessions and activities, A. A. Mackimmie, chairman; judging, F. C. Sears and J. C. Graham.

TWO-YEAR ANNUAL

The two-year classes are to put out an annual of their own this year. By doing this they feel that they can get more publicity than it is possible to get in a few pages of the Index. There will, therefore, be nothing at all in the Index relative to the two-year classes. This is just another step which the new comers are taking to strengthen their position in college. Steele has been elected business manager.

The Union says: "None of the past M. A. C. dead shot foul shooters have anything on Dutch Roser, this year's prodigy. He is winning success for M. A. C. on this end of the game. He hoops them the way the late Ras Pond did and the way Em Grayson, present Easthampton Interstater, does. Roser has a remarkable count so far this season, and it is his first year at varsity basketball and he is only a Junior; much awaits him in his last year. Perhaps the most striking example was seen at the Amherst game. Dutch kept M. A. C. in the game by the way he scored up one by one. He was on deck with 19 fouls to his credit. He has the most unique method of scoring, for besides being an expert foul shooter he is a nifty little forward, and between fouls and floor baskets he makes about 50 per cent of the Aggies points."

KOLONY KLUB HOLDS DANCE

The Kolony Klub held an informal dance at Masonic Hall, Saturday, Feb. 12, from 3-10.30 P. M. The hall was tastefully decorated with a color scheme of red, white and blue. Thirty couple attended. Dinner was served at 6 P. M. at "The Perry". The patrons and patronesses were Prof. and Mrs. J. C. Strahan and Prof. and Mrs. P. J. Anderson. Music was furnished by Davy's orchestra. The committee in charge of the dance were the following: Newell, Baxter, Stevens, MacLeod and Hancock.

Conspicuous in the lineup of the Dartmouth seven here on Thursday will be Brainy Bower, the Green's premier athlete, who, until now, has been ineligible for the Hanover septet. How Large is an Atom?

ATOMS are so infinitesimal that to be seen under the most powerful microscope one hundred million must be grouped. The atom used to be the smallest indivisible unit of matter. When the X-Rays and radium were discovered physicists found that they were dealing with smaller things than atoms—with particles they call "electrons."

Atoms are built up of electrons, just as the solar system is built up of sun and planets. Magnify the hydrogen atom, says Sir Oliver Lodge, to the size of a cathedral, and an electron, in comparison, will be no bigger than a bird-shot.

Not much substantial progress can be made in chemical and electrical industries unless the action of electrons is studied. For that reason the chemists and physicists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the very constitution of matter as they are with the development of new inventions. They use the X-Ray tube as if it were a machine-gun; for by its means electrons are shot at targets in new ways so as to reveal more about the structure of matter.

As the result of such experiments, the X-Ray tube has been greatly improved and the vacuum tube, now so indispensable in radio communication, has been developed into a kind of trigger device for guiding electrons by radio waves.

Years may thus be spent in what seems to be merely a purely "theoretical" investigation. Yet nothing is so practical as a good theory. The whole structure of modern mechanical engineering is reared on Newton's laws of gravitation and motion—theories stated in the form of immutable propositions.

In the past the theories that resulted from purely scientific research usually came from the university laboratories, whereupon the industries applied them. The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company conceive it as part of their task to explore the unknown in the same spirit, even though there may be no immediate commercial goal in view. Sooner or later the world profits by such research in pure science. Wireless communication, for example, was accomplished largely as the result of Herz's brilliant series of purely scientific experiments demonstrating the existence of wireless waves.

AGGIE REVIEW IS WELL RECEIVED

Drama and Muaic of Fine Quality Draws Record Crowd.

The first Aggie Revue was staged last Friday evening before an audience that taxed the capacity of Bowker auditorium. The affair was under the management of the Roister Doisters, the class managers co-operating. Much credit is due the candidates for assistant managers, Gustave E. R. Lindskog, Benjamin Gamzue and Roger B. Friend for their valued assistance with the properties.

To pick out the leading act of the six would be a difficult task, however the class of 1922, the faculty, the two-year class and the class of 1924 deserve special mention for their work, as it stood out as a thing of polish and quality.

The Sophomores displayed unusual ability to put across a musical number that had all the earmarks of classicism Those participating were Robert A. Buell, Robert D. Fuller, Richard G Wendell, Carroll A. Towne, Lawrence F. Broderick. James S. Bennett, Homer F. Richards, Harry C. Norcross, and Fred G. Sears.

The two-year class followed with a play entitled, "Marriages are made in

NUMERAL HOCKEY GAME GOES TO 1924 1-0

Only Tally in Fast Game Comes in the First Half.

Last Saturday at 8-30 A. M., the 1924 Hockey team took the Sophomore team into camp to the score of 1-0. Lamb, who was the 1924 stellar attraction, made the lone tally, while Goldsmith at point played a fine brand of hockey. For 1923, Smith and Tarr excelled on the offensive, while Wendell and Ribero made a defence which the Frosh could not penetrate. The goal tenders did not have much work to do as the puck was mostly in mid-rink. During the first half the playing was a little slow, and it was not until near the end of the period that the Frosh made their tally. The second half found the teams playing good hockey, but due to Goldsmith's detensive work the puck never saw the yearling's cage.

The lineup:

1924	1923
Tewhill, rw	lw, Hardy
Lamb, c	c, Friend
Macaulay, lw	rw, Smith, Tarr
Nicolls, cp	cp, Ribero
Goldsmith, p	p, Wendell
Kilbourn, g	g, Baker

Score—1924, 1; 1923, 0. Score at half time—1924, 1; 1923, 0. Goal made by Lamb. Referee—Mansell. Goal judges—McCarthy and Cotton. Time—15 minute halves.

M. I. T. FALLS BEFORE MAROON AND WHITE

Cambridge Five Puts Up Fast Game, Losing 21-16.

For the second time this season the Aggie basketball team won from M.I.T. The score of the game Saturday being 21-10. The game was well advertised and the team from Cambridge brought a large crowd out to the Drill Hall. The playing of the M. A. C. quintet was above the quality of their opponents throughout the game, although Tech had a small lead near the first of the game. The work of Tonon for the visitors was of good quality. He has been playing well all the season and it was with interest that the spectators watched the Aggie men keep him from scoring more than one basket. The game on the whole was fast and one of the best played of the season.

Roser scored the first point of the game from the foul line, but soon after the Tech team gained a 3-1 lead. This was the only time during the game that they were ahead. From that point on the Aggie five was invincible and played like a team that could never be defeated. At the end of the first half the score was 14-8 in favor of the home team. The second half was a little closer but M. I. T. could not overcome the Aggie lead and the score ended 21-16. The fast floor work of Marshman and Smith was in evidence all through both halves. Thompson played well on the defense and scored one basket from the floor. The best work on the offense for M. A. C. was turned in by Al Smith.

SQUIB REORGANIZES FOR SCHOOL YEAR

The following new men have been elected to the Squib board for the school year of 1921: R. F. Smith '22, Advertising. In the Literary Department—K. C. Randall '22, E. W. Burke '23, R. F. ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS OF COLLEGE CHANGED

Falling Off in Personnel of Faculty Noticed in New Catalog.

The new catalogue of the Massachusetts Agricultural College has for its new features some changes in the requirements for admission to the courses leading to a B. Sc. degree.

Although one-half additional units for entrance are required the terms for admission are more liberal. But ten and one-half units of entrance credit are now required through school certification and entrance examination. The remaining four units for admission can be satisfied by a statement from the high school principal that the work was credited toward a diploma.

Twenty-four new men appeared in the list of the college staff, and 35 of these previously listed are noted to have resigned, indicating the effect of insufficient salaries.

The institution of the cavalry unit of the R. O. T. C. has necessitated a complete revision in the military instruction. The U. S. Army has supplied the college with 35 cavalry horses and enlisted personnel to adequately care for them. In addition, two army officers have been detailed for instruction of the students.

EXCELLENT SOCIAL UNION ENTERTAINMENT FEB. 26

Famous Suwanee River Quartet at S. H. at 6-30.

The Suwanee River Quartet will give an entertainment Saturday, February 26, 6-30 P. M. at Stockbridge Hall, under the auspices of the Social Union. After ten years together this fine quartet is more famous than ever. Following a long Chautauqua season through New England and Canada, they are filling one hundred and fifty consecutive lyceum dates this fall and winter.

Three of the members of this quartet are university graduates and the company was formed from a Bible class conducted by John Gantt, its present manager. They do not pretend to be the best quartet in the world, but they are unquestionably the best negro quartet in America.

The program is a composite of the different type of negro songs—some rollicking, some grave—the old plantation, jubilee and "camp meeting".

John Maxwell, tenor, is an excellent reader, and offers stories and poems of Paul Lawrence Dunbar, the negro poet. In addition they form an instrumental quartet of banjos, guitars and mandolins, and as a special feature introduce character costume songs.

The whole concert is arranged with but one idea—to present a genuine entertainment.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE IS BEST IN YEARS

Nineteen Games Secured, with Maroon and White Facing Strongest Nines in East.

The 1921 baseball schedule, as announced today by Manager Clark, looks like the best list of Aggie diamond bookings in years. The schedule consists of nineteen games, six at home, one at Pratt Field, and twelve away from home, with Amherst as the commencement rival at Alumni Field on June 11.

Some of the strongest nines in the east appear on the list, including such teams as Williams, Brown, Harvard, Tufts, Boston University, and Amherst. Teams appearing on this schedule this season, which were not played last year, include Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Williams and Bates, Brown, Harvard, and Boston University.

Manager Clark has arranged some excellent trips for the nine, New York, Boston, and Providence being in the list of stop-overs. The season opens at Hoboken, N. J., on April 20, Stevens being the first opponent of the Maroon and White on a three game trip.

Candidates for varsity baseball will probably be called out about March 7, following the close of the basketball season. Coach Gore and Captain Newell will have an excellent nucleus from last season and a fast nine should be developed. In the infield the initial sack will be

FACULTY LOSE THEIR FIRST GAME 24-10

Gore and Widmayer Headliners in Monday Night Contest.

Monday night a new team set forth from Aggie, in the shape of a faculty five, to play a quintet picked from the faculty at Amherst College. The M. A. C. five played well but were out-classed and lost 24-10. The game was fast and of course very exciting. Widmayer and "Tug" Kennedy were the headliners for Amherst. They showed the result of their late training and scored 20 of their team's points.

Burke and Hawley were the Aggie men who managed to score, while the defensive work of "Kid" Gore was true to the methods that he teaches. His floor work was fast and effective, his opponent not being able to break through for a try at the basket. Hawley showed the results of his recent training in class games and as a varsity sub. He scored two floor baskets. Burke caged the other and also scored four fouls. Familiar among the younger alumni on the team were Dowd '20, Robertson '20, French '19 and Hawley '19. Reegan and Serex both played left forward, but neither the tall entomologist nor the stocky scientist were able to score. Philbrick, lately from Minneapolis, was another reminder of olden days. French is the captain.

The game was well attended and caused a great deal of interest in both colleges. The remaining games on the Faculty schedule will be watched with this same interest.

The lineups:

Amherst Faculty	M. A. C. Faculty
Marsh, lf	rg, Burke
Townsend, lf	rg, Dowd
Gaus, rf	rg, Robertson
Widmayer, c	lg, Gore
Kennedy, lg	c, French
May, lg	rg, Hawley
Seatchard, rg	lf, Regan
Wicher, rg	lf, Philbrick
	lf, Serex

Baskets from floor—Widmayer 6, Hawley 2, Burke, Gaus, Kennedy and Whicher. Baskets from foul—Widmayer 6 and Burke 4. Referee—Hicks and Tyler. Time—17 minute periods.

Mrs. Butterfield gave a reception to Miss Marie Sayles, Head of the Home Economics Department, who is leaving M. A. C to take a similar position at the Ohio State University.

The Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity held an informal house dance Tuesday evening. Music was furnished by Davenport's orchestra. Mrs. Ostrander was the chaperon.

Heaven and Elsewhere" by Graham Price. Though at times the Irish brogue was over done, this minor defect was overcome by the splendid acting of the entire cast which consisted of: Stanley F. Blish, Frederick N. Margreve, Katherine L. Powell and Elizabeth F. Russell. Much credit for this plays' success goes to Professor Patterson who coached the production.

The Senior act though full of possibilities for a snappy show did not stand out so well because of a lack of finish. It was very good however, with a dance by Jack Smith assisted by Miss Ruth Dyer of Mt. Holyoke College at the organ as the feature. Members of the ensemble were Peter J. Cascio, Nathan W. Gillette, Emerson F. Haslam, Newton E. Lincoln, Edward B. Newton, Lawrence P. Martin, Russell D. Baker, Robert L. Starkey, Phillp B. Armstrong, George W. Edman, Francis L. Fletcher and Charles H. Anderson.

The Faculty gave a very good presentation of "The Rising of the Moon", by Lady Gregory. The cast consisted of Professors Prince, Rand, Phelan and Thompson.

The Freshmen in their act displayed a good deal of talent in a romance entitled "Swimming Pools", by Forrest Bedford. Those participating were Charles Tewhill, Curtis G. Bowes, Willard C. Frost, James L. Williams and Eliot G. Goldsmith.

The Juniors gave a play entitled "His Methodist Foot" by Vance C. Criss. The entire production showed lack of work but it was successful because of its ludicrous presentation. The cast consisted of George A. Cotton, Robert M. Hodgson, Reginald N. Holman, Edwin G. Burnham, Carl F. Whitaker, Myron G. Murray, Harry A. Eryslan, George B. Packer, and Frederick B. Cook.

Very entertaining music was furnished by the college orchestra consisting of Richard G. Wendell, Maxfield M. Smith, Robert H. Woodworth, Robert D. Fuller, Raymond W. Swift, and Charles O. Dunbar.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE LAYS PLANS

The officers of the "Altogether', committee on Student Activities appointed last Sunday were L. P. Martin '21, chairman, and James A. Beal '23, secretary. The subject will be taken up with Al Spaulding '17, of Holyoke, and Professor Patterson as consultants. Subjects such as the conflict of different student activities on the campus will be considered and suggestions will be made for improvements, at the student forum.

THREE RACES RUN IN INTERFRATERNITY SERIES

Sigma Phi Epsilon Makes the Best Time; 2:15 2-5.

Interfraternity relay races began last Tuesday afternoon with a pep which bodies well for keen competition among the fraternities on the campus. Sullivan held the watch, while Benny Gray and Sanford were judges. The first race was between Kappa Gamma Phi and Theta Chi. Theta Chi gained the inside of the track early in the race, and keeping this advantage throughout won by a few feet. The men in the order in which they ran are:

Theta Chi	Kappa Gamma Phi
Lockwood	Preston
Frost	Collins
Bowes	Nutting
Hallet	West

Won by Theta Chi. Time—2.24 4-5.

The second race, between Sigma Phi Epsilon and Lambda Chi Alpha, was the fastest of the day. Sigma Phi Epsilon won by a few feet. The teams:

Sigma Phi Epsilon	Lambda Chi Alpha
Blanchard	Kemp
Alexander	Loring
Gifford	Barrows
Rollins	Steere

Won by Sigma Phi Epsilon. Time—2.15 2-5.

The third race, between Alpha Sigma Phi and Alpha Gamma Rho, was won by the latter. The teams:

Alpha Gamma Rho	Alpha Sigma Phi
Davis	Hayes
Hurd	Holway
Stevenson	Bliss
Acheson	Rowell

Won by Alpha Gamma Rho. Time—2.17 4-5.

In the second series of interfraternity relay races, which were scheduled to be run last Thursday, the race between Alpha Sigma Phi and Lambda Chi Alpha was postponed to Feb. 22, owing to a hole in the track. The Phi Sigma Kappa and Q. T. V. race was postponed to March 1. The only race run, between Alpha Gamma Rho and Kappa Sigma, was declared no race by Coach Dickinson because of a technical foul. It will be run at some future date.

PREXY SPEAKS ON IMPORTANCE OF ACTIVITIES

President Butterfield addressed the college at Monday morning's chapel exercises, Feb. 21. His subject was "To what extent should a man disalpate his college activities". This question is broached from time to time and Prexy wishes to devise a plan whereby the faculty can get in touch with the student problems. Although there are some on the faculty who think athletics are necessary nuisances, yet this number is in the minority. Most of the professors feel that student activities should not only be tolerated, but that they should also be encouraged. Graduates look back upon their college activities and value them more than the knowledge gained from mere books. In connection with this phase of the question, Prexy read a few interesting passages from President Meikeljohn's new book, "The Liberal College.

TELLS OF THE RURAL CONDITIONS OF SERBIA

Bishop Nicholai Is Assembly Speaker.

Bishop Nicholai of the Greek Orthodox Church in Serbia gave a very interesting talk to the students at assembly last Wednesday. He spoke chiefly about agricultural conditions in Serbia. He said that ninety-five per cent of the Serbian population is agricultual, and that the peasants of his country, as in all other European countries, hate party politics. In Russia, for example, the peasantry are entirely uninterested in politics. Only the town people are Bolshevists.

In all Europe there is much animosity between the nobility and the peasantry. Eighty to ninety per cent. of the sufferers by war were peasants. Then, too, the peasants resent the greed of the intellectual and governing classes, because they take practically all the state moneys, and expend very little of it in improving rural conditions.

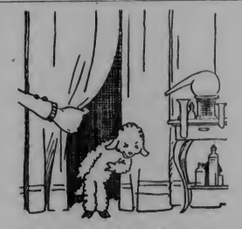

He said that the Serbian peasantry was the finest in Europe. Most Serbian peasants own their own lands and homes, and pay their own taxes. Since the war, much new territory has been added to Serbia, and in part of this new territory the peasants still live under the old feudal system. The great national problem in Serbia is to extend the old Serbian farm life to the new provinces.

Serbia lost over a million of her people in the war and consequently is very short of men. It is the only country in the world where there are no unemployed.

DEAN LEWIS PAYS TRIBUTE TO LINCOLN.

Dean Lewis addressed the student body at chapel Friday morn Feb. 18. He spoke as a tribute to the "Spirit of Lincoln." There was Democracy in the American spirit of Lincoln. He was a genius with a simple, honest soul and on this account was a leader among men. Tolstoi, the great Russian novelist said of him, "Lincoln was a second Christ." It was impossible to depict Lincoln to the satisfaction of the average man. Homely and awkward—yet he had the most beautiful face ever seen. We as a nation idolize and cherish him. Lincoln the master of men, spoke plain English and has written some of the English masterpieces of the world. He was a great humorist. All he did characterized the doings of a great and good man. He was a living example of humility on the one hand and great good heartedness on the other. We need the spirit of Lincoln in America today. Lincoln would not countenance the spirit of anti-semitism, which is raging in America today. He would do his utmost to provide harmony. We must refuse to indulge in propaganda and beautify and sweeten our democracy. In closing Dean Lewis said: At M. A. C., are we leading the happiest and most harmonious life? Let us all pull together and not miss the best of our college life. In this way we will attain the spirit of Lincoln at M. A. C."

'18.—George P. Cotton was on the campus last Friday.

You fellows at M. A. C. who are strong for lab, will naturally be interested in our test for all-wool.

A sample of every piece of cloth we receive is boiled in caustic potash, which as Dr. C. H. Emistry avers, completely disintegrates animal matter (wool).

If the sample disappears, all's wool—and all's well!

But!

If the slightest residue remains, indicating vegetable matter (cotton), it's all off as far as Rogers Peet is concerned—we're an absolutely all-wool house.

The best of everything college men wear.

The New Rushing Season.

That the fraternities have finally decided to adopt the second term rushing season is an established fact. But the ways and means of putting this season into effect has been productive so far of little but talk. There exists as many different ways of putting the idea into effect as there are men in college. The task of sorting and classifying these ideas is a herculean task which belongs to the Interfraternity Conference. But to date there seems to be no definite scheme of action except that each and every group has a different idea all its own and is fostering that idea with a "I won't play if you don't do as I say" spirit. There seems to exist a mutual spirit of suspicion. Apparently no one has any faith in the other fellow and his motives. The existence of an Honor System at M. A. C. has been apparently forgotten.

To date, the discussions have apparently netted nothing except a quibbling over details. In some cases the fact that the change is to be a second term season has been forgotten. The basic reason for the change has been forgotten. The substitution of large doses of class and college spirit for fraternity spirit at the crucial period in the college year with the result in a proper start for all activities and more especially the freshmen themselves, is, in the mind of the writer, the good result which will grow out of the change already decided upon. The methods with which this will be accomplished will necessarily be difficult, for the first year at least. But the substitution of a belief in the other fellow's integrity for the present spirit of distrust will help smooth out many wrinkles. And throughout the whole performance the prime object of the change must not be forgotten—the development of college spirit.

Books.

Reading courses at M. A. C. are on the list of those things to be avoided by the unthinking. Little do they realize the value that comes from an intimate knowlede of what books may have to say on any subject. "There is nothing new under the sun," and it is all to be found in books if the reader only knows where to look. Thousands of articles and even volumes have been written on the proper use of books. But yet, very few students at M. A. C. seem to have been exposed to these articles sufficiently to have become inoculated. A brief survey of the occupants of the library during any period of the day will bear out this statement. Seventy-five per cent of those who may be found incarcerated within its walls are there from compulsion. The other 25% are there to kill time. Their reading consists in whatever fiction and current news matter that may be gleaned from the material on display. To be sure, neither group are entirely wasting their time.

But there is still another group who are never to be found within the library walls except when forced to go there. They spend their idle moments in wondering how to pass the time. It is to this group that this editorial is addressed. The librarian has accumulated a collection of books on almost every subject under the sun. They are for you to use. There are adequate ways and means of finding the particular bit of information that you may be curious to know. The next time you get a "bolt," drift over that way and have Mr. Green or one of his assistants help you to look up the answer to that "bull-fest" you had down to the house last night. You will be surprised to learn how easy it will be and how much there is there to know on the subject.

In this connection the COLLEGIAN wishes to take the opportunity to congratulate Mr. Green on his unique adaptation of the traveling library idea to local conditions. It would be well for other College librarians to follow his lead. Its success at M. A. C. was immediate. It is a splendid idea.

The Schedule.

Within the next few weeks the schedule committee, the schedule or anything pertaining to or about the schedule will be "crabbed" from one end of the campus to the other. This is not unusual, it is traditional. But there are several facts to be brought to the attention of the "crabbers". There are only just so many "guts", that any one man can, as a rule, take in the same term. The standard schedule was developed with the idea in mind that students who really wished to work along certain lines could pursue this line of endeavor throughout the entire three terms. Have a proper regard for the man who is majoring in some other course beside your own. If you have a real kick go around and see the schedule committee. They are holding office hours for the purpose of listening to the stories of men who have legitimate reasons for "crabbing." You will be given real consideration.

A Resignation.

It is with regret that the board announces the resignation of Paul L. Barnett of the editorial department. The staff feels that when collegiate duties conflict with college activities that the latter should be dropped. It is with regret that the staff accepts the resignation.

There is to be a faculty entertainment Saturday night at Room 114, Stockbridge Hall. A one-act play will be presented at that time.

COMMUNICATION

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

In last weeks issue an article on the uneasiness of the college, created among the student body and faculty such comment and discussion that I feel some facts would awaken the students as to what the position is they now find themselves in.

The gentleman that wrote this article, seems to have a very superfical outlook upon the whole situation. It seems that the main criticism is upon the athletic status upon campus. It appears that he who can criticise the running of the athletic program in this college without any facts to back up this article should consider rather seriously just what he is to say.

Our athletics have been run by men who have put in untiring effort with little or no thanks and very little compensation. They have worked under the most trying conditions and circumstances and for a dozen years their work has been above reproach. To edit such an article as appeared last week is an insult to the men and their work and an apology should be demanded. What would we do without these men? Where would this college be on the collegiate map? Who is it that has kept harmony and peace along this line when practically chaos reigned along others?

Fellow students, it is about time we woke up and began to investigate matters and appreciate the real value of these men and their work.

Now as to the position of athletics in college among other activities. Who is it that the Freshman look up to when they first appear upon campus? Who sets the standards or ideals for them to work for? What is it among college activities that advertises this college the most? Is it debating, Glee clubs, Rolster Dolsters, and the like? No! it is athletics! and take it down from its high pinnacle and we will find a student body that would be unworthy of the name of men of M. A. C.

Do not think that I be-little the non-athletics, for I am just as much interested in those activities but time does not permit participation, although they have my heartiest support.

Now the gentleman asks: "Are athletics taking too much time from studies? Caste a glance at the scholastic records of the athletes past and present and if their average does not better those of men in non-athletics and the "Lounge Lizards", then the statistical department is in error. What gives the man the incentive to study? What keeps his mind clear and his body fit? How can any clear thinking, level-headed, red-blooded American deny that it is athletics?

The gentleman infers that the athlete will not find time to do all the reading he desires, or do all the little odd tasks that he must do. The only question asked here is 'How many athletes working their way through college, and nearly 75% are, how many I ask are flunking out?'

He finally asks, "To what extent are fraternities injuring college sprit?" Gentlemen, the reason for the uneasiness of the student body, the cause of the skeptical faculty, the reason for all the protests is the fraternities. There is more un-gentlemanly, under-handed, dirty politics going on about college today than has ever been here before. The whole tendency is fraternity first and college where it can find a place.

Now let us get together and pull as one man for the interests of the college and raise our fast slipping ideals out of the mire and put them up on dry land where they rightfully belong. Let us all be real Aggie men worthy of the name.

AGRICULTURAL MISSIONS CONFERENCE HERE IN APRIL

A student conference on Agricultural Missions will be held at the college April 8-10 with delegates from the colleges and graduate schools of New England and the East. Speakers such as Sam Higginbottom, who are familiar with this form of Christian service, will describe its opportunities. M. A. C. as the host of this gathering, extends a cordial invitation to all interested. This conference is to be one of the series planned for the observance of the semi-centennial anniversary of the college. It is held under the direction of the International Association of Agricultural Missions.

"NEEDS OF THE CHRISTIAN LIFE," SPEAKER'S THEME

Rev. W. H. Day of Bridgeport Occupies Sunday Platform.

At Sunday Chapel, Feb. 20, Dr. William H. Day of Bridgeport, Conn., addressed the students on the needs of the Christian life. He took for his scripture lesson the passage. "Ask and it shall be given you, seek and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you." He explained this as representing the need for prayer, thought, and action in well rounded Christian living. Life is a race which must be run with patience, looking towards Christ, the captain and coach.

Life is an adventure, and all kinds of living may supply in part, human craving for adventure. The natural longing is for physical adventure, but this should be enobled by material and spiritual adventure. In illustration he told of Dr. Grenfell, who has won fame in his wonderful service to the natives of Labrador. As a boy Grenfell felt that he could be happy in physical prowess, and planned for a life of tiger hunting. The he became interested in the study of medicine, and experienced happiness in mental achievement. At length he found the highest expression of his ability in spiritual development, and he has achieved happiness in a life of self sacrifice.

Dr. Day warned students to live up to their high ambitions, and particularly not to grow discouraged in the face of actual difficulties. He said that from a mountain top the heights of the far off promised land look easy to reach but when we descend to the valley and faced the hardships of the long up hill climb, the goal of our ambitions seemed far away. It is then only too easy to give up, and unless we look ahead and upward to our captain we cannot be true to our best selves.

Of last season's pitchers, Brigham, Kroeck and Lent will all be available, and probably with the addition of some recruit slabsters from the freshman and sophomore classes. SENATE APPOINTS HOOPER '22 CHEER LEADER 1923-1924 Banquet Rules Under Consideration.

The Senate met last Tuesday night at 6:45 and decided upon the following courses of action. Rules for the coming annual Freshman-Sophomore banquet season have been formulated and will be presented to the two classes which will participate, in the near future. The Senate decided to postpone the Arena party until the Sophomores had formulated some original plans for the affair. The Senate appointed Hooper '22 varsity cheer-leader. He will take up his duties as such in the near future. Hooper went out for the assistant cheer-leadership last spring and qualified from the very start. He is a graduate of Revere High School, and has been a popular man on the campus, being especially prominent in class athletics. He is a member of the Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

AUTHOR OF "REAL PREACHING" TO SPEAK HERE

Rev. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, N. Y., is Next Sunday's Chapel Speaker.

At Sunday Chapel Feb. 27 Rev. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, N. Y., will address the students. Mr. Boynton was born in Medford, Mass., in 1856. He graduated from Amherst College in 1879, and from Andover Theological Seminary in 1882. In 1894 he received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Amherst. He was ordained in the Congregational ministry in 1882 and has been pastor in several Massachusetts churches. For ten years he preached in Detroit, until, in 1906, he became pastor of Clinton Avenue Church in Brooklyn, N. Y. From 1912-1917 he was chaplain in the 13th Defense Co., National Guard, New York, and in 1917 he joined the Federal Service. He is the author of "Real Preaching."

LIBRARY REPORT FOR 1920

The annual report of the library for the year ending Nov. 30, 1920, gives some interesting data, showing just how much has been accomplished. The library was open to students during 346 days, the remaining 19 being Sundays during the summer months, and holidays. At the beginning of the year, there were 61439 volumes in the library. At the end of the year, 3326 volumes had been added to the collection, 1293 of those being gifts. 698 newspapers and periodicals were currently received.

A fine record is shown in the use to which the books were put. 8129 volumes were lent for home use, and in the library extension service, 374 books and 47 bulletins were sent to 29 libraries.

In the inter-library loan service, 29 volumes were borrowed, from 7 libraries, and 12 volumes were loaned to 5 libraries.

FRESHMEN DEFEAT NORTHAMPTON HIGH 9-8

Game Marked By Defensive Play of Both Teams.

The Freshman basketball team defeated the fast Northampton high school team last Saturday afternoon in the Drill Hall by the close score of 9-8. The Northampton team was using the five-man defence and therefore it was as strong on the defence as was the Freshman team. At the end of the first half, the score was 4-3 in favor of the Freshmen. However, in the second half, the superior foul shooting of Barrows and a floor basket by Kane won the game for the Freshmen.

The lineup:

Freshmen	Northampton High
Kane, rf	lg, Cerruti
Barrows, lf	rg, Barger
Weatherwax, c	c, Zackrewski
Hairston, rg	lf, Gordon, O'Connel
Salmon, lg	rf, Bassillon

Goals from floor—Kane 2, Zackrewski 2. Goals from fouls—Barrows 5, O'Connel 2, Bassillon 2. Referee—Williams. Score—1924 9, Northampton high school 8.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE AT ANIMAL HUSBANDRY CLUB

A lecture was given at the Animal Husbandry Club meeting last Wednesday evening, Feb. 16, in Stockbridge Hall by Professor Loomis, of the Biology Department at Amherst College. He spoke on the "Evolution of the Horse," and illustrated his talk with numerous slides. Professor Loomis showed slides presenting the restoration of two horses, the skeleton remains of which he had unearthed in one of his expeditions to the Western lands of the United States. One animal, which he found in the Bad Lands of South Dakota showed four toes on the fore feet and three toes on the rear feet. Another which he exhumed in the Big Buttes of Colorado showed four toes both in the front and in the rear feet. The wild ponies of Russia were also shown, and Professor Loomis said that scientists are now convinced that this type of horse is closely related to the ancient horse which dwelt in No. America several millions of years ago, and which crossed over into Asia by way of the land which at that time connected America with Asia. The lecture was enjoyed by about 75 students.

FRESHMEN WIN NINTH GAME OF LAST ELEVEN

Sacred Heart Falls; Score 19-16.

The Freshmen defeated the Sacred Heart High School basketball team Friday evening, Feb. 18, in the Holyoke high school gymnasium with a score of 19-16. This game was the ninth victory for the Freshmen in their last eleven games. The game began rather slowly, the Freshmen being unused to a large floor and the Sacred Heart team being unable to penetrate the perfect defence offered by the Freshmen.

Roberts, the left forward of Sacred Heart, was the best player of the opponents. He scored three-fourths of Sacred Heart's points. The pass work of the Freshmen featured the game.

The lineup:

Freshmen	Sacred Heart
Kane, lf	lg, J. Sullivan
Barrows, Whitman, rf	rg, F. Sullivan
Weatherwax, Barrows, c	c, Sheehan, Roberts
Hairston, rg	lf, Roberts, Monohan
Salmon, lg	rf, Walker

Goals from floor: Kane, Barrows 2, Weatherwax, Hairston, J. Sullivan, F. Sullivan, Roberts 4. Goals from fouls: Barrows 9, Roberts 4. Referee—Reagan. Score—1924 19, Sacred Heart high school 16.

M. I. T. BASKETBALL GAME

The speedy Junior was playing at top speed and, as in the last game or so, is showing that he is in the prime of his career. His four well placed baskets from the floor came at the right times and helped materially in keeping up the fight in the team. Marshman's work was also very good. This tall youngster showed the form that is going to make him a star in the next two years. He added six points to his team's total, scoring three baskets after speedy floor work had brought the ball down near the basket. Captain Gowdy played his usual consistent game and Roser added five points from the foul line. The lineup:

M. A. C.	M. I. T.
Roser, rf	lb, Tonon
Smith, lf,	rb, Hubbard
Marshman, c	c, Bretting
Thompson, rb	lf, Landis
Gowdy, lb	rf, Boyer

Baskets from floor—Smith 4, Marshman 3, Thompson, Tonon, Bretting, Landis, and Boyer 2. Baskets from foul—Roser 5 and Tonon 6.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers.

An Opportunity

The dairyman today faces an unprecedented opportunity to market nutritious, palatable milk products at a substantial and continued profit, provided he carefully guards his operation costs, and protects his product from those preventable losses of quality which so often greatly reduce the margin of his profits. The exceptional cleaning qualities of
Wyandotte (Dairyman's) Cleaner and Cleanser
are recognized by the agricultural colleges of the United States and Canada as being peculiarly adapted to this need of the dairy industry, and for eighteen years this cleanser has guarded the delicate qualities of sensitive milk products, thus saving a substantial margin of profit for the careful dairyman.

An order on your supply house will convince you of the truth of these claims.

Those who were not at the meeting can obtain blanks from the class Treasurer or Mr. Campbell. These should be filled out and given to the class Treasurer as soon as possible.

LIBRARY ACCESSIONS

Mr. Green has recently obtained several books on Physical Education and Sex Hygeine. These books are taken from a list prepared by Dr. Seeley, of Springfield, who lectured here last Fall. More books will be added to the collection in the near future. The books have been placed on the platform upstairs in the library, where anyone who wishes may go to read them.

A recent addition of note to the library collection is 20 volumes of the "Farmer's Advocate", dating from 1909 to the present time. The magazine is said to be the best farm paper in Canada and should prove of much value.

President Butterfield has presented to the library a set of eight volumes, full morocco bound books, entitled "A Biographical History of Massachusetts". The work consists of the biographies and autobiographies of leading men of the state. It is edited by Samuel Atkins Elliot, A. M., D. D.

Another book recently acquired by the library is the "Handbook for Practical Farmers", compiled by Hugh Findlay. It is of especial interest in that two of the contributors are well known at Aggie. The article on Poultry is written by Wm. Sanctuary, B. Sc., now at New York State School of Agriculture, who is an Aggie alumnus; and that on Animal Husbandry, by Prof. McNutt, B. Sc., until recently of the Animal Husbandry Staff here.

INTERCOLLEGIATES

A wireless plant at Lawrence, Kans., gives K. U. students first hand information on games played away from home.

The Springfield Student says: Massachusetts Aggie has a squad of eighty-six men as a football nucleus for next fall."

The University of Utah was the scene of a trial by student court of the sophmore leaders charged with kidnapping the innocent freshmen president, a violation of constitution rules of the student body.

The Springfield Student says: "At a recent meeting of the Rotary Club of Springfield, President Butterfield of M A. C. made a statement that the college was at a crisis regarding new buildings and additional salaries for instructors. He stated that two million dollars was necessary for immediate needs."

The Intercollegiate Conference for Undergraduate Student Government will meet at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology April 15 and 16. M. A. C. will be represented by a member of the Alumni Committee for Student Activities, Mr. Campbell, and the chairman of the Faculty Committee on Student Life.

The Connecticut Campus says that C. A. C. has more students enrolled as candidates for a B.Sc. degree in agriculture than any other New England state college except Mass. Aggie. The figures are as follows: M. A. C. 435, C. A. C. 262, Rhode Island 48, Vermont 63, Maine 111, and New Hampshire 125. In contrast the University of Minnesota has about 600 candidates for a degree in agriculture, out of the thousands enrolled in the university.

In connection with the recent discussion about the campus to determine rushing rules for next year, it is interesting to note some of the rules laid down by the Interfraternity Conference of Dartmouth for the rushing week of the Fraternities on that campus. The rushing season at Dartmouth is held the second week after the Winter Carnival. During this week, freshmen are not allowed to talk fraternity matters or even to have social intercourse with fraternity members except during the hours of 6 and 10 P. M. Freshmen are invited to fraternities by means of uniform, printed invitations issued by the fraternities through the council. No fraternity can issue an invitation to one man for more than one hour on the same night.

LONG HONORED FACULTY MEMBER PASSES AWAY

Death Claims Prof. Charles H. Fernald, Founder of Department of Entomology at M. A. C.

On February 22, Washington's Birthday, while the college was enjoying a holiday, and while all the class rooms in which he had taught so many subjects were deserted and still, Professor Charles Henry Fernald, once President of the College, Honorary Director of the Graduate School since 1910, and one of the most noted entomologists in the world, passed away.

Although Prof. Fernald was known personally to but few of the present students at M. A. C., because of his cessation of official college work in 1910, in order to devote his time to the com-

AMERICAN PEOPLE UNEASY, SAYS REV. MR. BOYNTON

Brooklyn Pastor Addresses Students at Sunday Chapel.

"The most curious and pathetic object today is the American people." This is the opinion of the Rev. Nehemiah Boynton of Brooklyn, N. Y., who spoke in chapel Sunday morning on the Re-Creation of the World.

"There was never a people," he continued, "in such a state of unrest. They are better off than any other nation, and yet they are dissatisfied, uneasy, and ill-determined."

"Earl Grey, in the book he wrote soon after visiting America, says a man must have four things to succeed: first, two or three underlying principles; second, relations dependent upon him; third, honest work to do, no matter how simple; fourth, recreation. I would like to add a fifth one, a play on the last: re-creation. We are witnessing the absolute re-creation of the world. To be sure this is not a new process, for the world was recreated when man first tamed the horse, when the Pilgrims landed, when the printing press was first used, and many other times. Most people do not realize that such a thing is taking place.

There can be no such thing as isolation in this world. Some people, such as many of our statesmen, see this, but only for the benefit of the nation. To quote the words of Abraham Lincoln, in John Drinkwater's play, words which will ring throughout the world, 'The world is greater than you or I.' The man who invests a frown, will receive a farthing, but he who invests a smile and his whole self, will receive a fortune. The world is being re-created under our very eyes, and it is up to us to have our vision, to see our chance in this great universe of adventure, and grasp it."

VARSITY LOSES 24-23 TO NEW ENGLAND CHAMPIONS

Marshman, Smith, and Berry Star in Fast Game.

Last Tuesday afternoon the varsity basketball team proved to a large assembly in the Drill Hall that they have one of the strongest teams in New England. Worcester Tech, which has the strongest team in this section of the country, came up to Amherst for a holiday game and just barely nosed out the fast M. A. C. quintet, in the last minute of play, by a 24-23 score.

The floor work of the varsity was admirable, their passing being superior to that of their opponents. In the middle of the second half the home team uncorked such a burst of speed and skill that when five minutes had rolled aronnd the W. P. I. team was seven points in the rear, but the champion instinct came back to the men from Worcester, and for the remainder of the game they held M. A. C. to three points, all scored by Roser, while they slowly forged ahead and scored ten points which gave them their slight one point margin at the end of the game. The outstanding feature of these last few minutes was the fine shooting of Berry, the Worcester center. His two baskets from the center of the floor were the two scores that turned an almost sure defeat into victory.

POLISH FARMERS' DAY TO BE REVIVED MARCH 8

President Butterfield on the List of Speakers.

Posters in Polish, distributed all over the Connecticut Valley, are proclaiming a Polish Farmers' Day, to be held at M. A. C. March 8, and programs printed in Polish have been mailed to every Polish farmer and every Polish farmer's wife that the college could reach.

The college is taking this unusual day quite seriously, for the Polish people of the Connecticut Valley make up a very important part of the farmers on the best agricultural land in the state.

The main part of the program will be given to seeing and doing of things. The women will be taken on a a trip of inspection through the greenhouses, will see how outdoor gardens are started indoors, how fruits and vegetables are canned, and how excellent lunches can be easily put up for school children. The men will go through the barns. Much of the program for them will be discussion rather than lectures.

Among the speakers for the program is President Butterfield, who has been one of the prime movers in bringing back this day, which was an annual event here in days before the war.

VOLUME OF STUART C. VINAL'S PAPERS GIVEN TO LIBRARY

Professor Fernald Gives Memorial in Form of Published Works of Late Entomologist.

Professor Henry T. Fernald has presented the Library with a memorial volume containing all the published papers of Stuart Cunningham Vinal. Vinal was graduated from Aggie in 1915, majoring in Entomology. Upon graduation he became a Graduate Assistant in Entomology, assisting with the laboratory work and taking up, as special problems for investigation, the life history of an unknown insect under the bark of apple twigs, and the methods for the control of the red spider in greenhouses. He received his Master's Degree in 1917 and became an assistant Entomologist to the Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station. His work was largely upon insects injurious to vegetables. While engaged in this work he discovered the presence of the European Corn Borer in this country. Realizing that this insect promised to become one of the most serious pests ever reaching this country, he devoted his attention entirely to the study of this insect. His work was so important that the Draft Board, against his desire, placed him on the reserve list. He worked all summer studying the Corn Borer and the methods of its control. Exhausted by this work, he was claimed by influenza on Sept. 20, 1918. His notes were well kept and complete, and the valuable results of his work were not lost.

The College, as well as other State Schools, has been compelled to change its stationery. The new stationery, instead of having the name of the College most prominent, has "The Commonwealth of Massachusetts Board of Education." The name of the College is written in small type below this.

H. L. COLLINS '22 TO CAPTAIN NEXT SEASON'S SEVEN

Former Arlington Athlete Elected at Hockey Banquet. Review of Season.

Aggie's most successful hockey season, which closed with an 8-0 defeat of Tufts on Feb. 2, was brought to a fitting climax with the banquet held in Draper Hall Thursday evening. This was the first hockey banquet held at M. A. C., and was a big success in every way. Smith's orchestra kindly furnished music which added considerably to the occasion. Manager Evers presided as toastmaster, and the speakers included President Butterfield, Professor Hicks, and Varsity Coach Gore, besides Coach Mansell, Captain McCarthy and the senior members of the squad.

Professor Hicks prophesied a bright future for hockey and stated that it is planned in addition to the varsity to have a freshman team with an outside schedule next year. Mr. Gore declared this year's seven the best which ever represented Aggie, especially in team play. He also complimented the squad on the spirit of harmony and co-operation which has prevailed this season and has been no mean factor in the success.

HERBERT L. (HUBBA) COLLINS '22
Captain-elect of next season's Aggie Septet.

The Maroon and White seven opened its schedule with an 18-2 win over the Springfield Hockey Club and closed with an overwhelming defeat of Tufts two weeks ago. In the meantime the team annexed 2-1 victories over Amherst and M. I. T. and lost to Fordham 8-3, to Boston College 2-1, to Dartmouth 3-2 in an overtime game and to Harvard 2-0. The Harvard game, though won by the Crimson, was one of the biggest events of the winter from an Aggie viewpoint and the score indicates the strength of the team when it is noted that the same Harvard team beat Dartmouth 5-0, M. I. T. 8-2, Princeton 7-0 and Yale 13-1. The Crimson has one of the strongest teams ever developed there and Coach Mansell's septet gave them the strongest opposition they have met from any eastern college team this year.

In the three games played in the Boston Arena the team won the praise of Boston hockey fans and was given credit for being the fastest college team seen there with the exception of the Canadians.

The mild weather and consequent lack of ice handicapped the team in practice and necessitated the cancellation of four games. In spite of the short schedule however the season was an unqualified success and the 1920 hockey team will go down in history as one of Aggie's best.

Herbert L. (Hubba) Collins '22 was elected to Captain next year's seven. He is a native of Arlington, where he was an inter-scholastic star, and since entering M. A. C. has played two years on the varsity. His position is cover point and besides being a strong defensive player he is a dangerous man with the puck, fast on skates, clever handling the stick and a good shot. Besides playing hockey Hubba is also a letter man in baseball and football. He made the nine his freshman year as a pitcher and last year was shifted over to the outfield. At football he played fullback throughout the past season and his punting was a feature of the Aggie games.

Justin J. (Jerry) McCarthy, the leader of this year's team is a veteran at the game and has now worn the Maroon and White for four seasons. While at Arlington High he won a place on the All-Interscholastic team, and this year his knowledge of the game, exceptional speed and all around ability make him a logical candidate for honors as a wing man on an all intercollegiate seven. He is one of the fastest men in college hockey and in the Harvard game stood head and shoulders over the Crimson's best.

Elton J. (Sunny) Mansell, like McCarthy, is a veteran player and a former Arlington star. He entered M. A. C. in the class of 1919 but returned to the class of 1921 after the war, and for the past two winters has coached the hockey seven while playing at the same time. He deserves no little credit for the achievements of the teams. He is a fast skater, strong in defensive play, and exceptionally clever in handling the puck. At the rover position he has been the leading scorer of the team this year.

Phillip S. Newell, the M. A. C. goal tend is another outstanding star. From substitute goal tend, last season, he has developed fast, and with the possible exception of Jabish Holmes, of Harvard, none of Aggie's opponents have had a more efficient man in front of the cage. Phil took over a hard assignment, but he has kept well up to the standard set by "Dave" Buttrick and other Aggie goal tenders of the past.

Harold Poole, who played point, is better known as captain of the varsity eleven. He is a native of Hudson, and will graduate this year. Playing last season as a substitute defense man, he has held down a regular berth this season. Pairing off with Collins, he has done some fine defensive work, and is also a fast man carrying the puck.

John D. (Johnny) Snow '21, the Aggie left wing, is another who claims Arlington as his home. A member of the squad last year, it fell upon him to fill the place left vacant by Leavitt's illness, a task which he has performed in a very satisfactory manner.

John J. (Sharkey) Lyons is the fourth man in the forward line and takes care of the center position. Incidentally he is the fifth Arlington man on the team. Sharkey is one of the fastest men on the team and for all around play has proven himself of inestimable value. Particularly on the defense he has turned in some stellar work. He is a member of the class of 1922 and still has another year to play.

Howard R. (Doc.) Gordon, substitute left wing, is a former Ipswich player. As a sophomore this is the first season with the varsity but in the contests in which he played he has shown considerable ability and he will undoubtedly be a valuable man for the team next year.

SUWANEE RIVER QUARTET ENTERTAINS AT S. H.

Famous Negro Troupe Provide Pleasing Entertainment.

An audience of several hundred students and townfolk were delightfully entertained by the Social Union performance given in the Bowker Auditorium last Saturday evening, February 26, by the Suwanee River Quartet, which is considered to be the best negro quartet in the United States. The program consisted of the various types of negro songs, some humorous, others grave. John Maxwell, the tenor, besides rendering superb harmony, also offered stories and poems written by Paul Lawrence Dunbar, the negro poet. Among the best of these was "In Fo'teen Ninety-two." In addition to being a singing quadruplet, they also formed an instrumental quartet of banjo, guitar, mandolin, and zither, which rendered excellent service. Among the best of the humorous songs were "Bake that Chicken Pie", "It's Me, O Lord," and "Roll Jordan Roll". A very excellent interpretation of "Old Black Joe" was given in character costume by one of the quartet. The performance ended with a merry "good-night" song rendered by the quartet.

PROF. MACHMER DEFINES EGOISM AND ALTRUISM

Prof. Machmer gave a short talk on egoism and altruism at Friday Chapel. He cited the instance of a man who was selfish and self centered, then of the man ready to do things for other people; so much, in fact, that he had not the time to work out the problems of his own life. These are the two extremes. There is a time to store up energy; then when the time comes you can distribute it. Washington and Lincoln typify this condition. At first they gathered up energy, and gained power for themselves. This was egoism. Then they moved out to larger circles seeking to do good. This was altruism.

In college we have men of certain abilities and nobody gets the benefit of them. Let's give them out, let's be altruistic. Still, egoism has its share during college days; it is of primary importance, but ultimately altruism must come out.

From year to year the rushing rules in vogue at the various colleges have been becoming more and more strict. Trinity, besides inaugurating a fourteen day no pledging period, has a rule which reads "The chairman of the rushing committee of each house shall be responsible for seeing that every freshman shall be introduced at every other house."

Dairying is most profitable

PRICES for dairy products have held firmly, while the cost of feed has been greatly reduced. Because of this there is relatively more profit than ever in dairying, and many farmers are turning low-priced feed into high-priced butter-fat. An eminent dairy authority says that you can make corn worth $2 to $3 a bushel by feeding it to good cows.

And De Laval Cream Separators have done more than any other factor to place the dairy industry on such a firm and profitable basis. They save cream, time and money twice a day, every day in the year. They produce a steady cash income. They have made the market accessible, even though you live 500 miles from a creamery. They keep the skim-milk on the farm to produce another crop of calves, hogs and poultry. They are made so well that 20 to 30 years' service from a De Laval is not unusual. Over 2,500,000 are in use in all parts of the world.

You need a De Laval more than ever. There is a De Laval agent near you—see him.

VARSITY LOSES TO ST. LAWRENCE 29-24

Barker, the Visiting Forward, Scores Twenty-three Points.

Thursday evening the basketball team lost to St. Lawrence University by a 29-24 score.

The defensive work of Gowdy and the playing of Marshman were good. Capt. Gowdy surprised the crowd by shooting two baskets from mid-floor, while Marshman scored three floor baskets and a couple of fouls. The work of Barker was sensational. The speedy visitor scored fifteen times from the foul mark and four times from the floor. The Aggie five was behind 11-10 at half time, but in the second half the visitors showed more speed and gradually drew away from the home team.

In the first half Marshman scored the first basket for Aggie after St. Lawrence had scored six points on four fouls and a basket by Studwell. Marshman scored again before the half was over, and Smith, Gowdy, and Roser all dropped in two-pointers. St. Lawrence started out strong in the next period and scored eighteen points while the home team was collecting three. After that, though, the scoring was confined to Aggie's men, with the exception of one more foul by Barker. In this last scoring spell Marshman, Gowdy, Smith, and Roser scored from the floor and Roser added four more points on fouls. Gowdy had to leave the game in the last minute, so that Don Lent got a chance to make his first appearance of the season on the floor. His ankle is quite well now so that he will be in good shape for baseball work. Alexander, Hale and Ball all got a chance to go in during this period.

The score:

ST. LAWRENCE UNIVERSITY.		M. A. C.
Atwood, lf	lf,	Smith, Alexander
Bird, rf,	rf,	Roser, Ball
Studwell, c	c,	Marshman
Weller, lb	lb,	Gowdy, Lent
Barker, rb	rb,	Thompson, Hale

Score—St. Lawrence Univ. 29, M. A. C. 24. Baskets from floor—Barker 4, Marshman 3, Gowdy 2, Roser 2, Smith 2, Studwell 2, and Weller. Baskets from foul—Barker 15, Roser 4, and Marshman 2. Referee—Garland.

The fine work of Waite, who scored seven points enabled "Brigham's Babies" to defeat "Anderson's Lukewarms" between the halves. Stockbridge scored two points for the losers. Score 7-2.

VARSITY QUINTET TO FACE NEW HAMPSHIRE AGAIN

Tufts will be Played on Eastern Trip. Team Stronger than Two Weeks ago.

Next weekend the varsity takes its last trip of the season when it goes to Boston to play Tufts on Friday and then to Durham, N. H. for their second game with the strong New Hampshire State team. The real strength of the Tufts team is little known. They will undoubtedly give the Aggie quintet a hard battle, but it seems certain on the face of things that the Amherst men should win. Smith is playing the best game of his career now and Gowdy and Marshman were never going better. Roser has been a little weak on foul shooting the last few games but has had constant practise this week and will be in form to score a larger percent of his tries.

The New Hampshire game will be a battle from start to finish that should be well worth seeing. The game played on the Drill Hall floor between these two old rivals was a fast, clean game, that showed the strength of the M. A. C. quintet at that time to be nearly on a par with that of the New Hampshire men. Since then the Aggie five has improved a great deal in their offensive play so that the game next weekend should be close and exciting. New Hampshire may seem to have the edge now but it is certain that the teams will be more evenly matched than they were at the middle of the season. Worcester only defeated M. A. C. by one point whereas the Durham team lost to them by several points. Connecticut has also defeated New Hampshire since the first game played between the two teams. The work of Butler, Perry and Anderson has been first class all season. We remember how "Johnny" Hale held Butler to one basket on the Drill Hall floor. If the whole team plays like Hale played that afternoon there may be a different story told after Saturday's game.

COLLEGIAN COMPETITION DRAWING TO A CLOSE

The COLLEGIAN competition is rapidly drawing to a close. Of the numerous competitors who signified their intentions of trying out for the editorial board only six remain. There are two more issues for these competitors to improve their individual standings.

The standing of the editorial competition up to Feb. 23, as follows:

1923.
Slade,	32.8
Miss Labrovitz,	27.0
1924.
Miss Wood.	19.4
Wood,	11.4
Bliss,	21.8
White,	10.8

A house dance was held by the Lamba Chi Alpha fraternity, Saturday. Davenport's orchestra furnished music for the 16 couples who were present. Supper was served at the Davenport. The chaperones were Mrs. Cameron of Mt. Holyoke, and Mrs. Mulford of Smith.

Professor Fernald.

Perhaps few among the students now at M. A. C. realize the great loss which the college suffered when Prof. Charles H. Fernald died on Washington's Birthday. It had been eleven years since he conducted his last class on the campus. He has been working quietly, holding the office of Honorary Director of the Graduate School, and inasmpleously consummating a career which has meant much to Aggie and to the world of science.

Professor Fernald found entomology absent at M. A. C. when he came here years ago. He dies, leaving a department here unexcelled in the world. Alumni remember him as a great teacher, one who drew men to Aggie to study under him, and inspired them while they were here.

Charles Fernald has sent his influence far afield from M. A. C., but it is here that we shall most keenly feel his absence, and most regret the passing of one of our most noted and venerable faculty members.

The Honor System.

The interpretation of the Honor System rullings at M. A. C. are narrow at best. The idea which underlies the whole system is that which guides true gentlemen. Presupposing that all men at M. A. C. are gentlemen, which is true beyond a doubt, the question of further application of the Honor System is very simple. Honor is honor wherever applied. The application of this principle to examinations and not to our other dealings with our faculty is absurd. At present it does not seem to be generally realized by the student body that the system should be applied outside of the examination room. Let us use it more in the future.

The Revue.

Although timeliness is one of the most important factors in an editorial, the writer believes that the Aggie Revue should not be forgotten in this column, even at this late date. The Revue has clearly shown its value on the campus. As an entertainment feature it is pleasing, amusing, and of worthwhile material. Viewed from a dramatic standpoint it is of the best that has been produced locally. All in all, it has "arrived," and should be incorporated into the campus schedule as a yearly event.

ENTOMOLOGY BUILDING TO BE CALLED FERNALD HALL

Home of Department to Bear Name of Late Professor.

With the death of Prof. Charles E. Fernald, Honorary Director of the Graduate School comes the revelation that the entomological laboratories commonly known about the campus as the "Ent Building" was originally dedicated to him and hereafter will bear the name "Fernald Hall" engraved over the main entrance.

This recently constructed building is the finest of its kind in the U. S., being fully equipped with excellent lecture rooms, modern laboratories, apparatus of all kinds and a special departmental library. More well known and successful entomologists have come from M. A. C. than from any other college. These men received their fundamental training from Prof. Fernald.

EARLY EDUCATIONAL HISTORY OF WESTERN MASSACHUSETTS

Prof. Tyler Tells of Founding of Amherst and M. A. C.

At assembly, Feb. 23, an interesting talk was given the students by Prof. John Tyler of Amherst. Professor Tyler told of the early settling of Western Massachusetts, and the founding of Amherst college just a century ago. He told of the setting off of Hampshire county, and its later divisions into Berkshire, Hampden, and Hampshire counties. He said that the people who settled here were unusually hardy, progressive citizens, since only the most courageous of the settlers in the Massachusetts Bay colony cared to pierce the wilderness as far as the western part of the state. They wished to insure good citizens and they provided many good schools. Schools and academies sprang up all over Hampshire county.

At the time of Shay's Rebellion, which Prof. Tyler said was an entirely natural uprising of poor soldiers after the War of 1912, religion was at a very low ebb. To stem the growing tide of immorality and to secure leaders, the people resolved to found a college. A few far-sighted men scoured the whole country round about for $50,000 and then by heroic efforts they scraped up $30,000 more. With $80,000 they went to the legislature for a charter, but it was secured only after a hard fight. The college was at last founded, but its early years were uncertain and full of difficulties. In the time of President Hitchcock some of the original enthusiasm had waned, funds were low, and the college was weak and declining. He and four other men of the faculty almost starved themselves for five years to keep the college together.

Professor Tyler said that a similar struggle was gone through by Levi Stockbridge and Goodell in the early days of M. A. C. For years President Stockbridge carried the burden of the college on his shoulders. In return for the years of painful effort which has made M. A. C. into the college which it is today, the state is looking to us for its leaders, particularly for leaders in the rural problems of the present age.

PRES. THOMAS WILL PREACH HERE MARCH 6.

Middlebury Head is Able Minister and Author.

On Sunday, March 6, the speaker at chapel will be President John Martin Thomas of Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vermont. Mr. Thomas was born in New York state in 1869. He graduated from Middlebury College in 1890, and took his master's degree there in 1893. He graduated from Union Theological Seminary in 1893, and did graduate work there in 1894 and 1895. He studied at the University of Marburg in 1903. He has received the degree of Doctor of Divinity from Middlebury, Amherst, and Dartmouth, the degree L. D. from the University of Vermont, and the degree of Litt. D. from Norwich University.

President Thomas is an ordained Presbyterian, and preached for 15 years before becoming president of Middlebury in 1908. He served as first lieutenant and chaplain in the U. S. army in 1918-19. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He contributes to The Independance, and The Nation, and is the author of "The Christian Faith and the New Testament".

MUSICAL CLUBS GIVE ANNNAL ELKS' CONCERT

Northampton Function Rated as a Success.

The annual Musical Clubs concert at the Elks' Hall in Northampton Friday night was featured this year by a dance in contrast to the stag party of 1920. The musical program was somewhat shortened on account of the late hour at which the clubs arrived in the city. "The Sword of Farrara" and "A Calamity" drew their usual applause, while the "Four Fandools," otherwise known as the quartet rendered their campus chants in a very favorable manner. Vluton and Labrovitz had the audience baffled by their clever interpretation of "Selections from Chitowski." The Mandolin Club, not to be outdone, played its liveliest marches, "Chain of Daisies" and "Medley of College Songs."

A large sign, "Free Oyster Supper, Concert and Dance for Elks, Friday Night. Bring Your Wives and Sweethearts," greeted the eyes of the men as they entered the building. Needless to say the suspense was great. Supper was served after the concert before the dancing began. A special car left for Amherst at 11-30. The clubs agree that a "Ladies' Night" is much preferable to a "Stag Party."

What Is Air Pressure?

THE air is composed of molecules. They constantly bombard you from all sides. A thousand taps by a thousand knuckles will close a barn door. The taps as a whole constitute a push. So the constant bombardment of the air molecules constitutes a push. At sea-level the air molecules push against every square inch of you with a total pressure of nearly fifteen pounds.

Pressure, then, is merely a matter of bombarding molecules.

When you boil water you make its molecules fly off. The water molecules collide with the air molecules. It takes a higher temperature to boil water at sea-level than on Pike's Peak. Why? Because there are more bombarding molecules at sea-level—more pressure.

Take away all the air pressure and you have a perfect vacuum. A perfect vacuum has never been created. In the best vacuum obtainable there are still over two billion molecules of air per cubic centimeter, or about as many as there are people on the whole earth.

Heat a substance in a vacuum and you may discover properties not revealed under ordinary pressure. A new field for scientific exploration is opened.

Into this field the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have penetrated. Thus one of the chemists in the Research Laboratories studied the disintegration of heated metals in highly exhausted bulbs. What happened to the glowing filament of a lamp, for example? The glass blackened. But why? He discovered that the metal distilled in the vacuum depositing on the glass.

This was research in pure science — research in what may be called the chemistry and physics of high vacua. It was undertaken to answer a question. It ended in the discovery of a method of filling lamp bulbs with an inert gas under pressure so that the filament would not evaporate so readily. Thus the efficient gas-filled lamp of today grew out of a purely scientific inquiry.

So, unforeseen, practical benefits often result when research is broadly applied.

ALUMNI COMMITTEE ON STUDENT ACTIVITIES MEETS

The alumni committee on student activities met at the Hotel Kimball, Springfield, Friday evening, Feb. 25th. Professor Rand of the faculty, C. D. Kendall and L. P. Martin of 1921 were also present. The need of a freshman dormitory; the fraternity, the athletic, and student government situations were discussed from the standpoint of the student activities.

This committee will present its recommendation to the associate alumni at Commencement for further action.

Delta Phi Gamma Sorority is giving a supper party and entertainment Sunday evening, March 6, at the Abigail Adams Hall. The party will be given in honor of the women of the ten weeks course who will leave the campus March 11, and also as a farewell to the girls of the Freshman two year class, who will leave M. A. C. at the end of the term. The committee in charge has arranged a musical program and a few short talks will be given.

YEARLINGS GIVE DEERFIELD SCARE

Score Deadlocked In First Half, With Winning Tally Coming Near End Of Game.

The Freshman basketball team was defeated last Friday evening by Deerfield Academy at Deerfield by a score of 22-20. The score at the end of the first half stood 15 all the second half both teams came back with a lot of fight, with the result that no scoring was done for the first few minutes. It was not until the last minute of play that the basket was made which won the game. Kinnear, probably the most reputed man on the Deerfield squad, was held to only one floor basket by the persistent guard work of Hairston. Barrows was the best offensive man for the Freshmen, and played one of his best games of this season. Kane and Barrows divided the honors for floor baskets, each getting four.

The lineups:

DEERFIELD ACADEMY.		1924.
Snodgrass, Praff, rf	lg,	Barrows, Weatherwax
Kinnear, lf	rg,	Hairston
Praff, Atkinson, c	c,	Salmon, Kane

Goals from floor—Snodgrass 3, Kinnear, Atkinson 4, Barrows 4, Kane 4. Goals from fouls—Kinnear 6, Barrows 4. Referee—H. M. Gore. Score—Deerfield Academy 22, 1924 20.

GAME WITH AMHERST ON 1921 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Sabrinas Stack up Against Maroon and White Oct. 22. Eight Games Listed. Three at Home.

Football prospects for the coming season look the best in some years as over 75 men have reported as candidates for the 1921 eleven. They will begin outdoor practice as soon as the weather is favorable. Six letter men are left to form the nucleus of next year's team, and there is much good material in all of the classes for the positions left vacant by graduation of 15 letter men. Collins at fullback and Sargent at halfback are the only "M" men left in the backfield, and they may be depended upon for some fine work. Capt. Cotton at tackle will have Mohor beside him at guard, and in combination with Freeman at center and Grayson at end, the line seems likely to possess the old stone wall characteristics. An excellent list of games, eight in number, has been arranged by Manager Peck '22.

For the first time in 14 years Amherst appears on the Aggie football schedule, the game between the two colleges to be played Oct. 22, at Pratt Field. This game will fill the place on the schedule left vacant by the discontinuance of football with Springfield. As last year, the first game of the season will be with Connecticut Aggie on Alumni Field, the next home game being with the University of Vermont, four weeks later. The team journeys to Lewiston for the second game of the season, in order to play a return game with Bates. W. P. I. will be played at Worcester the week after the Bates contest, and then comes the struggle with Amherst on the 22nd. After the U. of V. contest, two games will be played away from home, with Rhode Island State and New Hampshire State as opponents. According to custom, the windup of the season comes with the Tufts game, which will be played this year on Alumni Field.

Following is the schedule of games:

Oct. 1.—Conn. Aggie at M. A. C.
Oct. 8.—Bates at Lewiston.
Oct. 15.—W. P. I. at Worcester.
Oct. 22.—Amherst at Pratt Field.
Oct. 29.—University of Vt. at M. A. C.
Nov. 5.—R. I. State at Kingston.
Nov. 12.—N. H. State at Durham.
Nov. 19.—Tufts at M. A. C.

Each year makes its own crop prices
Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.
Do you see the situation in that light?
E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. An Opportunity
The dairyman today faces an unprecedented opportunity to market nutritious, palatable milk products at a substantial and continued profit, provided he carefully guards his operation costs, and protects his product from those preventable losses of quality which so often greatly reduce the margin of his profits.
The exceptional cleaning qualities of
Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser
are recognized by the agricultural colleges of the United States and Canada as being peculiarly adapted to this need of the dairy industry, and for eighteen years this cleanser has guarded the delicate qualities of sensitive milk products, thus saving a substantial margin of profit for the careful dairyman.
An order on your supply house will convince you of the truth of these claims.

TWO-YEAR QUINTET DEFEATS SACRED HEART 26-21

The Two-Year basketball team defeated the Sacred Heart High School team of Holyoke in a closely fought contest last Monday afternoon in the Drill Hall by a score of 26-21. During the first half the Two-Year team could not get going, while the long shots of S. Burke scored repeatedly for Sacred Heart. The first half ended in favor of Sacred Heart, 14-11. In the second half the Two-Year men broke up Sacred Heart's formations and gradually forged ahead. Parsons played a strong game for the Two-Year men. The points from floor baskets, and fouls shot by Shaw, aided the team materially in their victory.

The lineups:

AGGIE TWO-YEAR		SACRED HEART H. S.
Ross, Stevens, rf	lg,	J. Sullivan
Shaw, Girard, lf	rg,	F. Sullivan, Walker
Parsons, c	c,	S. Burke
Steele, rg	lf,	Roberts
Burnett, lg	rf,	Walker, E. Burke

Goals from floor: Ross 4, Shaw 4, Parsons 2, J. Sullivan, Roberts, Walker, S. Burke 3. Goals from fouls, Shaw 6, Roberts 9. Referee: Ball. Score: M. A. C. Two-Year—26, Secred Heart High School—21.

FOOTBALL CANDIDATES ADDRESSED BY COLGATE MAN

Over 75 candidates for next year's varsity football team reported for practise Tuesday evening in the Drill Hall, and were given an interesting talk by T. O. Peterson, Colgate 1914. Peterson was captain of the Colgate eleven in 1913 and at that time was selected for center on the All American eleven of that gear because of his very fine work.

His talk to the team consisted of some of his experiences in the great game of football and advice to all the men of the squad.

WORCESTER TECH GAME

In the first half Marshman scored twice in succession at about the middle of the period, while later Al Smith got down the sideline and scored two fine baskets, separated by a Roser foul basket. Pickwick's successful backhand shot and Berry's work were the features of Worcester's play in this half.

Marshman got the first basket in the second half and soon after Capt. Gowdy left the game the five scores above mentioned were made. Marshman, Smith, Marshman, and Roser scored baskets in succession, and Roser added another point from the foul line. With the score 20-14 the visitors came from behind, and with Berry and Campbell as headliners, scored enough points to give them the best of the 24-23 count.

It was the fastest and best game all around that has ever been played on the Drill Hall floor. Berry for W. P. I. and Marshman for Aggie were high scorers, while the work of the Aggie guards was A number 1.

The lineup:

W. P. I.		M. A. C.
Pickwick, lb	lf,	Smith
White, rh	rf,	Roser
Berry, c	c,	Marshman
Stoughton, lf	lg,	Gowdy, Hale
Colesworthy, Campbell, rf	rg,	Thompson, Beal

Score—W. P. I. 24, M. A. C. 23. Baskets from floor—Marshman 5, Berry 4, Smith 3, Roser 2, Campbell 2, Colesworthy, Stoughton, and Pickwick. Baskets from foul—Berry 6 and Roser 4. Referee—Kelly.

PROFESSOR FERNALD DEAD

pletion of his work in systematic entomology, there was not one but knew him for his ability, and honored him as one of the most learned men that Aggie has ever had among its instructors.

Prof. Fernald was born beside the restless waters of the Atlantic, on Mt. Desert, Me., on March 16, 1838. His father was a ship-owner, and young Charles' first ambition was to become a ship captain. Education facilities were very limited, and he became adept in the art of self-education. At 21 he was ready for a captaincy, but went to Maine Wesleyan Seminary to more thoroughly prepare himself. Here he came to the conclusion that the call of knowledge was more compelling than the call of the sea, and prepared to enter Bowdoin.

But the Civil War intervened. Charles decided to try the navy. He soon became an ensign, and was a very intimate friend of Lieut. W. T. Sampson, who later became a Rear-Admiral. Later in life Prof. Fernald said, "I have often wondered if I made a mistake in resigning from the navy at the close of the Civil War, rather than to have remained as did many of the volunteer officers, like myself; in which case, I should have been retired a few years ago with the rank of Rear-Admiral. But I have consoled myself with the thought that it is better to help make men than to help kill them." But he had taken text books with him to the war, and in 1871 was given the M. A. degree by Bowdoin.

At first he was principal of Litchfield Academy, then of Houlton Academy, both in Maine, and still later Professor of Natural History in the University of Maine. He got his first clear insight into entomology at Houlton. It began with the breeding of mosquitoes, and soon led to the collecting of all kinds of insects. He published several books while in Maine, studied under Aggasiz, and spent some time abroad.

For several years other institutions sought Prof. Fernald. After refusing the offer of the presidency of Iowa Agricultural College, he accepted the appointment as Professor of Zoology and Lecturer in Veterinary Science at M. A. C. When leaving Maine, the college there conferred upon him the degree PhD, although Mr. Fernald always preferred the title "Professor".

At Aggie, Prof. Fernald found a tremendous future in sight, but very little past to give him a start. He was assigned two rooms in South College, one of which was for a Natural History Museum. Zoo Lab started in a borrowed room. In 1887, Prof. Fernald was made Entomologist of the new Experiment Station. At this time, he was given supervision of the scientific part of the work in combating the gypsy and brown-tail moths in Mass.

During the absence of President H.H. Goodell in 1892, Prof. Fernald served as acting President.

Entomology soon boomed at M. A. C. In 1899, a new chair of entomology was set up, and Dr. Henry Fernald called to to fill it. Prof. Charles Fernald, although his work consisted mainly in the development of the post graduate courses in entomology, retained the title of Professor of Zoology. Under the able and sympathetic guidance of these two men, father and son, the entomological courses attracted more students than the laboratory facilities could possibly accomodate, and dozens of applicants were turned away. The trustees in 1908 formally recognized the importance of the advance work by establishing a graduate school, of which Prof. Fernald was the Director. In 1909 we received our Entomology Building, now officially known as Fernald Hall.

Prof. Fernald has seen his work consummated in the establishment of the Graduate School and the erection of a department building wherein the equipment for entomological study is said to be unexcelled in the world. Since 1910, Prof. Fernald has done no teaching at Aggie.

No classes were held on the campus last Thursday from 2-3 P. M., in respect to the man who was buried at that hour.

Prof. Fernald will perhaps be longest remembered to the world as one of the great pioneer teachers of entomology, and to the alumni of M. A. C. as a man of the highest Christian character, broad and sound in scholarship, and rare in inspirational power. Aggie has lost a truly great man.

Wednesday evening, 6-45, at the regular meeting of the An. Hus. Club in Stockbridge Hall, a talk will be given by Mr. G. E. F. Story, the Worcester County agent, who will take for his subject: "The possibilities of cattle, horse, sheep. and hog raising in New England". The lecture will be illustrated by stereopticon slides.

JOINT CONCERT AND DANCE AT MT. HOLYOKE

Affair Likely to Become an Annual Event.

"Over The Mountain" was the slogan for about 200 loyal Aggie men last Saturday evening, March 5, when the combined musical clubs gave a joint concert with the Mt. Holyoke musical clubs at Student alumnæ Hall in South Hadley. It was a gala occasion, pervaded with great good spirit between brother and sister institutions. The hall was crowded to capacity in the dance which followed the concert, lasting until 1-30 P. M. The affair was in charge of Miss Janet Davis, '21, the proceeds to go toward Mt. Holyoke's $3,000,000. endowment fund.

Both women and men certainly performed at their best, as if it was a real competitive sing. The program included six numbers by each college, making a rather longer program than usual. However, this was not noticea-

TWO-YEAR FIVE ENDS GOOD SEASON

Coach Grayson's Team has Won Ten Out of Twelve Games.

The Two-year basketball five finished up this week a very successful season, having won 10 out of 12 games played. Their most decisive score was obtained in the second game with Clark School, whom they swamped 39-13. The first game of the season was with Clark School, whom they defeated 35-14. Williston was played and defeated twice, once 29-27 and the other time 23-13. Sacred Heart of Holyoke was defeated twice, 20-18, and 26-11. Arms

SECRETARY OF ALUMNI IS ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

S. R. Parker '04 Tells of Associate Alumni Activities.

To tell a few things that the Associate Alumni are doing was the purpose of S. R. Parker '04, secretary of the Associate Alumni, at Wednesday's Assembly.

"The Association of Alumni is a vital one," said Mr. Parker in part. "It is interested in athletics. The alumni throughout the state are willing to dig in because they were used to it while at college. It is interested in non-athletics also. The Memorial Building, recently built by cooperation of alumni, students and faculty, is a monument to the spirit and activity of the alumni."

The speaker explained the committees of alumni formed to help the college. There is the committee on administration, primarily to promote the college in the legislature, composed of men influential in politics. This committee also studies the extent and scope of the college, and the salary question. There is the committee on the courses of study, and one on student activities whose purpose is to study the question of dormitories, fraternity affairs, and student government. Lastly, there is the committee on endowment, whose work, though not noticeable at the present time, is of great value.

"There are 16 alumni clubs through-

NUMERALS AWARDED BY ATHLETIC BOARD

Fifty-Four Men Get Awards in Five Sports.

At a recent meeting of the Interclass Athletic Board, sets of numerals were awarded to Slate '21 and to men of the two lower classes to the number of 53. For the Sophomores 26, and 27 for the Freshmen tells its own story of keen competition between '23 and '24. For the latter, the six-man ropepull, won last fall, accounted for seven of these, and the recent numeral hockey game for seven more. Tewhill '24 and Dowden '23, were the only men to receive two sets, which shows a wide participation in interclass athletics, and an encouraging outlook for future varsity material from the Freshmen. The list follows:

1921. Cross Country—Slate.

1923. Baseball—Sargent, Whitaker, Grayson, Baker, Marshman, Faneuf, Gordon, Alexander, Dowden, Mgr.; Football—Burbeck, H. Bates, Abele, Hardy, Alger, Mudgett, Wirth, Williams. Davis, Beal, Tumey, Dowden, Mgr.; Cross Country—Woodworth, MacCready, Irish, Tanner, Newell, Mgr.

M. A. C. QUINTET ENDS SEASON WITH VICTORIES OVER N. H. STATE AND TUFTS

Each Team Defeated by Three Points in Fast Games. Scores 25-22, and 20-17, Respectively.

New Hampshire Game.

For the second time this year Johnny Hale held the star left forward of the New Hampshire quintet to one basket. With Butler being held in this way the Aggie offensive got going in fine style last Saturday at Durham, N. H., and defeated the strong New Hampshire State five by a 20-17 score which was just the reverse of the final game last year. The sensational work of Al.

DANIEL WILLARD TO SPEAK HERE MARCH 16

Railroad Expert, and ex-'82 Aggie Man, Will Address Wednesday Assembly.

Mr. Daniel Willard, of Baltimore, Md., one of the best known railroad experts in the country, and an ex-'82 man, will speak here at assembly, March 16. Mr. Willard was recently elected tax chairman of the Board of Directors of the American Railway Association, an office unsurpassable in railroad circles.

"Dan" Willard was born in North Hartland, Vt., Jan. 28, 1861, the son of a farmer. He was graduated from the Windsor, Vt., High School and came to M. A. C. in 1878. He was forced to leave college at the end of a few months, because of poor eyes, and went to work firing an engine on the C. V., that threads in the network of the U. S. System so beloved by all Aggie men.

That line which has started so many students on the way to Boston started this man on the way to success. After working at various duties on different railroads, he was made assistant general manager of the B. and O. R. R. Co. in 1899. Then honors were bestowed on him thick and fast until he was made president of the B. and O. R. R. Co., in 1910, an office which he now holds.

Mr. Willard is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity. He always wanted to attend Dartmouth in his young manhood, and that college has conferred an honorary degree upon him. Numerous other institutions have done likewise.

He was appointed a member of the Advisory Committee of the Council of national Defence in 1916, and became chairman in 1919. In 1917 he was also chairman of the War Industries Board. During the late war he held a commission as colonel of the Railway Engineers, but did not get overseas.

Aggie will be glad to welcome back a man who was once a student here, a man who has done and is still doing so much for American railroads.

Smith in shooting floor baskets was the feature work of the evening outside of the brilliant passing game put up by the Aggie five. Al. says, "I had luck last night and the way the team passed to me ought to make us world beaters next year." The team certainly passed well, but Al's baskets were the result of a good eye that has caged 84 points for the Varsity this year, all from the floor.

The game itself was close throughout. M. A. C. led 12-9 at half time and scored once less than the home team in the second half. On seven different occasions the team held the ball or passed it around near the center of the floor, only to throw it down the sidelines to Smith, who calmly tossed in as many baskets as they permitted him to try. Fourteen points was the total of his evening's work. Hale at left guard also played a good game and showed his grit and fight when he held Butler to one basket. Marshman played well at center and scored two baskets from the floor, while his opponent, Anderson, scored three times from the floor. Perry outnumbered Roser when it came to chalking up successful fouls. Perry starred for the home team. The game was a great game to win and closed what has been a successful season to both coach and players.

The play of the entire team was top notch, with the defensive work of Hale, and the offensive play of Smith and Marshman prominent. Perry excelled for N. H.

The summary:

M. A. C.		N. H. STATE
Smith (Ball), lf		rg, Sherwood
Roser, rf		lf, Stafford
Marshman, c		c, Anderson
Gowdy (Thompson), lg		rf, Perry
Hale, rg		lf, Butler

Score—M. A. C. 20, N. H. State 17. Goals from floor—Smith 7, Marshman 2, Perry, Butler, Anderson 3, Stafford. Goals on free tries—Roser 2, Perry 5. Referee — Watson. Time 20-minute halves.

PLANS LAID FOR HIGH SCHOOL DAY, MAY 7

Program To Be Similar To That Of Last Year.

Plans for the annual High School day, which will be held this year on Saturday, May 7, are well under way. Last Wednesday a committee of five student members was chosen to confer with George Campbell, the Alumni Secretary, and the first joint meeting was held Friday afternoon. Gillette '21 was elected chairman of the committee,

Douglass '21 was appointed to take care of room accommodations, Vinten '22 to arrange for the supper and evening entertainment, Folsom '23 to attend to the registration of the visitors, and Steele '24 to arrange for the interscholastic track meet.

Last year's program will be followed to a large extent and a long list of activities have been arranged to fill up the day. A stock-judging contest in conjunction with the Animal Husbandry Club will be held in the morning, followed by a general inspection of the College by the visitors. In the afternoon there will be an inter-scholastic track meet and a baseball game between the Varsity and Connecticut Aggie. At 6 o'clock there will be a complimentary supper served in Draper Hall. The evening will be taken up with a Musical Clubs concert at 8 o'clock, followed by the usual fraternity receptions. In case of rain, an indoor program will be carried on in Stockbridge Hall.

All students and teachers of preparatory schools in the state are cordially invited to take advantage of this opportunity for inspecting the State College.

FACULTY REVERSES LAST WEEK'S SCORE

Amherst Faculty Defeated 17 to 15. Game Featured by Grayson's play.

Monday night in the Drill Hall the faculty basketball team reversed the decision on the Amherst College Faculty team and took the long end of a 17-15 count.

The game was fast but too replete with rough and tumble to make it anything but vitally interesting to the onlookers. The ball was fairly well filled with members of both colleges and townspeople.

The shooting of "Em" Grayson, both from the foul line and from the floor, was the outstanding feature during the evening, although the work of Captain Widmayer for the visitors was very good. Hawley and Fanenf also played well, and managed to score two baskets apiece. Hawley's two baskets were well placed shots from the sidelines, while Fanenf shot from near the center of the floor. Phillbrick and Dowd got into the game during the second half, while French played a good game throughout, though his eye was off form.

The lineup:

The Sophomore Class held a meeting Wednesday, March 2, after Assembly. Dowden, Hale and Grayson were elected to confer with Adelphia and representatives of the other classes on the election of student managers. A smoker was announced for Friday night, class officers to be elected at that time,

VARSITY'S TWO WINS END BASKETBALL SEASON

N. H. State, Middlebury, M. I. T., and Tufts Defeated. No Regulars Lost By Graduation.

With the well earned, clean cut victory over N. H. State at Durham Saturday night the varsity basketball team closed what was in many respects the most successful season since the inauguration of basketball as a varsity sport in 1917. In games won and lost the record made by this year's quintet may not seem favorable to some, seven victories out of 16 starts being the record by games for the season; but a closer analysis of the season, with a few facts about this year's quintet, shows Aggie to have had a fast, clever five on the court this winter.

The Season's record:

Jan. 8—M. A. C. 28, C. A. C. 23.
Jan. 15—M. A. C. 36, Wentworth 12.
Jan. 21—M. A. C. 10 U. V. M. 21.
Jan. 22—M. A. C. 23, Middlebury 18.
Jan. 26—M. A. C. 21, Harvard 25.
Jan. 27—M. A. C. 18, M. I. T. 12.
Jan. 29—M. A. C. 21, Amherst 22.
Feb. 3—M. A. C. 18, Stevens 37.
Feb. 5.—M. A. C. 25, N. H. State 26.
Feb. 11—M. A. C. 19. C. A. C. 26.
Jan. 12—M. A. C. 17, Wesleyan 23.
Jan. 19—M. A. C. 21, M. I. T. 16.
Jan. 22—M, A. C. 23, W. P. I. 24.
Feb. 24—M. A. C. 25, St. Lawrence 29.
Mar. 4—M. A. C. 25, Tufts 22.
Mar. 5—M. A. C. 20, N. H. State 17.

A squad of 15 candidates, including only three letter men, faced the toughest schedule ever confronting an M. A. C. five, at the start of the season. Games with some of the fastest collegiate fives in the east, including Harvard, N. H. State, Stevens, Wesleyan, W. P. I., and St. Lawrence. Looking back over the team's record, in only one game did the Maroon and White come near to being outplayed, this being with Stevens, which had a well nigh invincible team this year. Three games were lost by one point, and excepting the Stevens and U. V. M. games the margin of victory of the opponents in any tilt was not more than six points.

Against Harvard at Cambridge, on Jan. 26, Capt. Gowdy and his mates put up a game that was a fight all the way against a bigger and heavier team. Outplaying and outpassing the Crimson during the first half the up staters led at half time 11-9, and after leading the Cambridgians 19-12 at the middle of the second half, they were forced to relinquish their lead and lose the game in the closing minutes, 25-21, by virtue of Harvard's resubstitution of Freshmen.

N. H. State, coming to Amherst on Feb. 5, with a fine string of wins over some of the best teams in this part of the country, was barely able to nose out the Aggies 26-25. The floor work, passing, and guarding of Coach Gore's team in this game was a brilliant exhibition of basketball.

The W. P. I. game on Feb. 22 was easily the best of the year on the Drill Hall surface. The Worcester Engineers, with a record that gave them claim to the New England championship, won from the speedy M. A. C. team 24-23, in a thrilling finish, after it had been Aggie's game practically all the way.

All season long the team has worked hard and conscientiously as a unit, and the features of their play all season have been teamwork and passing. This season's team, as a fast passing aggregation, had few, if any, equals in New England Intercollegiate basketball. Writeups of all papers concerning the M. A. C. games this season have been forced to feature the "Aggie's passwork." On the defense the record of opposing forward's baskets tells the story, while on the offense the record of Aggie's 118 floor baskets to the opponents 109, shows the drive that the team carried.

AGGIE INN—At the Campus Entrance.

The lineup with which Coach Gore has started nearly every game has consisted of Capt. Gowdy, lg; Thompson, rg; Marshman, c; Roser, rf; and Al Smith, lf. Red Ball has alternated with Smith at left forward, and in the back court Hale has worked in several games, alternating with Thompson at right guard.

Capt. Gowdy's play this season has probably been the best in his three years on the varsity. He has played hard, clean basketball, and been an efficient and able leader. His season's work ought to warrant his selection as all-New England guard again for 1921.

Thompson, playing running guard, has had a brilliant season. His floor work has been A number I in every game, and on both defense and offense he has played sterling basketball.

Hale, substitute back, has worked in several games, always pitted against some of the fastest forwards in New England, and the fact that none of his opponents have garnered more than one basket is proof of his brand of play.

At center Marshman has been a high scorer, fast on the floor, and an accurate passer. His continual good work in the forward line all season stamps him as more than a possibility in all-New England selections.

Al Smith, at right forward, has carried a deadly eye all season, been fast on the floor, and his passing game has been fast and accurate. Al rates as another of the Aggies eligible for the all-New England five.

Dutch Roser has turned in a credible season's work at the other forward position and teamed up well with Smith on the offense. He has been the leading scorer, shooting the fouls all season, and from the foul line has hung up one record, 19 out of 21 points, in the Amherst game, which few college players have equalled this season.

Red Ball, substitute forward, has played in every game, playing all of two games. He has been a conscientious, hard worker, and a valuable man to the team.

In the season just closed the Aggies have laid the foundation, at least, for bigger things next year, since all of this year's regulars will be on deck next season. The same team work, co-operation, and speedy pass work that the five have shown this seasen should make them contenders for championship honors in 1922.

GRADUATE CLUB HAS OUTING

Thirty-two members of the graduate club and their guests celebrated Feb. 22d with an outing at the Amherst Gun Club. The party reached the Club early in the afternoon via trolly, snowshoes and skis. Outdoor sports, such as tobogganing, skiing and a real old-fashioned snow fight were entered into by all. R. K. Stratford, the Club's president, displayed his ability as a hot-dog-chef in a rare and convincing manner.

After the dinner all gathered about the fireplace to enjoy the program of the evening. This program was featured by a reading from Dr. Chamberlain, French Canadian songs by Godbout and Morin, a recitation by Mrs. Wolfe, and general singing.

Dr. and Miss Marshall and Dr. and Mrs. Chamberlain were guests of honor.

INTERCLASS TRACK MEET SET FOR MARCH 18

Interclass Relay Races Start Today.

The names of those who wish to compete must be handed in to Howard Bates '23, Secretary of the Interclass Athletic Board by Monday, March 14. A charge of 25 cents will be made for the first entry, and 10 cents for each additional entry.

Prizes will not be awarded.

Interclass relay races will start today, when '21 runs '23, and '22 runs '24. It is hoped that the weather will be more favorable for racing than last year. Little is known of the comparative strength of the five teams contesting.

THIRD ISSUE OF SQUIB TO APPEAR SHORTLY

Publication Likely to be Taken Over by College Next Year.

The third issue of the Aggie Squib for this year is now at the printer's, and will be published the coming week. It will be known as the Agricultural Number, and contains many good features and more real art than either of the two previous issues, including, besides a number of cartoons, a special two-page Wild West Movie Scenario. The upper classmen will find much helpful dope on a list of new third term electives which the Squib is offering the college. All readers of the coming number will be extremely fortunate in receiving first hand confidential information from Prof. Ebony Topp, who writes exclusively for Squibby, and who has written a very philosophical dissertation on the advantages of a naval career.

It will be of great benefit to all prospective competitors for the Squib if they make the Board this spring, for next year the publication will probably come under the scope of non-athletics, and credit will then be given accordingly.

The art and literary matter in the Squib is not composed exclusively of material by the Board men. The Squib has always been a publication representative of the student body, and the co-operation of the student body relative to the art and literary contents should be encouraged in order that the paper may fulfill its purpose.

THE COLLEGIAN wishes to take this opportunity to present to the student body its side of an argument which hitherto has been kept from the limelight of publicity. In brief, the situation is this. The Interfraternity Conference, without referring the matter back to the fraternities, passed a ruling that members of fraternities should not be excusable from fraternity meetings to attend meetings of campus activities. Immediately following this ruling, there came into being an exception to this rule in the case of varsity athletes. Shortly after this, the COLLEGIAN petitioned a similar dispensation in its favor. The result of this petition was that the COLLEGIAN was not considered of sufficient importance by the Interfraternity Conference to be also excepted from the original ruling.

The facts of the case are these — in order to present an up-to-the-minute COLLEGIAN to the student body on Wednesday, the printer justly requires that all proof be in his hands early Tuesday morning because of unavoidable working conditions in his plant. This necessitates work Monday evening, for even under the most ideal conditions imaginable there are always a number of items which must be covered at the last moment, and only come to light when the complete board is in working session. These facts are beyond dispute. Under normal conditions the work of the COLLEGIAN can be, and is carried on without interference with the fraternity meetings. But there will arise, and have arisen, conditions under which the members of the board have been obliged to leave unusually lengthy meetings in order to carry on the work of the COLLEGIAN. This is because the average source of news is closed to the reporter by 9-30 P. M. Therefore, essentially, what the COLLEGIAN asked of the Conference was that its management be allowed the privilege of calling upon men thus detained to perform their duties.

The members of the board feel that if the Conference has seen fit to make any exceptions from its ruling that the COLLEGIAN should be included. It feels that the COLLEGIAN, as the Campus weekly, is of sufficient importance, under the conditions above stated, to be granted this dispensation. It furthermore believes that it does not lie within the power of the Interfraternity conference to judge of the relative importance of campus activities without further advice or investigation.

The board respectfully places these facts before the student body with the hope that justice will be done it by reason of pressure brought to bear upon the Interfraternity Conference by the individual student through his fraternity.

THE BOARD.

Telling Them About Ourselves.

Not for years has there been as much information about Aggie disseminated through the state as during the past few months. From two chief centers, the Athletic Office and the Alumni Office, sheets of paper have gone forth bearing the news that there is really an agricultural college here in Amherst. Perhaps in time such well-known remarks as, "What!, you go to a farmers' college and don't know how to milk?", and "Oh, yes, I know! You're from Amherst College," will no longer make our ears burn with shame and anger.

The Athletic Office has seen to it that our teams are getting the state-wide reputation they deserve. Schoolboys are hearing as much about Poole and Gowdy as about Zink and Tom Berry. The Alumni Office has sent athletic schedules, Squibs, COLLEGIANS, and Indexes to every high school in the state. Every teacher and coach has received communications. Dean Lewis makes weekly talks to schools around Boston, telling them about Aggie. The Extension Service is the best ever. Boys are looking longingly at pictures of the cavalry unit, and sweet misses of sixteen summers examine photographs of the "Alby", and admire the shapely athletes pictured in the 1921 Index.

Yes, sir, critics may come, and critics may chew up a lot of our activities here and get away with it, but no one can deny that our information centers are on the job every minute, and then some!

Class Spirit.

Is the class spirit at Aggie on the decline or is it merely dormant or expressing itself in other forms? Certainly it has been lacking at the interclass contests this winter.

The class basketball games have not been well supported. On one evening the spectators of any of the classes could have been counted on the fingers of the two hands and even the Freshman-Sophomore numeral game drew only weak cheering sections, constituting less than fifty per cent of the respective classes. The reason is hard to find. It does not seem plausible that studies are taking so much more time, neither can it be said that the character of the games has been below par. Lack of interest in basketball as a sport can not be the cause, for class hockey aroused no more enthusiasm earlier in the season. The most reasonable conclusion is that there is simply a lack of interest in class affairs, a lack of class loyalty and "pep" that has marked the class contests of the past.

This has shown itself in other ways than in athletics. The year has been unique for the small number of class functions which have been held. "Smokers" have been a rarity and when held have not always been well supported. The Freshman banquet has not been the usual question of popular discussion about the campus. Apparently all interest in the class is at low ebb.

The present state of affairs is not desirable. A vigorous class spirit is necessary to a strong healthy spirit of loyalty to the College and should be cultivated in every way possible. Whatever the cause of the present slump, whether it be due to the absence of the old class contests, to the leniency of discipline to the Freshmen or whether tied up more closely with the question of fraternities or of curriculum, it is certainly worthy of thought on the part of all Aggie students.

Let's "Be All With" Baseball.

March 9th, and perfectly good Spring weather. Does the student body realize what this means? It means that in the next month or so candidates for varsity baseball are going to have opportunity to have a great deal of practise. From now on they are going out every day and sometimes twice a day to work toward the formation of a varsity team that will be on a par with other college teams in New England. How is the student body going to help out? The management has arranged an unusually attractive schedule which extends over a shorter time than usual. This means a short, snappy season with lots of opportunity for the student body to make it more so by a constant backing of the coach and players. Spring is the time to be out of doors. In the afternoon when you have a spare moment get outside and go to the Alumni Field. Your little words of encouragement during practise are going to mean a lot to the newcomer who wants confidence and backing, and to the "M" men who will always look forward to the long swell of the college cheer or the short snappy help-words of their classmates. The varsity is willing to stay in Amherst through Spring recess in order to perfect their machine that they may bring more glory to Alma Mater. The student body should be willing to do their best to boost them. Let's drop all petty grievances and destructive disputes and get behind this one organization from now until June—lets all give our hearts to Aggie and boost the sport of all sports, the great American game; and more specifically Varsity Baseball at M. A. C.

Again

Another Dean's board has come and exists in South College to greet the eyes of the interested and the passerby.

What should it mean to the average man to have his name posted on that board? The faculty not only posts it to warn him of his standing which he has in class, but also, it is supposed to have a pyschological effect upon the man, individually. His name is being posted before the world. He is allowing himself to admit inferiority to grasp certain studies which he is pursuing. Shouldn't it mean something to everyone, who is listed on this board, to know that they are being the cause of lowering the standard of the scholastic mark of the college. Besides this, shouldn't there be something in the idea that appeals to the student himself. Publicity is a sure means of conveying impressions of a man unless his personality is so domineering that he can live over any remarks that may be edited in relation to him. The names of such men are not abundant among the list of names posted on the Dean's board. Again friends, it is up to each man. Should he be content to make the Dean's Board his publicity agent, and the "Gibralter" in the way to success or should he fight it hard from now on in the spirit of "The Message to Garcia"? Surely, the latter is the surest road to success.

SUNSET LEAGUE CUP NOT AWARDED FOR 1920

The committee appointed by the Interfraternity Conferance to look into the matter of presenting the Sunset and Sunrise League Baseball Cup has decided not to award the cup to either Phi Sigma Kappa or Sigma Phi Epsilon who tied for first place last year. This was deemed the fairest and most satisfactory way out of the difficulty. Meanwhile the cup rests in the Kappa Gamma Phi House awaiting the results of the coming season.

FAST NUMERAL GAME GOES TO FRESHMAN 16-14

Barrows' Foul Shooting Wins For Yearlings.

The annual Freshman-Sophomore game held in the Drill Hall Wednesday evening proved a Freshman victory after one of the most hotly-contested numeral games ever held.

The hitherto unbeatable Sophomores jumped into an early lead and were four points to the good at half time, but were overhauled by the Frosh in the last few minutes and beaten by a 16 to 14 score. "Ed" Tumey was as usual the mainspring of the Sophomore team and was also high scorer of the evening with four floor baskets and two fouls. Barrows work from the foul line was the feature for the yearlings and his four free tries in the final minutes gave his team the winning margin. With the score 13 to 12 against him he tied the count and then put his team ahead with another foul. Tumey knotted the score with a free try for the Sophs but Barrows sunk two more and 1923 did not have another chance.

The Freshmen put up a strong defense with Hairston and Brunner as the leading factors. Grayson broke through for two under-the-basket shots in the first half but in the second session Tumey's two long shots were the only double counters for 1923.

The lineups:

1924.	1923.
Gifford, Whitman, rf	lg, Hunter
Barrows, lf	rg, Wirth, Alger
Salmon, c	c, Tumey
Hairston, lg	rf, Sargent
Brunner, rf	lf, Grayson

Score—1925, 16; 1923, 14. Score at half time 1924, 4; 1923, 9. Floor Baskets—Gifford 2, Brunner 2, Hairston, Tumey 4, Grayson 2. Goals from fouls—Barrrows 6, Tumey 2. Referee—Gore. Time—20-minute halves.

MT. HOLYOKE CONCERT

ble, due to the good variety of numbers rendered, which kept the audience athigie with interest and brought frequent encores. In fact the whole evening was such a success that it is hoped to make the joint concert an annual event hereafter.

The Ukelele Club, led by Ruth Marton, '21, deserves praise for its short act. The girls played together as if with one instrument, and gave a fine effect to their music. The Glee and Mandolin Clubs with Elizabeth Merriam, '21, and Elizabeth Littlefield, '21, as leaders, respectively, were also decidedly there with real harmony. Special mention might be made of the medley, sung by the Glee Club, which combined very cleverly 35 bits from several popular songs with well-known Aggie and other college songs. This brought a storm of applause and was repeated. The concert ended with the singing of "Sons of Old Massachusetts" and of the Mt. Holyoke "Alma Mater" by the clubs together.

The following men took part in the concert Saturday:

'21:—Howard M. Goff, leader of the Glee Club; E. B. Newton, R. D. Baker, P. J. Cascio, F. S. Fletcher, E. F. Haslam, N. E. Lincoln, L. P. Martin, K. W. Sloan, E. B. Landis, leader of Mandolin Club.

Tufts Game.

Aggie showed greater Boston the kind of basketball teams they turn out, by defeating Tufts in Goddard Gymnasium Friday night 25-22.

It was a peculiarly hard game for the Medford team to lose as they were compelled to witness one of Aggie's famous comebacks which cut down a very goodsized lead.

Tufts opened an attack which set them clear ahead of the Aggies for several minutes of play. It was not long however before the delayed fireworks from upstate arrived and cut down the magnificent lead of 9-3 held by Tufts. From out of somewhere Marshman tossed in a basket followed quickly by Smith. Roser sunk a few of his foul line specialties and after Smith and Marshman and Thompson had solved the problem co-operatively a few more times the Aggie total had swelled to 15 while Tufts had acquired but one more point through the foul shooting of Telfer. When the curtain fell on the first half the score was Aggie 15, Tufts 10.

In the second half Tufts again came in with a jump but did not get away nearly as well as in the first half. Telfer was the chief score getter during the attack assisted by Hopkins and Round. Through the splendid guarding of Captain Gowdy and Thompson the Tufts attack was routed.

The game was fast and clean throughout. The snappy work of Masshman, Smith and Thompson brought forth high commendation from everyone.

The lineup:

M. A. C.		TUFTS.
Roser, rf		lb, Berlin
Ball, Smith, lf		rb, Hopkins, Entwistle
Marshman, c		c, Rounds
Thompson, rg		rf, Telfer
Gowdy, lg	lf, Upton, Downes,	Entwistle

Score—M. A. C. 25, Tufts 22. Baskets from the floor—Smith 3, Ball, Marshman 4, Thompson 2, Hopkins, Entwistle, Berlin, Rounds 2, Telfer 4. Baskets from fouls—Roser 5, Telfer 5. Referee—Sonters. Time—20-minute periods.

SOCIAL UNION PRESENTS HAWAIIAN QUARTET MAR. 12

Native Hawaiians To Entertain At Stockbridge Hall.

A special attraction is planned in the Social Union entertainment program for Saturday, March 12, at 6-30 P. M. in the Bowker Auditorium, in having a Hawaiian quartet—the Kahulani boys—who will give a musical entertainment consisting of Hawaiian music. They are all native Hawaiians, have been together for several seasons and their work on the ukelele, the steel guitar, and other native instruments has been of uniformly high quality. The music that they will bring represents the same sentiments and feelings which thrilled Mark Twain, Lauder and thousands of others who have visited the Hawaiians and listened to the music of the natives. Mark Twain speaks of it as the most captivating in the world and Harry Lauder expressed his appreciation of this land of song by writing a song on Hawaii himself. It will be a worth-while enterialnment for those who love the type of music that the Hawaiian Islands offer.

During Monday Dr. Potter will keep office hours at the Y. M. C. A. office in the Social Rooms, where he will welcome a chance to meet men and discuss any personal problem with them.

DEAN ASKS SUPPORT OF NEW ADMINISTRATION

"With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right," so began Dean Lewis quoting from Lincoln's Second Inaugural Address at chapel Friday morning. He told of the criticism of those immortal words by friends as well as enemies of the President Lincoln at the time they were spoken. Wendell Phillips condemned the president and later characterized his Gettysburg Speech as foolish. Such criticisms did not help the president to carry out his duties.

"To-day we stand on a new administration," said the Dean "Those who voted against it should not take a critical attitude, an attitude of criticism without construction." Great problems must be solved, necessitating the hearty support of every American citizen in the good thing he attempts to do.

Y. M. C. A. DISCUSSION GROUP.

What do you know about China? Come to Professor Machmer's house at 3 Kendrick Place this evening at 7 o'clock. A discussion of the question of our relations with China and the Far Eastern Problem will be followed by a short social hour. All are cordially invited.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. An Opportunity

The dairyman today faces an unprecedented opportunity to market nutritious, palatable milk products at a substantial and continued profit, provided he carefully guards his operation costs, and protects his product from those preventable losses of quality which so often greatly reduce the margin of his profits.

The exceptional cleaning qualities of Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser are recognized by the agricultural colleges of the United States and Canada as being peculiarly adapted to this need of the dairy industry, and for eighteen years this cleanser has guarded the delicate qualities of sensitive milk products, thus saving a substantial margin of profit for the careful dairyman.

An order on your supply house will convince you of the truth of these claims.

FRESHMEN BOW TO ARMS 23-20, IN LAST GAME

The Freshman basketball team was defeated in a post-season game last Friday evening by the Arms Academy team at Shelburne Falls by the close score of 23-20. From the first whistle to the end of the contest, the game was characterized by the agressiveness of both teams. For the first few minutes it looked as if it were going to be a high scoring game, but soon both teams, using the same kind of defense, settled down and all scoring after that was well earned. The Freshmen led at half time, 12-8. Hairston was the leading guard of the game. Cardwell, the center for Arms Academy, and one of the best high school basketball men in the Valley, played his usual stellar game, and with Temple, did most of the scoring for his team, The lineups:

ARMS ACADEMY.		1924.
Monahan, rf	lt,	Weatherwax, P. Bartlett
Temple, lf	rg,	Aairston
Cardwell, c	c,	Solmon, Weatherwax
Johnson, rg	lf,	Barrows, Kane
Thompson, lg	rf,	Kane, Whitman

Goals from floor: Cardwell 4, Temple 3, Monahan, Barrows 4, Kane, Whitman. Goals from fouls—Cardwell 7, Barrows 7, Kane. Referee—Daley. Score—Arms Academy 23, 1924 20.

With the Arms Academy game, the Freshman basketball team has closed a very successful season having had nine victories and five defeats, only one of which has been lost by a margin greater than 14 points. This game was the one with Monson Academy when floor conditions enabled Monson to run up a 39-16 score on the Freshmen. The team has scored 325 points against 231 for its opponents, of which 234 have been from floor baskets against 176. Of the number of floor baskets by the Freshmen, Kane scored one-third. Barrows, who began the season as a sub, has averaged as many baskets as Kane has, since he has been in the game.

"THE DICTATOR" TO BE PRESENTED BEFORE APRIL 1

Two Year Dramatic Club To Stage Farce by Richard Harding Davis.

The members of the dramatic club of the Two-year course are planning to stage a three-act play, "The Dictator", sometime before the end of the term. Rehearsals have been held three times a week under the direction of Professor Patterson. The cast includes Harrison, who takes the part of the hero of the play, Sanford, Ritchie, Harrington, Blish, as Dussy, the Detective, and Loring. Also Miss Leavitt, Miss Stewart, and Miss Sargent are to take prominent parts. The play itself is a farce in three acts written by Richard Harding Davis and originally presented in New York with John and Ethel Barrymore in the cast. The theme of the play has to do with the adventures of a young New Yorker who happens to go to a supposed Central American port where he becomes mixed up in a revolution and has some interesting experiences before he is through. This play will be the first result of the activities of the dramatic club of the Two-year course.

out the world," declared Mr. Parker, "reaching from Amherst to Hawaii. Sometimes they are meeting clubs, often they hold dinners. If it were not for these clubs the Memorial Building could not have been erected. The clubs were the only means by which the alumni could be approached and really enthused." "The alumni have three important contacts with Aggie," continued the speaker, "World Aggie Night, which this year saw one-half of the members of the alumni together, Mid-winter Alumni Day, and Alumni Day at Commencement." The alumnus meets many of his old classmates and regards these events very favorably.

"The Associate Alumni is not a group of a few individuals," said Mr. Parker in conclusion, "it is big and strong and has ideals. If it does its duty, it will develop the agriculture of the state so that it cannot be overlooked in the future."

TWO-YEAR FIVE ENDS SEASON

Academy was defeated 41-19, Amherst High 23-20, Wilbraham 36-31 and 30-11. In the games with Deerfield and Suffield their opponents won, being the only games of the season lost by the Two-year men, the score of the former game being 36-21, the latter 42-15.

The team scored a total of 338 points against the sum of 265 of their opponents. During the season Shaw secured 44 baskets from the floor, Ross 35, Parsons 30, Burnett 14, and Steele 5. Shaw has played a good game the whole season as left forward. The whole team has showed up well in almost every game. Shaw played left forward. Ross right forward, Parsons center, Burnett left guard, and Steele right guard. Maggi, Stevens, Girard, and Grant have substituted in many of the games. The team will lose Shaw, Burnett, Steele, Stevens, Girard, who graduate this year, but will still have Ross, Parsons, Maggi, and Grant who will be a good nucleus for next year's team. Adair and Green also promise well for next year.

PROF. HICKS WILL RETURN TO HIS DUTIES SHORTLY

Physical Director Convalescing from Recent Illness.

Prof. Curry Hicks of the Physical Education Depaatment has been confined to his home for over a week, due to a serious attack of ptomaine poisoning, which he contracted while in Boston on Feb. 23. Prof. Hicks was feeling poorly at the time of the hockey banquet, but kept at his work for four more days, until a week ago Monday when he was forced to go home and to bed. In addition to the poisoning,he has been suffering from two severe abscesses in his ears, which made their appearance later. The "Prof" sat up a short time Friday afternoon, but suffered a short relapse from which he has now fully recovered. He is rapidly regaining strength and will be back at his work by the middle of the week.

FEED UP

Do This—

Give your dairy feed the PROFIT-OVER-FEED test. Weigh your feed. Weigh your milk. At the end of a month, subtract the cost of the month's feed from the month's income from the milk. Put this figure down where you can refer to it in thirty days.

Then ask your dealer for BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED, the protein feed that makes milk. Mix up yourself, at home, 2 parts of BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED, with 1 part of wheat bran or mill feed, and 1 part of ground oats. You can mix up a ton in a half-hour—and few jobs will pay you better. Feed this mixture liberally. Keep the daily feed and milk records for another month, as before. Then subtract the cost of the month's feed from the month's returns from the milk. Check this margin-of-profit figure with the other one.

It probably won't take a whole month to convince you that it pay$ to feed BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED.

Write us for literature giving mixture for feeding BUFFALO CORN GLUTEN FEED. If your dealer cannot supply you, tell us who and where he is. Write to

BASEBALL SQUAD HAS DAILY WORKOUT NOW

Regulars Defeat Yannigans in Practice Game.

Eight days of varsity baseball practice has started the 1921 season off in a manner both pleasing to the coach and players. For several days the time has been spent inside, developing the control of the pitchers and first basemen. The catchers are out coaching the pitchers along. The old men are having a chance to help the new men, and the new men are being taught all the essentials of position, and control; and the art of bunting.

Saturday was such a fine day that Coach Gore couldn't resist getting the squad outside, so in the afternoon a game was staged between a so-called regular team and the "yannigans." Needless to say the regulars started in where some of them left off last season, and defeated the new comers by a score of 7-4. All of the pitchers got a chance to feel the "spring." Brigham worked four or five innings in fine form. Sargent knocked out three hits for a total of seven bases and Kroeck got one fine hit far into left field that in dry weather would have allowed the lanky pitcher a homer, but the curved slide around first base proved too much for his equilibrium.

This week Coach Gore has given par-

MUSICAL CLUBS FINISH TERM'S SCHEDULE

Concert to be Given at Greenfield Tonight. Review of Season.

With the concert given tonight at Greenfield ends this terms appearances of the Musical Clubs. Since the opening of the season, eight concerts have been given, the two outstanding ones being at the Copley Plaza on Jan. 1, and the joint musical club concert given at Mt. Holyoke March 5. In addition to the regular concerts, a few informal sings have been given by the Glee Club in neighboring towns. Everywhere the club went they were treated with the greatest kindness and made to feel at home at every appearance.

The prominent feature at every concert has been the fine work produced by the quartet, led by Howard Goff and assisted by Raymond Vinten, Kenneth Sloan and Emerson Haslam. They have a great variety of catchy little songs which have been a propos for every occasion. Vinten and Landis (Labrovitz) have also received their share of applause for their snappy banjo-mandolin duets.

Great credit for the fine training of the Glee Club is due Harlan Worthley '20, who has been the coach, and in cooperation with Goff has selected some very excellent music. Mr. Katzenback of Amherst has coached the Mandolin Club well and has added to the originality of the selections by a clever medley of the college songs which he has arranged.

The concert of the Musical Clubs tonight at Greenfield is to be held at Washington Hall at 8:00 P. M., and is to be under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion. Dancing will follow the concert until midnight. Arrangements have been made to convey the men from Amherst by truck. Trolley connections may be made by the 5-30 car for Northampton or the 6-30 car for Sunderland.

COLLEGIAN BANQUET HELD IN DRAPER HALL

Dr. Butterfield and J. C. Crawford '20 Give Interesting Talks.

The COLLEGIAN Board held its final banquet of the season in Draper Hall, Sunday night. Editor-in-chief Martin presided. Pres. Butterfield, Director Haskell, A. W. Spaulding '17, J. C. Crawford '20, and Louis Lyons '18, were guests, and all responded to Mr. Martin's request for commendation and criticism of the COLLEGIAN and student life in general. The senior members of the board, Geer, Preston and Jones were called upon for a few words; and two of the junior members spoke. Dr. Butterfield's talk of experiences and

BASKETBALL BANQUET AT THE HOTEL NONOTUCK

C. H. Gowdy is Elected Captain. Eight Men are Awarded Their "M".

Last Saturday evening the basketball team broke training for the 1921 season with a banquet at the Hotel Nonotuck in Holyoke. The banquet was held in the main dining room and its pretentiousness was due in great part to the generosity of Morris A. Blake '04, who is now situated at Rutgers College, who gave the team a substantial check to help their banquet.

During the evening the award of letters, and the election of next year's captain, occupied the center of interest, while after the banquet the team attended the game between the Celtics and Company E.

The following men were awarded the coveted "M" as the result of their work the past season: Manager C. W. Bunker '21, L. E. Ball '21, Captain C. H. Gowdy '22, A. W. Smith '22, G. H. Thompson, Jr., '22, C. J. Roser '22, J. S. Hale '23, and W. H. Marshman '23. Others present at the banquet were: C. F. Clark '22 and D. B. Alexander '23 of the squad, and Almon W. Spaulding '17.

Carlyle H. Gowdy of Westfield was again elected captain of the team. His work last year gained him a position on the New England Intercollegiate team, and this year his work on the defense and his gentlemanly conduct on the floor has brought comment from all the referees whom he has come in contact with. "Hank" is undoubtedly a fine player on the defense, and besides can always be counted on for several baskets during the season that seem to come at the opportune moments. His election is a popular one and illustrates his efficient leadership and the estimate which his team mates hold for him. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Roser, Hale, Marshman, and Ball have not obtained their letters before. The first three of this four and all the Juniors, who had previously won their "M"s, will form a nucleus next year that should develop into a championship team.

REV. R. H. POTTER ANSWERS "WHAT IS A CHRISTIAN?"

Dr. Potter at once proved himself to be a forceful speaker with a clear expression of the topics which he took up. The text for Sunday morning was taken from the sixteenth chapter of the Acts, the account of Paul and

CHANGE IN METHOD OF CHOOSING VARSITY MANAGERS

Only One Assistant Manager to be Selected.

A radical change in the manner of competing for managership of the five

Varsity sports was effected last Wednesday by a vote of the student body in Assembly.

Instead of selecting two assistant managers from the men that go out for the managerial position, the new system will mean that only one man will be selected. He will aid the manager in his work and will automatically become the manager the following season. Thus, the flaw of the old system, which was that one assistant manager would get left in the cold every year, will be eradicated. The suggestion that the assistant manager who lost out be given his class numerals was dropped. The new ruling will go into effect in the coming competition for manager of varsity baseball.

PROF. NEWLIN SPEAKS ON SERBIAN CONDITIONS

Amherst Faculty Member Relates Experiences in That Country.

Prof. W. J. Newlin of Amherst College spoke at Wednesday assembly on the subject of "Serbia." "It may interest you to hear about it from someone who was a foreigner to the country, from the American slant," said the professor.

"At the beginning of the war Serbia came to the front," began the speaker, "fighting the powerful country of Austria without aid. She was finally forced out of her native land." In 1100 or 1300 Serbia was a fine empire, advanced in arts and highly civilized. At the rise of the Ottoman Empire the Serbs stood between the Turkish onrush and Europe. They were defeated, but inflicted such a loss upon the Turkish army that further invasion was impossible. The Serbians were suppressed with a heavy hand, but in spite of all, managed to keep their nationality for 500 years. This phenomenon was accomplished by violins whereby stories were related to the children. When the time for an uprising came, they rose as a national body, and drove out the Turks.

One thing that impressed Professor Newlin was the generosity of the Serbians toward the Americans or anyone who tried to help them. Part of the work of the American was to take care of these children as well as to provide medicines for the sick of the country. All went out of their way to present gifts to the Americans as a token of their gratitude.

"One lesson we learned," concluded the speaker," was not to look down upon Serbian civilization. They have better child labor laws than we, their agricultural extension service is ahead of ours and so there is a question if it is wise to introduce American methods into Serbia, because they know what is best for their own country. They have great prospects for the future if given only half a chance."

ABIGAIL ADAMS LIBRARY HAS 100 VOLUMES

Up to the present, just over 100 volumes have been presented to the Abigail Adams Hall library. This number comprises three gifts, one of 72 books, by Mrs. George U. Crocker, President of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association; one by Mrs. Kenyon L. Butterfield, and one by Mrs. Frank P. Rand. A special bookplate has been designed for these books, containing a view of one of the living rooms of the Hall. It might be said here that there is ample room for more books in the library.

SHORT COURSES HOLD BANQUET AND REUNION

Speakers and Discussional Groups on Program.

On Friday, March 11, the graduates of the Winter School courses met in their first reunion. In the afternoon a discussion group was held in which "The Immediate Problems of New England Agriculture" were discussed. President Butterfield spoke on the social problem of New England agriculture, and other speakers were Dr. W. J. Spillman, editor of the Farm Journal, and Director Sidney B. Haskell of the Experiment Station.

On Friday evening a banquet was held at which W. A. Casey, president of the 1920-1921 class presided. John D. Willard, director of the Extension Service, and other college officers spoke. Professor Phelan stated that the plans for the future development of short courses include a reorganization of the present winter schedule, and a formulating of courses to reach older and more experienced men, such as fruit growers, tobacco growers, etc., and others actually engaged in business.

On Saturday morning, a round table discussion was lead by Director Haskell, and Professors Graham and Sallsbury on opportunities in various branches of agriculture in Massachusetts. Director Haskell spoke of the primary need of farmers in the state of common school arithmetic that they may figure formulae for the mixing of fertilizers. In spite of many circulars advertising to the contrary during 1920, out of the 61,000 tons of fertilizer coming into the state for sale, 49,000 tons were already mixed. The timidity of trying to mix their own prevented the farmers from mixing their own and thereby saving.

Peter in the prison at the time of the earthquake.

The prison-keeper besought them, "What shall I do to be saved?" In every man's career said Dr. Potter, there comes a supreme question which breaks open the crust of his life; it may come when he is going into battle, or during great sorrow or adversity, or even prosperity. A preacher of the gospel must have his religion packed, portable, ready for delivery. Paul did not have a half hour in which to make his reply; it was as follows: "Believe on the Lord Jesus and thou shalt be saved." This statement is the heart of all religion.

We believe in Julius Caesar and in Abraham Lincoln, but our belief in Jesus goes farther than this. We may believe all records about Him, and all His theories, but we must also take His moral precepts and adapt them to the rules of our life. To believe in Jesus we should also trust Him; the relation of God to man is merely a great assumption, as are all our natural and physical laws. As we continue to trust and obey Him, there arises a great affection between Jesus and the Christian, which is concluded only in God's presence.

Man may begin a Christian life in any one of three ways: by loving, or trusting, or obeying Jesus. But we must follow this up with the other two. To love Jesus, without trusting or obeying Him is to live a debauched life. Dr. Potter then answered the question of his subject: "To be a Christian is to follow Jesus, by loving, trusting and obeying Him."

THREE HOUSE DANCES HELD ON CAMPUS SATURDAY

Q. T. V., Kappa Sigma, and Phi Sigma Kappa Trip the Light Fantastic.

The house dance is asserting its popularity at M. A. C. more ond more each week. Three of these functions were held last Saturday at the Q. T. V., Kappa Sigma, and Phi Sigma Kappa fraternities, with dancing from 3-00 until 9-00 P. M.

Fifteen couples gathered at the Q. T. V. house. Davy's orchestra furnished the music. Girls from Mt. Holyoke and Smith were on hand to make the dance one of the most successful this season.

Frost's jazz orchestra kept fifteen couples on the qui vive at the Kappa Sigma house. Wellesley and Vassar were represented as well as the old stand-bys, Mt. Holyoke and Smith.

The Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity entertained eighteen couples at their house dance Saturday afternoon. M. M. Smith's five-piece orchestra furnished the music. The girls were from over the mountain, across the river, and Amherst.

AGGIE CONGRATULATED ON HALF CENTURY OF SERVICE

Town of Amherst Sends Greetings and Pledges Support.

President Butterfield has received an inspiring note of congratulation recently from the town of Amherst upon the semi-centennial anniversary of the college, which the faculty and students of the college are observing throughout the 1920-21 college year by a series of country life conventions, and which will culminate in an alumni reunion of all classes at commencement time. The resolutions voted by the people of Amherst was written by Dr. C. S. Walker, and is as follows: "The citizens of Amherst assembled in annual town meeting congratulate the M. A. C. upon the completion of the first half century of its public service. It has joined together a few farms and transformed them into a beautiful estate of field, forest, orchard, and gardens, where the sciences have been able to serve a whole people. Boys and girls of the town, the Commonwealth, the nation, and the distant lands, have been taught the arts of producing wealth from the soil at the least cost of time, labor and money, and to use it in the home and in the community for the highest physical, mental and moral development of the individual and society. When peace was destroyed and war threatened to overwhelm humanity at home and abroad, the College, called into being by the wisdom of Lincoln, who signed the act of Congress making possible the founding of the institution, sent forth the men who could wield the sword and defend the liberty inherited from embattled farmers. The town of Amherst in the future, as it has done in the past, will be steadfast in support of the College, that it may continue its beneficial work with increasing success for the present generation and for the generations of coming centuries."

TEN WEEKS COURSE ISSUES PAMPHLET

Attractive Booklet Recently Published.

A very creditable pamphlet was recently published by the students of the ten weeks course, as a commemoration of the graduating class. It was prefaced by a poem, "Massachusetts" by Miss Toma M. Dobkin, and contained a list of the faculty connected with the Winter Course, a list of the officers of the class, and a list of the students of the course, giving their name, address, past occupation, future plans, major interest, and a short humorous prophecy regarding their future. There was also a wittily written essay, "What the ten weeks students learned at Aggie", by Miss Toma M. Dobkins. Those on the Class Book committee, who were in charge of the writing of the pamphlet, were: Miss Toma M. Dobkins, chairman; Miss Charlotte F. Judge, Miss Mildred I. Donaghy, and Mr. Willis A. Casey. The writings were on mimeographed sheets, with a photograph of the campus, showing the chapel and the trees in foliage. Altogether it was a very interestingly written and prettily bound volume.

POLISH FARMERS VISIT COLLEGE

Series of Lectures and Demonstrations Carried Out.

"A square deal in Onions" was put up to four score Polish onion growers, visitors at Polish Farmer's Day of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, here March 8, as the only salvation for the Connecticut Valley onion industry, the leading agricultural effort of a large section of western Massachusetts.

With Massachusetts onions selling at 75 cents a hundred pounds, the Polish farmers, whose main crop is onions, were interested when Fred Kidder, leading onion grower sold them they must raise better onions, harvest them earlier, get them off the ground more quickly, and grade them more honestly before the Connecticut Valley onion will again take its place at the top of the market. Production and marketing specialists discussed every angle of the onion situation, but got back every time to the need of a higher Massachusetts product.

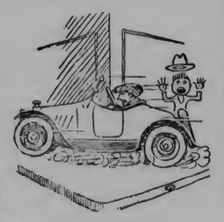

"Don't pay $1,000 for a pure bred cow," Professor Salisbury of the Animal Husbandry Department told the dairy section. "Get pure bred cows, but buy them at the right age and get them for $250. Get a pure bred bull calf and breed higher producing cows; but sales of $25,000 animals are bad for the livestock industry; keep away from them."

Professor John B. Abbott declared the corn crop is the highest yielding feed crop for Massachusetts dairymen, and he told how to grow the most corn to the acre. Director S. B. Haskell of the Experiment Station discussed the fertilizer problems of onion growers and President K. L. Butterfield welcomed the visitors to the college. Polish women were taken through the college greenhouses and attended demonstrations of canning and meal planning. The Extension Service had circulars on canning vegetables and on fertilizing onions printed in Polish for distribution to the visitors, and Professor Joseph Novitski acted as moderator at the lectures.

PISTOL MATCHES TO BE HELD BY MILITARY DEPARTMENT

The Military Department is introducing a new activity at M. A. C. this coming spring in the form of pistol matches with the various colleges which have R. O. T. C. Units. These competitions are promoted by three commanding officers of the R. O. T. C. Units of the United States. Many challenges have been received already by Colonel Walker, and are being considered.

The first match will be shot with the Alabama Polytechnic Institute of Auburn, Ala., on May 3, weather permitting. The competition is between the Sophomore classes of the two colleges. Practice started Friday for M. A. C. on an improvised range near the Microbiology Building. The target distance is 15 yards, and the scores are based on a maximum of 50 points for 5 shots. Several excellent scores were reported and prospects look good for a winning team. A full schedule will be available at a later date.

TRUE criticism includes both a discussion of the faults of the individual or organization and also suggestions as to the possible remedies for the conditions at fault.

The interfraternity conference at M. A. C. has been interpreting, by a method peculiarly all its own, a radical change in fraternity life which will be an aid to the fostering of true college spirit at M. A. C. In brief, the proposed changes in the rushing season rules are almost where they were last fall. Little real progress has been made beyond a general decision.

The interfraternity conference, as organized at M. A. C., should be similar to the U. S. Senate in powers and action. It should settle by itself all interfraternity matters except in the most extreme cases. The conference should be composed of representative men from each fraternity, endowed with sufficient brain power and ability to do the thinking for his constituency and to act accordingly. The conference itself should be organized and handled in a definite, decisive way.

The present interfraternity conference is displaying little more than the "comic paper" characteristics of the Senate. A dilly-daily method of referendum is now in vogue. The conference was founded for the purpose of settling many of these questions by itself, and was given the necessary authority to do this. It has not made use of this. It seems to be afraid to exercise God-given brains or to carry through to a finish any real job without running back to its constituency for support and further suggestions. Complications are bound to result. They have. As an organization it is not worthy of the name. No organization can successfully complete any job with a constantly shifting personnel, as has been the case this year.

The result has been but natural. The student body, the faculty, and the alumni are all dissatisfied; in many cases openly derisive.

In view of the situation as above outlined, the writer ventures to offer the following suggestions: It might be well for the present incumbents to read over the original conference constitution and to enforce it. This would remedy many of the present evils. The representatives of each fraternity should be the house president, a senior, and the junior who is likely to succeed him. The conference should have a definite meeting-place with a schedule of meetings. Less referendum, more real thinking, and more definite action.

The New Board.

With to-day's issue of the COLLEGIAN the present board passes out of office, the new staff of control taking charge with the April 6 number.

We, the officers of the retiring board, have had our ideals for the COLLEGIAN. We have tried to make it truly representative of Old Aggie, both from the standpoint of the undergraduate and the alumnus; we have tried to represent equally all the activities of the campus; we have endeavored, through the editorial columns and the communications, to make this year's COLLEGIAN an expression of all aspects of campus life and student thought; and in so doing have tried to strengthen the ties between the alumnus and his Alma Mater.

COLLEGIAN boards come and go annually, and to the majority of the undergraduates and alumni there is probably no material change noted in the paper from year to year. Only as the development of the COLLEGIAN is viewed in the larger perspective, coincident with a half century of Aggie growth, does its development become apparent. The aggregate efforts of several boards of editors during as many years, has been necessary to make lasting, recognizable improvements. So it is with all college institutions. The little that one board of editors do to promote the growth and better quality of our publication, will be seen only in the consummate of several small group efforts, as viewed in retrospect. With the coming into office of the new board there will not be any immediately evident changes, but with a continuance of the backing that the student and alumni bodies have accorded us during the past year, we feel sure that the COLLEGIAN will continue to approach the ideals set up for it from year to year.

In passing, the retiring board wishes to acknowledge the faithful support and co-operation of the alumni and the student body; to thank the members of the board associated with us for their conscientious work; and to express confidence that under the new board the COLLEGIAN will continue on the path of upward progress toward a leading place among present day college papers.

FRESHMEN ELECT CLASS OFFICERS

1924 class officers were elected at a meeting of the Freshmen last Tuesday, March 8, in Clark Hall. Robert H. Woodworth was elected captain for the inter-class track meet. The following officers were elected: Alfred P. Staebner of Willimantic, Conn., President; Arthur C. Nicoll of Quincy, Vice President; James L. Williams of Sunderland, Treasurer; Charles J. Tewhill of Florence, Secretary; Edmund T. Ferranti of West Bridgwater, Captain; Edward A. Kane of Westfield, Sergeant-at-Arms.

A story about M. A. C. has been prepared by the Alumni office and sent out to each high school paper in the state.

COMMUNICATIONS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

Dear Sir:

In the COLLEGIAN of March 9 your Board meekly begs to be excused from the ruling of the Interfraternity Conference which permits no fraternity member to be absent from Monday night meetings to attend meetings of other organizations. Coming from a body which has no authority to enforce it, this rule is a joke, having no sound basis either in good college spirit or in common sense, either, for that matter. Good college spirit demands that the COLLEGIAN, carrying impressions of Aggie life to a wider field than most students realize, be raised up to a par with other college papers. Let no one interfere with the COLLEGIAN man who is striving to raise its standard, for granting all due praise it has quite a way to travel. Furthermore, common sense rebukes the Conference for making it seem to the outsider that fraternity meetings are now such boresome affairs as to necessitate compelling members to attend them.

Fraternities at Aggie are getting enough bouquets handed to them, fragrant and otherwise, without giving their critics cause for more unfavorable comment. What activity has first call on a man's time is a matter to be decided between the man and his conscience, without either advice or consent from any one else. Rather than to interfere in the personal affairs of individual fraternity men, the Conference might well devote some of its spare time to a consideration of something which puzzles a lot of alumni—How much longer the slogan, "Fraternity First."

R. W. S. '17.

Cambridge, N. Y.,
March 12, 1921.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

Dear Sir:

A few weeks ago someone said there was unrest on the campus, and was promptly "pooh-poohed" from many sides. Yet a fact remains a fact even if we close our eyes to it. There are murmurings: "The reputation of the college as a college is suffering more and more as each day goes by." "This college has not been keeping pace with others in the number of enrollments." What does it all mean? Just simply that something is slipping.

Now, Mr. Editor, it is my sincere belief that the real root of the trouble is to be found in the Two-year and Short Courses as they are conducted at present. Following are a few of the outstanding features of present conditions in this connection:

First, many of the professors are cutting down on the time and care devoted to "college" students, to the great detriment of the latter. By "college" students the writer is referring only to the four-year students. In some cases more time is given to others than to the regulars, and in one case, I understand, the professor resorts to frequent "cutting" of the regular courses in order to ride his hobby elsewhere.

Secoudly, the reputation of M. A. C. as a college is being lowered throughout the state, largely, the writer believes, through misrepresentation. Now, it is human nature for those who have the least of a thing to brag the most about it. We are suffering from this. All the Two-year men who have finished the course call themselves graduates of M. A. C.—"Aggie Men"—not only call, but represent themselves as such, and in some cases make capital of the sacred phrase.

SECOND ANNIVERSARY

1919 "A reputation for good judgment, for fair dealing, for truth, and for rectitude, is itself a fortune." Nothing could better express our aims and ideals. THE HOUSE OF WALSH asks for a continuation of your most valued patronage and promises in return vigorous attention to your needs. "I know of no way of judging the future but by the past."—PATRICK HENRY 1921

Thirdly, the impression is being created and circulated that a man can get all in a Two-year course that he can in a college course. This lie, the writer thinks, is somewhat responsible for the lesser number of new enrollments, and through that, for the lowered entrance standard.

Fourthly, the short courses are competing with the college course in activities. This is a direct result of their having such light courses that they have time for activities which the college students do not. If the present rate keeps up the future bids fair to see college students doing the studying, while the short course men carry on the other activities of the college.

Now for a little constructive criticism. The Two-year and short courses certainly have a place, for they are essentially good and fill a definite need. The most logical place seems to be here at M. A. C., where the facilities for such courses are located. Now then, under these circumstances, the writer knows of only one method of offsetting the conditions mentioned. That is to make a clear, definite, unmistakable distinction between M. A. C and the various vocational schools which use its facilities.

This is not unreasonable. If a manufacturer who has spent years in earning a reputation for the goods that bear his trade-mark allows another concern to use some of his machines, do you think for a moment that the latter concern is entitled to use the former's trademark on his products? Certainly not. The proposition is absurd on the face of it. Yet there are some who profess to see nothing wrong with the same practise when it is applied to the products of an institution. Now, Mr. Editor, as business concerns sometimes have to insist that their trademarks remain their own, so those in an institution often have to insist that its fair name be inviolable. Now is one of these times. This is such an institution. Will we?

HAWAIIAN ENTERTAINMENT WELL RECEIVED

Popular Songs and Native Music Cleverly Rendered.

Last Saturday evening a very enjoyable entertainment was given in Bowker Auditorium by the Kahulaui Hawaiian quartet. The program consisted of Hawaiian music rendered on the ukelele, steel guitars and other native instruments. The entertainment consisted of many popular songs and native Hawaiian music presented in a lively, attractive style and was well received by the audience, many encores being demanded. The quartet selections, "My Isle of Golden Dreams" and "My Old Kentucky Home," were without doubt the best of the evening. Several duets on the steel guitar giving popular Hawaiian pieces were well rendered. There was also a fine rendition of the "Rosary" on the ukelele, which brought much applause. The accompanying lively actions of the musicians kept the audience in good humor, and the general impression was one of a very pleasant entertainment.

JUNIOR PROM PLANS

Price of Tickets is Set at Twelve Dollars.

Plans for Junior Prom on April 15, 16 and 17 are coming along in fine shape now. Chairman Vinten has his several committees working and results are being attained that assure an unusually good Prom. Waugh and Moseley have signed a contract with Wittstein for the music. A. W. Smith has had several conferences with Miss Dietha and has promise of a very good Prom supper. Spring has signed a contract with Dennison for the decorations and they will be on hand by the last of the month in time to assure proper decorating by the committee.

Several of the fraternities are to turn their houses over to the girls during the weekend. The musical clubs are arranging the cabaret program and the Roister Doisters plan to put on the very best of the dramatic talent in the college.

The price of the tickets to the Prom dance has been definitely set at twelve dollars, nine dollars in addition to the pre-lim.

At a meeting of the Sophomore Class last Wednesday after Assembly, it was decided to have an Arena Party this coming Friday evening Richard C. Newell was elected track manager for the interclass events.

PROM SHOW PROGRESSING

The Prom show for this year gives promise of being every bit as good as those of previous years. The play is the classic comedy, "School for Scandal" by Richard Sheridan. Rehersals are being held three times a week, and with a nucleus of Davidson, Bogholt, Jones and Baker to work with, a satisfactory cast is being perfected.

EXTENSION SERVICE NOTES

The M. A. C. fruit specialists are prophecying a good peach crop for the Bay State for the second time in six years. There is a possibility that an unseasonable cold wave will settle over the state and again disappoint peach growers; but prospects for a crop are excellent. Peach growers used to expect three peach crops in five years, counting on Massachusetts winters to kill their crop the other two years; but in the last five year cycle there has been just one crop, that of 1919. Consequently, many peach orchards are now in such neglected condition that they can scarcely be counted on to set a profitable yield.

The M. A. C. Extension Service were the hosts at a Conference of Extension Workers from Ten Eastern States at the Hotel Kimball in Springfield, Feb. 23, 24, 25. Those present at the conference included county agent leaders, and specialists in fruit growing and marketing. Director John D. Willard was the chairman of the Feb. 23 general session. Extension work in the different states was discussed and the various methods compared, with a view to improvement.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers.

Order now for Spring planting. If we've no dealer near you, write for the agency.

HAY is a safe crop. Easily grown, handled, stored. Always marketable. Or, feed it. Rod also enriches soil for next crop. A reasonable application of E. Frank Coe's Special Top Dressing should nearly double yield. Mention your soils and write for valuable book "The Neglected Hay Crop." Free, with our fertilizer suggestions.

An Opportunity

The dairyman today faces an unprecedented opportunity to market nutritious, palatable milk products at a substantial and continued profit, provided he carefully guards his operation costs, and protects his product from those preventable losses of quality which so often greatly reduce the margin of his profits.

The exceptional cleaning qualities of Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser are recognized by the agricultural colleges of the United States and Canada as being peculiarly adapted to this need of the dairy industry, and for eighteen years this cleanser has guarded the delicate qualities of sensitive milk products, thus saving a substantial margin of profit for the careful dairyman.

An order on your supply house will convince you of the truth of these claims.

All junior, senior, special, and two year course grades are to be reported on individual blanks. Sophomore and freshman grades are to be reported on report sheets.

All blanks may be obtained on request of the Instructors at the registrar's office.

LIBRARY ACQUISITIONS

The Library has now two large quarto volumes of the collected articles that appeared in the Bay State Ruralist from 1912 to 1917. The Bay State Ruralist was a special section of the Sunday Springfield Union, which was conducted by the students in Journalism at M. A. C. These articles are interesting accounts of the campus and department activities.

The Library has also received Bulletins of C. P. Lownbury, Chief of the Division of Entomology of the Union of South Africa, and of G. R. Mansfield '97, who is connected with the U. S. Geological Survey.

In cooperation with the Hampden County Improvement League, the Hampden County Alumni are planning a get-together in Springfield in the near future.

SPRINGFIELD UNION PRAISES MARSHMAN

Sophomore Member of Varsity Receives Creditable Comment.

The Springfield Union says:

"Willie" Marshman, center on the M. A. C. basketball team, is about as good a pivot man as they make them. Willie came from Springfield, where he was one of the mainstays of the Tech team. His first year at Aggie he jumped at center for his freshman team, which won the championship and his play was the feature of every game.

This year, only a sophomore, he has proved to be one of Coach Kid Gore's best bets. He has played in every game, and the first proof of the cleanness of his play is the fact that he has never been put out of the game by the foul route. During the mid-season games, Willie has had a bad ankle which bothered him a great deal, but still he was able to play and help his team materially.

He stands an even 6 feet, is slim and wiry, and perhaps as good a floor man as there is playing collegiate basketball. His sudden shifts and dodges fill the spectators with delight and make him staud out above his fellows. This, together with his ability to shoot baskets, makes him a formidable contender for an All-Collegiate berth.

In the 14 games that he has played in he has outscored his rivals in 11 of them. Many of these men, Provost of Stevens, Hartman of Wesleyan, Bratting M. I. T., and Berry of W P. I. have been placed above all other centers in collegiate circles, so it only strengthens his possibility for an "all" team position. His battle against Berry of W. P. I. was a beauty. Both boys are from Springfield and went to the same school and each was out to trim the other. During the game the work of both was the feature. but Willie, with five floor baskets, had something on Berry who was able to garuer only four.

This is his first year on the varsity and with two more years to develop in this lad should be the top notcher of them all in the next two years.

INTERCOLLEGIATES

Students at Oxford University, attired in Greek costumes, carrying flags and imitation Greek vases, paraded the streets recently in protest to the removal of compulsory Greek from their curriculum.

A new stadium, seating 60,000, on the same style as those at Yale and Harvard, is to be built this summer at the University of Washington. It is expected that it will be ready for the intersectional game with Dartmouth on Oct. 25th.

The students of Connecticut Aggie may have their own printing shop if present plans formulate. The faculty and students met to discuss the plans recently and it is very likely that all the college printing will be done on the campus hereafter.

The University of Vermont has hit upon a new proposition by which Seniors should act as advisors to non-fraternity freshmen. Freshmen when they reach college are in an entirely new environment and are at great disadvantage, knowing no one to whom he can go for advice. This difficulty is not apparent among fraternity freshmen. It is felt that the college has grown beyond the capacity of the fraternities because of this fact.

J. T. SULLIVAN TO CAPTAIN RELAY TEAM

G. L. Slate is Captain of This Year's Spring Track Team.

Among the important events which took place amid the bustle at the end of last term, were the elections of two track captains. Joseph T. Sullivan, '22, of Lawrence, was made captain of next year's relay team, while George L. Slate, '21 of Bernardston will lead the track team this spring. Both elections bring to the front men who have gained their experience through hard work, and who will be capable of keeping up Aggie's reputation.

Slate, although coming here with no previous track training, has been showing the way ever since his Sophomore year; two years with spring track and two with varsity cross country. At the intercollegiate meet in Boston last winter, he finished second in the handicap mile.

"Sully" early won high honors by scoring as a Freshman in the intercollegiates, against the fast men of the East. This season marks his third year, both in relay and spring track. He is a sure point-winner, and thereby has proved himself one of the best sprinters the college has seen. Both men are members of the Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity.

BASEBALL SQUAD HAS REGULAR DAILY WORKOUTS

Veterans, Led By Captain Newell, are Setting a Fine Early Season Galt. First Game with Stevens.

Varsity baseball at M. A. C. has gotten away to an early start. With the advent of an early spring, Coach Gore has had his men on the field every afternoon either for practice or for a game with some of the other teams at college that are also getting into shape early.

The veterans from last year's squad are showing fine form now, both at the bat and in the field. Lent, Collins, Kroeck, and Ball are showing good form with the bat, while the infield seems to shape up well now with Barrows in Hilyard's place at short. Last year's freshman star is kept of the squad through connection with the Dean's board. Lent is on the hot corner in the place left vacant when Jakeman graduated. Mosely is back at second and Kroeck will possibly start the season at first base. Collins has been moved over to center field where his

RAILROAD PRESIDENT GIVES INTERESTING ADDRESS

Mr. Willard Gives Interesting Views of Present Railroad Conditions, in Assembly Talk. Ex-'82 Man.

Mr. Daniel Willard of Baltimore, Maryland, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and an ex-'82 man was the speaker at Wednesday Assembly, March 16, the last assembly of last term. The introduction to his address dealt with reminiscences of his college days, but the main part of his talk had to do with the history of the railroads of this country and their present management. Mr. Willard is one of the leading exponents of private control for railroads and he spoke hopefully of the future of railroading under private management. Three sections of the Esch-Cummins Bill under which the railroads are operating guarantee the continuance of successful management under private ownership, he declared. The three clauses were the giving of power to the Interstate Commerce Commission to take over all roads in time of emergency; the guarantee of six percent return from railroad investments by the federal government, and the creation of the Railroad Labor Board.

Mr. Willard thought that labor disputes between managers and employees were being given exagerated seriousness. "It is better that they should be arguing in Chicago than throwing bricks on the lines", he said. The very fact that the roads were operating while disputes on wage scales were underway was an indication of the value of the new Railway Labor Board.

"It is very largely up to the management of railroads whether private ownership shall endure," he concluded. "If railroad officials conduct themselves as public trustees of public funds in an enterprise in which the public is deeply concerned, the security of railroad operation as it is now managed is certain."

Railroad charges in comparison with current prices and wage scales, or at least until the last few months, and probably even now, are relatively lower in America than anywhere else in the world.

Mr. Willard devoted much of his address to tracing the history of rail-

COLLEGIAN BOARD ELECTS NEW MANAGEMENT

B. F. Jackson Editor-in-chief, H. W. Spring Managing Editor, C. A. Buck Business Manager.

This issue of the COLLEGIAN marks the annual reorganization of the editorial and the business departments. Elections were held Sunday, March 20.

Belding E. Jackson '22, was elected editor-in-chief. He prepared for college at Belchertown High School, and has demonstrated his literary abilities by his activity in all college publications, beginning with the COLLEGIAN board during his freshman year. He is a member of the Squib board, and is now its literary editor. The 1922 Index is under his guidance as editor-in-chief. He is a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Hobart W. Spring '22, the new managing editor, comes to M. A. C. from Braintree High School. His range of activities included athletics as well as non-athletics. He has run for the varsity track and class relas, and is active in the the Glee Club, Roltter Dolsters, Non-athletic Board, Junior Committee, and COLLEGIAN Board. He is also Business Manager of the 1922 Index. His fraternity is Q. T. V.

Charles A. Buck, of Marshfield, was elected business manager. This was a shift from circulation manager, a position he had held for two years. As a freshman he participated in the Burnham Declamation Contest. He also is a member of the Squib Board. In athletics he has run for class track and varsity track. He is a member of Alpha Gamma Rho.

BASKETBALL AND HOCKEY MANAGERS ELECTED

S. L. Freeman and F. S. Tucker are Student Body Choices.

Stanley Leonard Freeman '22, of Needham, has been elected manager of basketball for the coming season. "Stan" is a graduate of Needham High School, and has been prominent in athletics since entering college. He was manager of class basketball, and played class football his sophomore year. He was awarded his letter in football last fall, and will in all probability fill the pivot position on the 1921 football eleven. Freeman is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Francis Sample Tucker '22, of Arlington, has been elected manager of the hockey team for the coming year. "Tuck" has always been connected with hockey, playing on the class team his freshman year. He also played class tennis his first two years. Tucker is a graduate of Arlington High School, and is a member of the Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity.

AGRICULTURAL MISSIONS CONFERENCE AT M. A. C.

Successful Conference Should Serve as a Valuable Precedent.

An epoch-making part of Aggie's Semi-Centennial jubilee was held on campus last week in the first student conference of the International Association for Agricultural Missions. The program, which began Friday evening, April 8th, continuing all day Saturday, and culminating with Sunday Chapel at which the Rev. Brewer Eddy preached, was attended by over 100 delegates, representing twenty colleges and institutions of New England, New York, and Pennsylvania. Among the prominent speakers were missionaries from all over the world, and also representatives of mission boards. A few of the best-known speakers were Dean Reisner of Nanking University, China, Sam Higgenbottom, Allahabad, India, Dr. G. W. Groff of Canton, China, Dr. A. G. Noehren of Madras, and Dr. Frank H. Wilson of New York City.

The growing importance of trained agricultural missionaries was spoken of again and again. The gospel of better training must be taken in every corner of the globe, and it must be done largely by the graduates of American agricultural colleges. The need for workers is vast, and the oppotunity for world service offered to men and women trained in scientific agriculture is very great. In these days of world

DR. D. K. GETCHELL PAYS VISIT TO M. A. C. CAMPUS

Guest from Antolia College, Marsovan, Turkey.

M. A. C. may serve as a model to a considerable degree for a new agricultural college in Asia Minor. Anatolia College at Marsovan, Turkey, a Christian College maintained by the American Board of Foreign Missions, plans to establish an agricultural department, and in preparation for the new venture, Dr. Dana K. Getchell of the Anatolia faculty visited the campus Monday, inspecting various departments and discussing matters of curriculum and equipment with administrative officers of the college.

Dr. Getchell is a Carleton College, Minn., graduate and is director of the preparatory department of Anatolia. In an interview for the COLLEGIAN he said that the college is situated in the center of a rich and varied fruit country, with apples and grapes as leading fruits, and wheat and barley among the important field crops. The college is 35 years old and had 425 students of 11 nationalities in 1914. Anatolia is 400 miles east of Constantinople and 60 miles south of the Black Sea.

MUSICAL CLUBS' CONCERT WELL RECEIVED

Greenfield Audience Appreciative and Later Provides an Excellent Entertainment.

On Wednesday evening, March 16, the Musical Clubs were shipped from Amherst to Greenfield, where they performed at Washington Hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of American Legion. Transportation both ways was furnished by automobile.

The seats of the hall were well taken, and one was added to the list of successes by the Aggie Clubs this season. The program was essentially the same as for the previous concerts, while the quartet, and Vinten, Landis & Co., made slight innovations in their numbers, which were well received. After the singing of "Sons of Old Massachusetts," the chairs were cleared away, and the College Orchestra played for dancing until 11-45 P. M.

PROF. WHITEHEAD OF B. U. ADDRESSES SOPHOMORES

At the request of President Butterfield, the Sophomore class met in Room 114, Stockbridge Hall, last Wednesday. The object was to give all Sophomores a talk on the choice of majors. "This is an important decision," declared the President, "because it may determine your life work." Prof. Harold Whitehead of Boston University offered some very excellent suggestions designed to prevent men from running off the track in their vocations, emphasizing the fact that each man must think for himself. Prof. Lockwood announced that he would like to interview members of the class individually in an effort to help them choose a major.

COMMENCEMENT PLANS

The plans of the senior committees on commencement are under way. It has been decided to wear caps and gowns for two weeks. The type of cane to be used has been selected, also, and will be ordered Wednesday. The cane will be of plain mahogany with german silver ornaments. The decorations planned for will be of the usual type—the lanterns and arches. Justin J. McCarthy has recently resigned from the committee on decorations. A man to fill his place has not yet been elected. This will be done in the near future.

road development in America from the driving of the first spike in the Baltimore and Ohio system by Carroll in 1837. The railroad of which Mr. Willard is now chief executive is thus the oldest in the country. He discussed the opening of new and fertile areas by the rapid expanse of railroad lines and emphasized the importance of adequate transportation in all industry, stressing particularly the vital connection between the profitable marketing of farm crops and efficient railroading.

He divided the history of railroads in America into three epochs, the first ending with the taking over of all lines by the government in 1917, and the second closing with the return of railroads to private management in 1920. The partial year, 1920, from the reinstatement of private control to the close of the year, was the biggest year in all railroad history.

Mr. Willard is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL COMMITTEE MEETING REPORT

The semi-centennial committee met last Tuesday night to discuss plans for commencement. The question of music, seating arrangements and how best to obtain full student support during the week of commencement, were talked over. It was debated whether students should be required to stay through the week, or whether they should be appealed to on the basis of college spirit. It was decided that all anniversary plans be presented to the students and a full understanding be given as to the necessity for the fullest co-operation by all the classes during the entire program.

JUNIOR PROM

Next Friday evening at 9-00 P. M. the Junior Prom will be opened with the Prom Dance in the Drill Hall. Wittstein's Orchestra of New Haven will play. The committee has been busy all the week decorating the hall with maroon and white, white birch, and palms. Saturday afternoon at 2-30, the Cabaret will be held there, and in the evening at 8-00 o'clock the Roister Doisters will present their play, "A School for Scandal," in Bowker Auditorium. At 3-00 o'clock Sunday afternoon, there will be a concert given by the Albert Sanda Quintet, which is a part of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. This concert will also be given in the Auditorium. Seventy-five couples are expected to be present at the Prom, and the female element will represent almost every section of the country from Pasadena, Cal., to the Atlantic coast. Incidentally, several fraternities will hold house dances during the week-end. The patrons and patronesses for the Prom are: President and Mrs. Kenyon L. Butterfield, Prof. and Mrs. William L. Machmer, and Professor and Mrs. Curry S. Hicks.

HIGH SCHOOL DAY WILL BRING NEW FEATURES

The success of High School, on May 7, this year, is assured by an exceedingly peppy program. The military department has enthusiastically co-operated with the committee in charge. Bareback riding and a mounted potato race are features new at the College, which are sure to attract the attention of students as well as visitors. The usual stock-judging contest, track meet, and baseball game with Conn. Aggie are live events, always of interest. Visitors will begin to arrive Friday. Individuals and fraternities are asked to co-operate to provide accommodations for them.

fellowship, mission work is growing in importance, and it is now America's great privilege to take a share in guiding all the nations of the earth to happy brotherhood.

Old Aggie has already had a big part in this great work. Under President Clark members of her faculty and alumni founded the first Imperial Agricultural College at Sapparo, Japan. The first agricultural missionary ever officially sent out was one of our graduates. Her sons are teaching better agriculture in all parts of the world. And now Aggie is again taking the lead in establishing a two-year course, especially designed for the training of agricultural missionaries.

CONFERENCE AT M. I. T.

M. A. C. will have three delegates to the intercollegiate conference, to be held at M. I. T., Cambridge, on April 15, and 16. Jackson, '22, will report for the college publications, McCarthy, '21, for the student government, and MacKintosh, '21, for athletics.

The aim of this conference is to discuss any problems of student activities and government which may come up. About forty of the leading colleges of the East are to be represented at the conference, the program includes, besides the various meetings, a formal dance and banquet.

MUSICAL CLUBS' CONCERT AT HARDWICK

The Hardwick concert last Friday evening terminated the scheduled trips of the musical clubs for this season. After an excellent supper, and a quick change to evening dress, the concert was given before an enthusiastic and appreciative audience. The program included essentially the same selections as have been presented throughout the season. Following the dance, which lasted until 1-30 A. M., all adjourned to the homes of hospitable townsfolk. The trip was a success both financially and socially.

PROF. GARRIGUS AND C. D. RICHARDSON GIVE TALKS

A sheep shearing and judging contest was held at M. A. C. Wednesday, April 6, for the benefit of the sheep breeders throughout the state. Practical farmers, and members of the boys and girls clubs in the state attended. Prof. H. L. Garrigus of Connecticut Agricultural College spoke on "Production of Lambs and Wool," and C. D. Richardson, supervisor of sheep demonstrating farms in this state, talked on "Marketing Methods."

INTERFRATERNITY STANDING

The interfraternity track schedule in all probibility has been closed for the season, but the final decision as to whether the remaining races shall be run off, remains in the hands of the Interfraternity conference. Sigma Phi Epsilon now stands at the head of the list, with five wins and no defeats to her credit. Kappa Sigma lost their last race with Theta Chi and so have fallen back to second place.

ROISTER DOISTERS TO PRESENT COMEDY

"School for Scandal" to be Given This Saturday in Bowker Auditorium.

The Roister Doisters will present the comedy "School for Scandal" at Junior Prom on April 16. The play is a five-act comedy by Richard Brinsley Sheridan, and takes the form of a pleasing satire on gossip of the day; England, in the early part of the 18th century, with its brilliant costumes furnishing the historical background and setting of the farce.

Prominent among the actors are: Carl M. Bogholt '21, of Newport, R. I., who plays the character Charles Surface, an early English social cavalier, very well. Donald, M. Davidson '21, of Amherst promises to score another success in his portrayal of Sir Peter Teazle, a gentleman of the Old school, who looks with disfavor upon the social extravagances of his young wife. Francis S. Fletcher '21, of East Lynn, as Sir Oliver Surface an East Indian merchant and father of Charles and Joseph Surface, plays the character very well. Robert L. Jones '21, of Attleboro, who played Jo, the colored servant in "The Witching Hour," is well adapted to the part of servant to Lady Sneerwell.

The success that the production seems sure to achieve will be due in no small measure to the coaching and careful supervision of Prof. F. P. Rand of the English Department. He is being assisted by Carl M. Bogholt of the Roister Doisters, and George W. Edman '21 of Orange, undergraduate manager of the Dramatic Society, who has charge of the costuming and stage management of the production.

The cast:

Sir Peter Teazle, Donald M. Davidson '21 of Amherst
Sir Oliver Surface, Francis S. Fletcher '21 of East Lynn

SPRING FOOTBALL

Spring football has commenced again and a squad of fifty and more men are out three afternoons during the week learning the fundamentals of the game and getting the foundation for next fall's signal system. Several Seniors are out at Capt. Cotton's invitation and are helping the squad with all that is in them. Peterson of Colgate, and Bevins of Dartmouth, ex-'17 at Aggie, have been on the campus and helped the squad out for a couple of afternoons. It certainly looks good to see such a large squad out at this time of the year and promises well for the spirit that will be shown in building up another big football team next autumn.

Only a Few Weeks More.

At this particular time, when, as a new Board, we are taking hold of the COLLEGIAN and starting it on its way for another year, we are permitted, according to convention, to pay our respects to the old "regime," and promise the campus to do our best and live up to the high standards which that regime has attained. However, we shall have to take all that for granted. The term ahead is short, and the space for superfluous editorial ecstasies shorter. Only a few weeks more and——Commencement.

It is that Commencement and its accompanying Semi-Centennial Celebration that we want to keep before the minds of our readers as the one big thing which all departments of this college should be looking forward to. As alumni, as faculty, and as students, our most important task this Spring Term is to make the days from June 10 to 14 the happiest days in the history of M. A. C. One of our professors has likened the event to Thanksgiving at Grandma's. All the Aggie family, from '71 to '24, will be home, and will have the best time ever.

But the weeks between now and then are few. Much work must be done. Everyone will have something to do. Be ready to roll up your sleeves!

COMMUNICATIONS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

Dear Sir:

In the March 16th number of the Collegian I have read with considerable amusement the letter from R. F. M. '23.

R. F. M. is surely on the wrong track, or, as a famous Aggie professor has been known to remark, "He is barking up the wrong tree".

The whole reason for the existence of the College is that it should be of service to the people of the state of Massachusetts, not that it should be a place of academic training in "student activities". There is no way in which our College can be of greater service than in the way that has been worked out by President Butterfield and those associated with him.

R. F. M. terms himself a college student while the man that comes to M. A. C. to put in a couple years is a something to be looked upon with doubt.

I want to take up R. F. M.'s four points in order and discuss them.

1. I know nothing about whether the professors are cutting their classes.

2. He should lose no sleep over the fact that the two-year men are trying to make capital out of the term "Aggie Men". If they can deliver the goods they are just as much entitled to it as a four-year man. The question which will be asked R. F. M. some five or six years after he leaves M. A. C. and forgets the petty things that troubled his sleep so much during undergraduate years will be, "What can you do since you left college," not, "How many years did you spend in college". What he must do is to make himself so much better than the two-year man, that any effort to pose as a "Graduate" will soon show up as an effort to misrepresent, because the goods are not there to be delivered.

3. A two-year college course is just as much a college course as a four-year course. No one with brains will ever believe that a man can get as much in two years as he could in four.

4. His fear that the two-year men will carry on the "other activities" of the college, while the four-year men do the studying, is wierd. Let them go if they want to. The four-year man will benefit just as much from his course as he puts effort into it. If the studies are taking more time than formerly, it would appear that the faculty has taken the step that R. F. M. speaks of to make a clear distinction between the "Vocational Schools" and the four-year course. The distinction will appear in the final product of the two courses.

To me the whole situation appears to be a jealousy between the four year and the two year factions. The solution in a nutshell is just this: Forget this petty jealously as to who shall carry on activities, and as to who are "Aggie men" and who not. Show the two year men and the people of the state that there is a difference. Your first position after graduation will depend upon what you did and perhaps how long you were at M. A. C., but after that the world forgets that you are a college man and you will be asked to stand and deliver the goods. I might say in closing that one Daniel Willard spent less than a four year course at M. A. C., but we are all proud and anxious to call him an "Aggie man". If you, R. F. M., can deliver the goods when you have been out of college a few years, we shall be proud to call you an "Aggie man," too. The mere fact that you spent four years there and hated to do the studying when you might just as well be carrying on the "Other Activities" will not count for much.

Yours very truly,
R. E. T. 1915.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE COLLEGIAN:

Dear Sir:

It is evident that the various branches of track athletics at M. A. C. need greater support from the student body. A short while ago the relay team registered the first defeat in two years of a New Hampshire State team by an M. A. C. team in any branch of sport. The write-up in the COLLEGIAN consisted of less than half a column on an inconspicuous middle page. At the annual B. A. A. meet in Boston this winter where the best track men in this country compete, one of our men won second place in the handicap mile run. The acknowledgement which he received covered just four lines of space. This lack of support by the COLLEGIAN is an index of the attitude of the student body toward track. Last fall there were only two "M's" given for cross-country, and during the past winter only one man received his letter for relay, while the full teams consist of seven and four men respectively. In every other branch of sport at least a full team received letters. Last winter the relay team had only one race, while the hockey and basketball teams had schedules of sufficient length.

In spite of all this discouragement the track teams have turned in some creditable performances, but greater support is necessary in order to make possible a successful spring track. We need a genuine interest in the sport on the part of the student body. A few rooters on the field when the team is practicing, and enough men out for each

CAMPUS NOTES

B. C. Case a graduate of the University of California is on the campus doing special graduate work.

Professor Hasbrouck has returned from his trip to Bermuda, and is again meeting his classes at the Physics Department.

Next Tuesday the Mettawampee Club build a log hut on Mt. Toby. They will use it as a sort of headquarters for their hikes in that section of the country.

The activity of the Landscape Department is shown by the publication during vacation of the Tenth Edition of Downing's Landscape Gardening, a famous work on this subject now edited by Prof. Waugh. Also during the past month Prof. Waugh had an article in the Outlook on "The Market Price of Landscape," one in Motor on "Scenic Highwas," and one in The Park International on "The Relation of Landscape Architecture to Music."

Soph-Senior Hop prelims are now on sale. They can be obtained from Folsom at the Phi Sig House or Sargent at the Kappa Sig House. Seniors and Sophomores will have an option on them until next Wednesday, a week from today. On that day Juniors and Freshmen may have the the privilege of buying them.

At a Senior class meeting last Wednesday following assembly, it was voted that the members of the class should begin to carry canes in accordance with the old tradition on May first on April 13, a Senior supper will be held at Draper Hall, at the regular hour, at which all Seniors will get together to discuss commencement.

The concert given by the Havens Trio Sunday afternoon March 2 in Bowker Auditorium was greatly appreciated by a substantial gathering of students and townfolks. The Trio composed of Raymond Havens, piano; Alwin Schroeder, 'cello; and Julius Theodorowitz, violin measured up to the standards set last year in a similar recital. The program included many classical selections by some of the leading composers.

A record of M. A. C. men who served in the war has been compiled and is about to be printed. An endeavor has been made to secure complete records of M. A. C. men who served in the Army or Navy during the World War. Any member of the present student body enrolled in the four year course or as an unclassified student, who has not reported on his war record or who desires to verify or to complete data already submitted is invited to consult the war list in Mr. Watts' office any time before April 16.

The same factors which have made the De Laval Separator famous are back of the DE LAVAL MILKER

Just as the De Laval Cream Separator established new and higher standards of efficiency and construction, so is the De Laval Milker establishing higher standards among milkers. It is strong; durable; simple in construction and operation; easy to keep clean; saves time, and increases production.

The same policies which have made the De Laval Cream Separator the most popular and most widely used in the world are back of the De Laval Milker and are responsible for its rapidly increasing use.

Long ago the De Laval Company recognized the need for a mechanical means of milking, to place the dairy business on a machine basis. For over twenty years experiments have been conducted, and after many years of research, test and use, and not until the De Laval Company was absolutely sure its milker was actually a better way of milking, was it offered for sale. Now after four years of commercial use, in all sections of the country, owners are proving that it not only saves time and eliminates the drudgery of milking, but it actually increases the flow of milk even over good hand milking.

Service also helped make the De Laval Separator famous, and it is service back of the De Laval Milker that is helping to create preference for it among dairymen. This means that the De Laval Milker will be properly installed, that you will be thoroughly instructed in its care and operation, and that the De Laval Company's interest in you, instead of ending there, just begins.

The De Laval Separator has rendered a service of inestimable value to the dairy industry—the De Laval Milker is doing the same. It removes the one great drawback to dairying—hand milking. American farmers realize the service, stability and integrity back of the name "De Laval," all of which is reflected in the rapidly increasing use of De Laval Milkers.

A HIGHER IDEAL

There would be no advantage in devoting the most valuable years of one's life to gain knowledge and experience, if greater possibilities and achievements were not forthcoming.

It is then proper to assume that because of his exceptional scientific training the agricultural college man is progressive, well advised in the most modern dairy practices, and the methods that are likely to make dairying the most profitable.

You know that profitable dairy production cannot succeed without cleanliness, and you should also know that is capable of maintaining a cleanliness that is productive of the highest quality dairy products, because it is used for thorough and sanitary cleaning by all Agricultural Colleges in the United States and Canada.

FRESHMEN SHOW STRENGTH IN PITCHER'S BOX

John Maginnis '20 is Coach of Yearlings. Wealth of Material Already Out.

Under the coaching of John Maginnis last year's varsity second baseman, the Freshman baseball team will soon be in condition to win its first game of the season. The schedule, which is as yet not entirely completed, contains several good trips as well as many games at home. With a good supply of material from which to choose, the Freshman team bids well to be a pennant winner this season. With Kane or Haskell behind the bat, and Barteaux, Noyes, or Weatherwax in the box, the Freshmen should have a formidable battery. Noyes, Kane and Weatherwax are already numeral men, Weatherwax also having been captain of the Freshman basketball team. Weatherwax has pitched for the Greenfield high school, while Kane is an ex-Westfield player.

Material for the rest of the infield and for the outfield is plentiful. At the head of the list, are: Ricker, Lamb Bike, Benel, Nicoll, Kennedy, F. S. Bartlett, and Chase.

FRATERNITY DANCES

On Saturday, Mar. 19, Alpha Sigma Phi Fraternity held a house dance, which was attended by 11 couples. Miss Chase, from Smith College served as chaperone. The music was by Davenport's orchestra.

Fourteen couples also enjoyed a house dance held at the Theta Chi Fraternity on Saturday, Mar. 19. The chaperones were Mrs. Richards of Smith, and Mrs. Cameron of Mt. Holyoke. Smith's orchestra furnished the music. Decorations were of Smith colors, yellow and white.

Each year makes its own crop prices
Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.
Do you see the situation in that light?
E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. VARSITY TRACK SCHEDULE IS THE BEST EVER

Capt. Slate, Sullivan, Woodworth and Others Help to Mold a Strong Outdoor Team.

With a little more support from the student body, Coach Dickinson believes that he can work up one of the best outdoor track teams that ever represented M. A. C. The squad at present is working in four groups: Sullivan has charge of the high jumpers and dash men; Capt. Slate superintends the distance runners; Gray and L. S. Woodworth command the hurdlers; Alger takes care of the pole vaulters and field men. Capt. Slate is expecting to run the 880, the mile and the two-mile. Hill and L. S. Woodworth show promise as point winners in the hurdle races this season. Acheson is becoming a broad jumper by leaps and bounds. MacCready, who can always be counted upon to tally in whatever he enters, is being held in reserve as a general utility man and will probably be used in the races which appear to be the weakest at the time of the first meet. Gray, captain of this year's relay, materially strengthens the squad by his example and quiet leadership. He will be entered in the middle-distance runs.

At present Coach Dickinson is in need of more candidates for the field events, especially the discus throw, and shot put. Gowdy and West are the two leaders in these events so far.

The schedule for Spring track as announced by Manager Gilbert is as follows:

April 29—Dual meet—M. A. C. vs. Amherst at Pratt Field.
May 7—Dual meet—M. A. C. vs. Rhode Island State at Kingston, R. I.
" 14—Eastern Intercollegiates at Springfield.
" 21—New England Intercollegiates at Cambridge.
" 29—Triangular meet—M. A. C. vs. Vermont vs. N. H. State.

The schedule is the best that has been arranged at M. A. C. in years and will afford Aggie a chance to make herself known in the track world.

DELTA PHI ALPHA

The Delta Phi Alpha Fraternity after four years of petitioning, has been recognized by the faculty as a local Greek letter fraternity, with the privilledge of affiliating with a national organization at some later date. This official recognition was granted at a meeting of the faculty last Wednesday.

Many of the members have been engaged in college and class activities, both athletic and non-athletic. There are thirteen undergraduates and seven men who have left M. A. C. Those who are now in college are: L. E. Baker, E. B. Landis, I. C. Quint, M. Reed, and S. N. Rosoff, '21; A. Krasker, '22; S. Cohen, P. Gold, A. Sandow, B. Gamzue, J. M. Goldstein, and P. Corash, '23; and N. Porges, '24.

Applications for permanent student labor positions for the next college year should be made prior to April 16 on blanks which may be obtained from Mr. Watts' office.

MEMORIAL BUILDING NEARING COMPLETION

Interior Work is now Progressing Rapidly.

The Memorial Building is now about 70 per cent completed. The work at present is finishing off and paneling the walls and ceilings of the halls and committee rooms. The upper corridors have been completed, and the men are now working in the recreation room. This room is being furnished by the class of 1924. Other rooms which will be furnished at Commencement are the Memorial room in which will be placed the memorial tablet, the alumni room and the ladies room. Offices will not be furnished immediately. The non-athletic organizations are expected to furnish some of the rooms.

The management of the building is to be in charge of a committee of seven men, including two members of the faculty, three alumni and two students. President Butterfield as the head of the college, and Mr. Kenney as head of the college finances will represent the faculty. They will be ex-officio members. The committee is made up of the following men: Dr. Chamberlain, Prof. Rice, S. R. Parker '04, R. H. Jackson '08, E. J. Montague '15, N. W. Gillette '21 and H. S. Moseley '22.

The first affair of any note which will be held in the new building is the Sophomore-Senior Hop on June 14th.

BASEBALL PRACTICE

fine fielding ability will have greater chance to assert itself. Sargent, who played in the backfield on last fall's football team, is being tried at right field and is strengthening his chances for a permanent berth by getting in some lusty drives. He bats from the first base side and has an easy natural swing that should help him a lot in the next year or two. Coach Gore now has a trio of safe hitting lefthanders, and that is an asset to any team that is likely to be heard from. The bunting game is being developed and has already brought satisfactory results in the scrub games

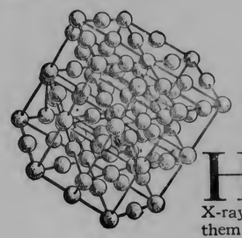

The first game of the season is with Stevens at Hoboken next week Wednesday. It is the first game of the New York trip and likewise the first game of the season. The choice of pitchers for the first game will lie between Weatherwax, Brunner, Brigham, and Haskins.

NEW COLLEGIAN BOARD

Myron G. Murray '22, of Haverhill, now fills the position of advertising manager. His activities cover varsity track, class track, class cross country, varsity cross country, class debating, Glee club, COLLEGIAN, and the Y. M. C. A. Cabinet. He is a member of the Lambda Chi Alpha fraternity.

Other elections were Luther B. Arrington '23 of Florence, Ass't Managing Editor, and Owen E. Folson '23, Circulation Editor.

Who Was Moseley?

HE was a young Oxford man, only twenty-seven when he was killed at Gallipoli. Up to his time, man had never seen the inside of an atom. He turned the X-rays on matter—not figuratively but literally—and made them disclose the skeleton of an atom just as certainly as a surgeon makes them reveal the positions of the bones of the body. Moseley proved that all atoms are built up of the same kind of matter. He saw, too, just why an atom of copper is different from an atom of gold.

Atoms are built up of electrons. Each atom consists of a nucleus, a kind of sun, with a certain number of electrons grouped about it, like planets. Moseley actually counted the number of electrons of all the metals from aluminum to gold.

When you discover what gold is made of or a new fact about electricity, you open up new possibilities for the use of gold or electricity. For that reason the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are as much concerned with the "how" of things—atoms and electrons, for instance—as they are with mere applications of the electric current.

Hence Moseley's work has been continued in the Research Laboratories, with the result that more has been learned about matter. How does water freeze? What is lead? Why are lead, iron, gold and tungsten malleable? Such questions can be answered more definitely now than ten years ago. And because they can be answered it is possible to make more rapid progress in illumination, in X-ray photography, in wireless telegraphy, and in electrical engineering as a whole.

There would have been no coal-tar industry without the vast amount of research conducted in organic chemistry, and no electro-chemical industry without such work as Sir Humphrey Davey's purely scientific study of an electric current's effect on caustic potash and caustic soda. Sooner or later research in pure science always enriches the world with discoveries that can be practically applied. For these reasons the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company devote so much time to the study of purely scientific problems.

ROISTER DOISTERS PRESENT EXCELLENT PROM SHOW

Prof. C. H. Patterson Offers Valuable Criticism.

As a fitting climax to Saturday's official events, the Junior Promites were pleasantly entertained by the Roister Doister's production of "School for Scandal" in Bowker Auditorium. The hall was well filled with the Prom guests, students, faculty and a goodly scattering of townspeople. Music was furnished, between the acts, by a Sophomore orchestra of five pieces.

The play itself, which is a well-known one, written by Richard B. Sheridan, gives an ample opportunity for action and for the expression of feeling, which was well made use of in this case. Each player seemed well adapted to his or her part, and all showed the results of the hard work that was necessary for such a production. Much credit is due Professor Rand for his services as coach. A representation of seven sophomores and three freshmen on the cast, with a marked showing of talent here augures well for the success of dramatics at M. A. C. in the near future.

The natural expression and ease displayed by Davidson and Bögholt made their work especially noticeable, while the Misses Bateman and Boles performed well in their roles.

An undertaking emphatically worth while, a performance as much above the average of amateur performances as to stand apart in our dramatic history, and an education to all who were so fortunate as to take part in it—or to see it, such was the presentation of "The School for Scandal" by the Roister Doisters on Saturday evening April 16, 1921. That it pleased everybody who saw it would be an overstatement; but it held their close attention until the end at 11-25, gave greater delight to many present and must have inspired in all those really interested in the cultural work of the college a new hopefulness. It cannot be expected to suppose that

BASEBALL TEAM OPENS SCHEDULE TODAY

Stevens, Brooklyn, Tech, and Williams Booked for This Week.

The Aggie baseball team has been showing up well in practice during the past week and should be in top-notch form to battle with Stevens to-day With a game at Brooklyn to-morrow and one with Williams Saturday the team will have a chance to get well on its feet in preparation for the coming season. The outlook is bright at Williamstown as Williams has been a consistant looser in every game. Stevens and Broklyn both have strong teams.

The probable line up will include Kroeck and Newell, battery; Marshman, 1st; Mosely, 2nd; Barrows, shortstop; Lent, 3d; and Sargent, Collins, and Ball in the out field. Coach Gore also has Gordon, Brigham; Harrington, Davis, Holly, Haskins, Brunner, Weatherwax and Anderson on the list from which to choose.

Captain Newell, Lent, Collins, Sargent and Ball are all hitting well so far. Because of illness, however, Lent will probably be unable to play. Harrington may fill his place. In several practice games the Varsity has proved its merit, each time showing its superiority in fielding and batting. With four left handed batters booked for the first team, the opposing twirler is sure to have his hands full.

Although the schedule is a hard one with Harvard, Tufts, Springfield, Boston University, and Bates are some of the strongest opponents, the team with a nucleus of Captain Newell, Collins, Lent, Brigham, Kroeck and Mosely can be counted on to come through in the true Aggie manner.

ASSISTANT MANAGERS OF VARSITY SPORTS CHOSEN

New System Inaugurated at the Last Assembly.

In accordance with the new system recently adopted by the undergraduate body concerning elections of Varsity managers, the assistant managers of the five major sports were elected at assembly last Wednesday afternoon.

John M. Whittier, '23, was elected assistant manager of football. Whittier is a graduate of Everett High School, and during his freshman year made the COLLEGIAN editorial staff. He was elected manager of the Sophomore hockey team last term, and is also a member of the Glee Club. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Francis E. Buckley '23, was elected assistant manager of the Varsity baseball nine. He is a graduate of the Natick High School and a member of the Soph-Senior Hop Committee. He is also a member of Kappa Sigma.

Ernest T. Putnam '23, of Greenfield

ADELPHIA CHOOSES EIGHT NEW MEMBERS

Seven Juniors and One Senior Make Society.

One senior and seven juniors, representative leaders in both athletics and non-athletics at M. A. C., were chosen at a meeting of Adelphia last Wednesday night as new members for the Senior honorary society.

Elton J. Mansell, Phi Sigma Kappa, was the senior chosen. A graduate of Arlington High School, he has upheld the hockey reputation of that place by both coaching and starring in Aggie hockey. "Sonny" was the big football find of the 1919 season, and has been a mainstay on the varsity for two seasons.

Clarence F. Clark, Q. T. V., hails from Sunderland, via Amherst High School. He is manager of varsity baseball, a member of the Senate, and has had a place on all the prominent dance committees. "Pinkie" has been president of 1922, and has a creditable record in class athletics.

Herbert L. Collins, of Arlington High School, Sigma Phi Epsilon, is one of our few three letter men, having gained the "M" in football, baseball, and hockey. He is captain of the 1921 1922 hockey team. "Hubba" is one of the athletic leaders of the college.

Carlyle H. Gowdy, Sigma Phi Epsilon, came here from Westfield. He has twice been elected captain of varsity basketball, is a member of the Senate, and was once president of 1922. "Hank" has the reputation of being one of the best guards in New England collegiate basketball.

Belding F. Jackson, of Belchertown High School, Alpha Gamma Rho, represents the chief undergraduate publications of M. A. C. "Bob" is editor of

JUNIOR PROM FESTIVITIES OCCUPY WEEK-END

Prom Guests Have Good Time in Spite of Unfavorable Weather.

Despite the changing weather conditions over the week-end, Junior Prom festivities concluded Sunday with those attending voting it the most successful Prom that has been held at M. A. C. in years.

The Prom dance Friday night was a complete success and ended at five o'clock Saturday morning, when a tired and happy group rode away in their cars leaving a very much appreciated orchestra who knew that once more Wittstein of New Haven had scored a a success. The cabaret Saturday afternoon was equally successful while the show in the evening and dinner parties Sunday completed the program.

The patrons and patronesses were President and Mrs. K. L. Butterfield, Professor and Mrs. W. L. Machmer, and Professor and Mrs. C. S. Hicks. The Prom committee were: Vinten, chairman, Clark, Moseley, A. W. Smith, Spring, Thompson and Waugh.

Miss Diether served the Prom Supper at Draper Hall. Those attending Prom were:

SOCIAL UNION CLOSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The Albert Sand Quintet concert on Sunday, April 17, concluded the fine series of entertainments held during this year by the Social Union. Beginning in the fall term with P. D. Rice, the reader, in "Great Expectations", followed in January by Pitt Parker, cartoonist, and B. F. Ford, electrical scientist; in February by John Kendrick Bangs, the Aggie Revue and the Suwanee River Quartet; in March by the Hawaiian Quartet and the Havens Trio, and ending with the concert of last Sunday, the whole group has been of unusual interest and high quality.

SOPHOMORE CLASS MEETING

The Sophomore class held its first meeting, since President Beal was elected, Thursday, April 14, in the Entomology Building. The first business brought up was the matter of electing a class baseball manager. Howard Baker of Marshfield was elected. It was the sentiment of the class that a song leader be elected without delay. Irving W. Slade of Chelsea was unanimously voted to fill the position. After a discussion of the 1923 Index and the approaching Banquet Scrap, the meeting was adjourned.

M. A. C. DELEGATES AT COLLEGE CONFERENCE

McCarthy, Mackintosh and Jackson Attend Affair at M. I. T.

M. A. C. was represented by McCarthy '21, Mackintosh '21, and Jackson '22, at the first Intercollegiate Conference at M. I. T. last Friday and Saturday. Over 125 delegates from all the chief institutions east of the Mississippi were present. Discussion groups and two general sessions were held. The Conference was divided into four sections: student government, publications, athletics, and dramatic and musical clubs. No attempt was made to arrive at very definite conclusions, but only to find out how problems were faced and solved at the different institutions represented.

M. I. T. proved a most hospitable host, quartering the men in the various fraternity houses, and entertaining them with a formal dance and banquet. The Conference was a big success, and sets a worthy precedent for similar events in the future.

"THE NEW LADY BANTOCK" AT COLLEGE HALL

Amherst People Members of Northampton Players.

The Northampton Amateur Players will present in College Hall, Amherst, Thursday, April 21, at 8-00 P. M., "The New Lady Bantock." This is a charming four-act comedy by Jerome K. Jerome, and has already been given twice so that an almost professional production is the result. It is the first occasion on which the "Players" have acted outside Northampton, and they have selected their most successful play to take to Amherst.

A number of M. A. C. people, among them Prof. and Mrs. Patterson, Prof. and Mrs. Prince, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Jones, and Miss Goessman, devotees of the drama, have become members.

A feature of the evening will be dancing for all between the acts and after the play till midnight. Tickets on sale at Millet's now.

PRE-SEASON TRACK MEET APRIL THIRTIETH

Two Teams from the Varsity Squad to Compete in Preparation for the First Meet.

In preparation for the track meet with Amherst on April 30, a meet in which all members of the squad will participate will be held next Saturday afternoon.

Two teams have been chosen, balanced as equally as possible, with George Slate and "Benny" Gray acting as captains of the respective teams. L. Woodworth and J. Sullivan will be on opposing teams and should both turn in some good times. Slate, Gray and MacCready look good in the middle distances. Irish '23 has been showing excellent form of late and is due to make some good performances in the coming meets. Tanner '23 appears as the best bet in the two-mile, with Lorling '24 offering strong competition. Woodworth and Hill in the hurdles, Acheson in the high jump and Alger in the pole vault look good as future point winners.

Too Hot?

A persistent bit of criticism has been repeating itself on the campus for the last few days. It makes itself heard in such expressions as, "Aw, it's too hot!", "What's the good of the thing?" "Why don't they do it in the fall and let it go at that?", and so on. It comes from the lips of a certain few in all the campus groups. It has to do with Spring Football practise.

Such criticism is both thoughtless and unfair. In the first place, Spring Football does not interfere with any varsity sport. Baseball and track are given unquestioned priority. Again, practically every other college that has any kind of an eleven, including most of those on Aggie's schedule, have Spring Football practise. Viewing the future in the most optimistic fashion, we can see only a very light team at M. A. C., in 1921. Much of the material is inexperienced. With only a few weeks to get going in the fall, what will the Varsity do when it meets a heavier, experienced team—unless we give it a little practise this spring?

The staff of instructors now on the campus is excellent. "Vic" Rice is the head coach. King, Mansell, and Poole, of 1921, have very generously offered their services free gratis. Under these men, green material will get a wealth of individual instruction.

So let's cut out the unfriendly, "too hot" attitude. Let's follow the example of those altruistic seniors. We'll all be out as soon as summer is over, hollering ourselves hoarse for the "best team ever." If such a team is to be a reality, now is the time to put our best foot forward.

An Impression.

One of the most lasting impressions which a delegate to the Inter-Collegiate Conference at M. I. T. last week bore away with him must have been that of the increasing spirit of cooperation and brotherhood among American colleges. The entire gathering was an inspiration, a means for gaining a new insight into the educational system of the United States. The hospitality of the hosts, and the general good-fellowship among the delegates gave proof of the building up of a new organization in this country: "The Cooperative Brotherhood of American Undergraduates".

COMMUNICATIONS

The Editor of the Collegian:

Inasmuch as the Commencement period is primarily a Senior and alumni affair, why wouldn't it be more opportune to stage a Senior-alumni baseball game rather than a Senior-faculty game?

Obviously the average alumnus knows more about alumni than he knows about who's who on the faculty. Each alumnus is to a certain degree acquainted with seven classes, so there would be hardly anybody who wouldn't have a personal interest in some particular player. Moreover, with all due respect to our esteemed and venerable faculty, there would be more "gyp" to an alumni-Senior game.

Donald H. Smith ex-'21,
Trinidad, Cuba.

To the Editor of the Collegian:

I have read with interest the communication from R. F. M. in the issue of March 16th. My work brings me in contact with many agricultural schools and colleges. We are facing the same problem as Massachusetts. A change is the only solution.

Our college must keep ahead of the vocational schools and vocational courses. The technical schools experience no difficulty in doing this. A trade school graduate does not attempt to assume the place of a technical graduate; he hasn't the stuff and knows it. Our four-year course must be of college grade in every sense. Massachusetts has done this to a greater extent than any other agricultural college, but it must continue to lead and to advance. The alumni, student body and faculty must get back of the plan to revise the standard of the four-year course still more year by year, until there is no question in anyone's mind as to what difference there is between the four-year and the two-year course. Entrance requirements should be brought up until they are as stiff or stiffer than any other college in the country. Courses should be weeded out and strengthened. Many so called four-year subjects belong in the two-year course. Only a real student who means business should be able to carry on the four-year work. Our graduates would then be known as Agricultural Experts, of a type unobtainable elsewhere. A plan such as outlined would cut the enrollment of the four-year course, but what of it? Far better to turn out a few highly trained men than great numbers of superficial, half-trained boys unable to do any independent thinking. As the reputation of the college increases, students will come from all over the country, as they have to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Keep the two year courses and the vocational work by all means; they suit a type of student who does not want the intensive training of the four-year courses. They suit the legislators who want us to train farm hands when we should turn out scientists and specialists for the greatest industry in the country. Where are our research men, our leaders and thinkers of the future to come from, if some college does not have the courage to raise its standards to something more than a vocational school? If this is done, the two year men won't depend on impressions to know what is in the four-year course. If they have the ambition and ability, they will try to meet the requirements; if they do not possess these qualities, they will realize that they do not belong, and that the grade of work being done is far beyond them. Don't be afraid of your reputation, four-year men. Let your ability and attainments speak for themselves.

W. T. M., Jr., '17.

Dear Editor:

Something is wrong at M. A. C.; the student body is restless and at the same time lacks the spirit and leadership that prevailed two years, and even one year ago. The communications of Doctor Torrey and several members of the student body all indicate that the thorn is being sought and that the wound will be healed as soon as practicable.

I am inclined to agree with R. E. T. in all that he writes concerning the new arrangement of courses, but that is altogether a different matter from the one that I shall discuss. R. E. T. has either failed to discern the real trouble at our institution, or has chosen to make a stand, only, for the actions of the administration. For one of these reasons he has neglected to set at rest the grievances of R. F. M. and others whose feelings have not been openly expressed.

A proper diagnosis and treatment of our trouble requires not only the deepest study into the ideals and customs of the college; but it required a vivid imagination to picture the final outcome, should we lose sight of the end they were intended to serve.

Mr. King seems to have made such a careful study and to have been so equipped with imagination and foresight, that he alone has been able to disclose the gall that pains us. Others may have reached the same conclusions, but they have lacked the necessary courage to express them. I have harbored the thoughts of Mr. King for many months. However, they did not take definite form until very recently.

Mr. King has stated that our campus affairs of a democratic nature were being rapidly discarded, to be replaced by exclusive occasions on Pleasant Street and elsewhere. All true, but why? Simply this: Men and women will have their good times at the place which, and in the manner that opportunity first provides. In the absence of a strong leader to direct them to the right place and to show them the most appropriate way to have their pleasure, they are liable to make grave mistakes of choice that are likely to bring injury upon themselves and those immediately about them. It is an injury of this sort that those who could afford good times in their own exclusive society have imposed upon their less fortunate mates. We are all cognizant of the fact that even fraterulty brothers have to use the back door while these affairs are in progress. When we take into consideration that the larger part of our student body must use the back doors, while the exclusive set are in the midst of merriment, can we fail to discern the injury that has caused our restlessness and commotion.

The remedy will be found, I believe; first, in a strong leadership that will strive for the re-establishment of our democratic traditions; second, a new growth of brotherhood spirit on the campus; and third, the completion of the Memorial Building in which these means may be effected.

CAMPUS NOTES

Dean Charles R. Brown of Yale University will be the speaker at Sunday Chapel April 24. This will be the last Sunday Chapel of the year.

The varsity met the faculty in baseball, Saturday, and knocked "Em" Grayson for an 8-0 score. "Hubbar" Collins, pitching for the varsity, was in good form, and did not have much trouble with his opponents.

The pond, which was recently drained out, offered rather an ungainly sight for I'rom week, reminding one of some out-of-place salt marsh. About the only things of value found were a crayfish and two frogs. Although a large keg came to light near the upper end of the pond, it was found that it did not even contain the "dregs".

Victor Rice, assistant professor of animal husbandry, has full charge of football practice this spring, and is being assisted by King, Poole, and Mansell, members of last year's eleven. Mr. Rice is a graduate of North Carolina State, and when in college he played quarterback, and captained the team one year. He played on the team which defeated the Navy. Mr. Rice has been here at M. A. C. for three years, and last fall was on the football coaching staff, having the backfield men under his instruction.

HIGH SCHOOL DAY PROGRAM COMPLETED

High School Day, expected to be bigger and better than ever before, comes Saturday, May 7. The program begins with registration at 9-00 A. M., and inspection of the college, then at 10-15 cavalry field day with competitive events by students. After dinner is an interscholastic track meet and stock judging contest for the guests, followed at 3-30 by a Varsity baseball game with Connecticut Aggie. A complimentary supper at Draper will be served at 6-00 P. M. In the evening President Butterfield will give an address of welcome, after which the musical clubs will give a concert. Fraternity receptions will end the day's events, beginning at 9-30. If bad weather interferes with the outdoor events, an interesting program will be substituted in-doors, with illustrated lectures and entertainments.

COMMITTEE FROM BOSTON VISITS M. A. C.

Nine members of the House Committee of the State Legislature paid a short visit to the campus on Friday in order to find out the needs of the college for a new Horticultural Manufacturies Laboratory. A bill for such a laboratory is now pending before the Legislatnre. The Committee also inspected the chemistry building and the farm buildings. Due to other duties, no senate members of the Legislature were able to be present.

M. A. C. AND SPRINGFIELD EACH WIN DEBATES

Harlan and Newton Lose, While Baker and Quint Win.

The first varsity debate of the year took place April 7, with Springfield, when the visitors' negative defeated the Aggie affirmative in the Bowker Auditorium, the home defenders being Haslam and Newton. At the same time, L. E. Baker '21 and I. G. Quint '21 upholding the negative at Springfield, defeated the affirmative of the Springfield team on their own grounds. The question was: Resolved, that waiving questions of constitutionality and transportation, the Federal Government should own and operate all the coal mines in the United States. Quint, for the negative, said that government ownership and operation was impracticable and undesirable at the present time. Baker proposed two alternate plans. First, a commission plan of close government supervision to safeguard the interests of the public. Second, a system of leasing the coal mines to private operatives, with provision to look after public interests, under government control.

INTERCLASS TENNIS

A few days will see the opening of the Second Annual Interclass Tennis Tournament. The college courts are being rapidly worked into shape for the coming season. Only the lack of regulation courts prevents M. A. C. from entering Intercollegiate tournaments. Prospects look good for the Junior team which did so well last year, however, 1921 and 1923 do not intend to remain in the van. The Freshmen with their untried material are as yet the "dark horses". Candidates are urged not to delay in reporting for practice. A schedule of matches will be available at a later date.

Albert W. Smith of Easthampton, a graduate of Williston, Alpha Sigma Phi, has participated in many class contests, and is a member of the Senate. "Al" also plays varsity basketball, and in spite of his great handicap in lack of weight, has put up a fine forward game.

C. Raymond Vinten, of Roxbury and the Boston English High School, Theta Chi, is a leader in music and dances on the campus, and has literary talents as well. "Vint" is on the Glee and Mandolin Clubs, is a member of the quartet, and managing editor of the Aggie Squib.

THE PROM SHOW

every Prom Show shall be worth while in literature and art as well as in mere power to amuse. The advance year by year however through "Officer 666," "Nothing but the Truth," "The Witching Hour" and "School for Scandal" seems to demonstrate that there is a place for what is really good and that our students can present it satisfactorily. May it not now be hoped that the Roister Doisters will devote one of their dates each year to the performance of a masterpiece.

The endless rehearsing and attention to the details necessary for all who take part in such a production is not appreciated by those who merely sit and look on. All the work was thoroughly done. The costumes deserve a special word. Somebody had brought knowledge and artistic sense to their selection and what Mr. Rand achieved as coach is worthy of very high praise indeed not merely because of the living literary understanding that shone forth throughout the beautiful performance but also because of his marked success in bringing every player into enjoyment of his role and to real individuality and success in it.

It is customary to praise everybody in such reports, but the praise in this case is notably just It is great praise indeed to suggest that a great part like that of Sir Peter Teazle, a part that has made the reputation of great actors, was remarkably well done by Donald Davidson '21. He was no weak old man in dotage, though as delightfully irascible as Sheridan makes him. It must be confessed that it is no easy matter to make these somewhat artificial type characters seem flesh and blood. Sir Peter was real. And so was Charles Surface. Carl Bogholt '21 steered the difficult course that keeps one a gentleman in spite of his faults. All of Sheridan's really good people have ugly exteriors and nearly all his delightful, exteriors have delightful interiors and the peculiarities add to the difficulty of presentation. Joseph Surface was most consistently and smoothly portrayed by Robert Martin '23. There was unity in his performance. Miss Frances Martin was a very attractive and vivacious Lady Teazle. The change in character seemed sincere. George Edman '21 must have done wonders as a manager. As much as I would like to present a rose to each member of the cast, perhaps it is best to stop here with the principals and send a whole bouquet to the rest; but certainly the co-eds justified their admission to the ranks of the Roister Doisters. C. H. PATTERSON.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. CABARET AND CONCERT WELL RECEIVED

Prom Events Attract Others Than Prom Guests.

Old Drill Hall, thoroughly disguised with elaborate decorations in maroon and white was the scene of a very successful Prom Cabaret, on Saturday, from 3-00 to 6-00 P. M. The program started off with a selection by the Mandolin club. Dancing was then in order until the intermission, when refreshments of salad, ice cream and cake were served to the guests at little tables, arranged about the sides of the room. Another selection was then given by the Mandolin club, followed by dancing. During the dancing two selections were given by the Glee clubs.

The Prom ended with a concert in Bowker Auditorium under the direction of Social Union, on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Albert Sand Quintet from the Boston Symphony Orchestra gave a very delightful program, which was received appreciatively by a large audience.

The Secret of Making Your Dairy Pay

Help Your Cows Increase Your Profits

EVERY dairyman knows he can't make a profit on milk unless he feeds for it.

And unless he weighs his feed and weighs the milk from each cow he can't know the profit he makes.

Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed will greatly increase your milk yield.

Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed contains concentrated corn protein in a highly digestible form. It is used by successful dairymen all over the country.

Get a supply of Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed. Mix three parts of Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed with one part of wheat bran, or one part of ground oats and one part beet pulp.

You can mix a whole ton in a half hour—the most profitable half hour you ever spent.

Feed this mixture one pound to every three and one-half pounds of milk and see how your milk yield will jump.

After a month's trial of Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed you'll never again go back to the old methods of feeding.

FREE—Write for full information giving the correct mixture for feeding Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed. If your dealer cannot supply you with Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed, tell us who and where he is. Write today to Corn Products Refining Company, Feed Department, 17 Battery Place, New York.

PROM INFORMAL IS A GREAT SUCCESS

Revival of College Informals Appeals to Student Body.

The Prom Informal which was held last Saturday in the Drill Hall was one of the largest and best informals ever held at Aggie. It was so successful that the Informal Committee is planning to hold another informal within a few weeks. Starr King, in commenting on the rapidity with which the tickets were sold, said, "Once it was started, it didn't need to be pushed, it slid." One hundred and twenty-three couples enjoyed dancing to Davenport's six-piece orchestra in the afternoon and evening, and the best supper ever served at an informal. There were men here from Harvard and Dartmouth, the latter of whom remarked that, "That supper was better than the dinner served at our Prom."

One of the largest number of Mt. Holyoke girls ever over the mountain for an Aggie dance was present. There was an equal number of Smith girls, while girls from the nearby towns completed the feminine aggregation. The chaperons from Mt. Holyoke were Mrs. Bordeaux, Mrs. Skinner, and Mrs. Guppy. The chaperons from Smith were Miss Chase and Miss Williams.

DR. BROWN OF YALE UNIVERSITY AT M. A. C.

Dean Charles R. Brown Emphasizes Industrial Life.

Dean Charles R. Brown of Yale University spoke at Sunday chapel, April 24. He is considered to be one of the foremost authorities on theological subjects. Taking the chaos and ruin in Judea after the invasion by Nebuchadnezzar as the condition of the world to-day, he applied Nehemiah's efficient leadership in reconstructing Judea to the present need of world society.

Dean Brown emphasized the fact that labor and capital have diverted from their ordinary channels because of the war, and that the whole world is torn to pieces morally. Nehemiah had no money, but he made his workers feel it splendid to rebuild their walls. Workmen to-day are losing this sense of pride and joy in work. Organization simular to that of Nehemiah is another essential in the present crisis.

"There must be a better quality of industrial life," said Dean Brown in part, "It can be brought about by a more democratic spirit, a more equitable distribution of the good things of life, and a steady exaltation of human values. There must also be a maintenance of the higher and finer qualities of the national soul that God will approve. What better thing can we do than turn to God for guidance?"

TEN INNING GAME GOES TO M. A. C.

Gordon Secures Winning Run in Pitchers' Battle.

The second game, in Brooklyn with Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, was close and hard fought throughout with Kroeck having the edge in a pitchers battle with Ratner. Brigham replaced Kroeck in the ninth and struck out six men.

Brooklyn scored in the first inning when Kargrow walked and so scored on Ratner's hit and an error. Aggie came back quickly and tied the score in the third on a base on balls to Capt. Newell and a two-base hit by Davis. From then on Aggie had several chances to score and had two men thrown out at the plate but it was not until the tenth inning that the tie was finally broken. Collins opened the tenth with a base on balls and stole second went to third on an infield out but was thrown out at the plate on an attempted squeeze play. With two out Gordon singled. He advanced as Kroeck was safe when a poor throw pulled the first baseman's foot off the bag and scored the winning tally on a wild throw by the pitcher on Newell's grounder. In Brooklyn's half Brigham struck out three men.

'18.—C. F. Goodwin, who has for three years been an instructor in agriculture in Haverhill, has given up his work to take charge of the landscape work in connection with the Pilgrim celebration at Plymouth. His place will be taken in the Haverhill high school by Ernest A. Howard who was a winter course student in the season of 1919-1920.

COMMENCEMENT SPIRIT IN ASSEMBLY

Dr. Lindsey, Mr. Crawford, and Mr. King Speak for Their Alma Mater.

Last Wednesday assembly was the second of the series of assemblies to be devoted to a review of college history and plans for the semi-centennial celebration. Dr. Lindsey '83 was the first speaker. He contrasted the campus of his college days with the one of today, and he spoke of beloved members of the early faculty whose work has made the college what it is today. He mentioned President Clark, President Stockbridge, Professor Goessmann, President Goodell, and Professor Mills as being worthy of lasting remembrance by the students.

He mentioned some achievements of the college in its pioneer days, and particularly mentioned the work of some of the faculty on beet sugar, sorghum syrup, the famous experiment with the lifting power of a growing squash, and the work which led to Massachusetts passing the first fertilizer law in the United States, and the second feed law of this country. We have abundant reason to celebrate the 50th year of our history, and we need the co-operation of everyone connected with the college.

Jack Crawford '20 spoke next on the attitude of the public and Beacon Hill toward this institution. He said that there was a widespread belief in the state that M. A. C. is strictly a farmers' college. The alumni attitude is also interesting. The younger alumni are critical, and the older alumni curious as to the present development of their Alma Mater. The coming celebration will determine for them whether the Memorial Building is worth what it cost. We have no precedent for an anniversary celebration, and we must bend every effort to make this one as good as possible.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM

Following are several additions and changes which may be made in the Semi-Centennial Commencement Program published in last week's COLLEGIAN. General headquarters on the campus throughout the five days will be in the new Memorial Building. At 3:00 P. M. Friday, other speakers will include Governor Cox, and Commissioner of Agriculture Gilbert. The Alumni meeting, scheduled for 9:30 A. M on Saturday is to be held at Memorial Hall instead of at Stockbridge Hall. A novel feature of Monday's program will be an "M" man breakfast, at 8:30 A. M., and simultaneously a breakfast for past leaders in non-athletics. The annual Freshman-Sophomore numeral baseball game will be played on Monday afternoon. E. E. Tompson, secretary of the class of '71 will be a speaker at the commencement exercises on Tuesday.

M. A. C. 9 STEVENS INSTITUTE 1

Lent, Kroeck, and Newell Hit Hard in Opening Baseball Game.

The M. A. C. baseball team opened the 1921 season auspiciously by taking both games of the New York trip last week. On Wednesday afternoon the strong Stevens Institute nine trailed the Maroon and White by a 9 to 1 score. On Thursday Brooklyn Polytechnic institute succumbed 2 to 1 after a ten inning battle. Both games were marked by consistent hitting on the part of the Aggie team and also by a stronger fielding ability than has been shown by any M. A. C. nine for several years. The pitching department also showed up well for Stevens was able to collect only three hits off Brigham on Wednesday and Brooklyn only secured the same number on Thursday from Kroeck and Brigham.

In the Stevens game the home team took the lead in the second on a hit by Hurst, a sacrifice and an infield out. This proved to be her only run however, while hard hitting and costly errors enabled Aggie to put nine runs across the plate. Kroeck and Lent led in the

FIRST TRACK MEET WITH AMHERST

Dash Men and Middle Distances Promise Scores.

Little was accomplished in the practice meet held by the track team last Saturday afternoon. Because of the strong wind, heavy rain, and soaked condition of the field, only a few events were even attempted.

In the coming meet with Amherst, the hammer throw and two-mile race will be omitted. Both teams are well balanced, Amherst being especially strong in the field events, and M. A. C. strong in the sprints and distance runs.

Sullivan and W. H. Towne are expected to do well in the 100-yard, and in the 220, while Sullivan, L. W. Woodworth and Gray should turn in some good times. Acheson and Woodworth, who ran a dead heat in the quarter-mile on Saturday, promise to give a good appearance against Amherst. In the half-mile, Irish, MacCready, and Slate will be ready for the gun, and West, Loring, Tanner, and Slate will be on the mark for the mile. Alger, Murray, and Paddock will be in the pole vault, and Woodworth, Gray, and Hill in the hurdles. Acheson, Woodworth, and MacCready will enter the broad jump, and Sullivan and Acheson show promise of clearing the bar at a good height in the high jump. In the weight events, Kroeck, West, Acheson, and Sullivan will compete.

SPRING FOOTBALL

Ass't Coach Interviewed by COLLEGIAN Editor.

The fourth week of spring football is well on its way and all of the men are rapidly acquiring the fundamentals necessary for the fall work. There has been a large attendance at all the practices and the fine spirit of the men is especially commendable. Any crabbing about the hard, hot spring practice does not come from the football men, but from a few of the "lounge lizzards" whose chief ambition is to go out for no activities, but to belittle the results accomplished by the hard workers.

Spring practice is taken up for several reasons: It helps the inexperienced men get their sea-legs and then, by having scrimage, gives them an idea of what football really is. It also aids some of the former high school "stars" to forget any bad practices they may have acquired in high school. Above all, spring training introduces the new men to the Aggie system of training, and since it gives the men food for thought during the summer, less time need be taken from the fall studies.

Football is the most complicated of sports, its success depending on the matching of wit and brain power as well as speed, strength, and the ability to stand hard knocks. M. A. C. is in the van with some of the big universities in giving a course in football technique and strategy. Two things are essential for the team's success; the fundamentals, which consist in handling the ball, tackling, blocking, etc., and secondly, team play. The fall is not long enough in which to perfect both, so the spring practice is necessary.

"Sunny" Mansell has found some good material among the candidates for ends, and Staebner, Wirth, Porges, Folsom, Dowden, and Clark '23 are showing up well. Under the direction of Starr King, the line men Mudgett, Salmon, Myrick, Clark, Abele, Conant, and Bowers are coming along in good shape. Cotton and Mohor, veteran men, are working hard with the tackles and guards respectively, and Freeman is coaching Mudgett, Hardy, and Wilhelm as understudies for the pivot position. Coach Rice and Poole have charge of the backfield men. Field, Lyons, Beals, Alger, Tewhill, and Hairston are carrying the ball well, and will show much improvement by the start of fall practice.

CAVALRY EXHIBITION ON HIGH SCHOOL DAY

High School Day will start Saturday morning with a Jim Connor, which in army language means a program of mounted sports. The Jim Connor originated in India, when the British and Indian mounted troops competed for honors in field day events there. The custom has spread from there to the various army posts throughout this country.

Army prize ribbons will be given to the winners of each event. The co-eds as well as the members of the R.O.T.C. are to take part in this Jim Connor. A large number of eight page programs are being printed and will be distributed among the High School students. The full list of the events will be published in next week's COLLEGIAN.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION
Every M. A. C. Man Back—
June 10-14, 1921.

K. W. MOODY, BROOKLINE IS Y. M. C. A. PRESIDENT

Cook and Tucker also Elected as "Y" Officers.

Y. M. C. A. elections for the coming year were made by popular vote of the student body at Friday morning Chapel, April 22, and resulted in the election of Kenneth W. Moody '22, president; Fred G. Cook '22, vice-president; and Francis Tucker '22, secretary-treasurer.

All men have been active in Y. M. C. A. work during their college career. Moody has sung with the Glee Club for two years, has served as vice-president of his class, on the Sophomore-Senior Hop Committee, the Informal Committee, and has been active in interclass tennis. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha.

Cook has been very active in local church affairs, and is a Commons Club man.

Tucker was recently elected hockey manager, and has represented his class in tennis and hockey. He is a member of Alpha Sigma Phi.

At a meeting of the cabinet under the new officers, several matters were considered. It was proposed to get out the Freshman handbooks for next year as soon as possible. The Silver Bay conference was discussed, and delegates will be appointed later. It is planned to get an active campaign under way for a new general secretary for the college for the future.

Several delegates are to be sent to a conference of men of N. E. Colleges to be held at Brown University this Saturday, April 30, to discuss preparations for next year's work on a general scale.

The Advisory Council and Cabinet of the Y. M. C. A. is laying plans for raising a budget which will permit the services of a general secretary next year. It is estimated that $4500 will be required, of which one-half is to be raised by the college. It is expected that $750 will be contributed by students, an equal amount by alumni and faculty, the same amount by friends of the college.

slugging the former getting a double and a triple and the latter a triple. The first M. A. C. run came in the third on hits by Brigham and Davis, a base on balls to Collins and Moseley's single. Another score came in the fifth inning after two were out when Lent tripled and Collins singled. The six inning proved to be a big one for Aggie when four hits, a base on balls, a hit batsman and an error accounted for five more runs. In the eighth Brigham reached first on an error but was forced at second by Davis who scored on an error and a sacrifice hit. The last run came in the ninth on hits by Ball, Marshman and Captain Newell.

Lent contributed the fielding features of the game.

DELTA PHI GAMMA HAS HOLIDAY ON MT. TOBY

Delta Phi Gamma gave a very successful bacon bat on Tuesday, April 19. Some 20 couples started off to Mt. Toby early in the afternoon, and prepared a camp-fire near one of the sugar camps part way up the mountain. A general good time followed, and one of the features was a baseball game in which the girls played the boys. Later on the customary "eats" were toasted in the flames, and a sing was held about the fire. Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Worthley accompanied the party.

HOLYOKE HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATS TWO-YEAR

Chevalier and Young Feature in a Listless Game.

The Two-year baseball team was defeated, last Wednesday afternoon, on the old varsity field, in the first game of its season, by Holyoke High School. The score was 13-7. The excellent pitching of Shea for Holyoke kept the Two-year men scoreless until the seventh inning. Then the tide changed, and in the eighth and ninth innings, with Girard pitching, the Two-year team threatened to come across with a victory. Chevalier played a good game for the high school at shortstop. Young, of the Two-year team was the most consistent hitter of the game and got away with four hits out of five times at bat. Young scored one run made two put-outs, and no errors. The score:

E. L. KING '16 TALKS TO BASEBALL MEN

Edward L. King of Boston, formerly with the Braves, the Athletics, captain of the Aggie team in '16, and a varsity player four years here, gave the M. A. C. team some snappy and interesting dope talks April 18 and 19. He came up here Monday afternoon, and Monday night he gave both the varsity and Freshmen teams a talk on defensive baseball from eight to eleven. Tuesday morning he gave another talk on offensive playing. In the afternoon he gave the varsity infield some drilling, played on the alumni team and gave different men individual points and valuable suggestions. His talks were instructive and mingled with personal anecdotes from his own experience with the big leagues.

A Step Forward.

For several years, there has been maintained here an inadequate system, or in fact almost no system at all, for rehearsals and practises of student activities. Through this condition, schedule congestions have become so numerous that a man taking part in several activities has found it impossible to attend rehearsals or meetings of one without slighting those of another. There is a classic example here of one man who was scheduled for five meetings at one time.

It has become a fact, lamentable or otherwise, that an "activity" man at M. A. C. cannot confine his attention to only one branch. He naturally expands to several. These conflicts resulting from his varied activities were crippling activites and causing friction between clubs, publications, athletics, etc., on the campus.

The plan which the President has approved for trial probably has its defects, which can only be discovered by actual use. But it defines, classifies, and places the meetings of the activities within certain time limits. Even more changes are now being considered which will greatly facilitate the working of this plan.

The work of the committee on Studeut life deserves praise and the co-operation of all activities. It is a decided move for the better, a real step forward.

Boots and Saddles!

The fact that the Military Department plans a rather elaborate drill and mounted events for High School Day is worthy of at least passing comment. Although less than two terms old, the Cavalry here has made a rapid advance toward an outfit of which Aggie may well be proud. The instructors are expert, and the students seem to be taking more than the traditional interest, due perhaps to the novelty of the thing.

In addition to thegeneral picturesqueness of mounted drill, cavalry is, of course, an important part of the army, and men trained in it, may at times find their experience valuable. The Military department at M. A. C. has determined to prove that it is no joke. It is making a very good start.

LETTER FROM STEVENS

A boost for Aggie playing and sportsmanship is seen from the following extract which is from a letter lately received by Curry Hicks from John A. Davis, Dept. of Physical Education, Steven's Institute:

"I certainly want to congratulate you upon the mauner in which you handed our baseball team a trimming and further compliment you upon the splendid sportmanship and gentlemanly conduct of your players. They are certainly a fine group of men and brought forth much favorable comment from the spectators who saw the game. It is a real pleasure to have you folks here and I hope that we will be able to continue athletic relationships in the various sports in the future."

IMPORTANT

Animal Husbandry Club Note.

On this Wednesday evening, April 27, the Animal Husbandry Club will present at Stockbridge Hall the microscopic biological film entitled "How Life Begins." This is a story, in four parts, of how new plants and animals come into existence. The film does more than present scientific facts; it shows their relation to human life, and gives the observer a lasting impression.

This picture is the first ever to be rented by a campus club. The nominal charge of 25 cents is made to cover the expense of rental, in the hope that the various organizations on the campus will co-operate with the Animal Husbandry Club to make the affair a success.

STUDENT LIFE COMMITTEE PLANS

The Committee on Student Life has devised a schedule for student activities, designed to prevent confliction in meetings. During the past it has been a common predicament for some students to be expected in four or five places at the same time in a single evening. The Committee on Student Life has given considerable study to the matter and has received the approbation of leaders of student organizations in formulating their plans. The plan is not final, but simply an attempt to improve the situation with the hope that defects as they appear can be remedied.

The President desires that, from this date, various organizations mentioned be governed by the following schedule:

1. In order to reduce the demands on individual students and to avoid conflicting dates, it is desired that the student activities be grouped for schedule purposes as follows:

C. A. C. and Rhode Island State Also Slated for Games.

Three good games are on the program for the out-of-town contests planned for this week. Today the varsity will meet the W. P. I. nine at Worcester. The Worceeter team has played two games so far this season, wluning from the Connecticut Aggies on April 16 by a score of 4-3, and losing to Springfield, April 19, 0-12. The Worcester team has a fine array of pitchers this year and will show a lot of fight. On Friday the team will meet the Connecticut Aggies at Storrs. The Connecticut team has played four games so far, losing to Brown 2-3, to W. P. I. 3-4, to Wesleyan 2-11 and to Springfield 3-10. The prospects for a win are good. On Saturday we play R. I. State at Kingston. This team lost to Brown on April 16, 7-9. A good game is expected there as an exceptionally good line-up is promised.

Starr King '21 next spoke. He said that our 1921 watchword "Altogether" should be particularly applicable as Commencement draws near. We should have a well-planned junior frolic this year, and in every other contribution of the students to the celebration we must have the best obtainable. Co-operation is the one most vital factor in making Commencement this year bigger and more successful than ever before.

SEMI-ALUMNI TEAM DEFEATS VARSITY 3-2

Holiday Game Proves to be Close and Interesting.

April 19 was celebrated on the campus by an unofficial baseball game between the Alumni and the Varsity. It was played for practice for the varsity, in preparation for their first game, and turned out to be an interesting contest. The score was close until the eighth luning, when the Varsity allowed their opponents to score twice, and thereby lost the game, 3-2. The lineup: Alumni—Batchelder '19, 1st; Maginnis '18, 2d; King '16, s.s.; Young, 2 yr., 3d; Stockbridge, special, r.f.; Tirrell '19, c.f.; Glavin '19, l.f.; Merwin 2 yr., c.; Grayson '17, p. Varsity—Marshman, 1st; Mosely, 2d; Lent, s.s.; Davis, 3d; Sargent, r.f; Ball, l.f.; Gordon, c.f.; Newell, c.; Haskins, Collins, p.

This game showed that the Varsity were in good working form, as they were brought up against stiff opposition. King was captain of the 1916 team, and since then has played with the Braves and Athletics. The Alumni were also represented by several "M" men, and three 2 yr. men to complete the lineup.

SQUIB

The Agricultural Number of the Squib which appeared recently will soon be followed by the Fashion Number which is now at press. In the College Girls' Number which will follow, a section will be devoted to the co-eds. The Dramatic number, which will be the big, last number of the year, will appear shortly before Commencement.

MEMORIAL BUILDING UNMASKS

The past week has made it especially noticable that the Memorial Hall is fast nearing completion. As one observant student remarked, "They have done more this last week than all winter", and he was right, at least from the standpoint of external appearances. The staging came down, the broad concrete steps were laid, the surface of the masonry underwent a final scrubbing, and the debris was largely cleared away. The real beauty of the structure is now in evidence and there can be no question but that Commencement will see the first memorial building of its kind completed and ready for occupation.

Four students from the one-year course in social service at Simmons College are spending this term at Aggie under Professor Phelan's guidance, in study on rural sociology and economics. They are preparing for country leadership of the Red Cross. They are Ann P. Bibber, Auburn, Me., Alice McFarland, Watertown, Mass., Mary A. Grant, Beverly, Mass., and Mary E. Mott, Portland, Me.

On June 1, 2 and 3 a championship series will be played off between the winners of the two divisions. The official announcer decrees that all games are to be called at 6-30 P. M. sharp. The schedule as at present made out is as follows:

CAMPUS NOTES

The game with Williams which was scheduled for last Saturday was postponed on account of rain, and in all probability will not be played.

The Y. M. C. A. discussion group met last Wednesday evening in French Hall to hear Rev. Brayton C. Case speak on "Agriculture in Burmah." Mr. Case, recently returned from the station in Burmah, is spending part of his furlow at M. A. C. in taking up advanced studies in agriculture.

Tryouts for the Burnham Declamation were held last night at 7-00 o'clock in Stockbridge Hall under the direction of Prof. Prince. Eleven men, consisting of five Sophomores and six Freshmen, have signified their intentions of entering the contest. Of this number eight will be singled out for the final competition which will take place some evening about May 1.

Henry Wendler, an unclassified student who has been majoring in Agricultural Education, is spending the spring term as an apprentice teacher at the West Roxbury high school in Boston. He will act as the assistant of Thomas P. Dooley '13, who is at the head of the department of agriculture in that school. He receives five units of credit for his apprenticeship, and besides is taking a course under the supervision of Mr. Dooley.

The Senior class met for a supper last Wednesday evening at Draper Hall. Davenport's Orchestra furnished music while supper was being served. The evening's program began with a report from each member of the Commencement Committee on what he had done and what sub-committees under him had done. All difficulties concerning class affairs were brought up and settled. Miss Dorothy Howes gave an interesting talk on Insurance, suggesting and explaining an endowment fund for the class.

A CAMPUS STUDY IN MEDIEVAL HISTORY

All Departments Have Had a Try at Using the Present Chem. Lab.

The building now used as a chemical laboratory is the oldest structure on the campus, and was built in 1867 at a cost of $10,300. In 1869 it was enlarged at an additional cost of $20,000, and was used for a four-fold purpose. On the first floor, where at present the chemists of '22 are struggling for life in the vortex and whirlpool of organic chemistry, was situated the assembly and chapel room of the college. On the second floor, where Doc Peters now reigns with a calm and serene content, there existed the departments of those brain-racking sciences known as physics and mathematics. Then again, the entire top floor was used as a drill hall, and according to the "oldest Inhabitant" wobbled with such fiendish glee that the profs themselves trembled for their lives. Then last, but not least, the edifice was used as a chemical laboratory in the hind parts of the first floor, where at present there exists the odiferous sulphurated domain of Prof. Serex, known as the Sophomore laboratory. The lecture room was used chiefly by the chemistry department, while the chemistry division of the experiment station began its career in the room now used for storing solutions. In 1880, the station was transferred to its present domicile. After the present stone library was erected, in 1885, the assembly room was immediately seized by the chemistry department, and after some extensive alterations was converted into a chemical workshop, while the undergraduate body received its weekly instruction in morals in the room on the second floor of the library, where now at almost any time of the day may be seen a group of Sophomores working industriously and laboriously on Aggie economics.

In 1882, after it was pathetically obvious that the building must needs crumble and fall down because of the incessant "tramp, tramp, tramp" of the cadets on the top floor, the building was condemned for military purposes, and the "department of war" was transferred to the present home of hops, informals, and basketball games. Then the top floor was converted into a storage house for all departments. About 1888, the aforesaid nerve-racking departments of mathematics and physics were driven out to seek the sunnier climes. From time to time, incendiary fires have occurred, but the old laboratory with an almost superhuman effort, has desisted these dangerous attacks, so that it now stands vitally as whole as it was when erected.

Plans for a new laboratory were drawn up as early as 1912. Various sites have been tentatively suggested from time to time. In 1915 preliminary plans were drawn up for a building to to be erected on the triangular piece of land directly to the north of the Waugh house. In 1919 a site was chosen directly to the west of the Infirmary, but plans were never drawn to fit the location. The site which is now definitely selected, should the Legislature appropriate enough money for a laboratory, is on the land between the Chemical Experiment Station and Draper Hall. A number of plans have been prepared to suit the location, but these have dwindled down to two. The building will have a ground area of 176 by 60 with two wings 50 by 50 to the rear. One plan includes a basement with two stories, the lecture room being in the basement and having a seating capacity of 150 students. No provisions have been made for the Experiment Station in this plan. Pres. Butterfield's petition for a laboratory to cost $900,000 has been modified by the Governor, so that in the latter's recommendation budget to the Legislature, the appropriation is only $200,000. This budget is in the hands of Ways and Means Committee, which must approve of it before it can be finally voted upon by the State Legislature.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. YALE THE IDEAL HOST

Plans Elaborate Welcome For All Visiting Teams.

In the hope that students of all other colleges will be inspired to call Yale the "next best college in America," the students of the university are putting into practice a plan which involves unusual efforts to entertain visitors to New Haven in general and members of visiting athletic teams in particular. There is no indication, however, that the adoption of this policy will make it easier for the baseball nines or football elevens of other colleges to defeat Yale.

This is the slogan adopted by the Yale student council and athletic officials, and they are trying to make graduates of every other college in America say it. They are going to extend their efforts toward its adoption by trying to treat as pleasantly as possible all visiting delegations from other colleges and preparatory schools which come here in the future, and they have appointed an informal committee in the person of prominent undergraduates to assist visiting collegians here to enjoy themselves, while the Yale nine and other athletic teams are tearing themselves apart in an effort to defeat the visiting athletic teams.

Yale alumni and undergraduate teams are extremely proud of the fact that they have able to appeal to Harvard in such a way that it invites Yale for its Commencement baseball game and headliner football match, to Princeton for its similar selected dates, to Cornell for the invitation to row and play baseball at the annual Cornell Spring Alumni Day, to Dartmouth for an opportunity to play hockey against the Hanover college at its Winter Sport Carnival, and to Brown and Pennsylvania for dates of honor on the athletic schedules of these institutions. It has occurred to the Yale officials, however, that more strenuous efforts might be made to add to the enjoyment of the stay here of visiting teams and undergraduate delegations, and the plan is now being worked out. The Yale Daily News said editorially in speaking of the matter that 60 athletic teams would visit Yale this spring and that every one may possibly be made to speak of Yale as "The next best college in America."—Boston Transcript.

The Secret of Making Your Dairy Pay

Help Your Cows Increase Your Profits

EVERY dairyman knows he can't make a profit on milk unless he feeds for it.

And unless he weighs his feed and weighs the milk from each cow he can't know the profit he makes.

Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed will greatly increase your milk yield.

Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed contains concentrated corn protein in a highly digestible form. It is used by successful dairymen all over the country.

Get a supply of Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed. Mix three parts of Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed with one part of wheat bran, or one part of ground oats and one part beet pulp.

You can mix a whole ton in a half hour—the most profitable half hour you ever spent.

Feed this mixture one pound to every three and one-half pounds of milk and see how your milk yield will jump.

After a month's trial of Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed you'll never again go back to the old methods of feeding.

FREE—Write for full information giving the correct mixture for feeding Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed. If your dealer cannot supply you with Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed, tell us who and where he is. Write today to Corn Products Refining Company, Feed Department, 17 Battery Place, New York.

FRESHMEN WIN BANQUET SCRAP

Successful Contest Followed by an Equally Successful Banquet in Springfield.

Outnumbered two to one, but fighting hard to the finish, the class of 1923 was overcome by the Frosh in the annual Banquet Scrap, held last Friday night and Saturday morning. A heavy downpour, lasting the whole night frustrated the carefully laid plans of the Sophomores and dampened the spirits of the hiding Freshmen.

Promptly at 10-30 the entire Freshman class crowded through the doors of Grinnell Arena and hastened to their pre-arranged fortifications. Because of the new ruling that Sophomores could have no scouts out, it was nearly dawn before the position of the Freshmen was definitely ascertained. Upon learning their where-abouts the Sophs leaped up and hastened toward the expected battle ground. Passing the "Abbey" on the march, the class stopped a few minutes for refreshments which the loyal Sophomore co-eds had prepared for their strong-armed class mates. They were greeted by two streams of water from the third floor, directed by the Freshmen girls, but little damage was done, as the rain had already accomplished its purpose. Suffice it to say that the Freshman girls were on a par with their male classmates and made short work of defeating the Sophomore girls at the "Abbey".

Refreshed by hot coffee, and fresh sandwiches, the Sophomores advanced toward the College orchard. The two classes met just as dawn was breaking, and a short, sharp, conflict ensued. Numbers were the deciding factor, and after a half hour of struggle, 1924 gained the upper hand. Two loads of Sophomores were all the Freshmen cared to handle so the rest were escorted to the Drill Hall on foot with a Freshman guard on each side. Ranged around the steam pipes, the upper classmen were detained until ten o'clock, at which time the Senate declared the scrap officially closed, and awarded the decision to the Freshmen.

During the Banquet Season the Freshmen officers remained hidden in the corners of the Power Plant and Poultry buildings. Alfred Staebner of Willimantic, Conn., was re-elected president: Russel Noyes of Newtonville, vice-president; Charles Tewhill of Florence, secretary; James L. Williams of Sunderland, treasurer; Edward A. Kane of Westfield, sargent-at-arms; Sterling Myrick of Longmeadow, class captain; Wallace F. Pratt of Rockland, historian, and William W. Wood of Barre Plains, chairman of the banquet committee.

W. P. I. DEFEATED 8-4 BY MAROON AND WHITE

M. A. C. Team Bats Hard in Last Half and Wins Handily.

The Maroon and White baseball team annexed its third straight victory of the season at the expense of Worcester Polytechnic Institute at Worcester Wednesday afternoon. The Aggies continued the hard hitting and clean fielding tactics which marked their two previous games and as a result were on the long end of an 8 to 4 score.

Coach Gore's charges collected eleven hits, three of them for extra bases, while John Brigham, on the mound for Aggie, held Worcester safe at all times. The home team did not score until the seventh inning, when Aggie held a 7 to 0 lead.

The game promised to be close for four innings, but in the fifth M. A. C. took the lead, and continued slugging put her well out in front at the finish. Eight of the nine men hit the ball safely and six different men entered the scoring column, which goes to show the all around hitting ability of the team.

COL. REEVES OF NEW YORK ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

Interesting Classification of our Associates Given to Students.

Col. Ira Reeves of New York City delivered an interesting address to the students at last Wednesday's assembly. In the course of his remarks, he stated that whatever success a man achieves in this world depends upon the opinion other men hold of him. Our relations with other people are of fundamental importance. Human engineering, or the classification of one's associates is gaining increasing attention and practical value. Colonel Reeves classified all men into the following types:

Firstly, the man who has some knowledge and thinks he has more than he has. This man really has little opportunity for success, although he may, for a while, fool himself and others.

Secondly, the man who knows but little, and realized it, but yet poses as a know-all. He has little hope for success.

Thirdly, the man who knows a great deal but who does not know he knows it. This man lacks agressiveness and self-confidence.

Fourthly, the man who knows a great deal, and who knowns that he knows it. He has thd best chance for success. His chance does not lie in egotism but in straight self-analysis.

Fifthly, the man who lacks knowledge and the opportunity to acquire it. This man is deficient in self-confidence and has practically no chance of ever becoming successful.

BASEBALL NINE SWAMPS R. I. STATE

Ball, Davis, and Lent Lead Batfest at Kingston.

Though playing in the rain, on a muddy field, and without the services of three of her regulars, the M. A. C. varsity nine continued her winning stride and trampled rough shod over Rhode Island State College at Kingston, Saturday afternoon.

Brigham pitched his third victory of the season and held the opposing batters to four scattered hits. Aggie, on the other hand, hit the ball hard and secured ten more safe bingles than Rhode Island. She also fielded well, and considering the condition of the field her one error shows a remarkable performance.

"Doc" Gordon covered right field in place of "Huck" Sargent who broke his leg in practice Thursday; while Harrington and Marshman filled in the right side of the infield in the absence

The Junior Class held a meeting last Wednesday after assembly in Flint Laboratory, President Gowdy presiding. The first business was the election of a Junior Frolic Committee to see to the formation of an unusually attractive frolic because of the Semi-Centennial Celebration. The committee is composed of A. W. Smith, F. V. Waugh, C. R. Vinten, G. H. Thompson, Jr., and J. N. Lewandowski. M. G. Murray was elected class song manager to arrange for the class sing at commencement time. C. R. Vinten is song leader. A Junior Tree Planting Committee was elected. It is to be composed of F. V. Waugh, H. F. Law, H. S. Mosely and G. H. Thompson, Jr. The Junior Tree Planting will be held in a short time, and owing to present-day circumstances, it was voted by the class to be a dry planting. Three men who are studying landscape architecture were put on this committee to choose a favorable site for the planting, possibly near the new Memorial Building. A committee was elected to take charge of inscribing class numerals in a campus walk. This committee is composed of R. M. Acheson, F. E. Hooper, and P. M. Reed. P. S. Tucker of Arlington was elected class tennis manager. After the meeting the nominating committee met and nominated twelve men to come before the class for Senate elections. Six of these men will come before the student boby today, three of whom are to be elected. Vinten and Tucker were chosen to come up for election to the Honor Council.

ALUMNI BANQUETS ARE HELD IN FOUR CITIES

Washington, Cleveland, New York, and Providence Clubs Hold Gatherings.

At several big alumni banquets recently held in various large cities throughout the country plans for commencement have been presented and discussed. Every step is being taken to secure active support from every alumnus and to see that "Every alumnus is back for 1921."

Saturday night, the 23rd of April, 45 alumni and their wives gathered at a dinner in Washington, D. C. H. D. Clay '14 was toastmaster, and V. Del'. Callanan '19 presented the latest news from campus.

Wednesday, the 20th, was the date at which 15 members of the Cleveland Ohio Club banqueted. A. D. Taylor '05 presided and Prof. F. A. Waugh represented Aggie.

Last Saturday night 45 members of the New York City Club held a banquet at the Transportation Club Room in the Hotel Biltmore. Dr. John A. Cutler '82 was toastmaster. S. R. Parker '04, honorary secretary of the association, was present.

The Providence Alumni Club had dinner at "King's Forge" in Providence last Friday evening. Willis S. Fisher '08 was toastmaster, and George Campbell '20 was there to give the latest developments from Amherst. Fifteen members and two prospective Freshmen attended.

The Boston Alumni Club are soon to have another smoker under the direction of L. W. Ross '17, secretary of the Greater Boston Club of alumni. About a month ago they had a most successful smoker at which 100 members were present.

1920 COMMITTEE MEETS

Plans for the first reunion of '20 men were discussed at a meeting held Monday night on the Campus. Mrs. Campion's home and French Hall will be headquarters during Commencement. On Sunday, after the dedication, the class will hold a picnic somewhere nearby in place of the usual banquet. The committee is composed of: Robert S. Horne of Derry Village, N. H.; William F. Robertson of Framingham, George M. Campbell of Baltimore, Md.; and James C. Maples of Port Chester, N. Y.

C. Raymond Vinten of Boston was recenly elected to served on the Honor Council. He is a member of the Glee club, Mandolin club, Squib board, Adelphia and was chairman of the Junior Prom committee.

C. M. Boardman '20, was recently on campus. He is located with the William H. Moon Co., Morrisville, Pa.

FRESHMAN BANQUET

omores at the Drill Hall at 10-00 A. M. last Saturday, the Freshman class proceeded with its officers to Springfield to enjoy its successful banquet. In the afternoon, most of the class celebrated by crowding the theaters of the city. At 8-30, the Freshmen met at the Hotel Kimball, where eating, dancing, singing, and speechmaking made their evening thoroughly enjoyable. Professor and Mrs. W. L. Machmer were the guests of the occasion. Elliot G. Goldsmith of Brookline was the toastmaster.

Alfred Staebner of Willimantic, Conn., President of the class, described a bird's eye view of the scrap, as seen from his perch on the Power Plant chimney. Charles Tewhill remarked upon the sucesses of the class of 1924 in interclass athletics.

Professor Machmer addressed the class on the subject of "Trade-marks". He impressed the class with the desireability of establishing a reputation while here at College so that when they leave, they will reflect honor upon Aggie.

J. Lowell Williams told of his many futile attempts to sleep while his roommate, Charles Tewhill, was snoring at the other end of the boiler, during the night preceeding: Sterling Myrick, of Longmeadow, class captain, congratulated the class on its support and cooperation in Friday night's frolic. Marion Slack described the enthusiasm displayed by the Freshman girls in punishing the Sophomore girls and then in sprinkling the Sophomore men as they waited outside of the "Abbey" expecting food from their classmates. W. W. Wood welcomed the co-eds to the banquet, and hoped that the class was establishing a precedent in having them present.

Music by the Saxonbuds orchestra interspersed the speeches with dancing and songs. Members of the orchestra, were: Williard C. Frost, Robert H. Woodworth, L. Francis Kennedy, Kenneth Loring, and C. G. Bowes.

The Banquet Committee, was: W. W. Wood, of Barre Plains, chairman; A. Corwin Garretson, of Bound Brook, N. J.; Theodore M. Chase of Milton; Robert M. Darling of Cambridge, and Clifford L. Belden of Bradstreet.

of Mosely and Kroeck. Mosely will be out for a couple of weeks with a sprained ankle sustained in practice. Kroeck was absent as a representative of Aggie in the weight events at the track meet in Amherst. Harrington did some excellent work in his first appearance on the varsity. He secured one hit, scored a run and made three assists and two putouts without an error.

Rhode Island was the first to score, her only run comlug in the last half of the second inning. Lucey walked after one was out, advanced when Coleman's grounder was fielded to third to retire Johnson, and had previously got on on an error, who scored on McKee's hit. Aggie immediately tied the count when Harrington drew a base on balls, and scored on hits by Davis and Ball. The game remained close until the seventh but then developed luto an Aggie runaway with her opponents completely outclassed. Brigham and Marshman opened the lnnlug with a hit and after Harrington filed out four more hits and an error produced five runs. In the next lnnlng Connolly replaced Edwards ln the box but he yleided two runs in each of the remaining lnnings.

JUNE 10-14 ARE TO BE BIG DAYS FOR M. A. C.

More Commencement Plans are Brought to Light.

Commencement plans are maturing splendidly, and the many committees are doing systematic work to insure the complete success of every hour of the commencement season.

The music committee, of which Dr. Chamberlain is chairman, has nearly completed its plans. Several orchestras and bands are to co-operate in providing music. The Sophomore orchestra. Dunbar's orchestra, a new girls' orchestra, and the student band are to take a large part in many of the festivities. It was decided to use student talent so far as possible, because of the nature of the celebration, and to make it truly a "family gathering". The lawn fête on Saturday at 7 P. M. will probably require an out-of-town band.

A Frolic is being carefully worked out by a committee of five, including Vinten Waugh and Al. Smith.

Probably a large tent will be put up between Drill Hall and South College for the larger meetings, at which Bowker auditorium would be overcrowded. An out-door dinner is to be given the alumni on Saturday, June 11.

Y. W. C. A.

Another step toward furthering the women's position at M. A. C. will be taken shortly when the young women students of the college complete their preparations toward the establishment of a Y. W. C. A. at Aggie. The girls are already actively interested and will be fully organized in a short time.

James C. Maples '20 was in Amherst for a short stay during the first of the week. He is located in New York City with the Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Bob Holmes '20 recently bought a second hand Essex from Myrt Evans '19.

Aggie started the scoring in her half of the fifth. Ball hit and stole second, Davis walked and also stole. Both men scored on an infield out and a sacrifice fly to centerfield by Lent. Another run came in the sixth on an error, and infield ont and Mosely's hit. The seventh was a big luning for Aggie, when four men crossed the plate on four consecutive hits, including the two-baggers by Brigham and Lent, an infield out and a sacrifice fly. The last run came in the ninth on a hit by Sargent and an error by the Worcester first baseman.

Worcester's first runs were tallied in the seventh on two hits an error and a sacrifice fly. A rally in the last half of the ninth gave the home team two more counters, but they still fell four short of Aggie's total.

L. S. WOODWORTH '23 IS ELECTED TO HONOR COUNCIL

The men elected by the Sophomore class at its meeting on Wednesday last, to be balloted on by the class for election to the Senate on May 4, are as follows:

Trescott T. Abele, of Quincy.
James A. Beal, of Abington.
Roger B Friend, of Dorchester.
Owen E. Folsom, of Roslindale.
Norman D. Hilyard, of Detroit, Mich.
Wilbur H. Marshman, of Springfield.
Richmond H. Sargent of Buxton, Me.
Leverett S. Woodworth, of Newton.

Woodworth was also elected as a Sophomore member of the Honor Council. While in college he has kept up a high standard in his studies, and has shown himself to be a keen worker for class and college, being most prominent in cross country and track work.

Leon Whitney and George Danforth '16 have started a fruit growing Supply business at 65 Barclay street, New York.

HIGH SCHOOL DAY TO FEATURE WEEKEND

Draper Hall will be a Busy Place Morning, Noon and Night.

High School Day plans are well matured and give promise of a most successful entertainment of a large number of high school boys and girls. Among the newest plans is the choosing of two men from each fraternity to act as guides to the guests from 8-00 until 12-00. The men will wear "M" armbands and will meet the trains and cars, attend to registration of the visitors and conduct visitors over the campus.

Nearly 150 men are expected to take part in the track meet, with a proportionately large number in the stock judging contest. Supper at Draper Hall will be served in three sittings, the first for regular diners, with the east wing for the women students and the high school girl guests. The other two sittings will be for the boy guests, and at these it is planned to have at each table one man from Adelpha, the Senate, or the officers of the four classes to entertain and answer questions to the Sub-freshmen.

TENNIS

Last Wednesday afternoon a meeting of all those interested in tennis was held in Stockbridge Hall. It is hoped that, with the courts in shape, an interesting series of class matches may be held. The interest in tennis is increasing each year, so that within a year or so M. A. C. should again be represented in inter-collegiate tennis ranks.

F. S. Tucker is Junior tennis manager and C. A. Towne is the Sophomore manager.

The following men attended the meeting: C. M. Bogholt '21, H. J. Sampson '21, K. W. Moody '22, K. C. Randall '22, A. W. Smith '22, F. S. Tucker '22, B. F. Jackson '22, H. Baker, '23 R. F. R. Martin '23, C. A. Towne '23 and C. W. Steele '24.

MEMORIAL BUILDING

A glimpse inside of the Memorial Building is well worth the while nowadays, for things have taken definite form, and each day shows a distinct improvement. Much of the woodwork is finished, especially in the main hall upstairs, and also the ceiling and archway there. Most of the plastering is completed in the office rooms and the stairway railings have been put in place. The windows are practically all put in, and are taking on a finished appearance.

Not only inside, but outside, too, shows rapid improvement. The cement work of the broad stairs and the foundations are being given a granite finish, which adds much to the good effect. Monday morning the ground in front of the building was plowed, so that by Commencement a plot of fresh grass will do its bit toward making the Memorial Building the most beautiful building on the campus.

Freshmen?

As Spring approaches and white flannels become the popular apparel for assemblies, we are reminded that the season for interclass tennis is upon us. Several matches have already been delayed because the courts need rolling and fixing up in general.

It has always been a time-honored tradition at Aggie that the Freshman class do all work connected in any way with athletics, and the yearlings should bear in mind the fact that the upkeep of the tennis courts, as well as the care of the baseball diamond rests with them.

Deadlocked.

The military department is finding it very difficult to induce members of the present sophomore class to elect military drill for their remaining two years at college. Very few, if any sophomores or freshmen consider going to the cavalry camp at Fort Ethan Allen. This is a serious situation if M. A. C. is to retain its cavalry unit, for the U. S. Government has no intentions of maintaining an expensive institution when it fails to arouse the maximum interest. To do so would be a useless expenditure of money, as the purpose of the R. O. T. C. is to train men for service as reserve officers. The novel attractiveness of cavalry drill cannot fail to excite some interest in spite of all underlying dislikes. Just what are these underlying dislikes?

In the first place, the students' report each term has printed in a conspicuous place "Rank on a Scale of 100." As a matter of fact, drill was based on the scale of 80. The professor of Military Science and Tactics was right when he declared that by drilling only a few hours a week, the student cannot attain 100% excellence, as compared with the soldier who drills from morning to night. Nevertheless, a different basis is obviously demanded in such a case, a basis in keeping with college regulations.

All subjects are offered at M. A. C. with the understanding that there shall be 10% cuts allowed from classes, as a result of arbitrary decision on the part of college officials. The student, when entering the military course, finds himself debarred from this priviledge. It is to be understood that a military organization must be more strict, yet the students' point of view is not altered by this fact.

The hours a student is required to drill without credit gives rise to another grievance. Instead of earning one credit for two hours' work, the equivalent of a two hour laboratory, he must drill four hours. Such seeming infractions of college rules are resented by the student. The military department, not being able to obtain a ready response from the freshman and sophomore classes resorted to other means of enlistment. Letters praising the R. O. T. C. and its purpose were sent around to the homes of the students with the idea that the parents would bring pressure to bear on the students forcing their enlistments. This may be strategy, but from the viewpoint of the student, who likes to feel himself capable of working out his own problems, it is irritating, and treats his reasoning power as a negligible quantity.

Another questionable point in the military system lies in the contract which the student is forced to sign before being admitted to the courses. It is understood the contract reads that he is obliged to take all military courses offered in his two remaining years of college with no option as to dropping them. However, the head of the department can remove the student at his pleasure. One might ask:—"Why cannot the contract work both ways?"

On the other hand it must be kept in mind that the military department is under the control of the Federal Government thorough its representative, and has full powers to make and enforce its own rules. This fundamental principle has a great deal to do with the present situation. The military department is really not a department at all, it is a separate institution. If the student feels wronged in any way, he has no higher authority to go to, the word of the departmental head is final. Until the military department is run in full harmony with prevalent college customs there is bound to be a discordant effect among the students, and underlying dislikes will continue.

Seniors Satisfied.

The aesthetic beauty of the campus was greatly enhanced about a week ago when the channel at the upper end of the pond was cleaned out and strengthened. This has done away with the bad appearance which the pond presented to the visitor upon entering the campus, and the Grounds Department should be commended for its aid in the matter.

After the moving picture, "How Life Begins," held by the Animal Husbandry Club Wednesday night, April 27, a business meeting was held at which the officers for the coming year were elected. S. L. Freeman '22 was elected president; K. A. Barnard '22, vice-president; R. W. Blakely '22, secretary; and R. E. Field '22, treasurer. About 150 people attended, and it is planned to have other meeting of a like nature next year.

BATES COLLEGE VS. M. A. C. TOMORROW

Team from Lewiston, Me., Promises an Interesting Game.

There are two good baseball games in store this week in the game with Bates on Thursday here at Amherst, and the one with Connecticut Agricultural College on High School Day, Saturday, May 7, Bates has played four games this season winning two and losing two. On April 16, they won from the semi-professional "Pilgrims" at Lewiston 8-2. On April 9th, they were defeated by Harvard at Cambridge 2-6. On April 19th they defeated Bowdoin 4-2. Last Saturday they lost to the University of Maine at Lewiston 10-7. They have a good team. They were the State champions last year, and are a strong aggregation, this year.

Some good hitters are in the line-up; they made fourteen hits off Maine Saturday in spite of losing the game. As this is the first time we have played Bates in several years, the outcome should be interesting. It is probable that Brigham will pitch for Aggie.

A good game is expected with Connecticut A. C. on the Alumni Field High School Day. Their team is a stronger aggregation than last year, and the game will probably be a tight one. Alexander and Johnson are pitching and both are top-notchers. C. A. C. played several good games this year, losing to Brown 3-2 in a 12 inning game. Kroeck or Collins will pitch for M. A. C.

AMHERST TRACK MEN OVERWHELM M. A. C.

Loss of Sullivan Severely Affects Aggie Team.

In the dual track meet held with Amherst last Saturday at Pratt Field the Aggie team was defeated by a score of 93-15. M. A. C. was without the services of Sullivan, who is is the star dash man. He pulled a tendon in his leg last week and was unable to enter any event. Armstrong the best hurdler, was on the sick list with three dislocated vertebrae of the neck.

Capt. Slate and West won first and second places respectively in the mile. Slate also won second place in the 880 yard dash, followed by Friend who took third place. Third place in both the shot put and the discuss was captured by Kroeck, and MacCready took third position in the broad jump.

INTERFRATENITY BASEBALL

Q. T. V. Looses Close Game to Phig Sigma Kappa. Two Tie Games

Interfraternity baseball began last week with two games Wednesday, April 28. The games were played in the evening until darkness forced them to halt. Phi Sigma Kappa took a close game from the Q. T. V. nine with a score of 2 to 1. The Phi Sig's started off with a bang in the first inning making their two runs. Tuney pitched for the "Cutes" holding his opponents to their two runs in the first inning while Allen hurled the pill for the Phi Sig's and administered ten strike-outs. The same evening, Alpha Gamma Rho and Kappa Gamma Phi played a close game, finishing with a score of 5-5. Poole of Alpha Gamma Rho was replaced by Root in the second inning who kept the opponents down to a score of five. In the last inning, the pitcher for Kappa Gamma Phi began to weaken and their opponents make four runs resulting in an even score.

On Monday, May 1st, Lambda Chi Alpha played Theta Chi, in a well-fought game, with a final score of 2-2. Holley pitched for Lambda Chi while Noyes and Weatherwax pitched for Theta Chi. A feature of the game was three long hits by Moody of Lambda Chi.

STORY OF FORMER M. A. C. PRESIDENT

Dr. Butterfield Tells of President Clark's Difficulties and Mastery.

President Butterfield, speaking in Monday morning Chapel on May 2, gave an interesting story of President Clark, the third president of this institution. A graduate of Amherst College, he was a pioneer and a leader of men. He carried out the plans of President French, and chose President Stockbridge, then an uneducated farmer, and other teachers to help in his work here. Clark Hall commerates him for his scientific work which was mainly in the line of Botany.

It was largely through President Clark's influence that the college lege was established at Amherst, instead of at Northampton, or Springfield, or Lexington. Each town had hopes of gaining it. During his office here, there was serious talk of the abandonment of the college by the state, and also of combining it with some other institution, as Amherst, or Harvard. For the first thirty years of the college, the average annual appropriation was only thirteen thousand dollars, but President Clark guided our Alma Mater over these hard times and kept the college intact.

POMOLOGY DEPARTMENT

The Pomology Department has lately been doing some experimental spraying, the outcome of which is watched with interest by other departments. The work was carried out on nine blocks of trees, and among the commercial products tested were liquid lime-sulphur, dry lime-sulphur, lime-sulphur paste, which the makers believe will supplant the liquid product, Sulco V. B., and Sander's Dust. The result of this experiment cannot be determined until later.

Last Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, Mr. Lal '22 of India spoke to an interested gathering, in French Hall, on the subject: "India, from the Standpoint of Missionary Service."

Richmond (Huck) Sargent, first string right fielder of the varsity nine will be out of the game for some time as a result of an injury which he received during practice last Thursday afternoon. Huck was sliding for the plate, but caught his spike, and two of the bones in the lower part of his leg were broken, from the shock. Sargent played ball last year on the Freshman nine, and had played every varsity game so far this year. He is fast on the bases and has been one of the most consistent batters on the team.

HISTORY OF M. A. C. DRAMATIC SOCIETY

Commencement Show Cast Chosen.

The Roister Doisters are observing their 10th anniversary this year. That the Roister Doisters hold a prominent position among campus activities is an established fact, and that it is a popular activity is evidenced by the large number of men who try out for every performance. There is no activity more self-supporting and the best part of it is that is accomplishing a worthy object in the meantime, namely by maintaining a high standard with creditable success.

Dramatics at M. A. C. as represented at the college date back to January, 1910, when a small group of students met in the old chapel to organize a dramatic club. Previous to this time, dramatic productions had been class affairs. During the following spring, a constitution was drawn up, and the club given the name of the Massachusetts Agricultural College Dramatic society. No action concerning the production of a play was taken until the opening of the next college year, when it was decided to present a three act farcial comedy, "Private Secretary." Three performances of this play were given in Amherst, Montague and Ware. In 1912, there were eight performances given of the play entitled "What Happened to Jones." During 1914, two shows were given "The Comedy of Errors" and "Mr. Kelley of Kallamazoo." "His Husband's Wife" and an original musical comedy "Pluto's Daughter" were presented in 1915. The music for the latter was written by S. M. Massie '15, F. A. Anderson '16, and H. Smith '15. In 1916 the season started with a reorganization of the society under the non-athletics board. That year, two plays were given, "Under Cover" and "A Full House." These were the most successful until after the war.

The society was re established in 1918-19 and put itself on a firm basis by presenting "Are You a Mason?" and "Officer 666." Last year the plays were "Nothing but the Truth" and "The Witching Hour." This year "The School for Scandal" has already been staged with great success, and "John Epps" by Mr. Raud will be presented at Commencement.

The two outstanding figures of the society in the past have been George Zabriskie 2d, '13, one of the original founders, and James T. Nicholson '16, who made the musical comedy such a success.

"John Epps" will be presented at two performances, probably June 10 and 13. It is a historical comedy, taking M. A. C. for its subject. The cast.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers.

Order now for Spring planting. If we've no dealer near you, write for the agency.

HAY is a safe crop. Really fly grown, handled, stored. Always marketable. Or, feed it. Sod also enriches soil for next crop. A reasonable application of E. Frank Coe's Special Top Dressing should nearly double yield. Mention your soils and write for valuable book "The Neglected Hay Crop." Free, with our fertilizer suggestions.

WILBRAHAM ACADEMY LOSES TO TWO YEAR

Trafton, Girard and Grauman Feature.

The Two-Year baseball team defeated the Wilbraham Academy nineat Wilbraham Monday afternoon with ascore of 8-5. The game was well played throughout. Girard deserves much credit for the ability he displayed to pitch himself out of tight places. In the first inning, the sensational throw of Grauman from deep right field to the home plate, nailing a runner, attracted much attention. The consistent slugging by Trafton helped the Two-Year team materially. T. Farnsworth, pitched well for the Academy team, striking out 11 men in the course of the game. "Shorty" Ward, from Springfield, umpired.

"TOO MUCH JOHNSON"

One of the features of the Two-Year Commencement exercises will be the production, on Saturday evening, June 4, of the play "Too Much Johnson" by William Gillette. This play was written a number of years ago and enjoyed successful runs at some of the leading theaters of the country. It is a comedy in three acts with plenty of action and not a dull moment in it. Work on the production is already well under way. The Senior Two-Year class promises that it will be a first class entertainment.

Y. M. C. A.

At the mid-week world fellowship meeting of the "Y" a talk will be given by Sam Hocking, the State Y. M. C. A. secretary. The meeting is on Thursday evening at 7 o'clock in French Hall, Room C. All are welcome.

A deputation consisting of the Sophomore quartet, accompanied by Richard Wendell '23, and Harry Erysian '22, gave an entertainment to the people at West Farms, a small town near Northampton on Friday evening, April 29. The entertainment was enjoyed by all present.

YEARLINGS SCORE AT WILL AGAINST HOPKINS

Kane, Brunner and Nicoll Lead In Attack. Play Monson on Saturday.

The Freshman baseball team is rapidly coming into shape. During the last week it has played several practice games with the varsity and two-year outfits, holding the latter to a tie score in a five-inning battle. Last Thursday the first year men defeated Hopkins Academy, leaving the Hadley boys in the dust at the end of a 25-0 score, Brunner, who will be the yearlings big man on the mound this season, got away in this game with a home-run hit into the rifle pit. Edward A. Kane of Westfield caught well for the Freshmen and turned in several fine hits. Capt. Nicoll, an ex-Thayer Academy player, played a fine fielding game and showed exceptional speed on the bases. Bartlett took Barrows place at short, as the latter has a bad leg which kept him on the bench.

The season for the Freshmen opens Saturday, when the squad goes to Monson to play the Academy. Monson Academy defeated the Freshmen in basketball last winter, and it will be with pleasure that men who were on the basketball squad will again journey to Monson, this time hoping to gain the victory.

What Makes the Firefly Glow?

YOU can hold a firefly in your hand; you can boil water with an electric lamp. Nature long ago evolved the "cold light." The firefly, according to Ives and Coblentz, radiates ninety-six percent light and only four percent heat. Man's best lamp radiates more than ninety percent heat.

An English physicist once said that if we knew the firefly's secret, a boy turning a crank could light up a whole street. Great as is the advance in lighting that has been made through research within the last twenty years, man wastes far too much energy in obtaining light.

This problem of the "cold light" cannot be solved merely by trying to improve existing power-generating machinery and existing lamps. We should still be burning candles if chemists and physicists had confined their researches to the improvement of materials and methods for making candles.

For these reasons, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are not limited in the scope of their investigations. Research consists in framing questions of the right kind and in finding the answers, no matter where they may lead.

What makes the firefly glow? How does a firefly's light differ in color from that of an electric arc, and why? The answers to such questions may or may not be of practical value, but of this we may be sure—it is by dovetailing the results of "theoretical" investigations along many widely separated lines that we arrive at most of our modern "practical" discoveries.

What will be the light of the future? Will it be like that of the firefly or like that of the dial on a luminous watch? Will it be produced in a lamp at present undreamed of, or will it come from something resembling our present incandescent lamp? The answers to these questions will depend much more upon the results of research in pure science than upon strictly commercial research.

Not only did it surpass former years in the number of attendance, but in the whole program and spirit of the day it was far superior. The exact registration number was drawn from 123 town and city high schools of the state.

Credit for the way in which this large number of visitors was well attended to and given a busy and enjoyable day is due George Campbell, of the Alumni Office, who had general direction of the occasion, and to the student committee headed by Gillette, '21. Other members of this committee were: Douglass, '21, in charge of accommodations for the visitors; Vinten, '22, dining hall and entertainment; Folsom, '23, guides and registration; and Steele, '24, who had charge of the track meet.

One of the innovations of the day was the way in which the crowd of visitors was handled at the Dining Hall. They were divided into four groups, and these were served successively in the Cafeteria. The ease with which Miss Diether took care of the large number makes it probable that this same plan will be used for the commencement visitors in

M. A. C. SOPHOMORES WIN FROM ALBAMA TECH

F. Earle Williams is High Man in First Intercollegiate Pistol Match.

The first of the pistol matches held by the R. O. T. C. members of the Sophomore class under the direction of the Military Department resulted in a 1710-1693 win for Aggie over the Sophomore pistol team representing Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Two ranges, with slow fire at 25 yards and rapid fire at 15 yards resulted in some very good scores by the home team.

On Friday the Pistol team will shoot a triangular meet to be held with Norwich and Harvard universities. Five men will make the team and will be chosen from those men who shot in the meet against Alabama. Three distances will be used in this triangular meet; 15 and 25 yards slow fire and 15 yards rapid fire.

Following are the men who shot against Alabama: F. E. Williams 193, Grayson 189, Hollis 187, Beal 175, McCready 175, M. W. Alger 173, Bartlett 163, Roberts 157, Paddock 151, Hardy 147. Total 1710.

A rifle match will be held on Saturday, May 14, between a rifle team composed of Freshmen and the Andover Academy rifle team. The match will be held indoors and all firing will be from the prone position.

NINTH INNING PUNCH DEFEATS BATES 5-4

Nicoll and Harrington Manufacture Last Run. C. A. C. is Aggie's Sixth Victim in 5-0 Game.

The M. A. C. baseball nine played its first home game in a cold drizzling rain last Thursday afternoon and by timely hitting in the final inning took a hard fought game from Bates College by a 5 to 4 score. The wet ball and slippery field caused erratic fielding on the part of both teams but the close score kept the interest at a high pitch throughout.

Brigham, Aggie's star pitcher started the game but received a split hand in the seventh when he knocked down Wiggins hard hit ball. Collins finished out the game and held Bates safe.

Aggie secured an early lead in the second inning. "Phil" Newell walked, went to second on Gordon's sacrifice and scored on Kroeck's double. "Bill" scored a minute later on a wild throw over third. Bates counted once in the third on a hit, a base on balls and an error, and then tied the score in the fourth on another error, a stolen base and a single by Jordan. The inning ended when the latter was thrown out at the plate on an attempted squeeze play.

The home team took the lead again in the fifth. Hits by "Buck" Davis and "Don" Lent and a pass to Ball filled the bases and "Hubba" Collins two-base smash brought in two runs. Newell made the third out by the strikeout route.

Bates also scored in her half of the fifth when Cogan singled, Finnegan sacrificed and the former tallied on Wiggins sacrifice fly. The score was again knotted in the seventh when Bates scored her last run. Cogan singled and Finnegan also hit safely, the former going to third. Wiggin then lined the ball at Brigham who knocked

ROISTER DOISTERS

The Roister Doisters have departed from their usual custom of electing new officers immediately following the Junior Prom Show. The present officers will hold their positions until Commencement. At this time a manager and assistant manager will be chosen on the basis of merit, ability and amount of work. Sophomore candidates for this position are R. B. Friend, E. R. Lindskog, and B. Ganzue.

The Freshmen competitors are E. S. Carpenter, A. L. Dresser, and A. S. Leland. The assistant manager will automatically become manager during his Senior year.

Rehearsals for the Commencement show are being held Monday, Wednesday, and Friday in Clark Hall at 8-00 P. M. it down and deflected it to Lent who threw out the runner, Cogan scoring meanwhile. Collins went into the box at this point and Langley was an easy out.

There was nothing doing in the eighth or in the Bates half of the ninth but in her half Aggie opened up the fireworks and put the game away. "Art" Nicoll, the Freshman player who took Collins place in centerfield was the first man up and after taking two strikes, drove out a pretty double to right. Harrington then produced the winning punch. His clean single put Nicoll across with the needed run.

The Aggie Varsity nine played true to form Saturday afternoon and contributed one of the main features of High School Day by administering a 5 to 0 dose of whitewash to Connecticutt Aggie. It was the sixth straight victory for the Maroon and White.

"Hubba" Collins started his first game of the season and let his opponents down with only one hit. Connecticut never got a man beyond second base and the one hit which prevented a no-hit no-run game was a single by Gordon with two down in the fifth inning. Alexander also pitched well and held the Aggie sluggers to six hits. Wild throws by Gordon and Brow helped in producing three M. A. C. runs.

Aggie's first run came in the second frame. With one out Ball beat out on an infield hit. "Red" took second on a passed ball and tallied on "Don" Lent's double. A brace of runs came in the third after two were out "Red" Ball hit to Gordon and went to second on the latter's wild heave over first. Lent was passed and Collins' double scored "Red" and "Don". Newell's double counted another run but "Phil" was thrown out at the plate when he attempted to score on Gordon's single. The fifth run came in the fifth session as a result of Lent's infield single, his steal of second and a wild throw by Brow on Collins' grounder.

Connecticut threatened twice but both times Collins pulled himself out of the hole. In the fourth Emigh was hit by a pitched ball and Alexander was safe on an error but Minnace, Lord and Brundage flied out in succession. In the eighth Collins passed the first two men but Metelli was caught off first on a throw from Newell, Emigh struck out, and Alexander hit to Lent. After two were out in the ninth Haskins went in and pitched to the last batter.

Aside from Collins pitching the playing of Lent and Kroeck featured for M. A. C. "Don" secured two hits, one of them a double and also did some fine fielding. "Bill" turned in some classy work around the first sack. The visitors showed up strong in the outfield, Lord, Emigh, and Brundage cutting off several hits by running catches.

The third annual interscholastic track meet at M. A. C. was won by the Suffield Academy of Connecticut with 47 points. Worcester Commerce was second with 25 points, while Worcester North High School came third with 19½. Brattleboro's two entries gained 19 points for their school, placing them fourth. The other schools in order were: Williston, 5½; Clinton High School, 5; Pace Institute, 3; Hardwick High School, 3; Brookline High School, 2; Holyoke High School, 1; Dover High School, 1.

Tryon of Suffield was the high individual scorer, being placed first in the board jump, pole vault, discus and shot put. Landis, of Worcester Commerce, easily won the 100-yard and 220-yard, making the first in a time of 10 1-5 with a clearance of two yards, and the second with a clearance of six yards. Moran, one of Brattleboro's entries, gained first place in the 120-yard hurdles and second in the pole vault and broad jumps.

ketball. For pastime he wields the drumsticks in the band and the mandolin club. He is on the interfraternity conference and served on the Junior Prom committee. He is a member of the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity.

Vinten's activities have been confined chiefly to non-athletics. He is a standby in the Glee and Mandolin clubs and the quartet. For the last two years he has been managing editor of the Squib, and this year served very capably as chairman of the Junior Prom committee. He is a member of the Theta Chi fraternity.

Beal is now president of his class and has also been class treasurer and vice-president. Besides serving on the interclass athletic board, he has played football and basketball with the Varsity this year, and last year, on the Freshman teams. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Friend has been on the Honor Council for one year, and was recently elected editor-in-chief of the 1923 Index. He served as class president during the spring term of his Freshman year. His other activities include the Roister Doisters, and varsity and interclass track and cross country. Much credit is due him for the successful writing and management of the 1923 Freshman Show. He is a member of the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

Marshman's range of athletics takes in football, basketball and baseball. He played on the Freshman teams and on all three varsity teams this year. He is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

Woodworth has been active in all track and crosss country work while in college, being a mainstay of varsity track this spring. He was recently elected to the Honor Council by the Sophomore class. He is a member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity.

Stanley W. Bromley '22 is a member of the COLLEGIAN Board and Index Board, and Alpha Gamma Rho.

Belding F. Jackson '22 is active in literary work. He is editor-in-chief of both the COLLEGIAN and the Index and literary editor of the Squib. He is a member of Adelphia and Alpha Gamma Rho.

William H. Peck '21 is manager of varsity football and is also active in class activities. His fraternity is Lambda Chi Alpha.

J. F. Novitski '20 and Professor Moore were the two faculty members elected.

INTER-CLASS TENNIS

At a meeting last Wednesday in the Flint Laboratory of all interclass tennis men, it was aggreed that the two courts be put in condition by the tennis men as soon as possible, and that interclass matches be started as soon as is convenient thereafter. Immediately after the meeting, the men present rolled and taped one of the courts. The other court was put in condition last Saturday morning. During the few weeks of this term that remains, it is hoped that enough games will be played to decide the interclass championship.

Q. T. V. BATS HARD AND DEFEATS KAPPA SIGMA

Phi Sigma Kappa and Sigma Phi Epsilon also Win. Kappa Sigma Loses Twice.

In interfraternity baseball last week the Q. T. V. team won from Kappa Sigma in a hard-hitting game, by a 12-1 score. "Ed" Tuney pitched for the winners, while Southpaw Ames was on the mound for the losers. Edman '21 and Whitaker '23 made long home runs that aided materially in boosting the winner's score. On Friday the Phi Sigma Kappa nine defeated Kappa Sigma 17-1. H. V. Allen again pitched airtight ball for the winners, while Phi Sigma Kappa had no difficulty in solving Ames curves. Monday night Sigma Phi Epsilon won from Lambda Chi Alpha by a 9-0 score in four innings. The Sigma Phi Epsilon battery was Dunbar and Alexander, while Johnson and Bent opposed them. Dunbar's drop was working to perfection and had the losers completely baffled.

HARVARD GAME TO CLOSE HARD WEEK

Brown and Trinity on Wednesday and Friday. Brigham Out With Split Hand.

With one of the heavlest weeks of the season before them the Varsity squad will go into action handicapped by the loss of three at least of its best men. The condition of Moseley's ankle will not permit him to be back for another 10 days, while Brigham's split hand, though healing slowly, will not be well enough for him to play this week. The loss of Sargent, still in the infirmary suffering from a broken leg, will also be felt this week and for some time to come. The team could be better off, but even under the circumstances, some very good games are in store. On Wednesday, May 11, the team will play Brown at Providence. Brown has a very fair club; they started off great, had a slump, lost to Dartmouth, and then came back strong, winning from Trinity 8-0 last Saturday. Their pitcher, Knight, ranks as one of the best college pitchers. On Friday, May 13, we play Trinity at Hartford. Trinity has a fair team. They have received several drubbings this season but they have a good pitcher and this game ought to be a good one. Saturday May 14, the nine battles with Harvard on their own stamping grounds at Cambridge. The crimson aggregation is one of the best of collegiate baseball nines. They already have a long line of victories winning seven out of nine games. They number some good hitters and all round players. Goode is their best pitcher, but Russell, will probably face the M. A. C. team. Brigham's loss will make the pitching burden fall on Haskins, Kroeck and Collins.

The following of the younger alumni were on the campus last week-end: A. M. McCarthy '19, R. S. Smith '20, Mrs. Helen Sibley Smith '19, E. B. Young '12, T. P. Dooley '13, D. W. O'Brien '14, W. G. Buchanan '18, Ernest Ritter '18, K. S. Williams Ex-'19, and C. W. Scott '20.

In Times of Plenty—

Not for years has Aggie seen a better baseball nine than the one which has thus far run up a string of six consecutive victories this spring. With batteries working smoothly, an infield that handles the ball quickly and well, a safe and sure outfield, and hitters galore, the team just now has every indication of having a very successful season ahead of it. It deserves and is getting the enthusiastic support of the student body.

But there is one cloud in the baseball sky here at M. A. C.—the cloud of an uncertain future. With the varsity squad limited to twenty men, a freshman squad of but twelve, no second team, and a reduced interfraternity schedule, the chances of developing material, the value of which is now unknown, for the 1922 season, look dubious. And we surely need to have such material in sight. Five of the men who started the Rhode Island game this year, will graduate in June. Next year there will be urgent need for two catchers, several pitchers and an entire infield, and at least two outfielders. Indeed, a critical situation!

Every man at Aggie who knows a foul flag from a "Charlie horse" should play all the baseball he can, both now and in the summer, and prepare to come out for the team next spring. Every undergraduate should look for good baseball players to enter here as freshmen in the fall.

We surely have an excellent nine at present. Let's take precautions to keep it excellent!

Cut Systems.

Connecticut Agricultural College is starting a new cut system next fall, whereby no cuts are allowed except to students having no marks below "C", and an average of 85 per cent for the preceding semester. It will be interesting to see what morning gymnastics the students will have to do in order to get to early classes always on time, with no cuts allowed.

But there is a point in allowing an unlimited number of cuts to a person of a grade of 85%. It rewards scholarship, and a man of such a grade will not be so harmed by absence from class as the man who is with difficulty struggling through a course.

While we don't think much of a "no cuts for all but sharks" idea, would it not be plausible and fair at M. A. C. to allow unexcused cuts according to a graded system based on scholarship?

The Editor of the Collegian:

Dear Editor:

The attached article is being sent to every Collegiate Publication in the United States.

I trust you will find space for the article or some portions of it in your columns.

No more unjust war tax was ever levied than the 10% tax on sporting equipment. Your boys and girls know this. We desire to have the tax removed.

This tax doesn't interfere with the pleasure of the wealthy sportsman but it does greatly interfere with the pleasure of the boys and girls, especially the public school boys—the average boy—because he cannot afford to play by reason of the tax. This curtailment of pleasure will injure the nation for the lack of proper physical exercise the boy will not develop as he should. Therefore the Nation is effected. Will you kindly aid in this movement?

Sincerely yours,
Peter P. Carney,
New Haven, Conn.

Tax On Sports That Should Be Repealed.

An agitation was begun some time ago which has now reached National proportions urging the repeal of the 10% war tax on sporting goods, and practically every National Amateur Organization has gotten behind the movement and hundreds of thousands of individuals, also, Peter P. Carney and Hugh Fullerton, two of the best known sports writers in the United States, have written quite a number of articles showing the unsoundness of the tax, how it prevents the play of the youth of America, and its future effect on the Nation.

Everything you purchase to be used for sports play, whether it be a snow shoe, a tennis racquet, a golf ball, or a hunting jacket is taxed 10% before it leaves the manufacturing plant. The consumer pays this tax and sometimes more.

The Government itself does not believe that sporting equipment are luxuries, because during the war the soldiers got the sporting goods first. They were necessities then. They are necessities now. They were taxed 3% during the war. That was all right. We know that the Government needs money and sportsmen are willing to pay taxes, but few of us believe that Uncle Sam should tax the kids to play. That is just what this tax amounts to.

It is up to every one of us to make a fight for the boy. We believe that Congress thought it was soaking the professional ball player when it put on this tax. If they did they failed for the professional base ball leagues do not use more than one per cent. of the sporting goods made and the ball players do not pay any of this.

We ask in behalf of the kids of the United Utates that you write your congressman and Senator urging the immediate repeal of this tax. You can tell him in your own way just why the tax should be repealed. If you are a member of an organization get the club to adopt resolutions on the tax and send them to Washington.

HARVARD UNIVERSITY, SCHOOL OF BUSINESS

The Harvard Business School has received to date 150 applications for admission to the first year class of the School for next year. Applications from now on, must be accompanied by a complete transcript of the man's college record and the Scohol reserves the right to reject any applicant.

The faculty of the Business School has voted to limit the first year class to 300 in order that the quality of instruction may not be impaired by large numbers and that no more men may be admitted than can be taken care of.

If applications continue to come in at the current rate, registration probably will be closed about Commencement week.

Y. M. C. A. LISTENS TO MR. SAM HOCKING

Last Thursday evening Mr. Sam Hocking, the Y. M. C. A. Secretary for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, gave an interesting talk on "The Investment of Your Life". He told of the requisites which he considered essential for a true Christian life; speaking of prayer, reading the Bible, and striving to help the other fellow, as the air, food, and exercise of the spiritual nature man. He also told of his decision to enter the foreign missionary service when the need was greatest.

High School principals met and conferred with members of the faculty at a luncheon served at Draper Hall, on Saturday noon.

MR. BRAYDON CASE IN Y. M. C. A. ASSEMBLY

Undergraduates Describe the Silver Bay Conference Plans.

The Y. M. C. A. devised a program to take the place of the announced speaker at assembly last Wednesday. Mr. Braydon Case, a graduate of the University of California and Columbia University, now a missionary to Burma, was the first speaker. Taking "Christianity and Agriculture" or "Crops and Christians" as a subject, he explained that the greatest need of India and other oriental countries is food. They have an abundance of very fertile and productive soil, but because of primitive and wasteful methods of cultivation, can scarcely keep from starving. In view of the vast number of people dependent on agriculture as a vocation, conditions must be improved. The remedies suggested by the speaker were teaching the Christian gospel, cooperation and credit, and modern methods of agriculture. "The agricultural college is the key which will bring about a better life to the orientals" said Mr. Case in closing.

Nowton '21 then described the Silver Bay conference grounds on Lake George. Cook '22 told of the excellent speakers who carry on the program. Erysian '22 related how the M. A. C. delegation defeated the Harvard delegation in baseball last year. Tucker '22 spoke on the prevailing fraternal air at the conference. Moody '22 concluded the program by explaining that the conference would last from June 25 to July 5 and invited all students interested to make the trip.

SCHOOL FOR COUNTRY MINISTERS OPENS

A new course has recently been started on the campus and covers a period of about a fortnight. It is known as a Short Course for Ministers, and includes the following courses:

Rural Organizations, Pres. Butterfield.
Agricultural Economics, Prof. Cance.
Recreation, J. E. Reynolds, Y. M. C. A. field man.

Courses in fruit-growing, poultry, soil fertility, vegetable gardening, gas engines, and farm management will be given. The course was begun May 2nd, and sixteen men have enrolled. Tonight the Rev. Hervey C. Parke will entertain these men at a reception at his home. This weekend there will be a conference on the "Enlightenment and Training of Religious Rural Workers", which will begin Friday afternoon and terminate with a program at the First Congregational Church, on Sunday afternoon. Dr. T. N. Carver of Harvard University, an agricultural economist of repute, will give an address. At 9 o'clock Sunday morning, Dr. Albert Parker Fitch will speak in Chapel in the Auditorium of Stockbridge Hall, and all students are invited to attend.

CAMPUS NOTES

The dedication of the Memorial Hall will be held from the terrace on the east side of the building.

On High School day was held the first annual field day of the Sawdust Club; a club made up of teachers of Hampshire County.

The Commencement Committee met last Wednesday at the Alpha Gamma Rho house. The chairman, Phillip L. Robinson was in charge.

Moseley, 2nd baseman, is hobbling about the campus, recuperating from a sprained ankle. He is coming along as well as can be expected, and will probably play again in a week or ten days.

There will be a mid-week "Y" meeting Thursday, May 12 at 7:00 P. M. in the Social Union Rooms. Professor Thelen will speak on "Making a Decision for Your Life Work". All welcome.

Prof. Edwin M. Chamberlain, head of the department of Psychology, B. U., addressed the faculty Saturday morning, April 30, on the theory and application of psychological tests as used in the army and in various colleges. Prof. Chamberlain studied here as a graduate student in 1912-1913.

The baseball team has been very unfortunate this season in having some of its best players out of the game. "Huck" Sargent, right fielder, is in the infirmary with a broken leg caused by an accident when sliding. Coach Gore expects he will be back on the diamond for the last three or four games this year.

NOTICES

Adelphia will hold its annual Banquet this week. Election of new officers will soon take place.

C. G. Macintosh.

The Honor Council will elect new officers this week. P. J. Cascio.

Beginning with the college year 1921-1922 Microbiology 50, as well as Dairy 50, will be required as a prerequisite to Dairy 75.

INFORMAL

The last Informal of the year will be held in the Drill Hall next Saturday afternoon, and about 75 couple are expected. Tickets are on sale at the Phi Sigma Kappa House, and are nearly all sold. The orchestra will consist of the best College talent, and the decorations will be a mixture of flags and banners of the various fraternities on the campus and palms.

Taylor '05, of Cleveland, O., assisted by Mr. Gordon D Cooper. The book was published on March 30, 1921 by Doubleday and Page Co. The book tells what, when and where to plant and is very completely illustrated. Mr. Taylor has an M. S. A. and Mr Cooper a B. S. A.

ALUMNI DINNER AT NATIONS' CAPITOL

At Ebbitt's Hotel.

Twenty four members of the Washington M. A. C. Club and their guests were present at a most interesting informal dinner at the Ebbitt Hotel, Washington, on the evening of April 23.

The center of interest was taken by the semi-centennial celebration to be held in June. A telegram was read from President Butterfield, extending cordial greetings and expressing the hope that a large number of alumni would plan to return for the Fiftieth Anniversary in June. Programs of the event were distributed to all present, and an enthusiastic letter was read from George M. Campbell '20, setting forth the details more plainly.

A short talk by V. D. Callanan '20, who had recently visited Amherst, introduced an intimate touch, especially when he referred to the "Abbey." Mr. Callanan also outlined briefly the progress which had been made in construction of Memorial Hall.

A notable hit was scored by Charles A. Bowman '81, who interestingly recounted early college escapades. Those present included Dr. A. Bowman '81 and Mrs. Bowman, Dr. E. W. Allen '85, Dr. E. R. Flint '87, H. W. Beal, Honorary, H. L. Knight '02 and Mrs. Knight, Lieut. C. A. Tinker, ex-'03 and Mrs. Tinker, Prof. W. D. Hurd and Mrs. Hurd, J. A. Hyslop '08 and Mrs. Hyslop, J. W. Wellington '08, Dr. J. P. Martin '12, H. J. Clay '14 and Mrs. Clay, Perez Simmons '16 and Mrs. Simmons, W. I. Goodwin '18, V. D. Callanan, '20, J. J. Window '21 and Mrs. Window.

ALUMNI

'07.—The class will meet for a luncheon in the private dining room of Draper Hall, on Sunday June 12th, immediately after the baccalaureate address. Every member is urged to attend and also to spend the preceeding day on campus, participating in the general alumni festivities of Commencement. C. L. King, Secretary.

'19.—Edward Strack is a research chemist with the Dennison Mfg. Co. of Framinghaun, Mass.

FRESHMEN LOSE NO TIME AT MONSON

Get an Early Lead and are Never Headed. Brunner's Stick Work Features Game.

The Freshman baseball team began its season last Saturday with a victory over Monson Accademy at Monson. With a score of 5-1 they retallated for the defeat suffered by the basketball team at the hands of Monson last winter. Brunner pitched a fine game for the Freshmen, allowing only four hits, and granting only one free base from balls. His two timely two-base hits scored two runs, while his sacrifice fly enabled another runner to come safely across the home plate. In the sixth inning, with two men on bases, a sensational foul catch by Kane, saved the day for the yearlings. A neat one-hand stop by Barrows of a hard line drive to short in the seventh inning prevented the Academy from tallying in that period. Steady playing by Bike at first aided in the victory. The hitting by Glavin, and the pitching by Bradway featured the playing of the Monson team.

HIGH SCHOOL DAY

June. The prospective co-eds attracted wide attention as the paraded from Adams Hall to Draper for supper and took their places in a section of the wing reserved for them.

A good delegation of Sub-freshmen arrived Friday night, and were escorted to the registration room at North College. Additions began to arrive early Saturday morning, and by noontime the campus was fairly bustling with activity. Professor Ostrander kindly decreed fine weather for the whole day's program.

Guests were first shown atound the campus by student guides, two men being chosen from each fraternity for this. After this general inspection all gathered around old varsity field, which had been roped off and put in shape by a grounds committee composed of Leighton '21, and Martin and Slade, '23.

Then came the feature of the day at 10 o'clock, the military field day and gymkana, under the direction of the military department. This was the first event of its kind at the college, and bids fair to be an established institution in future years. It consisted first of a brief platoon drill by members of the Sophomore class. Then came a number of contests particapated in by various Sophomores and several co-eds.

In the mounted potato race the potatoes were placed at intervals of 20 yards, and the riders rode bareback to bring them to the basket. This race was won Hardy, 2nd, Whittler and 3rd Alger.

In the egg and spoon race, each person had to balance an egg on a tablespoon while riding up and down a field. Needless to say, only one succeeded in doing his stunt: "Miss Brinkley," whose sharply contrasted black eyebrows and red hair created much amusement among the spectators. Second and third prizes were captured by Broderick and Miss. Van Lennep, '21, respectively.

The needle and thread race was won by Miss Van Lennep, who had her needle all threaded and was back to the starting point before the others had finished. Tanner came in second, followed closely by Miss Turner.

The rescue race was a hair-raiser, with one mounted man to gallop down field, firing blank ammunition, to his partner, who jumped on in back and rode back to the starting point. Hale and Buell came in first, Grayson and Alder second, and Hilyard and Wirth third.

The hurdle jumping was very well done by Hale and Miss VanLennep, who took first place. The other pairs who took the judge's eye for best form and riding, were: "Miss Brinkley" and Wirth, and Miss Clark and Hallett.

The prizes of blue, red and white ribbons were presented by Dean E. M. Lewis. Irving W. Slade, '23, acted as announcer for these events. He was costumed as a knight, and with his spirited horse lent much to the occasion. Credit is due the Misses Van Lennep and Russert for the work done in making this costume.

Directly after dinner, an interesting stock contest was held by the Animal Husbandry club, which also gave prizes to the winners. There were 4 classes of judging in all and 33 men took part. The winners for this were: George F. Good, of West Springfield; Leon Galvin of Arms Academy; and Carlton Cartwright of Smith School, Nothampton. The winning teams were Arms Academy, West Springfield High and Plymouth High.

After watching the varsity baseball victory, the guests were given a complimentary supper at Draper Hall, and then proceeded to Stockbridge Hall, where an evening program had been arranged. Prexy here gave a short informal talk, and prizes were given out for the stock judging and track meet winners of the afternoon. The Musical Clubs gave a concert of their regular program, and Smith, '21, gave a one-act play, during the concert. Receptions were given the prospective freshmen in the various fraternity houses, and many of them were quartered there for the night. Thanks to the co-operation of all concerned and especially of the guests themselves, this may be called the biggest and best High School Day Aggie has ever had.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. TWO-YEAR 15, SUFFIELD 7

Deerfield and Wilbraham also Lose to Grayson's Team.

The Two-year baseball team defeated the Suffield Academy team last Wednesday afternoon on the Old Varsity field in a batting contest of three-base hits and home runs, by a score of 15-7. Much was expected of the Academy boys, but they were powerless against the arm of Thompson, who, on his first chance in the box this season, struck out 16 men. Enthusiasm ran high when Trafton stepped to bat at the beginning of the fourth inning, and crashedthe first ball pitched on a grounderbetween short and second out to the Drill Hall for a perfect home run hit. Thompson, not to be outdone in his own game, lifted the ball out to the tennis courts in the next inning for another four-bagger. This streak of hitting completely demoralized the Academy team, and they were unable to score again until the last innings of the game.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Two Year.	0	0	1	5	4	0	1	4		—15
Suffield Academy.	2	0	0	1	0	0	0	1	3	—7

The Two-Year baseball team defeated the Deerfield Academy boys in a tight battle at Deerfield last Friday by a score of 7-2.

The three run lead obtained in the first inning, together with the excellent control work displayed by Griffin, who allowed only one base on balls during the game, easily won the game for the Two-Year team. Deerfield was held scoreless for the first five innings. Two singles and an error allowed Deerfield to score in the sixth inning and a hit and a wild pitch in the seventh gave them their last tally. Gunnison in center field for Deerfield did some excellent fielding. Young and Girard each came through with three hits out of five times at bat. Griffin struck out nine men and Snodgrass three.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Two-Year.	3	0	0	0	2	0	0	1	1	—7
Deerfield Academy.	0	0	0	0	0	1	1	0	0	—2

The Two-Year team annexed its fourth straight victory last Monday afternoon on the Varsity field, when it vanquished the Wilbraham Academy outfit by a 15-2 score.

Trafton made his usual three hits besides catching well behind the bat. Grauman's three safeties out of four times at bat were greatly to his credit:

The score by innings:

FEED UP!

EVERY dairyman knows that he must feed proportionately for the light summer period, as well as in the heavy winter months, if he wants a large flow of milk from his herd when he can sell it at a good price.

Here is the way it works out:

Suppose your price for milk is $1.90—with an almost certain prospect of being lower when grass comes, and pastures are good.

Now, if you feed a Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed mixture at a cost of about $30.00, you can produce at least $130.00 worth of milk from your good milkers.

If your milk price goes down—say to $1.20—you can still get $84.00 from the same cows and the same amount of feed.

It has been proven that if you do not feed in the summer your cows will shrink after the first flush of grass. You will not only lose the profit you might have had from them by proper feeding, but, on account of their poorer condition, your herd will not produce as much milk when you start heavy feeding again.

These are facts that should make every dairyman consider seriously his feeding problem, on a basis of cost and return, during the grass months now coming in. And then order Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed for your herd.

Woodworth made a fine showing by carrying away second place in the 220 yard low hurdles. "Woody" showed the best of form, but was forced to yield first place to J. J. Sullivan, of Boston College This event was taken at 25 1-5, also a new N. E. I. C. record. COUNTRY CHURCH MEN IN CONFERENCE AT M. A. C.

Professor Parker of Harvard University, Pres. Butterfield, and Dr. Fitch Give Addresses.

Last Sunday afternoon, as one of the speakers of the Rural Conference, Professor Parker of Harvard University spoke on "The Reasons for the Shift of Population from Country to City." He said that country was the breeding place of the people, but that the city drew off the best people and left only the "seconds" in the country. He stated that young America was not afraid of hard work, but that they avoid hard work if it is not appreciated. Then again, the young people do not like the isolation of farming. Professor Carver's remedy for this was the development of the cooperative movement of farmers' exchange, etc.

President Butterfield then spoke on "Country Life as a Challenge for the Best Leadership." He said that the best men and women are needed as country leaders.

Dr. Albert Parker Fitch, of Amherst College, gave an excellent address in the auditorium, in which he exalted the privilege of being a minister. He said that he was glad of the opportunity to make this address, because one of the great needs of the ministry was to be explained. The principal reason that more young men are not preparing for the clergy is that they have never had its joys and privileges presented to them in an adequate way. The chief rewards of the ministry are that it is a profession, a life of giving rather than getting, that the minister is a great humanist, dealing with a cross section of this age, that a minister may spend his time in serene thoughts and majestic ideals, and that he becomes the natural as well as the spiritual leader of his fellows.

M. A. C., TWICE IN THE LEAD, FINALLY LOSES SENSATIONAL GAME TO BROWN

Brunonians Go 14 Innings Before They Win 4-3. Best Game in Years at Providence. Ball '21 Gets Four Hits and Now Leads the Team.

GORDON, COLLINS, LENT, AND SAMSON STAR

Brown University proved to be the team to break the Aggie nine's string of victories at six straight when she triumphed over Coach Gore's team in a fourteen inning battle at Providence, Wednesday afternoon. With one out in the fourteenth,a timely single by Mereweather, the Brown second baseman put Brady across with the winning tally and broke up a 3 to 3 tie which had existed since the eleventh.

The game was one of the best played and most hotly contested battles played in collegiate circles this season. It was full of thrills and sensational plays from the time when Samson, the first man to face Kroeck in the first inning drove out a home run, until the curtain fell with Mereweather's hit in the fourteenth. Samson's hitting and the success of Brown's pinch hitter, Kneeland, were big factors in Aggie's downfall. The former secured five hits and a sacrifice in six trips to the plate. His homer in the opening inning kept Brown ahead until the eighth, his run in that session tied the score, and his single in the eleventh following a triple by Kneeland again thwarted Aggie's hopes of victory.

Aggie started off well in the first inning when Davis was hit by a pitched ball and "Red" Ball hit safely. A fast double play cut off a score, however, and there were no more chances until the eighth. Following Samson's homer Kroeck held Brown helpless for seven innings. He allowed only one hit in that time and in the sixth struck out Oden with two runners on the bases.

Aggie took the lead in the eighth. Ball hit safely, and Captain Newell was passed. Both scored on a hit by "Doc" Gordon,but the latter was out trying to make third. The score was knotted in Brown's half on hits by Samson, Peckham, and Oden. "Doc" Gordon ended the inning when he pulled in what looked like a sure triple from Moody's bat.

The eleventh inning opened with a triple by Gordon, and a clean single by Bill Kroeck put over the last Aggie run. With one man out things looked bad for Brown in her half, until Kneeland, pinch-hitting for Armstrong, lined out a triple and counted on Samson's fifth hit.

In the twelfth both teams shifted pitchers, "Hub" Collins going to the mount for M. A.C., and Brady replacing Fuller, for Brown. In this inning Aggie

EDDIE GOODE IS THE SECOND TO CONQUER M. A. C.

Second Defeat in Nine Games Is a 6-0 Harvard Victory at Cambridge.

The game with Harvard, which was to have been played last Saturday, was called because of rain and was played Monday afternoon at Soldiers' Field, 4 o'clock.

M. A. C. went to Cambridge with a record of seven wins and but one reverse—the Brown game. The team was hopeful of winning from the strong Crimson nine and the 6-0 defeat was a surprise to Aggie supporters.

"Hub" Collins was sent in by Coach Gore to oppose Eddie Goode on the mound. The pitching honors were nearly even. with Goode having a slight edge on the Arlington star. Ball and Gordon put up good games in the outfield, but the infield was not playing true to form and Harvard's run total was increased through misplays.

The first inning served to give Harvard runs enough for a victory. Three of her six hits and an error by Lent were instrumental in giving the Cambridge men three runs. They scored once again in the third, fifth. and eighth.

"Buckie" Davis opened the Aggie first with a long triple but, was caught at the JUNE 10TH

On the opening day of Commencement there will appear on the campus a special issue of the COLLEGIAN, which it is hoped to have in harmony with the general enthusiastic atmosphere of the celebration. This number will be for the special benefit of the returning alumni, for members of the board feel it their duty to present something a little ont of the ordinary in their behalf.

The faculty has been asked to cooperate with the board to make this a memorable issue. Heads of various departments are to write accounts of their activities, and these will be supplemented by short reports on outstanding campus activities by COLLEGIAN reporters.

missed the needed tally by a scant margin, when "Don" Lent was thrown out in attempting to steal home.

In the fourteenth Brady hit a slow roller down to third base and beat the throw on a close decision. Samson's sacrifice put him in a position to score on Mereweather's hit.

The hitting of Ball and Gordon featured the game. "Red" collected four hits out of five times at bat and "Doc" was directly responsible for all of Aggie's runs, driving in two and scoring the other himself. On the defense the pitching of "Bill" Kroeck and the fielding of Lent were outstanding. "Don" made several fine stops and his sensational catch of Mereweather's Texas leaguer prevented Brown from winning in the eleventh.

Harvard managed to steal four bases, while Gordon was the only Aggie man to steal.

A large number of Aggie supporters were at the game and were pleased at the appearance of the team despite the erratic work of the infield, which undoubtedly had an off day.

The team was exceedingly pleased with the excellent hospitatlity shown by Harvard. They were taken to the Varsity club for a couple of meals, and in all ways the stay in Cambridge was made a pleasant one.

EIGHTEEN RUNS IN FIVE INNING GAME

Varsity Scores at Will Against Trinity at Hartford. Opponents Scoreless.

Trinity College offered little opposition to the M. A. C. sluggers at Hartford Saturday, and in the five innings played before the game was stopped by rain, the Maroon and White piled up an 18 to 0 score.

The Aggies heavy artillery opened on J. Ortgies in the opening inning and buried Trinity under an avalanche of 10 runs before they were out. Lent and Collins each secured two hits in this inning. Another run in the second and two in the third, caused Ortgies retirement, but Brickley fared no better. The Aggies pounded five more runs across in the fourth and brought their total number up to seventeen. Lent and Collins led the swatfest with three hits each and "Don" Lent's triple with the bases full was one of the features of the game.

Trinity secured only two hits, one off Brigham and one off "Phil" Haskins, who pitched the last inning. No runner got beyond second base.

Aggie played errorless ball in spite of the rain and muddy field while the Trinity players made three costly slips. "Red" Ball provided the fielding feature when he picked a low liner off his shoetops in short left field. The infield also showed up strong with Mosely back in his old position at second base.

sity basketball team has been greatly strengthened during the past two years by his versatile playing. In his junior year he was re-elected class president, and served on the Junior Prom Committee. He was elected to the Senate as a junior member last year and is a member of the Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity and Adelphia.

C. R. Vinten '22, of Boston, was elected Chairman of the Informal Committee. He is well acquainted with many branches of non-athlettes, and is therefore especially fitted for this office. Under his guidance the Senate hopes that the "Real Aggie Informals" will be revived and put back on their time-honored basis of popularity. He is a member of the Theta Chi fraternity.

ADELPHIA BANQUET AT THE DAVENPORT

Senior Honor Society Enjoys Fine Dinner and Resident Speakers.

Adelphia held its annual Initiation banquet last Thursday, May 12, at the Davenport, for the new members recently elected to the society. The record number who attended enjoyed a fine dinner, followed by after-dinner speaking which lasted well into the evening, and made the affair one to be well remembered by all present.

President Mackintosh '21 served as toastmaster for the evening. Kendall '21, speaking for the society, welcomed the new men into its membership, and was answered in due course by Vinten '22, who represented the initiates. Professor Mackimmie, the faculty guest present at the banquet, gave the men an interesting account of the history of Adelphia, which he traced from the year in which it was founded up the present time. During the evening Harold Poole '21 gave his short instructive talk on publicity. Election of officers for the coming year will be held at the next meeting of Adelphia, Wednesday, May 18.

The alumni executive committee is again taking up the idea of having a historical pageant, to be held in connection with next year's commencement.

M. A. C. PISTOL MEN LEAD NORWICH TEAM

F. E. Williams, Beal and Hollis in Close Competition for High Score.

As a result of the pistol match with the Sophomore teams of Harvard and Norwich University, last Saturday, the M. A. C. Sophomores are leading at present with a score of 1148. Norwich reported a total of 1113 points, while Harvard has not been heard from yet. The ranges were 15 yards with slow fire, and 25 yards with rapid and slow fire both. Rapid fire is at the rate of 5 shots in 20 seconds. A comparison of the scores at these different ranges and speeds demonstrate the difficulty of shooting rapid fire at 25 yards. Slow fire, 15 yards, 492; slow fire, 25 yards, 450; and rapid fire, 25 yards, 206. Williams must be conceeded the title of crack pistol shot of the outfit, as he has been high man in all matches so far. This triangular meet terminates the season's activities in pistol shooting.

Following are the men who shot against Harvard and Norwich: Williams 235, Beal 234, Hollis 233, Grayson 228, MacCready 218. Total, 1148.

The freshman rifle match with Andover Academy was also shot Saturday morning. The results from Andover have not been received.

The Freshman team scored as follows: Whitney 99, Collins 89, Steere 88, R. H. Woodworth 88. Total 448. All firing was from a prone position in the gallery.

The Importance of the Unimportant.

Since the war it has been the aim of the entire college to bring up to a high standard those chief campus activities which had been either entirely wrecked or greatly weakened by the loss of so many students.

Success has been ours. Varsity teams have taken the field in the past year which would have been a credit to institutions twice our size. Dramatics, musical clubs, and publications have exerted themselves to grow better, and have accomplished their purpose. But, and it is hardly to be wondered at, in remembering our main activities we have forgotten many of the smaller ones, apparently insignificant, but which mean so much to a real American college life.

The clearest example of this before us now is the comparative lack of class contests, and even lack of any enthusiasm to start such. Class baseball is dead. Perhaps it was forced to die because no diamonds were available, but nevertheless its death means much to varsity baseball. How did we know that John Brigham could pitch? Ask those class teams that faced his smoke only a couple of years ago.

Other class contests seem to be pretty quiet, too. On all but about one week a year, the Freshmen and Sophomores lie down together like the emboldened lamb and the benevolent lion of Bible fame.

Except when the varsity is playing at home, which is mighty seldom this spring, the campus looks like a home for T. Bs. in the final stages. Even the country ministers must have to peer pretty sharply to find any excitement.

In the old records we find accounts of games between the COLLEGIAN and the Index for suppers, of picture scraps, of Index rushes, and a host of other such events, not much in themselves, but mighty important in the aggregate. Unofficially, North and South College will soon clash in baseball. That is the sort of thing we should see more of at Aggie.

A live student body may be told by the number of these little activities, keeping in evidence, not only at the time of big games, but constantly, a competition, a spirit, a "pep" that can not be attained in any other way.

Upon What Meat Doth This Our Freshman Feed?

Once, "In the dear, dead days beyond recall," the happiest moment in an Aggie man's college life was that of entrance into the Sophomore class. Then, and then only, could he rub his hands over his hip pockets and not feel calluses which once were blisters; could he relax his arm tired from saluting; could he say to himself, "Now I am a man."

A thing occurred in assembly last week which would have caused a Sophomore back in 1913 to first gasp in amazement, then act with prompt decision. Before the eyes of the entire student body, a Freshman arose, uninvited, and disputed, almost impudently, a Junior. Shades of Mike Brewer! We hate to think what would have happened to that man once. But it looks as though he actually got away with it. His little outburst hardly caused a ripple on our too stagnated pool of class spirit and class distinction.

A Senior means no more to a Freshman now than "Creeper's" horse. He makes fun of them both. Canes are to him an immense joke. A few canes could be properly broken in the right places!

This is not at all as it should be. Upperclassmen should be respected; Freshmen should be suppressed. The last time we saw a yearling punished was way back last fall. What's become of the rules?

Some one says, "We need a Freshman dormitory." So we do. But if we are to wait until it is built before we begin to show these men that they do not graduate until 1924, would it not be a good idea for the present Senate and Adelphia to resign in favor of the Freshmen, who seem at present to be quite generally running the college?

DEAN E. M. LEWIS ADDRESSES ASSEMBLY

Dean Lewis spoke to the student body at assembly last Wednesday, urging better spirit and cheering at the baseball games. He spoke of the successes of the team so far this season and declared his opinion that better singing and cheering at the games was needed. He also discussed the editorial that appeared in a recent issue of the COLLEGIAN concerning military work, stating that he was sure some of the difficulties would be adjusted, but that in order to insure the continuation of the Cavalry Unit it was necessary for the students in sufficient numbers to elect military work in their junior and senior years. He urged that as many as possible do this in order that the old infantry drill will not have to be returned to.

After Dean Lewis had finished speaking, a mass meeting was held in which a short pep talk by cheer-leader Hooper was given and practice in cheering was held.

"Y" MEETING

There will be a mid-week "Y" meeting Thursday, May 19, at 7-00 P. M. in Social Union Rooms. The speaker will be Fay Campbell. His subject is "Grasping Your Opportunities." All welcome.

INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE CHOOSES ITS OFFICERS

C. H. Gowdy of Westfield Chosen President.

Election of officers of the Interfraternity Conference for the coming year resulted in the following choices:

President, Carlyle H. Gowdy '22, of Westfield.
Vice-president, Frederick V. Waugh '22, of Amherst.
Secretary-treasurer, Roger B. Friend '23, of Dorchester.

Gowdy served as secretary of the conference during the past year. All three men are active in class and college affairs also.

Last Thursday evening the interfraternity conference held its annual banquet in the banquet room at Draper Hall. In the absence of President-elect Gowdy, F. V. Waugh acted as toastmaster. After a short business meeting the members exchanged after dinner stories ending with a "peach" by the retiring president Charles Anderson.

WORLD AGRICULTURAL MEETING

On Tuesday, May 10, there was established at M. A. C. a local chapter of the World Agricultural Society, an International organization for the promotion of agriculture. The meeting began with a banquet held at 6-15 in Draper Hall, for outside guests and for the members of the society. The people then adjourned to Stockbridge Hall for the main part of the meeting.

A few minutes were devoted to the business necessary to the formation of a local chapter of the World Agricultural Society. Then the speaker of the evening, Dr. Erickson of Albania, gave an interesting talk on the sturdiness of the Albanian peoples, and the opportunities for the development and leadership of this small nation. Through centuries of foreign domination, much of which was Turkish oppression, Albania kept her own nationality. The opportunities for American agricultural methods and for American leadership in this small nation are unlimited, said Dr. Erickson.

The meeting closed with a general social hour, during which refreshments were served.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

One hundred and thirty-five American Teachers are wanted for service in the Philippines and in other schools under government control. Examinations have been scheduled for Model Primary Teachers and Primary Specialists, High School teachers, Specialists in Rural Schools, Specialists in Foreign Educational Systems and for Reconstruction Aides.

For detailed information call at the office of the Department of Agricultural Education, Room 306, Stockbridge Hall.

SENIOR CLASS COMMITTEE ELECTED WEDNESDAY

At a meeting of the Senior Class last Wednesday following assembly, plans for providing a class gift were discussed. In previous years the classes have planned to make a substantial gift to the college within 20 years of graduation, and they have usually raised the funds under an endowment plan. The Seniors are considering the taking out of an endowment insurance policy for the class, to mature in twenty years. The committee in charge are Gray, chairman, Kimball, Gillette, Newton, and Lincoln.

Y. W. C. A. APPOINTS ORGANIZATION COMMITTEE

The work of organizing a Young Women's Christian Association is coming along very rapidly. A committee of five has been appointed to frame a constitution, appoint an advisory board, and nominate officers. The members are Ruth M. Wood, chairman, Viola Cameron, Jane Pollard, Ruth Hurder, and Dorothy Leavitt. Wednesday evening, May 18, the committee's report will be presented, and the election of officers will be held.

Under the committee's direction a supper party was given Sunday in Adams Hall for the girls and interested members of the faculty. Miss Skinner, Miss Hamlin, Mrs. Lewis and Mrs Chamberlain were present. Miss Anna Clark of the National Board of the Association discussed the work of the Association with those present.

TWO-YEAR TEAM ADDS TWO MORE VICTORIES

Thompson's Work Features Both Contests.

Williston lost its game to the Two-Year baseball team last Wednesday afternoon at Easthampton, when, by a series of hard hits, the short course men brought four runners across the plate in the second inning. Williston had scored three runs in the first inning when the Two Year squad took its second turn at bat. However, throughout the remainder of the game, she was held scoreless by the tight pitching of Thompson, the short-course top mound man, and by the wonderful support he received. Besides striking out eight men, the remarkable batting of Thompson featured the game. Girard starred at third base, having four put-outs and four assists to his credit, with his two hits.

Neither side scored much after the second inning, the score at the end of the game being 6-3. Buckley for Williston struck out seven men. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Williston	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	3

The Two Year baseball team defeated the Sacred Heart high school of Holyoke last Monday afternoon on the Varsity Field in a tight game by the close score of 4-2. Burke of the high school, who has a no hit, no run game to his credit for this season was batted out by the Two Year team in the fifth inning, and Roberts who took his place held the short course men scoreless for the last four innings. The game was fast and clean throughout, both batteries receiving excellent backing only two errors being made in the entire game. Griffin, who pitched for the Two Year men, struck out nine men and walked only two men, while his opponents struck out only three men and passed one. Trafton's three bagger, and Thompson's two bagger were deciding factors in the Two Year victory. The score by innings.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA IN TOP BERTH

Interfraternity Games go to Phi Sig and Alpha Sig.

Due to poor weather during the last week-end, the number of games played in the interfraternity championship race was limited to two. On Wednesday, May 11, Phi Sigma Kappa defeated Kappa Gamma Phi to the tune of 2-0. Allen pitched tight ball and added one more to his string of victories. Fenton, pitching for the losers, allowed only four hits, but these were bunched in the second, when both runs were made.

On Monday night, Alpha Sigma Phi won its first game from Theta Chi, 9-7. This was a hard-hitting affair, with plenty of errors on both sides. Al Smith, for the winners, struck ount five men, while his opponent, Anderson, managed to fan seven. In the third, Murray, Theta Chi, brought three of his team mates across with a three-bagger. Lewandowski also had his eye on the ball, with two three-baggers to his credit, and clean ones, too. It is said that Gaskill starred for the winning team.

MRS. SESSIONS GIFT TO M. A. C. LIBRARY

Portrait of the Late William R. Sessions to Adorn Stockbridge Hall.

An oil portrait of the late William Robert Sessions, former Secretary of Agriculture of Massachusetts and for many years a trustee of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, has been presented to the college library by Mrs. Sessions, and will hang in the agricultural library in Stockbridge Hall.

It is the first painting to be placed in the recently established and largest of the department libraries on the campus.

William R. Sessions was Secretary of Agriculture from 1887-1899, and was trustee of M. A. C. from 1885 to 1905, and again in 1912. He was typical of the Western Massachusetts farmers who were active in establishing the Massachusetts Agricultural College, and who have since been its stanchest patrons. Born in Wilbraham, son of a farmer and descendant of Indian fighters and members of the Boston Tea Party, Mr. Sessions won his honorary positions in Massachusetts agriculture through a life of practical and constant contact with the farming of the state.

Outside of school hours, he worked on the home farm from his eighth year; plowed at nine; mowed hay at ten; could cradle grain at fourteen, and at that age was able to do a day's farm work with the best farmhands. His education was pieced out between terms in district school, with one term at Westfield Academy, and with omnivorous reading. He taught school winters for four years, working his father's farm on shares until practically disabled in an accident.

His public service began with an active part in campaign, of the Civil War,

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers.

HAY is a safe crop. Heavily grown, handled, stored. Always marketable. Or, feed it. Feed also on rich soil for next crop. A reasonable application of E. Frank Coe's Special Top Dressing should nearly double yield. Mention your soils and write for valuable book "The Neglected Hay Crop." Free, with our fertilizer suggestions.

DEERFIELD ACADEMY IS SECOND TEAM TO WIN

Yearlings Lose 8-5. Barrows and Bike Bat Hard.

The Freshman baseball team lost the second game of its season to Deerfield Academy, last Wednesday at Deerfield, by a score of 8-5. An entirely new outfield and a new man in the infield prevented the prefect harmony with which the team worked when it played and defeated Monson recently. The two-run lead obtained by Deerfield, together with a panic of scoring by Deerfield in the fourth inning, spoiled the day for the yearlings. In the third inning the Freshmen broke away, gaining two runs and thereby tying the score. A rally by the first year men in the ninth inning threatened for a time to smother the Academy. The hitting of Bike and Barrows for the Freshmen, and of Pratt and Adams for Deerfield, featured the batting side of the game. Snodgrass, for Deerfield, pitched a good game, fanning 12 men. Weatherwax, who was not faced by as many men, had eight strikeouts to his credit.

CAMPUS NOTES

Slight Change in Commencement Program.

Monday morning Commencement events have been interchanged with a change in the time of each. At 9-00 A. M. will come the Cavalry Drill followed by Senior fence (Class-day exercises) at 10 o'clock, and the Junior Frolic will be held after dinner at 1-30. Other events remain unchanged.

The large canvas tent for use during Anniversary Week has arrived and is ready for use. It is to be set up on Old Varsity Field, between South College and Drill Hall. All the meetings and exercises scheduled to be held indoors will now be held in this tent, including the Baccalaureate Address and the Commencement Exercises.

The advantages of such an arrangement are obvious, from the standpoint of comfort and size and convenience. The tent will accommodate about three thousand people, with plenty of room for all, a condition which could not be met in Stockbridge Hall. A lunch-room will be maintained at one end of the tent, and on Saturday the Alumni Dinner will be served in the main part.

The Alumni Office is keeping right on the jump by distributing copies of the last issue of the Squib to all the High School Seniors who registered here on High School Day.

The Rolster Dolsters have changed their time of electing officers for this year only. Next year the usual custom of elections after the Junior Prom Show will be followed.

RUSHING RULES OF THE INTERFRATERNITY CONFERENCE

A Word About Fraternities in the Undergraduate's College Life.

"Going to college" includes much more than studying four years and receiving a college degree for your efforts. A man who spends four years at Aggie and does not take advantage of that time to form fast friendships among his fellow students, who does not develop a spirit of loyalty to his Alma Mater, and who does not use his physical and mental abilities in college activities for his own benefit and for the good of the college, is not the kind who will put his college degree to the best of use when it is granted to him.

Fraternities aim to promote firm friendships, friendships that will last long after college days are over. They provide a real home for their members during their college life. They stimulate competition for activities, to the benefit of the college and individual. Their ideals set a high standard for which to strive.

But studies and participation in college interests and affairs come first. For this reason the fraternity pledging season has been placed in the second term. We ask for the benefit of our college that you live up to the following rules, in spirit as well as literally.

1. There shall be no rushing from the time the sub-freshmen reach Amherst in the fall until the beginning of the second term.

2. No freshman shall enter a fraternity house until the opening day of the second term except on business and provided the written permission of both the president and vice-president of the Conference is obtained.

3. Until the first day of the second term, members of fraternities or fraternity representatives shall not have more than casual intercourse with freshmen. They shall not entertain the freshmen at meals in Amherst or nearby towns. They shall not take freshmen to athletic contests or to moving picture shows, nor "treat" freshmen at drug stores or eating houses. Casual meetings, or walks about the campus are allowable, but walks outside of Amherst, or organized trips by freshmen and fraternity, and actions of a similar nature are contrary to the ruling. Members of the fraternities and fraternity representatives shall not room with freshmen. Rushing covers the area in which the freshmen is present during the period of no rushing.

4. There shall be no talk about fraternities between freshmen and fraternity members until the opening of the second term. Entertainment of freshmen in the homes of fraternity men during football trips will be considered against the spirit of the rules.

5. Visiting freshmen in their rooms is not permissible except with written permission of both the president and vice-president of the conference.

6. The rushing season, which in no case shall be less than six days, will commence the first day of the second term and end at six P. M. on the first Sunday of the second term. Men shall be pledged in chapel the following day.

7. Printed invitations, with return answers, inviting freshmen to visit fraternity houses during the rushing week, will be distributed to the freshmen the next to the last chapel before the first term final examinations, by the Inter-Fraternity Conference. Replies are to be turned in to the Conference at the next chapel.

8. From the first pledging date as stated above no freshmen shall be pledged until the second Monday of the third term.

9. No member or representative of a fraternity or of the three upper classes shall talk or communicate with any freshman between six P. M. on the first Sunday of the second term and pledging time. If any freshman talks or communicates with any of said upper classmen or fraternity representatives during the interval of time above, he shall not be allowed to pledge until a time set by the Interfraternity Conference. In case this trouble is not found out until after a freshman is pledged there shall be imposed on the fraternity a maximum penalty of one-half the bond.

10. No invitation to membership in a fraternity of the Conference shall be given to any person who has not matriculated as a regular four-year student at M. A. C.

11. The wearing of a pledge button binds a freshman to join the fraternity whose insignia he first wears in chapel on the Monday following the first Sunday of the second term, and by this he shall not be eligible to membership in the other fraternities.

12. At 7-00 P. M. on the first Sunday of the second term all freshmen shall meet at the place described by the president of the Conference. All bids shall be given out by the president of the Conference at this time. No other bids shall in any way obligate a freshman before the pledging date. Unaccepted bids shall be returned to the president of the Inter-fraternity Conference at the end of the prescribed date.

13. The pledging rules shall be printed in the Y. M. C. A. Handbook for freshmen and in the COLLEGIAN. A copy of these rules shall be posted in each fraternity house at all times from the opening of the first term until the date of the first pledging.

14. Each fraternity shall place a bond of fifty dollars ($50.00) with the treasurer of the college and shall forfeit any or all of the bond or membership in the Conference for infringement of the rules according to the decision of the Conference. Any freshman infringing upon these rules shall not be eligible for a fraternity for a term of one year. Reports of violations may be made in a signed communication to the president of the Inter-fraternity Conference.

SEMI-CENTENNIAL YEAR TO END CONSPICUOUSLY

Every Minute from June 10 to 14 to be a Minute of Gold to M. A. C. Men.

Four years late, but making up for this time with extra enthusiasm and "pep," the semi-centennial celebration will commence with Citizen's Day on Friday, June 10. Governor Cox and the Commissioner of Agriculture, Dr. A. W. Gilbert, '04, will be the chief speakers. All plans have been definitely arranged, and many events not yet scheduled are expected to liven up the program still more if such a thing is possible. Accommodations will be taxed to full capacity and students may yet find it necessary to utilize cellar floors with a cordwood pillow for their night's rest.

The auditorium tent will be set up as soon as possible, and the classes of '05 and '17 will also have tents for their headquarters. All the addresses and exercises except the dedication of Memorial Hall, will be held in the large tent. The latter will take place on the terrace at the east side of the building. Major-General William M. Wright will be the principal speaker at this event. General Wright is a veteran of the Spanish-American War, and during the World War was corps commander. He is now a member of the general staff at Washington. From 1896 to 1898, he was Professor of Military Science and Tactics at M. A. C. A great change in the campus will probably surprise him, till he looks behind North college and finds the old Chemical Laboratory still intact.

In view of the fact that Students may find Saturday morning rather quiet an entirly new event has been scheduled. At 9-30 A. M. all members of the Freshman and Sophomore classes who take

WHALE SABRINA!

What are they thinking about down at the other end of the town? They have before them the results of last week's games. They see in figures of gold (to them): Amherst 8, Harvard 0; Harvard 6, M. A. C. 0. What would any fool think if he saw that? Uh—huh! That's what they think, too. But say, there are some nine men that know (no thinking about it) that dope may be dope, but that Amherst is going to wonder what struck them after the game is over. These men will be out on Pratt Field this afternoon. And every mother's son of us who loves to sing, "Whale Sabrina," will be there to cheer on the old team until the last Amherst man cleaves the ozone in the last half of the ninth!

TWO PITCHERS ARE HAMMERED CONSISTENTLY

Third Home Game Develops Into a Bat Fest, with Ball, Lent, and Mosely Leaders.

The Clark University nine from Worcester was no match for M. A. C. on Alumni Field, Thursday afternoon The home players raised their batting averages at the expense of two Worcester pitchers, and hammered out a total of sixteen hits. The score was 15 to 5 when the game was called at the end of the seventh inning to allow the visitors to catch a train.

Ball, Lent, and Mosely led the hitters each getting three safeties.

"Phil" Newell and "Doc" Gordon also got in opportune two base hits with men on the bases. The Aggies batted around in the first inning and again in the fourth when Davis was again the first man up. Five runs were scored in each of these sessions, while the third was the only inning in which M. A. C. did not score.

Aggie used four pitchers. Collins started in the box and allowed two runs

INTERESTING BATTLE IS EXPECTED HERE TODAY

M. A. C. Sluggers will Match their Bats Against the Veteran Arms of Sabrina's boxmen.

This afternoon the Aggie Varsity will meet her old rivals at the other end of the town on their own territory. This is the long awaited "big" game of the season, and promises to be a keen and exciting struggle. Amherst's great strength lies in her formidable array of pitchers, three top-notchers she can pick from but her catchers are easily eclipsed by the rating of Newell. Amherst has been going strong this season, having defeated Colgate, Williams and Harvard. The Aggie team has been in more or less of a slump since the Brown game after six consecutive wins, and is due to come back this week. Wednesday's game will be essentially a pitcher's battle. Amherst has had the advantage of always playing many big teams during the season, but after beating Harvard last year, she lost to us 2-1 in a tight game pitched by Kroeck. Either Zink or Clark will probably pitch for Aherst with the probability of the latter. Brisk, Leete, and Eveleth are veteran players.

Springfield, whom M. A. C. plays Memorial Day at Springfield has a good club. They have one of the best infields in the east and a hard hitting outfield. Twombley is their best bet as a pitcher and is an experienced player, and captain of the team. Springfield has been winning right along until a slump last week. They trimmed Am-

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE AT SILVER BAY

Are YOU Going to Represent M. A. C. at this Great Institution?

This year Aggie is planning to have an unusually large delegation at the Intercollegiate Conference at Silver Bay. Many have already signed up, and several more are "contemplating". There are many questions about the conference which are coming in daily, and the following facts may answer most of them.

The dates this year are June 24 (Friday) to July 3 (Sunday). Silver Bay, the Switzerland of America, is on Lake George in New York State, about 15 miles south of Ticonderoga. All students from eastern colleges may attend the conference. The Intercollegiate and International fellowship, the opportunity to become intimately acquainted with many of the biggest men of the times, the chance to become firm friends of other college men, these and many other opportunities are presented at the conference.

Each morning is given over to talks and small discussion groups, with such men as John R. Mott, Robert Speere, Brewer Eddy, Henry S. Coffin, and others presiding. Opportunities for special interviews with these men are in order also. Every afternoon is free for all students to do as they wish. There is a baseball league for all colleges who wish to enter; there is a tennis tournament running throughout the conference; a track meet and stunt night, when each delegation puts on a

GEORGE M. CAMPBELL TO LEAVE M. A. C. JULY FIRST

Alumni Secretary to Accept a Position in Baltimore. Mellen '21 to be His Successor.

It is with regret that we learn of the resignation of George M. Campbell '20, of Baltimore, Md., as Alumni secretary. Mr. Campbell although in office for only a year engineered some of the largest Alumni and college activities and sub-freshmen propaganda.

During this year the membership in the Alumni Association has been increased to 600 persons. Personal visits to high schools throughout the state have been made more of a practise. Publications such as booklets, sub-freshman lists and non-athletic records have been kept. Mr. Campbell has personally attended all the concerts of the musical clubs. He has published the Alumni Bulletin, and in assuming the management of the Memorial Building he has collected old pledges and had $4000 in new pledges come in.

During the year alumni committees have met to discuss such topics as student life, student activities and student

BOSTON UNIVERSITY IS DELUGED IN RUN STORM

M. A. C. Sluggers Collect Seventeen Hits and Score Sixteen Runs Against "Hub" Team.

Aggie scored another well earned victory last Friday at Boston when she defeated Boston University by a score of 16 to 6. The game was closely played up till the eighth inning, both teams going up and tuck and each having five runs to it's credit, at the end of the lucky seventh. The superiority of the Aggie team finally appeared in the eighth and showed itself by the addition of eight runs, which put M. A. C. far in the lead.

Aggie went to bat in the eighth inning and started a batting streak which swept B. U. off their feet, and which ended only after the game had been salted away with eight runs, for a total of thirteen. Toland was knocked out of the box and Miller, who succeeded him, fared little better, three more runs for good measure being secured off his delivery in the ninth. By running up this total of sixteen runs, Aggie gave B. U. her worst defeat of the season.

Every Aggie player knocked out at least one hit. "Red" Ball thrice hit

RECEPTION GIVEN TO PROF. GARRETT DROPPERS

Former Minister to Greece Tendered an Informal Reception at Dean Lewis' Home.

Sunday evening several members of Dean Lewis' English class were guests at his home for an informal reception and luncheon given in honor of Prof. Droppers of Williams college, and United States minister to Greece from 1914 to 1920.

In an impromptu talk to the boys Mr. Droppers gave several very interesting descriptions of his experiences in Greece. He also gave some very vivid pictures of all sides of Greece society. As he was in Greece during such important years, his experiences were doubly interesting to the listeners.

In his brief review of the political situation he mentioned the ill feeling that existed between the Royal family and the followers of Venizelos, who were in sympathy with the Entente powers. Mr. Droppers, of course, knew M. Venizelos personally and is well fitted to tell of the life of this prominent Greek lawyer who rose to fame not only through his work on the Greek constitution, and in Grecian politics, but also through his fine appearance at the Peace Conference.

Mr. Droppers modestly mentioned the week during which the French and English ministers asked him to do their work in addition to his own while they sought refuge at Saloniki during the time of bitterest feeling against these countries by the Greeks. He also had a word of praise for the excellent work done by Mr. Frothingham of New York in aiding the orphans and needy of Greece.

The stories of domestic troubles and personal deeds were especially interesting. After this informal talk Mrs. Lewis served luncheon to the guests.

up to the fifth. These came in the fourth on a single, a two bagger, and an error. In the fifth, Collins went to centerfield and Brunner, freshman pitcher, went to the mound. In the sixth, however, he was touched up for three hits, one a triple by Holmes, and three runs scored. Brigham finished out the inning. In the final inning Kroeck went in to pitch and struckout two men.

Ryer, who started to pitch for Clark, was hit hard from the start and was driven from the box in favor of Shultheiss in the fourth.

The fielding features of the game were a fine stop and throw on a hard grounder to third base by "Buck" Davis, and a double play, Mosely to Kroeck. Winn, behind the bat, was the outstanding player for the visiting aggregation.

M. A. C. FAILS TO PLACE A MAN AT N. E. I. C. MEET

Three Representatives Qualify for Two Places in Finals. Sprinters Recovering.

Two of the three track men sent to the N. E. I. C. track meet held at Boston last Friday and Saturday qualified for the finals which were held on Saturday, but were unable to place in any of the events. Capt. Slate, Acheson and West were the three men making the trip. Slate qualified Friday in the half mile and Acheson qualified in the 440-yd. dash.

In the finals on Saturday, Capt. Slate came in fifth in the half-mile, but was unable to run the mile which followed. Neither Acheson nor West were able to place in the 440 and two-mile, the events in which they entered.

Both Woodworth and Sullivan, sprinters, have been laid up on account of pulled tendons, but have been taking things a little easier lately and will be in prime condition for the triangular meet with New Hampshire State and University of Vermont, to be held here on Saturday.

INTERFRATERNITY RELAY PLAQUE IS AWARDED

Faculty Objection to Spirit of the Fourteenth Rushing Rule.

At the regular meeting of the Interfraternity Conference, May 19, the President reported that the faculty committee on student life objected to the fourteenth rushing rule, which relates to the deposit of a bond, on the following grounds: that it would create ill feeling among fraternities: that it is contrary to the campus spirit: that it would promote quarreling; that it would be difficult to collect. The faculty committee requests the conference to try some other means of enforcing the rules. It was voted to refer the matter to the fraternities and to call a special meeting of the conference to settle it. The remaining rushing rules met the favor of the faculty committee but no action has been taken as yet by it.

It was voted to award the relay plaque to Sigma Phi Epsilon, as this fraternity now leads the contest, and the remaining races will not be run off.

HON. JOHN A. KINGSBURY SPEAKER AT ASSEMBLY

New York Man Brings Interesting Talk to Students.

Honorable John A. Kingsbury of New York City addressed the student body at Wednesday afternoon assembly on May 18, and was very much enjoyed by all who attended. He was introduced by President Butterfield as one who had been associated with him in France in educational work, and as the Commissioner of Charities of New York City under the regime of Mayor Mitchell.

When starting on this work he confessed to his superior that he had not the brains for the job. The reply was: "Brains are the cheapest commodity on the market. What we need now is character and leadership."

Most people, especially those within the city itself, little realize or care about the problems to be met there. As Commissioner of Charities of the "Big City", Mr. Kingsbury laughingly admitted that he was the greatest philanthropist of the world. Over fifteen million dollars a year was spent in this one branch of the city's work.

Part of this goes towards providing the 2,000 foundlings with foster-mothers, and in trying to discover the real owners of the babes. Then, there are 25,000 orphans to be cared for, and 50,000 adults, comprising many physically deficient and feeble-minded. It would take more than a year for the commissioner to inspect all the charitable institutions of the city.

Mayor Mitchell and his staff always followed the principle that an orphan is better off in a home, no matter how humble, than in an asylum. This fight over the homing problem of orphans brought the mayor into serious disputes with some of his most intimate friends, and resulted in his defeat and ultimate death. It was a place where character counted and Mayor Mitchell "came through." As he once said to a half-hearted opponent, "This is no time for truckling, this is the time to fight."

Mr. Kingsbury's last message was this: "Keep ploughing and cultivating your character, so when the crisis comes you can say these words as Mayor Mitchell did. Don't overestimate the A-man in college. Even if you are not able to get high marks, there is no limit to the range of your opportunities in this world. Keep your ideals high always, and remember that character counts as well as brains."

FRANKLIN K. LANE

Last Friday morning in Chapel, Professor Patterson gave a talk on the life of Franklin K. Lane, the late Secretary of the Interior. He remembered that Mr. Lane started life in very poor circumstances, and worked his way to success by dint of hard work and perseverence. During his period as Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Lane straightened out many little problems for Uncle Sam. He has left many friends behind him.

"Jeff" Kilbon has accepted a position with Harries and Hall, Landscape Gardeners of Buffalo, New York.

TUFTS' PITCHER IN "A PERFECT AFTERNOON'S WORK"

Morrell of Tufts Stages a Little Play of His Own and no M. A. C. Man Reaches First.

Pitcher Morrell of Tufts College proved too much of a puzzle for the Aggie sluggers and turned in a no-hit no-run performance against Coach Gore's nine at Medford Saturday afternoon. The home team also fielded perfectly, and as a result not an M. A. C. batter reached first base.

From an Aggie standpoint the game was devoid of features. "Bill" Kroeck took the pitching burden but the Tufts team was off on a batting rampage and collected 15 safe hits. These, mixed with costly misplays in the Aggie infield, produced 11 runs and the worst defeat of the season for the M. A. C. nine. The team showed an entire reversal of form from the Boston University game on Friday.

Besides hitting the ball hard the Medford team did some classy fielding and played good ball throughout. Against this fielding and Morrell's superb pitching Aggie could not get started.

Tufts scored once in the second inning on singles by White, Roche, and Morrell, and added another brace in the third after two were out. Four runs crossed the plate on a single by Weafer, a double by White, a single by Finnigan, an error on Kirshstein's grounder, and another safe hit by Roche. Three more Tufts runners counted in the fourth on two safe hits with two errors sandwiched in. The last runs came in the sixth on three consecutive singles, followed by Finnigan's two-bagger which cleaned the bases. In the final two innings Tufts secured only one hit.

Follow the Rules!

Last week we printed a copy of the Interfraternity Conference's Rushing Rules for 1921-22. Every fraternity man on the campus should make a careful study of these, and be ready to follow them assiduously next fall.

For only by giving full-hearted support to these rulings can the object of the Conference be realized. That object is to nip in the bud any indication of Aggie becoming a "Fraternity first" institution.

The old scheme had at least two radical drawbacks: First, there was an underlying spirit of dissention among the fraternities. Competition for desirable yearlings was keeping the "mud pond" constantly roiled up, to the detriment of an "all-together" Aggie spirit. Secondly, it was making a lot of comparatively indignificant Freshmen think that the college was built purposely for them, and that each fraternity was a reception committee welcoming the new comer to his rightful position as "Right Grand Driver of the Sacred Cow", or some such honor.

Strict adherence to these rules should alleviate the first trouble, and entirely eradicate the second. The fraternities will have a chance to look over their men, without catering to them, and these men will have a chance to find out that three other classes have been on the campus before they arrived.

Such adherence is going to be mighty difficult. Not to be able to room with a Freshman, not to visit him in his room, not to have him visit you in the frat house, not to take him to a show—all this is going to be hard for a fraternity man, especially if the said Freshman has been an old high school friend.

But it is surely for the best. The game is worth a whole box of candles. It's up to everyone to play it according to Hoyle.

Edison Gets the Ha-Ha!

Every wise man does some very foolish things once in a while. Henry Ford once had an idea that he could construct doves of peace as successfully as he can divvers. Arthur C. Doyle spends much valuable time listening to ingenious fakirs tell tales of ghosts and frolicsome furniture that would make his own Sherlock Holmes shiver. And now Edison makes his contribution.

According to "Tom," college men know about as much as certain Freshmen think they know after Prof. Hasbrouck gets through with them. The man with a degree hasn't the vaguest idea who Francis Marion was (or is), where Magdalena Bay is located, or how many miles of track the N. Y. C. engines run over between New York City and Buffalo. Therefore, he is amazingly ignorant.

Mr. Edison simply asks again the old question, "Is education the accumulation of a mass of facts, or is it the knowledge of where these facts can be found, coupled with an ability to use known facts constructively? Is a worth-while brain an encyclopedia or a productive machine?"

The world has answered Mr. Edison. It answered him in the most insulting manner possible. Laughed at him. How could it help it! Probably Mr. Edison doesn't know what beats three of a kind, in what round Jack Johnson took the count, or what the ingredients of a Manhattan cocktail used to be. And yet "Tom" has done considerable for the old world, even without this knowledge. Yes, we can safely call Mr. Edison educated.

The college man may not know much. But at least Mr. Edison gave him quite a boost when he called him ignorant on the basis of a couple of hundred damfool questions!

Sh—h—h, Secret! How Did He Do It?

A good many fellows around the campus have been wondering lately how the steeple-jack, who has been painting the clock on the Old Chapel, located his block and tackle way up on the point of the tower. Well, two men did it, and here's how: One man crawled out as far as he could from the belfry, and then with the aid of the other man he threw a rope around the steeple, as high up as they could throw, and then tightened it. He hitched tackle to this rope and drew himself up a little higher. He threw another rope around the steeple higher up, and by repeating this process, gaining five or six feet at a time, finally hitched his tackle near the point of the steeple. Incidentally, not only will the clock face be repainted, but the tower will be repainted and the weather vane relinished, in order to show to the best advantage during Commencement Week.

COMMUNICATION

Publicity of a problem is often the first step toward its solution. We have upon our campus a problem of which little is heard although it is of extreme importance. This is the question of entrance requirements. It is the author's opinion that matters pertaining to the standards of the college mean so much to the students and alumni that such questions should be brought to light and freely discussed. Only by such discussion can we hope to arrive at a satisfactory solution.

In our discussion it would be well to consider first the type of men who enter this institution. These fall into two general groups: First one lot who specialize in agriculture; and secondly, another group who devote most of their time to science (or pure sciences). It is undeniably true that the entrance requirements for the two groups should be different. By this statement I do not mean to imply a superiority of one group over another, I am merely stating the facts as I see them. The men going into science must have a certain type of preparatory training which differs materially from that needed by the agriculturist.

It is unfair for any group to impose upon another group its entrance requirements. But if one group out of necessity finds it desirable to radically change its entrance requirements, it may be and often is desirable that it offer a different degree to men fulfilling its demand. This fact is clearly seen and appreciated by our large universities which have various requirements depending upon the college which the student wishes to enter and the degree for which he is a candidate. These may vary from practically nil to the most exacting and circumscribed demands.

All this brings me to what I believe is a solution of our difficulties here at Aggie. It is as follows:

1. Dividing the students into groups, members of different groups being candidates for different degrees, e. g. B. Agr.; B. Sc.; B. A.; and even Bachelor of Pedagogy.

2. The faculty members of each group will be free to determine what should constitute their entrance requirements and prescribe the courses their candidates must take.

3. That a man will be free to take courses in any other group that he may desires but the degree which he will receive will depend upon the type of work he has offered for admission to to the college.

Let us look into the merits of each one of these suggestions. First of all, by granting different degrees to differently trained men, each degree will have a rating more nearly equal to the similar degrees granted by other institutions of collegiate or university type. No one appreciates this uniformity more than the science man who often finds it necessary and desirable to continue his studies in another institution. It is aggravating to find your Alma Mater has no standing with other colleges because the one degree which it grants must cover a multitude of sins. The criticism that by granting different degrees one would bring about an undemocratic spirit is without foundation. In this college a man's value is rated in terms of character and personality; we never base friendships upon entrance requirements or scholarship. Right here I may add that I had the privilege to attend one university in which there were several thousand students and to become acquainted with members of a much larger institution. The men were differently trained and candidates for different degrees, yet there was no intimation of snobbishness. If granting different degrees gave the students a "more righteous than them" attitude, then our universities are failures as far as democracy is concerned. From observation I can say that this is not so.

Secondly, if each group is free to set its own standards and outline the courses of study for its members, no student will be unjustly barred from this institution. No more would be demanded of him than was fair and reasonable. But, and this is important, if any group, by juggling entrance requirements, made its department and degree a laughing stock, that group and that degree would alone be dragged down into the mire. In other words, by granting several degrees and grouping the students, no other group would unjustly suffer for the shortsightedess and inefficiency of any of its fellow groups. It would be placing the responsibility right at the door of those responsible. At present, the standing of our entire student body and of our one lone degree is in jeopardy every time there is a wrangle over entrance requirements.

Thirdly, if we permit men to take courses in other groups we encourage the broader minded type of student. The man who looks upon college training as something more than vocational education wants his agriculture plus some other cultural courses, for he feels that the latter gives him a better and broader outlook on life.

It could be so arranged that a man could major in agriculture but get his degree in science, if he offered for entrance the subjects required of the scientific group and if he took other courses also prescribed by this group.

These recommendations, I believe, could solve our problem of entrance requirements. It would enable the various departments to express their individuality and to work out their theories in a just and same manner without the danger of lowering the standard of the entire college. It must be admitted that the project would be rather severe upon an inefficient group or department, for its shortcomings would be easily recognized; but at the same time a sense of justice demand that these and only these departments should suffer. On the other hand, if a department or group makes good, its value will soon be recognized. In closing, I might state that the scheme is practically one for making Aggie a small university. As such it would serve the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in a bigger, broader way, admitting more men and at the same time maintaining the dignity among colleges which our institution truly deserves.

INTEREST IN INTERCLASS SING NEEDED TO INSURE SUCCESS

The time allottment in the Commencement program for the interclass sing has been shortened to one hour this year. Therefore, it will be necessary that each class appear only once. Each class will sing its three songs and will then depart.

The interclass sing this year must be more of a concert than ever before. The numbers on the programs must be finished products. Therefore, the classes must practice at every opportunity which they can get. All the classes are pretty well under way with their plans and their rehearsals.

Kid Golf has been rehearsing the Seniors on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings. Ray Vinten superintends the vocal practice of the Juniors on Tuesdays and Thursdays. Irving Slade leads the Sophomores in Bowker Auditorium mornings after chapel and also on Wednesdays. Earl Weatherwax instills harmony into the Freshmen on Thursday evenings.

The Annual Junior Tree-planting will take place near the Microbiology Building next Friday evening at nine o'clock. After the planting is over, refreshments will be served and addresses will be made by Professor Thompson of the Horticultural Department, and by various prominent men of '22, including Al. studies. Some alumni have have gone to the governor to see about salary increases for the college. Last October 40 Alumni dinners were served at which some 600 men were present. The winter Alumni day was the largest ever held by the college. In short Mr. Campbell has been a very busy and a very efficient man for the job of trying to reach our alumni through papers, direct communication, class secretaries, clubs. He is to be in the transportation business as under secretary at the Terminal Stock Yards in Baltimore. He is to leave his work as Alumni Secretary on July first.

Mr. Richard Adams Mellen of Cambridge, a member of the class of 1921 is to succeed Mr. Campbell as Alumni Secretary. Mr. Mellen is well adapted to a position of this sort and should prove a valuable man. In college he was Editor-in-chief of the 1921 Index and a member of Phi Kappa Phi.

FRESHMEN SWAMP NORTHAMPTON 22-11

Brunner's Batting and Cooney's Fielding Feature Game.

In a comedy of errors and dizzy hits, the Freshman baseball team took victory out of the hands of Northampton High School last Wednesday afternoon on the Old Varsity field by the score of 22-11. In a merry-go-round of slip-shod hits and merry bingles in the fourth inning, the Freshman scored 11 runs and gained a 16-2 lead. But in the eighth and ninth innings the Freshmen fell down on the job and by a series of careless errors, allowed the school boys to advance their tally to 11 points. The best playing of the game was that which was displayed by Cooney, playing left field for the high school. His remarkable catching of some long flies in the fourth and fifth innings when things were going disastrously for Northampton, undoubtedly prevented much higher scoring by the Freshmen. Brunner's timely hits brought several of the yearlings across the plate. The score:

herst 5-1 in a hard played game, and are likely to prove a dangerous opponent.

The Union Game here Saturday should be an interesting game. M. A. C. never played them before. They have been playing fairly well, although defeated badly last week by Syracuse 13-1.

The Aggie team has been in and out the last few games but has upheld a high batting average, 40 hits in the last four games, ten hits a game average. These were not well distributed, for instance, 18 Friday and none Saturday. Our pitching squad is strong. Brigham's work deserves special mention. He has won every game he has pitched so far, six consecutive games. Gordon has been playing a consistent game. The outfield is very good. Moseley is working back into the game again after a slow recovery from a badly sprained ankle and this will materially help the infield.

WEATHERWAX INVINCIBLE AFTER FIRST INNING

Dalton Loses 8-3 in Game Replete with Strike-Outs.

The Freshman baseball team defeated the Dalton High School team last Saturday afternoon on the Varsity Field by the score of 8-3. When the visitors came to bat in the first inning, and, by a series of bingles, stolen bases and errors gained a lead of three runs, and when the Freshmen at the end of the inning had not retaliated, it seemed as though the Freshmen were due for a defeat. But there were eight more innings to follow, and after the first inning, only two of Dalton's men ever succeeded in reaching first base and neither of them scored. On the other hand, the Freshmen in the second inning managed to score three runs, thus tying the score. In the third inning, Noyes's single followed by Barrows's double and Bartlett's triple, and Chase's single drove home three more runs, giving the Freshmen the lead. After this inning, both sides settled down, and little scoring was done during the remainder of the game. The pitching by Weatherwax and by Gilbert, each of whom struck out 11 men, was the notable feature of the afternoon. Both pitchers received excellent support, enabling the teams to play a tight game. Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. SOPHOMORES PRESENT A STRONG LINEUP

The Sophomore class baseball team is being formed, and about 40 men have handed in their names. Practice will be held after classes during the week, and Manager Baker expects to have a strong team to face the yearlings in the annual game between the two lower classes. Hilyard, who held down a berth at short stop for the varsity will doubtlessly play, while the rest of the infield will be defended by Grayson, Baker or Harrington, and Whitaker. Tumey or Holley will probably pitch, while Alexander will be at the other end of the battery. The outfield will probably be picked in a few days, so that the final team will be able to put in some practice before the numeral game.

INDEX APPOINTMENTS ARE APPROVED

The following men have been approved by the Non-athletic board for positions on the 1923 Index:

Roger B. Friend, Editor in chief.
Owen E. Folsom, Business Manager.
Luther B. Arrington, Literary Editor.
Howard Baker, Statistics Editor.
Donald G. Nowers, Sales and Collections.
Gilbert H. Irish, Photography Editor.

Several others are out for positions on the board, but will probably remain in competition until the end of the fall term, 1921.

ROSARY DEFEATS TWO-YEAR TEAM 5-1

Batting of Trafton Prominent in Dalton Game. Three Hits for Nine Bases.

The Two-Year baseball team, lost a well played, tight game, to the Rosary High School team of Holyoke last Wednesday afternoon at Holyoke by the score of 5-1. In the third inning McNulty, the first man up at bat for the Rosary, hit a home run. Fitzgerald, who got on first by a hit, was caught at home by a throw from Thompson, who was pitching for the Two-Year, to Trafton, who was catching. A few minutes later, Walker was caught at second by a throw from second to shortstop. Duffey, who gained first and was advanced on a fielder's choice, scored the second run of the game for Holyoke on an erratic throw. It was not until the seventh inning that the Two-Year team scored its first and only run of the game. Hancock, who had gained first and who was advanced on fielder's choice, came came safely home on a wild throw from third. Thompson, for the Two-Year men, struck out eight men as against six for his opponent. The home run, and the three base hits of McNulty were the swatting triumphs of the day. Young came across as did Thompson with two hits each for the Two-Year team, The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Rosary High School.	0	0	2	0	0	1	1	1	0	—5

The Two-Year baseball team added another victory to its list when it held the Dalton High School to a 10-9 score last Friday at Amherst. The school boys put up some exceedingly good opposition and played excellent baseball but they were outclassed by the Two-Year team. A home run by Trafton in the third inning scoring Grauman and Young, and Trafton's two base hit in the fourth, working in conjunction with a three base hit by Stockbridge and Young's single, served to decide the game. A two base hit, a three bagger, and a home run were considered a scant day's work for Trafton—the Two-Year King of Swat. Hancock's three bagger in the fifth inning also served to make the game interesting for the spectators. D. Connor pitched a very creditable game for Dalton. The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Dalton HighSchool.	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—0

A better pitching staff and a superior knowledge of the game were the deciding factors which enabled the Two-Year team to take away a victory from the hands of the Springfield College Second team. Until the last inning the Two-Year team held the Springfields to a 4-0 score, but in a rally the seconds gained two runs, making the final score 4-2. Headwork and clear thinking made an easy victory. The game was fast and sharp. From the first the consistent slugging of the Two-Year team gave no doubt as to which nine would win. Thompson, pitching for the Two-Year team, struck out 11 men, while Williams, from the college, retired five. Boland, playing second base for the Two-Year team, played a good game, having two put-outs and two assists to his credit, besides one hit out of three times at bat. The batteries were: Two-Year—Thompson and Trafton; Springfield Seconds—Williams and Wells. The score by innings:

FOUR-YEAR CO-EDS ARE GUESTS AT LEWIS HOME

A Quota of Men Serve to Complete a Very Enjoyable Evening.

Last evening Dean and Mrs. Edward M. Lewis were informally "at home" to the four year girls and invited male guests from the college. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis make an ideal host and hostess and needless to say the evening was very much replete with laughter and good cheer; the guests enjoying themselves to the extent that such hospitality always allows.

DAVIDSON AS COLONEL CLARK

The Roister Doisters are at work on "John Epps".

A shake-up has been made in the cast of "John Epps", the anniversary play. Weatherwax '24 and Dickinson '23 exchanging parts, and Williams '24 and Frost '24 being replaced by Lockwood '21 and Whittaker '22 respectively. Pictures of the various members, in historic backgrounds, have been taken by Professor Waugh, new scenery has been ordered for the play, and rehearsals are being held regularly in Clark Hall.

Much of the interest in the performances will lie in Davidson's presentment of the part of Colonel William S. Clark, the pioneer president of M. A. C. Colonel Clark was without question the most dynamic and picturesque figure of the early days of the college. His masterful presence, his feats of horsemanship, his quiet humor, his enthusiasms and aspirations, his magnetic appeal to young men, all contributed to his fame. The portrayal of President Clark in "John Epps" is probably more complete than any other that has ever been put upon paper. He is really the central tigure in the play, and was made so in view of the fact that Davidson could be made up into an excellent likeness and play the part with spirit and sympathy. Those who saw him as Justice Prentice in "The Witching Hour" are confident that he will make of Colonel Clark a living presence in the anniversary celebration. Martin and Bogholt are doing first class work as the Epps cousins, but the most significant person on the stage is sure to be the dominant and romantic president of the college.

Y. W. C. A. ORGANIZES AND ELECTS FIRST OFFICERS

Ruth M. Wood '24 is Chosen President. Advisory Board of Seven Elected.

The Y. W. C. A. was fully organized last Wednesday evening, when the committee on organization reported. A constitution was adopted, and officers to serve until March 1922, were elected. The president is Ruth M. Wood, the vice-president Frances Norton, secretary Martha Epps, and treasurer, Katherine Powell. The advisory board of seven includes Mrs. K. L. Butterfield, Mrs. Edward M. Lewis, Mrs. J. P. Chamberlain, Mrs. John Phelan, Mrs. F. P. Rand, Miss Margaret Hamlin and Miss Edna L. Skinner.

stunt or a short farce. There are excellent bathing and swimming facilities, and chances for hikes in the mountains.

Those who attended the Silver Bay Conference last year are trying to help you get to Silver Bay this year. They are securing work in the vicinity of Amherst for all those who wish it, between the time college closes and June 23. This work should pay for the greater part of your Silver Bay expenses. If there is any other way in which the Y. M. C. A. can be of service to you, in getting to Silver Bay, let them know it. Ask any member of the cabinet for information, and he will see that you get it. Don't forget that your opportunity is from June 24 to July 3. "Hum" your way up there with the rest of the bunch!

SEMI-CENTENNIAL YEAR

compulsory physical education will assemble on the cinder path for a track meet. Regular track team members will have a chance to look over this dormant athletic material. "Speed" will be the by-word.

The student band will lead the Alumni Parade Saturday afternoon at 3 P. M., while in evening the 104th Infantry Band has been secured to give a concert on the lawn in front of South College.

The program for the Anniversary Meeting to which alumni, faculty, and students have been invited, will include six speakers. H. J. Baker '11, is to be presiding officer. The probable speakers are Dr. J. E. Goldthwait '85, who will speak on "M. A. C.'s Prominent men," Prof. F. A. Waugh, representing the faculty, who will speak on the "Educational Development of M. A. C. in the Past Fifty Years," and W. A. Munson '05, who will speak on "Athletics." The student body will be represented by N. W. Gillette '21, who will take as his subject "Student Life at M. A. C. in the past Fifty Years." A. F. MacDougall will speak on "The Contribution of M. A. C. Men Who Have Stayed by the Institution to Teach," The assemblage will sing M. A. C. songs under the leadership of the Glee Club, between speeches, and the Sophomore Quintet will provide orchestra music.

Every minute of the program is filled with action. Although Aggie has no precident to live up to in celebrating an anniversary, yet the goal to be reached has been set high, and no alumnus or student should ever regret the five days he will spend participating in the Semi-Centennial Commencement.

ADELPHIA CHOOSES C. H. GOWDY AS PRESIDENT

Collins and Jackson are the Other Officers. Forum Discussed.

At a special meeting Saturday, May 21, Adelphia elected new officers for the coming year.

Carlyle H. Gowdy '22 of Westfield was elected to succeed Macklutosh, the retiring president. As captain of the Varsity basketball team, he turned out a winning five this year, and is considered one of the best guards in collegiate basketball. He was elected to the Senate in his sophomore year, and was once president of his class. Recently the Interfraternity Conference elected him their president. He is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Herbert L. Collins, '22, of Arlington, was elected vice-president. His prominence in athletics is shown by the fact that he is a three-letter man, playing varsity baseball, football, and hockey. Next year's hockey team will him as captain. He was also captain of the Freshman hockey team, and played class basketball the same year. As a Sophomore, he was a member of the athletic council, the debating council, and the class nominating committee. He was elected to the Senate this year, and is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon.

Copies of the souvenir will be on sale at the booths during the exercises at a nominal fee.

The Junior Tree Planting was postponed from last week to this evening. The time is about seven-thirty, and the place to the north of the Microbiology Building.

Tickets for "John Epps" go on sale Friday, June 3, at 9 A. M. in the Alumni Office.
Admission .50, .75, and $1.
Student activities (not Social Union) tickets are worth .50.

CAPTAIN TWOMBLY OF SPRINGFIELD KNOCKED FROM THE BOX IN FIVE INNINGS

Varsity Wins Eleventh Game in Fifteen Starts, 9-3. 1921 Team Now Has Best M. A. C. Record. Moseley Gets Two Doubles and a Single. Collins Hits Long Triple

BRIGHAM YIELDS BUT FOUR SAFETIES

M. A. C. easily trimmed over her old rival, Springfield College, at Springfield, on the afternoon of Memorial Day, by a 9 to 3 score. This is the worst drubbing the Springfield team has received this season, and was accomplished by hard and opportune hitting of the Aggie batters at the expense of three Springfield pitchers.

Twombly, the Springfield star who is already slated for the big leagues, started in the box for the home team but found the going hard after the third inning and retired at the end of the sixth. Williams, who replaced him, yielded two more runs, and Hobart who came in to pitch in the eighth was also hit hard. Mosely, Gordon, and Collins led the sluggers. "Mose" singled with the bases full in the fourth scoring Aggie's first run and later poled out two more long drives which were limited to only two bases by ground rules. Gordon collected three singles and a sacrifice in five trips to the plate while "Hubba," besides starting the fireworks in the fourth with a single, drove out a long triple with Lent on base in the sixth. He was out at the plate in attempting to stretch the hit into a home run.

John Brigham was on the mound for the Maroon and White and pitched good ball throughout. Springfield secured nine hits but they were well scattered and but for two fielding miscues in the first and seventh Springfield would have gone scoreless.

The first of the annual two-game series between Amherst and M. A. Zink, pitching for Amherst, was at top-notch form and struck out 10 of the Aggie team, that has been hitting so well all season. Brigham pitched well, also, but the playing of the Am-

M. A. C. CAPTURES FOUR FIRSTS IN RUNNING EVENTS

New Hampshire Wins Triangular Meet, with Vermont Third. M. A. C. Supreme in 440 and Relay.

New Hampshire State won the triangular meet between New Hampshire State, Vermont, and M. A. C. last Saturday afternoon on Alumni Field by piling up 58½ points. M. A. C. got second place with 47½ points, and Vermont came a close third with a total of 46 points. The meet showed M. A. C. men that Coach Dickinson has developed a fine field of runners that need only the aid of two good field event men to make a champion team.

The score was close all the way and the winner was not decided until the final event, which was the pole vault. Both first and second places in this event went to New Hampshire.

M. A. C. was particularly strong in the running events, capturing four first places, and breaking two records for this track. The overwhelming superiority of the Granite State boys in the field events accounted for their victory. Aggie was able to score in every event, but was somewhat handicapped by the loss of Sullivan and MacCready, both of whom are still laid up.

Woodworth performed in great style for Massachusetts. "Woody" captured the 220-yard low hurdles in the record time of 27 seconds, was anchor man on the winning relay team, and also captured places in three other events.

Capt. Slate also broke a record by winning the two-mile in 10 minutes, 14 seconds, and he also captured third place in the 880-yard run. Irish came through handily by capturing first place in the 440, and Friend came through with a second in the mile. "Buck" Davis scored a second place in the 100-yard dash, and Lewandowski carried off second honors in throwing the discuss. The mile relay, won by Aggie, was run in fast time and Woodworth finished far ahead of his nearest opponent, Cotton of N. H. State.

herst team as a whole was superior to that of the M. A. C. team, although when it came to the fine points of the game the Aggie men took advantage of all the little slips and thus scored two runs on one half the number of hits that Amherst used to score her three runs. The victors bunched their hits two at a time and scored in the first, sixth, and thirteenth.

The excellent fielding of Jules Kroeck at first base and his equally good work work at the bat was the outstanding feature of the Aggies' play, although "Hub" Collins in centre field looked more like Tris Speaker than ever when he covered an ocean of territory and took seven long ones from enemy bats. In the second, "Red" Ball made a sensational catch of a long hit into left field. He got an early start on the ball and ran toward left centre field with his back to the left field stands and barely caught the ball with his arms extended. Collins' long run to deep center and subsequent catch in the 12th was an even more remarkable piece of work. Capt. Newell, also, played good ball.

In the first inning, Davis fanned but went to first on William's error. He stole second, and went to third on Ball's sacrifice bunt. Zink then uncorked his wild pitch and Davis scored. From then on Zink was in danger only once or twice. In the fourth, Lent got a life on Eames' error and stole second. A passed ball gave him third, but he was out at the plate on an attempted squeeze. In the fifth, Newell led off with a long single to centre field and then stole second. He was forced at third, but Gordon stole second and scored when Kroeck lined out a two base hit. Kroeck was left at second. Gordon got on in the tenth, but a seeming rally was stopped when Moseley was called out for interference. Ball got a lifein the eleventh. Zink fanned the last two men.

Amherst's first score came through a single by Brisk, and a double by Leete; the second on Leete's second hit and a hit by Elliott. In the 13th, Booth grounded to Mosely, and was thrown out at first. Brisk walked, Leete got his third safety, and Elliott knocked a high fly in back of third which Davis and Lent got mixed up on and let fall between them. Davis threw to Newellbut too late for Brisk had crossed the plate with the winning tally.

Capt. Newell had a big day and played like a big leaguer at every minute. "Phil" scored a run himself, batted in the tylng one, and played so well behind the bat that not a Union man was able to steal.

"Hubba" played good ball and allowed only three hits, but loose playing in the sixth gave Union a temporary lead. A pass, an error and a hit, followed by another pass brought in one run. "Hubba" then tightened up and closed their last inning of scoring by striking out two men. He also collected two hits in three times up. Nitchman played well for Union. The score:

GORE'S MEN FINISH STRONG. WIN 4-3

Brunner's Timely Single Sends in Winning Run after Rally Ties the Score.

Aggie broke again back into the winning column last Saturday when she defeated Union 4-3 on Alumni Field. The game was close and tightly played, and was not decided until the final frame. In the ninth Inning Moseley singled and reached second on Kroeck's sacrifice bunt. Brunner was sent in to pinch hit for Nicoll, and after knocking up a couple of fouls drove a hot grounder over second, driving in Moseley with the winning run.

SIX FRESHMEN ENTERTAIN WITH FANCY DIVES

First of the Term's Pond Parties Held. Senior goes after Frosh.

The first pond party of the term was held last Friday afternoon at 12:45 when Frost, Reynolds, Poey, Fenton, Gryswacz, and Wilhelm, all of the class of 1924, paid the penulty for their misdeeds of the past by descrating the waters of the freshly cleared-out pond. Frost opened the ceremony by receiving his bapthmal ducking with the manner of a contortionist. Reynolds proved that he was unsophisticated by stating that he did not know how to "sblimmy". Poey declared that his favorite cereal was "Shredded whif". He also rendered a Spanish lullaby a la Caruso, and his naive confession that he was guilty of walking with one of his "classmates" caused an outburst of laughter from the spectators. Fenton featured for the whole affair when he landed head-first and so frightened Douglas '21, that the latter rushed in and rescued the Frosh at the expense of a pair of white flannels. Gryswacz disgraced the typsichorean art by giving an exhibition of a clog dance. Wilhelm showed such a liking for the cool rippling waters that the Sophomore strong arm squad obligingly threw him in again. There will probably be another party next Friday, when the Freshmen will be given their last chance to make their peace with the Campus pond.

The State University Dream.

In a recent communication a student suggested a plan for entrance requirements and the awarding of degrees at M. A. C., a plan which, he ended his arguments by admitting, involved the making of Aggie "a small university".

We have come, or shall come very soon, in the state of Massachusetts, to a point where we, as citizens, shall have to decide either to definitely contract or expand our policy for free higher education.

At present, contraction seems the fashion. The state departments of education seem desirous of having every man and woman who drinks of the free water of its "well of learning" in Amherst to go forth into the world a "pure agriculturlist", filled with knowledge of the bovine and the cornfield. The executive axe hangs threateningly over many courses, especially majors, that seem likely to misdirect the youth and take him from agriculture into other fields.

Expansion, however, seems the only sensible thing for the citizens of the state to attempt. Logic points out no other way. All the taxpayers in the Bay State are contributing their money that we should have farmers. How many of the taxpayers are farmers? How is Massachusetts represented on the industry maps? Once, long ago, it was an agricultural colony; but it can never again be, and agriculture in New England will, we fear, be always inferior, in respect to numbers engaged in it, to manufacturing and the business professions. Why should not the taxpayers who are not farmers have the privilege of free higher education for their sons and daughters who have no particular desire to become farmers? Of course they should have such a privilege. And when some chap leaves M. A. C. and takes up, not the hoe, but, say the Bible, or the ledger, why should those in authority in this, a non-agricultural state, be surprised?

We certainly do need a state university. And we have an ideal place for such, right here at Aggie. We have an adequate faculty on this campus at this time to make a good beginning, and other men could be added as more departments seem necessary.

If the people of the state could but look straight at the matter of public education, they could not help seeing that Massachusetts should be rising to its feet, educationally, and demanding a Massachusetts State College or a University of Massachusetts, such as many other Eastern states, once our inferiors in education, are finding successful.

Chattering.

A college varsity contest has always been known in the sporting world for the splendid organized cheering and singing which accompany it. Nowhere else can be found the spectators so uniting their voices in the praise of that institution which they represent. When such organization is not possible, sporadic, spontaneous cheers—chattering—are the poor substitutes. Some of our older, respected "Aggie fans" are criticizing, in a friendly way, a habit which we have recently formed of chattering between the cheers at a game. It seems to smack of the unsportsmanlike, of the big league, professional sports.

These old fans believe that plenty of good singing and cheering, with, of course, the inevitable spontaneous outburst that accompanies the good play in any game, are far better than this other "chattering." And we have a hunch that they are right.

PHI KAPPA PHI IN ANNUAL GATHERING

Professor Clay and Dr. Butterfield are Chief Speakers at Banquet.

The annual Phi Kappa Phi banquet took place at Draper Hall on Tuesday evening, May 24. All who were present agreed as to the excellence of the dinner and of the pleasant evening which they spent. The actual initiation ceremony was first held upstairs, at which eleven students and two faculty members were formerly admitted into membership in this honor fraternity.

The initiates are as follows: Joseph A. Hagar, '21, of Marshfield Hills; William M. Kimball, '21, of Orange; Arthur W. Leighton, '21, of Abington; Jonathan H. Smith, '21, of Roslindale; Richard W. Smith, Jr., '21, of Sylacauga, Ala.; Robert L. Starkey, '21, of Fitchburg; Harrison M. Tletz, '21, of Richmond Hill, N. Y.; Miss Faily B. Van Lounep, '21, of Great Barriuglon; Stanley Bromley, '22, of Southbridge; Belding F. Jackson, '22, of Belchertown; William H. Peck, '22, of Stow; and from the faculty J. F. Novitski and Professor Moore.

After the initiation, the group adjourned down stairs to the west wing, where the dinner was served. The walls of the room presented a pleasant setting, with decorations of maroon and white snapdragons. The guests of the banquet were Professor and Mrs. Henry Clay. Professor Clay is an exchange professor at Oxford University, and is located for the present at Amherst College.

After the dinner, Toastmaster Mac Kimmie, President of the M. A. C. chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, introduced Professor Clay as the speaker for the evening. He gave an interesting account of some of the extension work carried out at Oxford for the benefit of workingmen. Professors are sent out to different meetings, held once a week, at which discussions are held and readings are assigned. This work is doing much good among the working classes. Professor Clay remarked on the larger number and excellence of the educational buildings in America as compared with England, and, to offset this on the much smaller salaries paid the Professors here.

As a fitting climax to such a banquet, President Butterfield was called upon to say a few words, in which he chiefly responded to Professor Clay and collaborated the statements which he had just made.

MUSICAL CLUBS HOLD BANQUET IN DRAPER

Vinten and Waugh Chosen to Lead Next Year's Clubs.

The musical talent of the campus, at least those who have worked with the Musical Clubs during the past year, enjoyed their annual banquet Thursday evening, May 26, at Draper Hall. The affair was a genuine success, from the Pear and Ginger Cocktail, which was the opener, to the singing of the last song. Much enthusiasm was shown by the 32 members present, with memories of an enjoyable season uppermost in the minds of each, and with prospects for an even better season during the coming year.

The dinner which Miss Dietcher served well appeased the appetites which the men got at the Amherst game. Special mention was made all around of the orange ice cream, with maple syrup, which certainly hit the right spot. Sears and Whittier were in the midst of an olive-eating contest, with the score at 13 all, when the waiters saw fit to remove what were left.

Professor Raud, as faculty manager of the clubs, opened the afterdinner speechmaking with a few remarks about some tentative plans for next year. One of his suggestions was that of an "All-Aggie Show," in the form of a musical comedy. This sort of thing has not been tried at Aggie lately but has been very successful at other places. All the work and composition connected with this would be done by Aggie men. He assured the men of his confidence in them to put over a successful show, and complimented the clubs on their good work during the past season.

Toastmaster Howard next introduced Harlan Worthley, who coached the Glee Club last winter. He gave some interesting anecdotes which, he said, really happened "back in the good old days," on various trips which he made as an undergraduate. Eddie Landis, leader of the Mandolin Club, talked about the silver and gold medals, and non-athletic activities credits. Kid Goff, Glee Club leader, spoke a few words of appreciation of the Glee Club for their co-operation with him last season. After a few impromptus, the banquet ended with the singing of "Dear Old Massachusetts" by the whole assemblage, led by Leader Goff.

Charles Raymond Vinten '22 of Boston was unanimously elected as leader for the Glee Club next year. "Ray" is a veteran singer and has done much work in all musical lines.

Frederick Vail Waugh '22 of Amherst was unanimously chosen to lead the Mandolin Club. "Fred" played in the front row both before and after his two-years expedition against the Boche.

Both are popular men and well fitted to act as leaders for their clubs.

"TOO MUCH JOHNSON"

On Saturday evening of this week the two-year class of 1921 will present the comedy "Too Much Johnson". The cast has worked hard to make this an entirely satisfactory production, one which will establish itself as a success. The performance will start at 8.15 p. m. in Bowker Auditorium. Prices of tickets are 75 cents and 50 cents and may be obtained from S. A. Smith, Trafton, and Taylor of the Two-Year Senior class, or at the door. It is hoped that a large proportion of the student body will attend.

The details of the next Student Forum were then discussed. Among the subjects to be brought up included that of raising the athletic tax, which is insufficient at present.

PRESENTATION OF F. P. RAND'S "JOHN EPPS"

Roister Doisters to Give Interesting Play of the College in 1871.

M. A. C. celebrates the Semi-Centennial this June from the 10th to the 14th. As a special feature of this celebration the Roisters Doisters will present on Friday and Monday evenings "John Epps", a play of M. A. C. in the days of '71, written by Frank Prentice Rand of the Department of Language and Literature.

The play "John Epps" is distinctly a drama of the modern type, presenting the story of two cousins, one a Senior in Amherst and the other a Freshman in Aggie, both of whom are fine fellows, but neither of whom is impeccable in conduct or above resentment and bitterness of spirit. The rivalry of these boys and the growing independence of the younger contribute to the plot of the play.

The Epps cousins and their immediate associates are typical of the time, but nevertheless wholly imaginary. There appear in the play, however, and closely related to the story of the Eppses, the four members of the early faculty whom every M. A. C. alumnus knows, at least by reputation: President William S. Clark, Professors Levi Stockbridge, Charles A. Goessmann, and Henry H. Goodell. Every effort is being made to present true and living portraitures of these men and in a very real sense of the word the character of "Colonel" Clark dominates the action of the play. Although none of the pioneer class of '71 is actually presented on the stage, there are numerous references to these men, and particularly to John Leonard and the other members of the never-to-be-forgotten crew which defeated Harvard and Brown in the great regatta and broke the intercollegiate record in the process.

The play is in four acts and three scenes: one the living room in the Epps home in Ashfield, the town in which President Clark was born; another John Epps' room in old North College; the third, President Clark's office in the Botanic Museum. The first act takes place in the fall of 1870, the second on the evening before the boat race and two days after the first commencement, the third on the following morning, and the fourth on the evening of the same day, the last three acts being, of course, in July, 1871. Every attempt will be made to reproduce these scenes and the events associated with them faithfully and accurately.

The Roister Doisters have proved to the satisfaction of Amherst judges that they are capable of handling this play successfully. Their production of "A School for Scandal," last month, has received very high praise from people who have seen the play several times upon the professional stage. The part of President Clark will be taken by Donald G. Davidson '21, whose interpretation of Justice Prentice in "The Witching Hour" and of Sir Peter in "A School for Scandal" gives assurance that he will play the part of the great president with sympathy, delicacy and charm. John Epps will be played by Carl M. Bögholt '21, who will be remembered as Frank Hardmuth in "The Witching Hour" and Charles Surface in "A School for Scandal." There has been a lively competition for the other eleven parts in the cast. Following the precedent of these other plays, the female parts will be taken by the girls.

Manager George W. Edman '21, who staged both of the plays mentioned above, will by special arrangement have charge of this production too, and is having new scenery made for the occasion. Illustrated copies of the play will be on sale at the performances. Between the acts Professor Waugh will show stereopticon slides of the college in the old days.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he acts. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers.

HAY is a safe crop. Highly grown, handled, stored. Always marketable. Or, feed it. Sod also enriches soil for next crop. A reasonable application of E. Frank Coe's Special Top Dressing should nearly double yield. Mention your soils and write for valuable book "The Neglected Hay Crop." Free, with our fertilizer suggestions.

SPRINGFIELD DEFEATED

Twombly was invincible for three innings and eight of the nine putouts were strikeouts. Lent walked in the first, Gordon singled in the second, and Davis was hit by a pitched ball in the third but that was the extent of Aggie's activity. The fourth, however, was a big inning. Collins singled filling the bases. Moseley's hit scored Collins and Newell also counted when Kroeck hit to the shortstop and was safe on an error. Brigham struck out but Buck Davis came through with a clean single which put Gordon and Moseley across. Kroeck was out at the plate on Ball's infield hit but Davis scored on Lent's hit before Collins flied out.

In the fifth, Gordon's third single followed by Moseley's two-bagger produced another run, and in the sixth a base on balls to Lent and "Hubba"Collins triple gave another tally. A double play saved Twombly more trouble in this inning. The last brace of runs came in the seventh off Williams pitching. "Phil" Newell was safe on an error and Moseley followed with his second double after Gordon had sacrificed. This allowed Newell to score and Moseley tallied when Kroeck was thrown out at first. Aggie had two men on in each of the final innings but did not score again.

Springfield counted in the opening frame on an error, a stolen base, and a safe hit by Merriman. She threatened again in the second but a double play which caught Maynard at the plate cut off her chances. She had the bases full again in the fifth, but did not score until the seventh when Wells crossed the plate on McQuillian's infield out, and Steinhoffer scored on a high throw by Newell to catch Bennett at second. Springfield got two hits in the eighth but Maynard was caught off second and Wells struck out. The home team went out in order in the ninth.

FRESHMAN TWICE WIN FROM SACRED HEART

Kane, Barrows and Bike Lead Frosh Onslaughts.

By outhitting them nearly three to one, the Freshman baseball team defeated the Sacred Heart High School nine of Holyoke last Monday on Varsity Field, by the score of 16-1. In the second inning, with a merry-go-round of successive hits the Freshmen took the lead with six runs. Infield errors and poor fielding on the part of the high school boys resulted in wild scoring for the Freshmen. Barrows timely hit in the fifth inning, which placed him on the third sack, cleared the loaded bases and helped to blot the yearling's score. Weatherwax, who faced the high school batsmen, pitched unnecessarily good ball, inasmuch as the support he had was some of the best seen on the Freshman field this year. Weatherwax struck out fourteen, while his two opponents were only able to retire eleven together. The score:

The Freshmen baseball team defeated the Sacred Heart high school team last Friday afternoon in Holyoke by a score of 5-1. Superior hitting, and better work in the field by the yearlings were the outstanding features of the game. Brunner, pitching for the Freshmen, held the home team to two hits, one of which, a homer by Roberts at the beginning of the fourth inning, resulting in the only tally of the game for the high school.

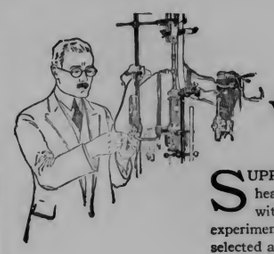

Bartlett, getting a walk in the seventh inning with two men down, was driven home by a three-bagger from Weatherwax. Barrows got on first, and Weatherwax scored on a shortstop error. After stealing second, he came home on a single by Gifford. A couple of hits in the next inning brought Brunner home for the last score of the game. Both teams played a tight game, and until the seventh inning there was an even draw as to which one would come through with the victory. The score by innings:

What Is Research?

SUPPOSE that a stove burns too much coal for the amount of heat that it radiates. The manufacturer hires a man familiar with the principles of combustion and heat radiation to make experiments which will indicate desirable changes in design. The stove selected as the most efficient is the result of research.

Suppose that you want to make a ruby in a factory—not a mere imitation, but a real ruby, indistinguishable by any chemical or physical test from the natural stone. You begin by analyzing rubies chemically and physically. Then you try to make rubies just as nature did, with the same chemicals and under similar conditions. Your rubies are the result of research—research of a different type from that required to improve the stove.

Suppose, as you melted up your chemicals to produce rubies and experimented with high temperatures, you began to wonder how hot the earth must have been millions of years ago when rubies were first crystallized, and what were the forces at play that made this planet what it is. You begin an investigation that leads you far from rubies and causes you to formulate theories to explain how the earth, and, for that matter, how the whole solar system was created. That would be research of a still different type—pioneering into the unknown to satisfy an insatiable curiosity.

Research of all three types is conducted in the Laboratories of the General Electric Company. But it is the third type of research—pioneering into the unknown—that means most, in the long run, even though it is undertaken with no practical benefit in view.

At the present time, for example, the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company are exploring matter with X-rays in order to discover not only how the atoms in different substances are arranged but how the atoms themselves are built up. The more you know about a substance, the more you can do with it. Some day this X-ray work will enable scientists to answer more definitely than they can now the question: Why is iron magnetic? And then the electrical industry will take a great step forward, and more real progress will be made in five years than can be made in a century of experimenting with existing electrical apparatus.

You can add wings and stories to an old house. But to build a new house, you must begin with the foundation.

VARSITY HAS TWELVE WINS IN SIXTEEN STARTS

Under Coach Gores' Efficient Leadership M. A. C. has Produced Best Team Ever.

Saturday's game with Amherst will terminate the most successful season that Aggie has ever had in baseball. To date, 12 games have been won out of a total of 16, and only two of those lost have been scoreless defeats. Harvard proved itself superior by shutting out Aggie with a score of 6-0, and Tufts likewise by piling up 11 runs and leaving Aggie scoreless. Surely the loss of the sensational game with Brown in 14 innings, and the unlucky game with Amherst in 13 innings are losses nearly as good as wins, or attributed to poor playing.

Much of the success is due to the fact that the Aggie team is made up of seasoned ball players, men who know the game from A to Z. They have played summer baseball in the effort to improve their game, and the result has been marked. Another point in favor of the team is its organization. As Coach Gore says, "It is a family team".

Some of the exhibitions of ball playing have not been of the best quality, yet an air of confidence seems to prevail when the team is on the field. Hits are bunched at the right time almost invariably. The lucky 7th has lost its charm this year, but seldom has a 7th inning rally been necessary.

A great deal of credit is due the five Seniors who will play their last game for Aggie Saturday. Captain Newell is one of the best catchers ever produced by the college, "Red" Ball's work at left field has been exceptional, John Brigham has proved a winning pitcher, "Don" Lent has played a versatile game at shortstop, and "Buck" Davis has held down third in a very creditable manner. Aggie will be handicapped next year by the loss of

SENIORS SING "FAREWELL TO AGGIE" AT CHAPEL

Senior Chapel, that most impressive chapel exercise of the whole year, was observed Friday morning, June 3. President Butterfield addressed the Senior class, asking them to consider just what college has given to each one of them. He said that their answer to that question must justify them for having given four years of life to the completion of a college course. Following the short address the Seniors sang "Farewell to Aggie," and then marched out while the other classes stood. Mrs. Watts played the organ for the singing and marching. On the steps the Seniors sang "Sons of Old Massachusetts," and were cheered in turn by each of the three lower classes, returning each cheer as it was given.

ASSEMBLY UNUSUALLY INTERESTING TO ALL

Smith Leader. Seniors in Cap and Gown. Pep Throughout. Prof. Hicks and Slate '21 Speak.

The last Assembly of the year took the form of a student forum, which proved a very interesting one, with A. W. Smith '22, president of the Senate, in charge. The Seniors, with caps and gowns on for the first time, marched down the two center aisles and filled their section, while the rest of the student body remained standing. Dean Lewis greeted the Seniors, and in a few words explained the program to be followed for the Senior Chapel, on Friday morning. President Smith then took charge.

To start things off well, he called on Vinten '22 to lead a song. "Ray" tried a little novelty by having the whole student body sing "There Is a Certain Valley", and then each class sing the chorus separately. Smith refused to judge the winner, as the prize really went to the Juniors. Vinten, in behalf of the class sing committee, urged the classes to show more spirit, and to cooperate with their leaders better.

Professor Hicks was next called on, as one whom the student body is always interested to hear. He explained the need for new bleachers on the athletic field, both for a big seating capacity and to prevent accidents likely from the old ones. His proposition that this matter be settled in the fall, by a surtax of $2.00 on each student, met with a favorable vote from the student body.

It was also voted to assume another tax of $1.00, to help finance the judging teams of the college. This is the only way in which the college is represented agriculturally, and should be supported as well as other affairs.

George Slate '21, captain of track for this spring, speaking in behalf of his sport, thanked the student body for their good support of the team, especially at the recent triangular meet. He emphasized the importance of keeping up this support next fall, in two ways—by coming out for the team, even if one

CAMPUS TAKES ON HOLIDAY APPEARANCE

Lights, Entrances and Grounds Take on Finished Look.

Eleventh hour preparations about the campus during the past week have given it the appearance of a Barnum and Bailey circus. Tents have been pitched near the library for the classes of '05 and '17, to be used as campus headquarters, and the big Assembly tent will soon be ready for occupancy on the Old Varsity Field.

With a large Massachusetts sign across the approach to the campus to greet all comers, and with scores of electric lights and Japanese lanterns along the roadsides, the campus is all prepared to step into its holiday attire. In the good weather of last week, a good crop of hay was cut from the fields around the pond, and these present almost the appearance of well-kept lawns.

As each one takes his first peek in the new Memorial Hall, soon to assume its duties permanently, he is pleasantly surprised, to say the least, and agrees that the inside is fully as attractive as the outside. The inscription on the front seems to catch the eye at the first glance, "We will keep faith with you who lie asleep," and to strike one as particularly fitting for such a memorial.

F. E. WILLIAMS '23 TO CAPTAIN PISTOL TEAMS

Manager to be Hollis '23. Successful Season Gives M. A. C. a Permanent Team.

A week ago yesterday, after drill, the Sophomores who have been interested in pistol shooting met in the Drill Hall to organize themselves into a permanent team. Those men who shot so well against the other colleges this year voted for a captain and manager of the team. Forrest E. Williams was elected captain of the team and Frederick Hollis was elected manager. On Saturday last a competition between the members of the team was held to determine the three high scorers. The usual three positions were fired from; slow fire at 15 and 25 yards and rapid fire at 15 yards. Raymond Grayson won first place, second and third positions going to Capt. Williams and James Beal, respectively. These three men will be presented with prizes at the Commencement drill, the prizes being a wrist watch, camera, and fountain pen.

These men have shown excellent results, considering the fact that this year is the first time any of them ever fired a pistol. Two matches were held and both were won by M. A. C. In the first match, Alabama Polytechnic Institute and was easily defeated, and in the triangular meet against Norwich

KROECK TWIRLS WIN OVER BOSTON UNIVERSITY

Allows but Two Singles in Aggie's Twelfth Victory of Season.

M. A. C. made it 12 victories out of 16 starts when the varsity nine repeated its former win over the Boston University team by a 4 to 1 score on Alumni Field Saturday afternoon.

The game was one of the best seen here this season and was featured by the pitching of Bill Kroeck. Kroeck, who has been holding down the initial sack, has not been seen in action on the mound much this season. Saturday, however, he was in topnotch form and held the Boston nine to a pair of singles, both of which came in the eighth inning, and did not figure in the scoring. In four of the innings the visitors were let down in order and only his liberality with passes paved the way for the one run in the sixth frame.

Toland also pitched a good game for B. U. but he did not receive the same support as the Aggies gave Kroeck. Coach Gore's men bunched four of their eight hits in the sixth inning and these, with a couple of costly errors on the visitors' part, gave them three runs.

Aggie put up a strong fielding game. There were only two errors and neither of these affected the score, while there were two neat double plays each of which cut off a run at the plate. "Don" Lent made some nice stops at short and also starred in the Aggie attack. He was the only man to get two hits, he stole four bases and scored two runs.

B. U. drew two passes in the opening inning but that was as far as they got until the fourth. In that frame an error on Furniss, hit, a fielder's choice, Hartnett's sacrifice, and a base on balls to Toland filled the bases. Herrin, however, hit to Kroeck forcing Furniss at the plate and was out at first himself when Newell and Marshman completed a double play. In the fifth the visitors went out in order but in the sixth Stumcke scored their only run. He drew a base on balls went to second when Furniss was also passed and scored while Furniss and Miller were being thrown out at second. B. U. threatened in eighth when the first two men hit safely. Hartnett hit to Collins and a fine throw by "Hubba" doubling Furniss at the plate blighted the chances of the Bostonians.

Aggie scored first in the fourth, when "Don" Lent singled, stole second and third and counted on a hit by Captain Newell. The sixth was the big inning for the home team. Ball singled to start things but was forced by Lent. "Don" stole second, "Hubba" Collins was safe on an error and he and Lent pulled a pretty double steal, the latter scoring. Three more hits in succession by Gordon, Moseley, and Kroeck, put two more runs across before the inning was over. In the eighth Davis walked with one out and took second on a sacrifice by "Red" Ball, but he was thrown out at home attempting to score on Lent's second hit.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA WINS FIRST GAME OF SERIES

The first game of the Interfraternity baseball championship series was played off Saturday afternoon on the old Alumni field before the varsity game. The contest was between the Phi Sigma Kappa, who had been going strong all the season, defeating their rivals with big scores with Haskins pitching, and the Alpha Sigma Phi, who had also played some good games. The game was a very one-sided affair, the Phi Sig's out-playing their rivals from the beginning and finishing with a score of 13 to 3. Phil Haskins pitching for the Phi Sig's held the opposing team to two hits. Davenport pitched the first inning for Alpha Sigma Phi, Al Smith the next three and Ed Martin the remainder of the game. The Alpha Sig's had poor fielding, although their pitching was fairly good. Phil Haskins' pitching was the feature of the game. His opponents could not touch him at all.

AGGIES OUT TO WIN SECOND GAME WITH SABRINAS

Brigham or Kroeck Will Pitch; Team Hitting and Fielding Extremely Well.

The 1921 baseball season comes to a close Saturday afternoon with the big Commencement game with Amherst college on Alumni Field.

This game promises to be the best of the year and comes as a climax to the most successful baseball season in Aggie history. The team has already hung up twelve victories and has lost only to Harvard, Tufts, Brown, and Amherst and to the last two in extra inning games. This is far ahead of the record of any other Aggie nine.

Amherst, also has a strong team and after a rather poor start has won her last five games including victories over Harvard and Dartmouth. She was beaten by Springfield College, however, while that team fell a victim to Aggie. In the game at Pratt Field a week ago Amherst won the verdict 3 to 2 after a thirteen inning battle, but the Maroon and White is out for revenge and her supporters are confident that Amherst can not repeat on Alumni Field.

The former game proved to be a pitcher's battle between Brigham and Zink and since both teams are particularly strong in the box there will probably be no large score in the second encounter. Amherst has two exceptional pitchers in Zink and Clark but she has nothing on Aggie with Brigham, Kroeck, and Collins all going in top-notch form and any one of them capable of turning back the Purple hitters. Brigham has already won six of his seven starts and in the other game, Amherst was lucky to beat him with only five safeties in 13 innings. "Bill" Kroeck is the hero of last year's Amherst game when Aggie triumphed, 2 to 1 at Pratt Field. "Bill" has not been used much in the box this year but his feat of holding Boston University to two singles shows how he is going at present. "Hubba" Collins has been used in center field regularly this season but can deliver the goods when called upon, as was shown by his one hit performance against Connecticutt Aggie.

Outside of the box, Aggie looks to have the best team. Kroeck, Moseley, Lent, and Davis make a strong infield combination, and will have the edge on the Amherst group, Eames, Eveleth, Booth, and Brisk. The Amherst outfield will have to travel fast if they cover as much ground as the Aggie trio made up of "Red" Ball, "Hubba" Collins, and "Doc" Gordon. At the bat M. A. C. also will have the advantage. The lineup includes nine hard hitters with no weak spot where an opposing pitcher can take a rest. The whole team has been hitting consistently all season, and Ball, Lent, and Gordon in particular have been traveling at a rate to cause any pitcher worry. The team is also going at its fastest fielding pace just now, and taking all things into consideration, Amherst is likely to find trouble on Saturday.

The teams will probably line up as follows:

M. A. C.	AMHERST
Davis, 3b	2b, Eveleth
Ball, lf	ss, Booth
Lent, ss	3b, Brisk
Collins, cf	cf, Leete
Newell, c	rf, Elliott
Gordon, rf	1b, Eames
Moseley, 2b	lf, Palmer
Kroeck or Marshman, 1b	c, Williams
Brigham or Kroeck, p	p, Zink or Clark has had no previous experience, and by backing up the men well, both at practice and at the meets.

It was decided that there will be no special train on Tuesday after Commencement, as there was not a large enough stand by the student body. Buckley '23, assistant manager of baseball, urged the necessity of every man who has aspirations for varsity baseball next year, to play ball during the summer and keep in trim. The forum was much enlivened with several cheers led by Hooper '22. As a finale, Vinten led in the singing of "Sons of Old Massachusetts".

JUNIOR TREE PLANTING A SUCCESS, MYSTERY FOLLOWS

Prof. Thompson and Others Have Words of Interest. Packer the Evening Cheer Leader

The delayed Junior Tree Planting took place Wednesday, June 1st about 9:00 P. M. back of the Microbiology building. The Class of 1922 improvised a name for the affair in the question, "Who Doctored the Pop?"

The evening started quietly with a speech by "Hank" Gowdy on the subject "Down with Rum". Prof. C. H. Thompson followed with a speech entitled, "How Far is Up?" An interesting talk on trees answered the question. Belding F. Jackson solved "The Rural Problem" with a poem composed at some tree planting in the past. "Al" Smith finished the speaking program with a short discourse on "Every Man His Own Brewery". He expressed his sorrow that the stills ordered by Waugh, chairman of the Tree Planting Committee, had not arrived.

Refreshments of "pop" and doughnuts were then served. The feature of the evening followed when Packer led the class, in cheering the tree, branches, leaves, etc. Stevens '21, a visitor, wanted to give three barks for the branches.

A sad mystery has developed from the tree planting. Sometime before dawn, the Juniors' tree disappeared. Where, why, or how has not been determined yet, so all evidence is welcome.

GOLD MEDAL AWARDS FOR NON-ATHLETIC CREDITS

Nine Seniors Have the Necessary Credits and One Junior.

The non-Athletic medals for this year will be awarded to the following eight Seniors who have the required number of credits: Carl M Bögholt, Donald G. Davidson, George W. Edman, Herbert L. R. Geer, Howard M. Goff, Frederick Howard, Robert L. Jones, E. B. Landis, and L. P. Martin. In the Junior class H. W. Spring has the required credits; Jackson will also be awarded a medal as Editor of the Index.

FERNALD HALL

The Entomological and Zoological laboratory has now changed its name, and from now on will be known as Fernald Hall in tribute to Charles H. Fernald, 1838—1921, one of M. A. C.'s best known and most efficient leaders. This last week saw the placing of the new name over the main entrance to the hall. The letters are in bronze set out from cement work. The hall now harbors the departments of Entomology, Zoology, Geology, and Home Economics. It contains a pit, a library, several laboratories and a museum.

A Commencement—But Also a Continuation.

And now we are entering the biggest, brightest days of all the year—Commencement. We have all ridden on the great roller coasters—the car makes a slow climb to a point of high elevation and from that point we get a view of the whole amusement park, before starting on the whirlwind journey, around corners and down steep pitches, at a speed which never slackens till the end.

You Seniors are now at the top of the scenic railway. Around beneath you spreads the amusement park of your college life. Soon you start on the dizzy, jolting ride which all take who mean to make something of themselves. Perhaps few of you will ever again be able to look back over four years again with the pleasure that you look back upon the last four at Aggie.

There is the pond into which you were thrown away back in the past, and through which later you dragged the struggling Freshmen; there is the Drill Hall, the scene of nightshirt parades, of thrilling contests and still more thrilling proms and hops; there is the athletic field, where you snake-danced after the Tufts game; there are all the buildings which housed for eight hours a day profs you loved and profs you wished were in—some other part of the state; there is the orchard with its juicy "Macks"; and over there, way over there, is the old faithful B. & M. that brought you here and will take you away again. Seniors, all is spread out before you in the beauty of a four-year perspective.

Time has rubbed away each blot from the scene. Forgotten are the condition exams, the pulling of the roller, the black eye received in the banquet scraps. Aggie seems like a mighty fine place, doesn't it? You are always going to be proud that you graduated from her.

And it will seem as beautiful, more so in fact, as the years go by. You will soon be one of the Alumni Association, which is making itself an integral part of M. A. C. more and more each year. Nothing can ever sever you from your little college in Amherst. These days mark for you a Commencement of a different sort of life, but a continuation of a policy you adopted four years ago—a policy of boosting old Aggie, all the time, to the limit!

Work Will Help.

At this season of the year, when summer sports are at their height, one is reminded of the excellent tennis teams which not long ago represented M. A. C. in collegiate circles. For some time now Aggie has been unable to have a tennis team because of lack of adequate room for practice. New courts cannot be made, because the athletic department is already below the water line, as far as finances are concerned.

There is but one way of bringing back our tennis standing of former years, and that is by the construction of courts by the students. Might not one day a year be set aside when the entire student body would be divided into sections and put to work on improving the campus. A kind of clean-up day when such things as tennis courts could be constructed almost in a twinkling, and with practically no cost to the college. Such a scheme works well at New Hamphire State, and surely can be made successful here at Aggie.

NON-ATHLETIC AWARDS

There have been many grumblings about the campus lately on the question of non-athletics, especially the system of awarding credits. As the matter now stands a non-athletics medal means nearly nothing about the campus and at the same time is one of the most difficult rewards to obtain. There were just eight gold non-athletic medals awarded this year. To whom? Only the leaders of the non-athletic activities. Why not give an "M" to only the Captains of the athletic teams?

A student may be on the Glee Club for four years and yet not reach the goal. He has still one more point to make, a credit which must be made in another activity. Why give an "M" to a player on the football team, he has not played baskeball?

In other words, there are too many credits required before a participant in non-athletics can receive a medal. The tendency is to discourage a student at the very start. If he feels he cannot obtain a reward he looses interest. This may be one of the reasons why non-athletics are apt to be neglected in the college.

Again, how and when are the medals presented? They are presented by the head of the Non-athletic Board when nobody is around, and at the end of the year. The Senior receives the medal and graduates and the student does not see the medal nor look up to its wearer, simply because it is not known he has has it. What a contrast to the athlete who is presented his "M" before the whole student body and wears it throughout the year!

The man in non-athletics, working throughout the college year, oftentimes puts in as much time as the man in athletics. He, therefore, should receieve more reward than at present. A reward should be given him for each year he participates in activity, and if funds are not available for such a course the student body will willingly help out. In this way, competition would be increased and non-athletics would be stimulated to greater excellence.

ALUMNI FIELD SAW CLOSE OF TRACK SEASON

Captain Slate is High Scorer, Woodworth Also Places Well.

The Triangular Meet on Alumni Field with New Hampshire and Vermont as opponents marks the last event of the Track Team this Spring. The individual star of the season has been Captain Slate, with a total of thirty-three points to his credit, who will leave a big gap in the ranks of the milers and two milers next year. The first meet of the season was a defeat to Amherst. Sullivan was incapacitated, having pulled a tendon. The next meet was with Rhode Island, and Captain Slate's men were barely nosed out. In this meet, Macready also pulled a tendon. At the Eastern Intercollegiates the Team scored eight points, Slate coming in second on the mile and Woodworth second on the low hurdles, while Acheson and West placed fourth on the quarter and two-mile respectively. At the New England Intercollegiates, Slate and Acheson ran in the trials but did not score. In the triangular Meet, Aggie came in second with 47½ points. Woodworth here showed his all-round ability by placing in five events. Owing to the fact that regular track will take the place of cross-country next fall, and as all of Aggie's middle distance runners are still available, prospects are exceedingly bright. The return of Lewandowski, the versatile weight man, has strengthened Aggie in the field events. "Lavvy" can throw the discus 108 feet with ease. Kroeck is also available for the shot and discus. We are fortunate in having Friend and Macready in the half-mile, and Irish and Acheson in the quarter. Sullivan, because of his unfortunate mishap at the beginning of the season, has not run at all this term, but will doubtless shine in the hundred and two-twenty next year. Needless to say, Woodworth is without a peer in the hurdles. Loring and Tanner are the most promising candidates for the mile and two mile. Paddock, who vaulted for the first time in his life at Rhode Island, scored a third there, and a fourth at the Triangular Meet. There is a shortage of men in the high and broad jumps, and in the pole vault, and it is hoped that 1925 will contribute men for these positions.

1916 ACCEPTS CHALLENGE OF 1914.

The class of 1916 has accepted 1914's challenge to a ball game. "Chick" Davies will twirl for '14 and Morsie will catch. This is the battery that will put the "Brew" in Capt. Mike Brewer's team.

HILYARD, MARSHMAN AND HARRINGTON TO PLAY

Freshmen Will Go Against a Veteran Infield and Hard-Hitting Outfield.

Already feeling is high over the outcome of the approaching Sophomore-Freshman baseball game which is to be held Monday afternoon at 4:30 on Alumni Field. Little has been heard of the strength of the '23 team, but they have been having regular practice, and see victory ahead. Because of the good season which the '24 team has already put in, it also looks forward confidently to a victory. The Sophomores have a strong line up with several veterans, and a team quite similar to the one which defeated '22 last year will probably be on deck. Marshman will be at the initial sack with Harrington at second and Hilyard, last year's star varsity shortstop again at short. Whitaker will be at the hot corner, and a first-class outfield can be picked from the large number of candidates out for berths. At present Fanenf, Grayson, Hardy and Richards look good for the outfield, and their hitting ought to help out considerably.

The Freshmen will be represented by their regular team, with either Brunner or Weatherwax in the box. The probable lineup will be Barrows, ss., Gifford, 2b., Haskell or Noyes, rf., Brunner or Holteen, cf., Kane, c., Bike, 1b., Bartlett 3b, and Weatherwax or Brunner, p.

JONATHAN H. SMITH '21 WINS GOESSMANN PRIZE ESSAY

J. H. Smith of Roslindale, a Senior, was awarded the prize for the best essay written in Miss Goessmann's English class on the subject "Come Forth into the Light of Things and Let Nature be Your Teacher." Dean Edward M. Lewis was the judge, and although several others received honorable mention, Mr. Smith's was especially good. The decision was based on structure, English and the thought of the essay.

It seems fitting that the prize should go to Mr. Smith who is majoring in Landscape Architecture, and is already being accorded praise as an amateur writer, actor of plays and skits. He was recently elected to Phi Kappa Phi, the college honorary scholarship fraternity.

EXTENSION LEAFLET 21

Extension Leaflet 21, entitled "Potato Insects and Diseases and their Control," has just been issued. This leaflet is the first ever prepared by the departments of entomology, botany, and agronomy, working together. It is very fully illustrated, and written plainly and simply, to enable anyone to identify and treat any pest or disease attacking Massachusetts potatoes. It is the only one of its kind ever put out in this country, and should prove of great value to every farmer in the state.

FRESHMEN END SEASON MAJORITY OF WINS

Kane, Nicoll, Barrows, and Bike are Among Likely Varsity Meterial.

The Freshman baseball team, whose season ended with its defeat at the hands of Greenfield, last Saturday won seven out of their nine games. They were defeated once by the Deerfield Academy at Deerfield 8-5, and once by Greenfield high school by the score of 4-3. Its victories which were in most cases easily won, included many games with the best high schools of the valley. Following are the games with the scores: Hopkins Academy 15-0; Monson Academy 5-1; Northampton high school 22-11; Dalton high 8-3; Sacred Heart high 5-1; Sacred Heart high 16-1; Holyoke high 4-2. Owing to the fact that some of the Freshmen have been on the varsity squad part of the time, a changing personnel on the team has resulted in a wide variation of scores.

Many members of Coach Maginnis's squad are likely candidates for Varsity for the coming year. Captain Kane who has been doing the backstop work for the Freshman team has shown ability not only as a good catcher, but as an able batsmen. The team has had two pitchers, Brunner and Weatherwax. Brunner has also been a consistant and reliable heavy slugger. Nicoll, Barrows and Bike are other valuable infield men who should land Varsity berths.

JUNIORS REPEAT AS TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Tucker, Randall, Moody, and A. W. Smith Again Defeat All Comers.

The class of 1922 again won the Interclass tennis championship when they vanquished in succession the pick of the tennis players of every other class. The only opposition which the champions met with was at the hands of the Freshmen, whom they defeated after difficulty. The winning team was composed of Tucker, Randall, A. W. Smith, and Moody. The record of the team follows:

1922,	2	1924,	1
1922,	2	1921,	0

The Seniors and Freshmen are both bidding hard for second place. They won respectively 3-0 and 2-0 from the Sophs. The Senior-Freshman matches will be played off the first of the week. Competition should be keen between these teams with the Seniors perhaps having the slight edge. With a considerable number of promising tennis players, the stage should be set for a college singles and doubles championship to be held in the fall.

"Dick" Potter is again on campus and plans to stay through Commencement.

CHAPEL GIVEN OVER TO COMMENCEMENT PLANS

N. W. Gillette '21 Leads Morning Chapel. Discussion of Student Plans.

At Friday morning chapel Commencement plans were discussed by Professor Waugh and George Campbell. Professor Waugh spoke of the importance of an unusually well planned Junior Frolic. He said also that the Memorial Building would be completely ready for the exercises next week. Mr. Campbell spoke of arrangements for a special train to Boston late on June 14. He said that a stand will be taken at next Wednesday assembly to determine whether the train will be sufficiently patronized. Kenneth Moody also spoke briefly on sending delegates to the Silver Bay Conference late in June. He asked for contributions to a fund which is being raised to help pay the expenses of the delegates.

STANDARD DAIRY SANITATION

It is impossible to overestimate the value of the herd test. "It illuminates the scrub and culls out the boarder." and insures to the Dairyman a productive herd.

Yet these beneficial results cannot be fully realized unless the increased milk yield is protected by such sanitary methods of production that have themselves met the test of day to day performance.

For over eighteen years
Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser
has provided this needed protection to the Dairy Industry, and the sweet, wholesome, sanitary cleanliness it creates is recognized by Agricultural Colleges of the United States and Canada as the standard dairy sanitation.

Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser is guaranteed to meet every test in the dairy or the trial will cost you nothing.

TWO-YEAR PROM DANCE

The Prom dance of the Senior two-year class was held Monday evening and Tuesday morning in the Drill Hall. Davenport's orchestra furnished the music. Dinner was served at midnight, and tired but happy groups of couples left early in the morn pronouncing the dance to be the best ever given by a two-year class.

RHODODENDRON GARDEN INVITES Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. had an outdoor meeting in the rhododendron garden last Sunday evening. A picnic supper was served. The Advisory Board was present, and Miss Margeret Clark, the general secretary at Mt. Holyoke College, spoke on "The Purpose and Work of the College Christian Association".

FRESHMEN WIN AND LOSE

The Freshman baseball team defeated the Holyoke High School aggregation last Wednesday afternoon at Amherst by the score of 4-2. The Freshmen began scoring in the second inning when a free base to Kane, followed by a two base hit by Bike brought in the first run. In the third inning, a pass to Gifford followed by the bingles of Nicoll and Brunner succeeded in adding two more points. The visitors were unable to score until the seventh inning when an error by Bartlett, followed by two stolen bases and another error allowed Kenney of Holyoke to tally for his team. Both teams played good ball giving fine support to both batteries.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Freshmen,	0	1	2	0	0	0	0	0	1	—4

Batteries—Brunner and Kane: Shea and Michalik.

Loose playing resulted disastrously for the Freshman baseball team last Saturday, when they were defeated 4-3 by the Greenfield high school at Greenfield. In the last game of the season, poor fielding, poor hitting, and many errors on the Freshmen's side lost them the game. Weatherwax, who pitched the first seven innings, twirled creditable ball, holding the opposing team to three runs. When the bases were filled by errors in the eighth Brunner passed a man, forcing in the winning run. Weatherwax and Kane did most of the hitting for the Freshmen, accounting for two safeties apiece. I. Bartlett, pitching for Greenfield, had a slow ball which he used very effectively to retire fifteen of the Freshman batters.

The score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Greenfield,	0	0	3	0	0	0	0	0	1	—4

Batteries—Weatherwax (6) Brunner (8) and Kane: I. Bartlett and Brown.

Twenty students of the class of 1921 have filed applications for State Teachers' Certificate in the Department of Agricultural Education. These certificates are issued to all college graduates who have taken at least four courses in the Department.

During the past year there have been 415 students enrolled in the courses offered by the Department of Agricultural Education.

Each year makes its own crop prices

Farming history shows that over-production and low prices one year are almost invariably followed by much smaller crops and higher prices the next. To the far-seeing farmer this means opportunity. While others wait, he sets. He plants; and when the rise comes his crops are grown.

Do you see the situation in that light?

E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers are ready to help. They are good fertilizers—formulated, mixed, cured right. They'll not only give your crops a quick start, but they'll keep right on feeding them to successful maturity. The very best ingredients and over SIXTY YEARS of manufacturing experience go into E. Frank Coe's Fertilizers.

HAY is a safe crop. Sure. It will grow, handled, stored. Always marketable. Or, feed it. And also enriches soil for next crop. A reasonable application of E. Frank Coe's Special Top Dressing should nearly double yield. Mention your soils and write for valuable book "The Neglected Hay Crop." Free, with our fertilizer suggestions.

FRESHMEN TO GIVE JUNIORS A BANQUET

Another of the old Aggie customs was revived when the Freshmen at their last class meeting voted to contribute one dollar per man toward the Junior Banquet. This is in keeping with the old tradition of even classes working together against the odds. Lewandowski and Al Smith have been making preparations for the affair and there will probably be about 75 who will attend. The Banquet will be held in Draper Hall, Wednesday evening, June 8, at eight o'clock.

Dean Lewis is to be the principal speaker and Al Smith will be toastmaster. The other speakers include Collins, Gowdy, Cotton, Jackson, and Waugh. There will be class songs and music by Maxfield Smith's orchestra. Plans for the Junior Frolic and Commencement will also be discussed.

In addition to his literary activities with the States Rebatlon Service, Merrill is constantly writfor farm papers. He is a regular correspondent on gardening matters for the Farm Journal, published in Philadelphia, and the Southern Agriculturist issued from Nashville, Tenn., and writes occasionally for other publications. Mr. Merrill will be remembered as probably the only man who ever graduated from M. A. C. in two years without having had previous college training. He entered as a Sophomore with '00 and managed to cover the remaining three years in two.

A new and unique feature to be introduced at the Poultry Convention to be held here during Farmer's Week, the last week of June, will be in the form of a culling school. There has been added interest displayed by people in the surrounding states in this year's Poultry Convention, as evinced by the increased demand for circulars and programs. With the increasing popularity has come a call for the latest methods of poultry culling. With this point in view, the Poultry Department has arranged with college instructors and outside men to give lectures, demonstrations, labratory work on poultry culling and poultry judging. This school will be held on Friday afternoon and Saturday morning for all those who may care to attend, and will be a part of the regular Poultry Convention.

TRAFTON LEADS BOTH AT BAT AND IN FIELD

The Two Year baseball team which completed its season last Saturday when it accomplished its twelvth victory out of 14 games has truly had a most successful season. Its only defeats were its first game of the season with Holyoke high school in which it lost 13-7, and its first game with Rosary High School in which game it was defeated 5-1. Its victories, which were numerous, were as follows: Wilbraham Academy, 8-5; Suffield Academy, 15-7; Deerfield Academy, 7-2; Wilbraham Academy, 15-2; Amherst High School, 12-4; Williston Academy, 6-3; Sacred Heart High School, 4-2; Dalton High School, 10-0; Springfield College 2ds, 4-2; Sacred Heart High School, 12-9; Rosary High School, 8-7; Deerfield Academy 4-1.

TWO YEAR DEFEATS DEERFIELD

In their Two Year Commencement game, the Two Year baseball team defeated the Deerfield Academy team last Saturday morning on the Varsity Field by a score of 4-1. Girard, who had a (friendly?) bet on that he could strike out at least nine men in the course of the game, did himself credit with two to spare, and collected his money at the end of the game. In addition to holding the academy to four hits, he held them scoreless until the ninth inning, when, the gold within his grasp, he weakened enough to let the visitors score a solitary run. Grauman's hitting again, featured the game his bingle in the eighth starting the fireworks which resulted in two runs for the short course.

The score by innings:

TWO-YEAR PLAY.

The Two-year class staged a three act play "Too Much Johnson" in Bowker Auditorium Saturday, June 5. The production was under the supervision of Prof. C. H. Patterson, and was exceptionally well presented both from the standpoint of acting and interest aroused. A large audience of parents and friends of the Two-Year students were entertained. The Sophomore Quintet furnished orchestral music and accompaniments.

"FEED UP"—and What This Means to Every Dairyman

THE first flush of grass, and the way cows avail themselves of it, tempts many dairymen to reduce the amount of feed at this time of the year.

This is the wise thing to do, but for a short time only.

Start feeding again lightly after the first flush of grass, or your cows will shrink to such an extent that they will not come back strong for the fall work.

If you feed Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed, with a fair amount of mill feed, your cows should give from three to four pounds of milk per pound of grain fed.

Your herd needs Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed—in summer as well as in winter—in order to make it a real source of profit to you.

You cannot afford to overlook these facts, or neglect to take a broad view of the cost and return from your herd. Then you will order Buffalo Corn Gluten Feed.

ATHLETIC CONDITIONS EXISTENT AT M. A. C.

Greatest Need Now is For Tennis Courts.

As the alumnus of more than six years back comes on the campus, probably the first sight that greets his eyes is the new athletic field. This, with its two football fields, baseball field, quarter mile track, and outdoor basketball court, was constructed solely by students under the direction and supervision of Professor Hicks. This field is a credit to any college and well testifies to the undergraduate interest in athletics.

With the coming of Professor Hicks the plans for Alumni field, the start of more general athletics, and the entire remolding of the Physical Education Department took place.

The class of 1916 was the first to have a freshman football team. This was the beginning of the present system, that of debarring freshmen from participating in varsity football.

The coaching system, the most abused subject in college athletics, was placed upon the faculty basis in 1918 when Harold M. ("Kid") Gore took charge of the varsity football, basketball and baseball teams. This has eliminated the presence of an outsider who is in charge for only two months and has placed one man of professional rank in control of the different squads.

At present the needs and demands of these teams makes the director of athletics an exceedingly busy man. For in the spring of 1920 there were 157 men engaged in voluntary athletics. This included men out only for their so called first teams. Varsity baseball, varsity track, Spring football, Freshman baseball, and two-year baseball. A picture taken of these athletes was given wide publicity. In many papers on account of the large percentage of students taking part in sports. Besides the above mentioned teams, there were fraternity baseball teams, taking 90 men, fraternity track, calling on 50 more, and class baseball, calling for 50 men.

In addition, at present, the members of the freshman and sophomore classes are required to engage in sports. This takes the form of football and soccer in the fall, and baseball and track in the spring.

Three teams in three varsity sports were equipped during the past year, calling for 280 uniforms apportioned as follows, football, 175, baseball, 60, and basketball, 50. Hockey and track each had their own teams calling for 75 more suits.

So at present there is a satisfactory number taking either required or voluntary athletics and the only obstacle in view for the large numbers taking active part in sports is the lack of

THE COLLEGE CAMPUS OF INSPIRING BEAUTY

With a Flavor of Beethoven's Pastoral Program.

M. A. C. unquestionably has the finest campus of any college in New England, and if there is a better one anywhere in the United States or Canada I have failed in several years of travel, to find it.

This distinction should be a matter of pride with all of us. Moreover, each one should gladly do his full part in keeping the grounds up to this high standard. Each one has a part to play, though it be only to keep newspapers and ice-cream boxes off the lawns and walks.

These grounds have an eventful history. At the very beginning such eminent landscape architects as Calvert Vaux and Frederick Law Olmsted, Sr., were called into consultation; and Mr. Olmsted's report on the grounds plan written in 1867 is one of the most interesting and significant documents in all the college archives.

Unfortunately Mr. Olmsted's advice was not followed and the controversy which raged over the location of the first college building—our still extant Temple of Chemistry—caused the resignation of the first president (Mr. French) and left the chairman of the trustees (Mr. Wilder) in command. It is one of the most interesting reconciliations of history that today French Hall and Wilder Hall should amiably face one another across Stockbridge Road, constituting together the home of the Division of Horticulture.

The first important development work upon the campus was directed by President Clark, who is also commemorated by an edifice on Stockbridge Road. With him and after him come Professor Samuel T. Maynard, who was in direct charge of the grounds for nearly 30 years. Professor Maynard, who wrote a book on landscape gardening, was an enthusiast on trees and made many of the most important plantings which play such a grateful part in the present campus picture. His services in this matter have not yet been sufficiently recognized or remembered.

Our campus is notable for its size and for its broad pastoral character. While we might justly call it dignified a more accurate estimate would speak of it as mellow and musical. It has a rich flavor of the native landscape like the big pastoral programs of Beethoven.

This sort of thing is commonly spoken of among landscape architects as the natural style. Our campus does actually preserve many of the best qualities of the New England landscape. The broad interior meadows, the surrounding tilled fields, the abundant

THE COLLEGE AT THE CROSS ROADS

Pres. Butterfield's Word of Welcome to Aggie Men.

An institution rarely follows a direct road to its objectives. It has its rapids, its delays, its byepaths, its hills of difficulty. Our College is no exception. In the long look backward we see great progress; but we discover also times of serious discouragement, even hours of crisis. There have been days of criticism, periods of starvation, moments when the very existence of the College was threatened. The College more than once in its history has found itself at the cross roads.

There is no doubt in the minds of those immediately responsible for the administration of the College that it faces another of these crises—perhaps the most significant in several decades. This conviction of a serious situation reveals itself chiefly in a deep feeling of uncertainty—a doubt not so much as to the course the College should take, but a real anxiety as to the course it is to be permitted to take, and the speed and effectiveness with which it may proceed.

ADMINISTRATIVE CONTROL

By virtue of chapter 262 of the General Acts of 1918, the College became a State institution in a technical sense, and thus apparently subject to all laws and administrative rules governing the entire group of State departments and institutions.

Some of these rules relate only to details and do not affect the College seriously. Some of them require practice that we think less effective than our former methods. Some of them are in our judgment decidedly detrimental to the best work of the institution. In fact, the whole procedure is becoming increasingly burdensome and unsatisfactory.

We cannot take on any employee, permanent or temporary, nor increase a salary, nor change a grade without permission. Our judgment as to the adjustment of salaries as between different persons may or may not be allowed. We cannot even determine our own educational policy; if a choice is necessary between two new positions desired, our opinion concerning the greater need is not final.

The responsibility for the control of the institution has passed out of the hands of the trustees and the administrative officers chosen by them. The College has come under a government by laws and administrative rulings devised for ordinary administrative departments of government or for institutions of a charitable or penal character—laws and rulings never intended for an educational institution, and certainly not adapted to a college such as this.

THE BEST SOUVENIR OF THE COLLEGE

We do not ask to be released from close financial oversight. We do not wish to be outside of the budget system. We have no desire to break away from the general educational system of the State. We ask that Massachusetts recognize, as other States have recognized, that there is a difference between the College and other State institutions, both with respect to the financial and the administrative control. We ask, also, if it is not possible for this State to give back to the trustees the management of the institution, while at the same time providing all necessary checks upon our activities and methods? Responsibility and initiative on the part of the trustees and other employed officials are absolutely essential to the effective management of the institution.

THE NECESSITY OF INCREASED SALARIES

In my report a year ago I indicated the outstanding importance of substantial increases in salaries for practically the entire staff. The increases secured by no means met the needs. The failure to pay our employees adequately is still a major problem.

A year ago I reported 39 changes in the staff. The past year there have been 28 changes in the professional staff, and 30 in the clerical staff—a total of 58. In three important departments the personnel has almost completely changed within the past year. Nearly 100 changes in a staff of approximately 200 have occurred in two years. Less than one-third of the Extension staff employed two years ago are now with us. In these two years there have been 43 resignations in the clerical staff, which ranges from 50 to 60.

The average salaries now being paid in all grades of the professional staff are only 38% greater than were paid in these same grades in 1914. If our estimates for next year's salaries should be granted, the total percentage of increases in seven years will be only 52%. This is scarcely more than one-half of the increase in the cost of living for the period.

Meantime, the other leading agricultural colleges of the country have met the situation. Average increases in salaries in several agricultural colleges of the country were over 30% from 1918 to 1920, our own were only 15%. These same colleges with one exception are proposing further increases varying all the way from 6% to 35% for next year, while we are proposing an increase of 10%.

The institutions which have made the most liberal advance in salaries are our active competitors for the type of men that we have on our faculty. There is a scarcity of well trained men for these positions. Do I need to reiterate the principle that a college consists in its men, and that fair treatment should be accorded those men? Governor Coolidge recently made the statement in public that "it is useless to send boys to college to be educated by an under-paid faculty." Does Massachusetts wish deliberately to plan for a second-grade or a third-grade college in this great sisterhood of land grant institutions? This issue is with us now.

THE SCOPE OF THE COLLEGE

In my report for the year 1911, I stated that we should emphasize the proposition that this is an agricultural college and nothing but an agricultural college. The policy of the College for all these years has been in harmony with that declaration. We have stood steadfast against any departure from this fundamental basis of our work. During the past 15 years the proportion of our graduates going into agricultural pursuits has shown a decided increase over former years.

We have, however, been obliged constantly to broaden our definition of agriculture and to widen the scope of our activities. In my report of 1918 I called attention to the fact that the developments of the war had demonstrated that we must deal with the whole question of the food supply of the people of the State; that it was not enough, in our investigations and our teaching and our extension service, to consider only the production of farm crops and animals; but that we must prepare to deal with questions of food distribution, of food conservation, and even of food use in the home.

While the interests and needs of Massachusetts farmers are our first concern, it is also our obligation to place ourselves at the disposal of the entire population of the State, in city and in country, with respect to all these problems of food supply. I am sure I do not need to indicate the obvious significance of this newer definition of our work. It opens up an unworked range of possibilities, and requires us to render an account of our stewardship to all groups of our people alike—to farmers, to workingmen, to business men, to the entire population of the Commonwealth.

THE PERMANENT BUILDING PROGRAM

For many years I have annually been oglibed to stress the fact that we were far behind in our building program. Today the situation has become not only extremely discouraging but almost disheartening. No major building has been provided for seven years. Departments inadequately housed a dozen years ago are still obliged to put up with the same facilities they had then. New departments have no abiding place. In this connection I mention again the need of a permanent building program and financial support for it.

PUBLIC UNDERSTANDING AND SUPPORT

The extent of a service of a state-supported institution is governed very largely by the extent to which the people of the State know the facilities it offers for the education of their children and the solution of their problems. I am amazed from time to time to discover evidences of the slight degree to which the people of the Commonwealth know the College and its work, to say nothing of its possibilities of usefulness to them. It is perhaps not surprising that a legislature should question a budget so large as ours unless the people recognize the work the College is doing and is capable of doing.

I have repeatedly urged larger appropriations for a sane, fair, but aggressive plan of publicity for the work of the College. I am now convinced that this is one of our great needs. Let me make it clear that it is not a matter of advertising for more students, much less a matter of self-praise. It is simply the necessity of laying before our constituents, that is the people of the entire State, information as to how we can serve them better.

WILL THE STATE SUPPORT THE COLLEGE?

For thirty years after the College received students it had extremely meagre financial support even for those days. The average annual income from the State for current maintenance from 1867 to 1896 was $13,333, and the average annual appropriation for land, buildings, and other equipment for the same period was $12,990. By the close of the century the tide turned. In 1898 the legislature appropriated $28,000 for the erection of a Veterinary Laboratory—the first teaching building of permanent construction erected on the campus; and since that time substantial modern buildings have from time to time been added. Beginning a few years later, the annual appropriations for current maintenance were progressively increased.

I wish it were possible for the legislature to realize that we are not pressing for added salaries or for increased maintenance, or for new buildings, with any other reason than that in our judgment, these appropriations are absolutely essential in order that the College shall render its full service to the sons and daughters of Massachusetts, and, indeed, to the entire population of the Commonwealth. Furthermore, can we not all agree that the institution, if it does its work well, is an investment, an asset not a liability; that it really results in adding to the wealth of the State and not subtracting from it? Is our College to be regarded as a necessary nuisance, or as an object of the most liberal possible support because it is considered indispensable to the economic and social progress of the State?

Can I possibly be more clear or emphatic in stating that this institution is not our institution? It does not belong to the Trustees nor to the faculty, it belongs to the people of the State. We are their Trustees for its effectiveness. We simply report the conditions under which it can be made fully effective. We will be derelict in our duty if we fail to indicate the terms, either financial or administrative, under which we believe it can be made most effective.

During Commencement we will serve dinner from 11-30 to 1-00

COLLEGE ICES AND TONIC A SPECIALTY

A WORD OF GREETING

To All Alumni and Former Students:

I give you a hearty welcome!

To this old campus, where you spent the choice student-years. You will see many changes. The trees you planted have grown in stature and in beauty, new buildings greet the eye, but it is the same loved spot.

To the renewal of fellowship with all Aggie folks—faculty, students, alumni, friends. College contributes mightily to a man's power to think and to do, but perhaps even more it determines a man's friendships and character. You will find here the men of your day and you will recall the old times together.

To the great celebration. We are rather proud of our program. It is a family affair. It is simple, unostentatious, friendly. We mean that everybody should have a good time. But we are not forgetting that it is a birthday anniversary, and we want you to remember that it celebrates years of struggle and achievement, overcoming of difficulties, the fruition of long-laid plans.

To this Valley—this wonderful valley—one of the most beautiful and probably without question the most interesting valley—scenically, historically, industrially, biographically, educationally—in the whole wide world. You will agree, will you not, that Tom, Holyoke, and Toby have always been and will always be efficient members of our faculty!

To share our hopes and our problems. We celebrate the days gone by, but as is ever the case with youth—and the "old college" is still a youth—we press forward toward the future. We still have difficulties and discouragements; but we also have new hopes, new aspirations, new plans, new needs.

Have your good times here these joyous days, O men and women of M. A. C., but enter also into the task of building the College into a bigger and a greater and a more useful "Aggie."

M. A. C. NEEDS A NEW GENERAL LIBRARY

Present Facilities are Cramped and Entirely Inadequate.

The present needs of the library may be summarized as follows:

1. More books.
2. More room for books.
3. More room for readers using the books.
4. More first-class assistants to help the readers use the books.

1. Today, May 1st, the college library has 60,288 volumes represented in the main card catalog—more than twice the number on hand ten years ago. Several thousand Government publications and collections of books are waiting to be cataloged,—that is, on the campus and in various buildings, but not as yet made available through the catalog. It is foolish to count and difficult to estimate the number of pamphlets, bulletins, and unbound items here, but I venture to say we have hundreds of thousands represented in our check lists and pamphlet boxes. About 3500 volumes have been added during each of the last twelve years and about 600 periodicals are being currently received.

In spite of all this, our teachers and students are always asking for more books, periodicals, monographs, theses, and publications of commercial organizations or learned societies. Our research men experience a shortage of material in the newer fields of investigation. New teachers come to take up new lines of work and find a serious deficiency in the literature of their subject matter. The Graduate School stimulates most extended reading only to find that we are quite short of the desired publications. If the library is to be of any value at all and if the teachers and students and Experiment Station workers are to be successful, how can we meet these demands? Only by a larger book fund—either by annual grants from the Legislature and Trustees, or returns from endowment funds.

2. The problem of caring for more books in already overcrowded quarters is a serious one and not made any easier when one considers that the normal increase of books (3500 per year) requires nearly 500 feet of shelving. Moving 20,000 volumes and all of our bulletin and pamphlet collection from the damp and dirty cellar to the Chapel affords temporary relief only, without much promise concerning future accomodations. The fixing up of the Chapel into a stack and study room should never be considered more than a very temporary arrangement.

3. The larger student enrollment and more faculty workers mean more library users. Every college activity, no matter whether it is purely academic or recreative, finds its response in the college library. The small reading room on the ground floor, poor seating accommodations in the stack room and fifty chairs in the Chapel room are inadequate when one thinks of the kind of work to be done by college men and women. The only remedy is in a new library building.

The library needs a new building for the proper accommodation of its books and the users of those books. The college needs a new library as part of its obligation to supply to students and teachers the best means and incentive to high grade scholarship.

In thinking of this new library, we would have in mind an enrollment of twelve hundred (1200) students; a corp of one hundred and fifty (150) faculty, experiment station and extention service workers; a modern fire proof building with attractive, up-to-date equipment—at once a power in the college life on the campus and a credit to the college and Commonwealth.

4. The fourth imperative need of the library is a larger number of first-class assistants. Our present staff is 80% new material, competent and capable in many ways, but unacquainted with agricultural work. Regular trained assistants should be on hand every hour the library is open so that no one should go away without the material or assistance needed.

In addition to the need of general assistants to help out on the schedule at the main library, the Experiment Station ought to have the services of a research library assistant to keep its library in order and its staff informed of the progress along their various lines of work. The new chemistry building will make possible a fine new departmental library which ought to have at its head a trained librarian able to help those especially interested in the literature of chemistry and related subjects. Trained library workers should also be in charge of all departmental libraries or bibliographical work being carried on here.

Our main purpose is to gather materials in those fields of science, useful arts, economics, and the humanities which are related to the work of the institution and to make all of our resources increasingly useful and beneficial to all of our people. The wealth of our library lies not in its possessions, but in the use of those possessions—the library is a means to an end, not an end in itself. Keeping in mind all the students and teachers and research workers who come to us for help and the fact that the library is the laboratory for all of our people, shall it be said that the books are there but no one can find them? We shall fail in our purpose, and fail miserably, if we do not keep the library alive and up to-date all of the time, with ample book material, congenial accommodations for all, and with a staff equal to the increasing demands of a constantly growing college community.

To the Graduated Classes of M. A. C.

The Collegian takes this opportunity to welcome you back to the old campus, after an absence of months or years. We hope that you will find every incident of this great "family reunion" a memorable one, and that this celebration will serve to strengthen in your minds the conviction, already there, that Aggie is the best place ever. We also hope that this, our special issue, will serve to show you how the college has grown and prospered during the past fifty years.

DR. C. A. GOESSMANN FIRST EXPERIMENT STATION DIRECTOR

Wonderful Development Has Not Yet Reached a Maximum of Efficiency.

The Massachusetts Agricultural Experiment Station is that branch of the agricultural industry of the State which attempts in organized way to find answers to those problems of agriculture which farmers alone, working in an individual and unorganized way, cannot solve. To do this the Station maintains a force of twenty-nine staff workers, with a part-time mortgage on the services of fifteen heads of instructional departments. It has some fifteen acres in field experiments, over forty-five acres in orchards, a sizable farm as an adjunct to poultry investigations, a pasture now in course of development for experimental purposes, a herd of animals used in nutrition work, a cranberry bog, a market gardening experimental station for both outdoor and greenhouse work, and finally, chemical, pathological, botanical, entomological and bacteriological laboratories. Its budget for investigation amounts to more than $100,000 a year, with $25,000 more utilized in various forms of control service, and round about $20,000 operated as a trust fund in advanced registry work.

It was almost exactly forty years ago that the Experiment Station was started with an appropriation of $3000 made to "establish, prepare and equip an experiment station." The late Dr. Charles A. Goessmann was the first Director and Chemist. In this position Dr. Goessmann assisted in great measure in blazing the way for other American experiment stations. Too much cannot be said for the vision and foresight which he used in developing the Station along lines up to that time practically untried and to a large extent unknown. He "builded better than he knew."

The first regular staff member was J. L. Hills of the Class of 1881, now better known as Dr. Joseph L. Hills, Dean of the College of Agriculture of the University of Vermont and Director of the Agricultural Experiment Station of the same state. Very shortly Professor Samuel T. Maynard of the Class of 1872 became associate in the work, as Superintendent of Horticultural Experiments, Microscopist and Draughtsman. This position has long since disappeared from the roster of the Experiment Station. Professor Maynard, however, graduated from it to serve for many years as Horticulturist of the Station and Professor of Horticulture of the College with credit to himself and to the institution. He became an acknowledged authority in American Horticulture.

In 1883, the staff was increased with a salary allowance of $1040 to provide for the compensation of four men at the average rate of $5.00 a week a piece. It seems like a small sum, in fact the lowest paid full-time Station worker now receives a larger salary than did these four men put together forty years ago. Yet out of this small compensation three of the men managed in some way or another to go abroad for their graduate work and their doctorate degrees. The "mush and milk" diet necessitated by the circumstances must also have given stamina to those earlier workers; one of them has been for many years Head of our Department of Plant and Animal Chemistry and an investigator of national repute in the field of animal nutrition; another has been for a long time a valuable member of the Board of Trustees of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and Chairman of its Experiment Station Committee; a third, formerly Director at the Rhode Island Agricultural Experimeut Station, is now Head of the Agricultural Service Bureau in one of our larger fertilizer companies; while the fourth is President of one of our great state universities. Regret it though we do, however, we must note that there was some apparent dissatisfaction with this rate of pay, for a foot note in one of the annual reports of the Station states: "Messrs P——n and L——y have since accepted more lucrative positions."

In principle the work undertaken in these earlier years of the Experiment Station differs but little from the work of today. Problems of soil fertility were then recognized as being paramount, as they are today, as are likewise some of the problems associated with the feeding of animals. Protection of crops from insects and disease attacks were early recognized as being a necessity. Thus was laid the foundation of several of our present departments—botany, entomology, and veterinary science. Quite naturally, likewise, the earlier work of the Station revolved around problems of production and only in recent years has the scope of Station work enlarged to include studies of agricultural economics, consideration of problems of transportation and marketing, of food preservation, and the like.

Not yet has the Experiment Station reached the limit of its usefulness to the people of Massachusetts. They are realizing today, as never before what the word "service" in research work really means. The necessity of more thought and study being given to the great food supply problem of the industrial State of Massachusetts is becoming apparent. In the future, therefore, the services of the Experiment Station must include not only the ever present problems of production, but also those problems of economics, transportation, marketing, preservation, and conservation which are associated with the great task of insuring to the industry and agriculture of the State an abundant, medium priced food supply.

"WE WILL KEEP FAITH WITH YOU WHO LIE ASLEEP"

We all know here what the Memorial Building at Aggie is, and the noble purpose which it serves to Aggie men. For those who do not know—Memorial Hall is a building, financed by popular subscription of the alumni, students, faculty and friends of M. A. C., to be used as a center for student activities at the college, and its purpose will ever be to commemorate the lives of the 51 Aggie men which were sacrificed during the World War.

All knowledge of who ever conceived this noble project has passed into oblivion. All for us to remember is that it was born of many minds in many places, welded together by a common interest and devotion. The constantly increasing interest shown in the idea of a Memorial after the signing of the Armistice, came to a head when Dean Lewis, then acting President of the College, engineered a meeting at the Boston City Club, on April 14, 1919, at which 20 Alumni were present, as pioneers in the movement.

Meetings were frequently held thereafter until the Memorial Rally of May 23, 1919, which brought together at Boston 288 Aggie Alumni, the largest number ever gathered together for a banquet. Prominent alumni and others spoke here, and these 288 themselves at once pledged $20,000 towards the $150,000 which it was proposed to raise.

The Memorial Building Committee, appointed at that time to have general charge of building, was as follows:

Atherton Clark '77, Dr. J. E. Goldthwaite '85, E. F. Richardson '87, Walter L. Morse '05, H. W. Dana '09, A. W. Gilbert '04, J. W. Gregg '04, S. B. Haskell '04, H. F. Tompson '05, E. G. Bartlett '07, J. A. Hyslop '08, P. W. Pickard '11, T. J. Moreau '12, F. D. Griggs '13, E. C. Edwards '14, G. B. Palmer '16, A. W. Spaulding '17, Fred C. Kenney, Treas. M. A. C., Dean Edward M. Lewis, and Ralph J. Watts, ex-officio.

On June 30, 1919, A. W. Spaulding '17, took charge of the financial campaign and from that time on the campaign never lacked enthusiasm a-plenty. Through the thorough extension work of W. A. Munson '05, and Dean E. M. Lewis, in the West, and an intensive mail campaign that reached every last alumnus, practically all the quota was raised by Oct. 25. On this date was held the first World Aggie Night, when 600 alumni met at different places and brought the campaign to a glorious finish. Its success was due largely to A. W. Spaulding '17, and G. M. Campbell '20, who were untiring in their efforts to secure subscriptions, and the payments of pledges already made.

Ground was broken for the building by E. F. Carlson & Co., of Springfield, on March 30, 1920, and the cornerstone ceremony was held as part of the 1920 Commencement Exercises. Thenceforth has been followed eagerly the creation of the beautiful and finished product, which now stands ready to greet our Alumni on this, Aggie's biggest celebration. The management of the building is vested in the "Board of Management of Memorial Hall", elected once a year from faculty, alumni and students. The present board is:

Prof. Victor A. Rice, Prof. Joseph S. Chamberlain, Enos J. Montague '15, Sumner R. Parker '04, Raymond H. Jackson '08, Nathan W. Gillette '21, and Henry S. Moseley '22.

THE ALUMNI OFFICE AS A TIE TO ALMA MATER

Important Functions of This "Live" Office Outlined by Secretary.

Alumni association activities received a great forward impetus from the Memorial Hall drive. Every alumnus was aroused by the campaign, and with this revival of interest in the college the opportunity presented itself for an effective alumni organization.

The alumni office was established in January 1920 with A. W. Spaulding '17, who so ably conducted the memorial drive as the first paid secretary. The position was made possible through the cooperative aid given by the college administration. The position of college field agent was coupled with the alumni secretaryship so that the financial burden on the alumni association was materially lessened. The college duties involving the sub-freshman publicity and minor administrative responsibilities concerned with undergraduate student activities fitted nicely into the work of the alumni office.

As many as 15 alumni projects have been current in the alumni office at one time, indicating the active participation in college matters now being undertaken.

Three general gatherings of alumni are held each year; World Aggie night in October (last fall held simultaneously in 40 towns with nearly 600 participating), Winter Alumni Day in Amherst in February and the Commencement reunions in June.

Fifteen active alumni clubs are now scattered throughout the length and breadth of the country. A monthly alumni news paper is maintained.

One alumni committee is taking under consideration an endowment program. Another has made a study of undergraduate activities. Another has the matter of college course of study and methods of instruction under advisement. Another, called the "administration committee" considers the major college administration matters as they are concerned with the State House.

The Alumni office also offers it's services as an administration office for each class or club, handling such matters as class letters, publicity and correspondence. Besides there are the routine duties of no mean proportion in keeping the address lists corrected, the collection of dues, subscriptions and Memorial Hall pledges. Connecting positions with elegible men, is a matter of daily routine.

Membership in the alumni association means supporting an organization furthering the interests of the College's former students. The existence of it means that on the campus the alumni are maintaining and fostering the existence of those things for which they want the college to stand. It is tying up directly those who have left the campus with the current activities of their Alma Mater.

THE COLLEGE CAMPUS

native trees, the running brook and the reflecting surface of the pond constitute the principal physical elements in this compound; and through these co-operative organs there still breathes the benign spirit of aboriginal nature.

Anyone who stops but a moment to think of it must realize that these highly spiritual qualities of the campus landscape may be easily dispelled. It would be an extremely simple undertaking to spoil the grounds altogether—at least to lose out of them irrevocably the superior spiritual nature which now gives them their chief meaning and effect. The steady growth of the college, the construction of new and large buildings and the increase in the student body have a strong tendency to infringe upon these qualities. Very serious problems are already facing us in this matter.

May we not hope that the interest aroused in the college at the present anniversary season will help everyone to realize more fully the meaning of the campus in our college life, its value to all who come into its daily contacts, and more especially the spiritual nature and high significance of these contacts? And especially now that we have a considerable group of alumni in the professional practice of landscape gardening, and accustomed to the appraisal of such values, may we not anticipate that, with their leadership and the enthusiastic support of all others this splendid college campus, instead of deteriorating, will grow into a riper, gentler and more inspiring beauty?

grounds. Alumni Field at first thought to be adequate for all needs can now be used for only varsity sports and much work has had to be curtailed for this reason. There is need of more tennis courts for the increasing popularity of this sport has made necessary a schedule of hours which greatly handicaps a man who would like to play much tennis.

Thus, under the efficient and popular direction of the Physical Education Department athletics have been made more general with a vastly larger percentage of the student body taking part, the coaching of the varsity teams has been unified and an adequate field for the maintenance of these sports has been built.

PROF. JOHN PHELAN ON SHORT COURSE HISTORY

Department of Two-Year Work of Interest to Alumni and Friends.

The editor has asked me to prepare a brief statement of the history of short courses and of the work that is being done along these lines by M. A. C. These courses represent an activity of the college—a means by which the college serves other groups in the state and extends the advantages of its resident teaching to the Commonwealth at large. Short courses were first offered in 1890, when the Winter School was organized by Professor W. D. Brooks. In 1907 Professor Frank A. Waugh started the Summer School. Until 1908, the Summer School and Winter School were administered by various members of the college faculty. In 1909 Mr. William D. Hurd was appointed Director of Short Courses.

Approximately 1600 students have been registered in the Winter School; 1100 in the Summer School and in the special one and two weeks' schools offered from year to year, it has been estimated that 1500 students have been enrolled.

In 1918 the administration of short courses was separated from the Extension Service. It is with this later period of development and the policy underlying that development that this article is concerned. The first task of the new administration was the organization of the Two-Year Course. This course had been requested by the Massachusetts Legislature in the following resolution:

"Resolved, That in the opinion of the general court there should be established at the Massachusetts Agricultural College a two years' course in practical agriculture upon the completion of which certificates of graduation should be granted, that the course should be open to all residents of the commonwealth who have attained the age of seventeen years and who possess the educational qualifications necessary for admission to any public high school of the commonwealth."

The Trustees voted:

"That the college offer a course of study that will meet the intent and spirit of the Legislature of 1918, as embodied in the Senate Bill no 374."

This course attracts a relatively mature group as may be seen from the following table:

Age Statistics—Two-Year Course.

Age	Number	Per Cent
17	19	6.7
18	33	11.3
19	34	12.
20	36	13.
21	26	9.
22	24	8.
23	19	7.
24	14	5.
25 and over	75	28.
Total	280	100.

Short courses during the past year have included besides the Tow-Year Course, the Summer School, the Winter School, the Vocational Poultry Course, the School for Country Clergymen and special unit courses for disabled Federal Soldiers and Sailors sent here by the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

The Summer School is managed on a co-operative basis by the college and Divisions of the State Department of Education. This year the Summer School includes a School of Rural Social Service, a Conference for Red Cross Workers, a School of Agricultural Education, a term of the Two-Year Course, a School of Rural Home Life, courses for country teachers and unit courses for Federal students.

The poultry course was organized by Professor Graham some years ago. During the past year, there has been a large enrollment necessitating the organization of two courses—one beginning in September and the other in January.

The School for Country Clergymen was started some years ago, but it was discontinued during the war. It was offered again this spring. Though the enrollment was not large, the indications are that this school will serve a very useful purpose.

The Federal Board for Vocational Education has sent to this institution a number of men disabled in the military and naval service of the United States. These men are enrolled in all courses of the college. For those unable to enter

It is impossible to overestimate the value of the herd test. "It illiminates the scrub and culls out the boarder," and insures to the Dairyman a productive herd.

Yet these benefical results cannot be fully realized unless the increased milk yield is protected by such sanitary methods of production that have themselves met the test of day to day performance.

For over eighteen years
Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser
has provided this needed protection to the Dairy Industry, and the sweet, wholesome, sanitary cleanliness it creates is recognized by Agricultural Colleges of the United States and Canada as the standard dairy sanitation.

Wyandotte Dairyman's Cleaner and Cleanser is guaranteed to meet every test in the dairy or the trial will cost you nothing.

GRADUATE SCHOOL AND AGRICULTURAL LEADERS

Educational institutions are often rated by the number in attendance, accordingly it may be pertinent to give the attendance in the Graduate School of this institution. There have been registered since September 1st, last, sixty-five students, a larger percentage of graduate students than in most universities and colleges. While this statement may indicate the need of graduate work, it is not, in any sense, the real reason for establishing graduate study.

Our deep appreciation and almost reverence have been developed for the educational training of the minister, the physician, the lawyer, and the engineer. The rigidity and severity of their training are condoned and considered a distinct part of their careers. So true is this that it is difficult or even impossible to conceive them apart from their education. Is agriculture less necessary to society, less deserving of recognition through knowledge, through research, through scholarship, and through cultured endeavor, less worthy of the most profound scientific study, less replete in the technical arts, and less significant in its possibilities than the ministry, medicine, law and engineering?

If agriculture is interpreted as farming alone, and then farming as a trade, a one-piece or routine job requiring only the mastering of certain human mechanical movements and a great deal of brawn, or as a vocation possessed of crude values socially, intellectually and industrially, then the existence of agricultural colleges with their graduate schools may be voided. It is readily conceded in this country that such practices cannot be adapted to our form of government or society, even should we disregard completely the effect upon agriculture, which is the most important factor.

Agriculture is a great big—yes, tremendously big and fundamental industry. It is comprehensive in that it holds within its boundaries many branches of commerce, industry, and society; it is excessively technical and deep in that it has innumerable unsolved problems as intricate and complex as nature herself, and they depend for answers upon many of the elemental sciences. It is the fountain head of food, textiles and clothing, most skins and leather, most fats and oils, excepting mineral products, and much construction material. The necessaries of material life are in its hand. Therefore, industrially, commercially, scientifically and socially, it is the greatest and most essential division of human effort and needs the deepest learning, the most astute and technical research and the broadest outlook.

The basic scientific subjects of botany, chemistry, entomology, geology, mathematics, microbiology, physics, veterinary science, zoology and economics, all of which are, indeed, the basis of successful practices in animal and plant production, issuing through the well-recognized paths of agronomy, animal husbandry, pomology, vegetable gardening, floriculture, farm management, home management, sales, banking, storage, transportation, milling, manufacture, simply give expression to an analysis of what is incorporated in this massive portion of human endeavor. There are social features, too, which are peculiarly conspicuous and call for special consideration. This vast human undertaking which embraces specific professions and industries and is the bed-rock of civilization calls for rank equal to any profession or industry, for every feature connotes its creative importance; therefore, agriculture demands a liberal education in art, literature, history, languages, philosophy, political science, as well as the subjects heretofore named, for improvement, upbuilding, contacts, and its general welfare. Men of agricultural pursuits must meet the world on the same footing, must be possessed of equal professional equipment and cultural training.

There is not a department in this college, the only institution in the United States of its kind solely devoted to agriculture, which is not subservient to the needs of agriculture, and every one of these departments is, or should be, of the highest possible attainment in its special province, otherwise it cannot do for agriculture what it ought. If this is true, then there can be no better place for graduate study in agriculture than right here.

The Graduate School offers all the facilities at the disposal of the institution; if subject are not available here, students are expected to pursue them where they are given while remaining members of the school. In this manner, suitable conditions are furnished to secure what may seem to be needed through other institutions.

The purpose of the Graduate School is to develop initiation the part of the student, to give him vision to see and understand the problem of agriculture, to train him in fundamental analyses of these problems, and to equip him with the necessary training and knowledge to solve them or to follow them to a workable application in the light of present educational advancement.

MILITARY AND R. O. T. C. IN AMHERST

In 1862, during the "War of the Rebellion", the United States Congress passed an act donating to the states public lands on which to found colleges. The Massachusetts Legislature took advantage of its opportunity and established an agricultural college. In return for this donation Congress stipulated that military instruction should be given as a course of study for which a regular army officer should be detailed by the government.

In the pioneer days of the college, 1867 to 1869, in order to fulfill the requirements, Henry H. Goodell A. M. acted as instructor in military tactics. It is interesting to note that Mr. Goodell, later president of the institution, instructed his students in cavalry tactics, and cavalry organization at this time.

The government fulfilled its part of the agreement in 1870 by sending Capt. Henry E. Alvord, U. S. A. to be the first "Professor of Military Science and Tactics." His report in 1871 tabulates the armory equipment at "two brass pieces of artillery, 50 sabres, and 150 breech loading rifles."

Lieut. C. A. L. Totten, 4th Artillery U. S. A., assumed command of the battalion of cadets in 1875. He was very active in constructive work, introducing signal stations on Mt. Toby, Holyoke, and Tom. Under his direction the first fire brigade was organized. Fire drills were a part of the terms routine, and many a day could the husky cadets be seen trailing across the campus with the hand fire appatus in tow preparing for an emergency. The West Point method was followed both in the matter of tactical instruction and uniforming the cadets. Every Saturday morning the commandant made a thoroughly military inspection of the college. At this time students were required to be in their rooms for whose neat and orderly appearance they were responsible.

With the coming of Lieut. Victor H. Bridgman, 2d Artillery U. S. A., in 1881, the inadequacy of the present Chemical Laboratory was first realized. To use the lieutenant's words, "The building whose top floor is used for drill is not an overstrong structure. I suggest a new drill hall." Suffice to say he received one; but the Chemical Laboratory was reinforced and continues to make history. North and South Dormitories were placed under the control of cadet officers who were held responsible for good order and quiet during study hours.

Lieut. Walter M. Dickinson, 17th Infantry U. S. A., took charge of the department from 1892 to 1895. He was very active in procuring equipment for the military department, and college buildings. Following him came Lieut. William M. Wright, 2d Infantry U. S. A., from 1896 to 1898. He has since demonstrated his military genius by rising to the rank of major general in the World War. General Wright will be one of the chief speakers on the Semi-Centennial program.

Capt. George C. Martin, 18th Infantry U. S. A. became commandant in 1905. His period of service lasted for 10 years until 1915, a length of time which is out of the ordinary when it is known that no previous military officer stayed at M. A. C. more than four years. Faculty, alumni, and students testify to his unfailing good nature, his spirit of cooperation with college customs, and the interest he aroused in a not over popular department from the student point of view.

Capt. Henry W. Fleet, 19th Infantry U. S. A., was the last officer to head the military department before the new military regime. He was a young man greatly respected by all who knew him.

A new era of the military history of this college was inaugurated in April, 1917, when Col. Richard H. Wilson, retired, took charge of the first infantry unit of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps. Due to the World War this unit was short lived, the Students Army Training Corps displacing it in 1918. Capt. Riffenbark had active charge of the men under the supervisition of Col. Wilson. Following the war and an act of Congress, the R. O. T. C. reorganized in January, 1919 with Lieut. Col. R. W. Walker, Cavalry U. S. A., in command. As a result of Col. Walker's influence and activity, the first cavalry unit at M. A. C. was established in the fall term 1920. Only few colleges in the United States have cavalry units owing to the large cost of maintenance which is said to be nearly $50,000 a year. M. A. C. is therefore particularly fortunate in possessing this unique feature of military instruction.

Thus it can be seen that the college has a long and varied experience in military training during the past 50 years. Some commandants have had more success in the handling of their cadets than others, yet the desire to aid men from a mental, moral, and phsical standpoint has characterized the efforts of all. Their aim has been to prepare men for peace as well as war.

THE M. A. C. CO-ED FROM 1899-1921

Miss Cushman and Miss Sanborn First Graduates. Adams Hall Marks an Epoch.

The first regular woman student came to M. A. C. in 1899. Two years later the first graduate student, a Miss Elizabeth Smith of Smith College, studied here for one year. The first graduates were Esther D. Cushman and Monica Sanborn (now Mrs. W. O. Taft) both of 1905.

Another young woman graduated in 1907, Miss Susie D. Livers, now Mrs. W. B. Eastman. Two others graduated in '08, and after that no more until '13. Since '13 each class has had at least one or two women graduates, the number rising to four in '18, to ten in '19, and dropping to three in '20 and '21.

Both the first two graduates made Phi Kappa Phi, and since then 21.5 percent of all women graduates have received that honor. Of all women ever enrolled in the four year course 72 percent have graduated.

Fewer privileges were open to early women students, and opportunities for them to share the college activities have

From head to foot for the summer can be as conservative and still trick as in any other "toggery time".

been slow in developing. However, in 1910, Marjorie N. Lambert was made Sophomore historian, and in 1913 Josephine Strange was Junior class historian. In 1917 Marion Wells was secretary and Olive Carroll vice-president of the class of '19.

Mae Holden '16 was the first girl to serve on the Index board, and Bena Erhard '19 the first to serve on the COLLEGIAN.

The Roister Doisters have long been closed to the girls, and until last year all the parts were taken by men. The organization of Delta Phi Gamma society for the women, in 1916, was one of the first steps taken to give them a college life of their own. This was followed sometime later by the establishment of the Women's Student Council.

The year of '20-'21 will long be remembered as the beginning of full recognition to the young women students. Never before have they had so large a share in all kinds of college activities nor have they ever had so much college life of their own. Musical clubs have been started and most recently a Y. W. C. A. By far the biggest step forward in behalf of the women was the opening of Abigail Adams Hall, Nov. 1.

EXTENSION SERVICE AT M. A. C. HAS WIDE FIELD

Farmer's Week, Correspondence and Demonstration Work Reaches Many.

As the State College of Agriculture, Aggie is a public service institution. The Extension Service is the conscious and organized effort of the college to serve all those who can use its resources.

Last year the college, through its Extension Service, carried instruction in agriculture and home economics to nearly half a million people. In addition it printed forty publications of practical agricultural information for farmers, eight primers in important branches of agriculture and home economics for the thirty thousand members of the boys' and girls' clubs in Massachusetts, whose work is an important part of the Extension Service, and two conservation books for all women who can surplus fruit and vegetable products.

The Extension Service operates as a distinct administrative division of the college, the field branch of Aggie, by which the college covers the state. Its staff, however, work as members of their subject matter departments, keeping in touch with teaching problems and assimilating the latest research developments, for the use of Massachusetts farmers. The county agent system of the State is a part of the Extension Service. Each agricultural county has its three agents, in agriculture, in home making and in boys' and girls' work,—and some counties support much larger staffs. The county agent is essentially a field man; he looks to the college, through the Extension Service, for subject matter information and for specialist's advice.

Correspondence Courses are one of the direct forms of Extension work. Five hundred persons were enrolled last year in these courses, which are prepared by the faculty and conducted under their direction. Fair exhibits throughout the State are to a considerable extent directed by the county agents or extension specialists. Extension work has rejuvenated many a small fair as a valuable institution for education and inspiration in the things worth while in the country.

Farmers' Week, the major campus event in the Extension calendar, was a week of open house to 5,000 visitors last summer. One hundred county club champions spent the same week at Aggie as their prize for having proved themselves the best juvenile farmers and home makers in the State. The college has printed two Polish circulars this spring, and has six others in progress to assist this important agricultural group in their specialized farming.

Extension work is first and last a demonstration of better methods—in farming, in home making, in community planning. The Extension worker seeks to spread known practices by recruiting the assistance of local farmers, housewives, boys' and girls' club leaders, to demonstrate the new thing that looks too good to miss; whether it be the planting of northern grown seed potatoes, the top dressing of pastures, the growing of orchards under economic management, the making of standard dress patterns or the baking of bread or canning of surplus garden products a better way.

Last year more than 800 farm demonstrations were carried out by Massachusetts farmers co-operating with the Extension Service. Eighteen thousand women were members of Extension classes in efficient clothing making. One hundred and thirteen country schools established hot school lunches with the assistance of home demonstration agents. A campaign for the planting of northern grown potatoes resulted in the planting of 5,700 acres of the improved seed, with a consequent increase in yield of 237,500 bushels, netting a return to farmers that more than equalled the entire bill for Extension work in Massachusetts.

The Extension Service serves, and through its service it is carrying a realization to thousands of Massachusetts people of the value of the food supply college of the State.
